Said by Wise Men

Every man is a volume if you know how to read him.—Channing.

There can be no high civility without a deep morality.—Emerson.

Frugality is founded on the principle that all riches have limits.—Burke.

When the state is most corrupt, then the laws are most multiplied.—Tacitus.

Never read a book through merely because you have begun it.—Witherspoon.

The purest pleasures lie within the circle of useful occupation. Mere pleasure, sought outside of usefulness, is fraught with poison.—Beecher.

Foresee misfortunes, that thou mayest strive to prevent them; but whenever they happen, bear them with magnanimity.—Zoroaster.

The poets did well to conjoin music and medicine, because the office of medicine is but to tune the curious harp of man's body.—Bacon.

The merit of originality is not novelty, it is sincerity. The believing man is the original man; he believes for himself, not for another.—Carlyle.

What a person praises is perhaps a surer standard, even, than what he condemns, of his character, information and abilities. No wonder, then, that most people are so shy of praising anything.—Hare.

Nature never deserts the wise and pure; no plot so narrow, be but nature there; no waste so vacant, but may well employ each faculty of sense, and keep the heart awake to love and beauty.—Coleridge.

Every great man exhibits the talent of organization or construction, whether it be in a poem, a philosophical system, a policy, or a strategy. And without method there is no organization nor construction.—Bulwer.

That we would do, we should do when we would; for this world changes, and hath abatements as many as there are tongues, are hands, are accidents; and then this should is like a spendthrift sigh, that hurts by easing.—Shakespeare.

If a man has a quarrelsome temper, let him alone. The world will soon find him employment. He will soon meet with some one stronger than himself, who will repay him better than you can. A man may fight duels all his life, if he is disposed to quarrel.—Cecil.

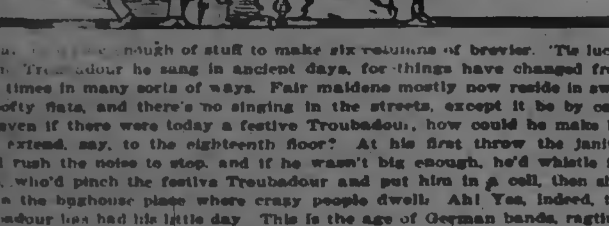
This, I moreover, hold, and dare affirm where'er my rhyme may go: Whatever things be sweet or fair, love makes them so. Whether it be the lullabies that charm to rest the nursling bird, or that sweet confidence of sighs and blushes, made without a word. Whether the dazzling and the flush of softly sumptuous garden bowers, or by some cabin door, a bush of ragged flowers.—Alice Cary.

There exists a strict relation between the class of power and the exclusive and polished circles. The last are always filled or filling from the first. Fashion though in a strange way, represents all manly virtue. It is virtue gone to seed; a kind of posthumous honor; a hall of the past. Great men are not commonly in its halls; they are absent in the fields, they are working, not triumphing. Fashion is made up of their children.—Emerson.

His Little Day Is Done

By Tom Jackson

IN OLDEN days the Troubadour would wander near and far, and fill the midnight air with noise, accompanied by guitar. Beneath some fair one's window he would sing long hours through; his songs were sixty verses long—and had a chorus, too. The maid would throw him down a rose, which he'd kiss, and depart; but sometimes, when her pa threw things, he'd make a quicker start. There never was a Troubadour who worked at anything—except wait till the moon came out, then do a stunt or sing. Somehow he got his daily eats, and ribbons gay and bright, with silk pants that came to the knee, and always fitted tight. Unto a lady's eyebrow, or unto her shell-like ear, he'd [illegible] enough of stuff to make six columns of brevier. 'Tis lucky for the Troubadour he sang in ancient days, for things have changed from olden times in many sorts of ways. Fair maidens mostly now reside in swell and lofty flats, and there's no singing in the streets, except it be by cats. But, even if there were today a festive Troubadour, how could he make his voice extend, say, to the eighteenth floor? At his first throw the janitor would rush the noise to stop, and if he wasn't big enough, he'd whistle for a cop, who'd pinch the festive Troubadour and put him in a cell, then ship him to the bughouse place where crazy people dwell. Ah! Yes, indeed, the Troubadour has had his little day. This is the age of German bands, ragtime and cabaret.



Great Novels in a Nutshell

"The Moonstone"

Condensed from the COLLINS novel by HELEN S. GRAY

THE Moonstone," by Wilkie Collins, is one of the greatest mystery stories ever written. It is based in some particulars on the stories of two of the royal diamonds of Europe. One of the Russian imperial stones was once the eye of an idol, and the famous Koh-i-Noor is supposed to have been a sacred gem of India with a curse on whoever should divert it from its original use.

Before the Moonstone was seized by a Mohammedan conqueror, it adorned the forehead of an idol in India. In the storming of Seringapatam by the British, one of the soldiers, a daredevil fellows, vows he will obtain it and does, presumably by killing the watchman. On his death he bequeaths it to his niece, Rachel Verinder, whether in revenge or forgiveness of her mother the reader must judge for himself.

On the day that the Moonstone is taken to her home in Yorkshire, three Hindoos, disguised as jugglers, arrive. That night it disappears. Suspicion points to them and they are arrested and searched, but released for lack of evidence.

A great detective from London is sent for. He discovers an important clue in a smear made by a garment on a freshly painted door of the room where the Moonstone was kept the night of the robbery. That smear was not there at midnight that night, and by morning the paint is dry. If he can find out whose garment has a stain he will know who stole the jewel. Rosanna Spearman, a maid, who has a record as a thief, is suspected by some. Several days later she commits suicide.

Rachel Verinder's strange behavior leads the detective to think she has taken the diamond herself. She is greatly agitated and at times hysterical and refuses to be questioned. Furthermore, she is greatly offended with her lover, Franklin Blake. She assures her mother that she did not take the stone herself and hasn't it. Lady Verinder believes her. All efforts to learn from her what she knows about the theft affect Rachel's health so seriously that she is obliged to drop the search and dismiss the detective.

Unable to effect a reconciliation with Rachel, or even to get an explanation from her, Franklin Blake goes abroad. Nearly a year later the death of his father brings him back to England. He calls on Rachel, but she refuses to see him. So he goes to Yorkshire to learn something further of the mystery. There he finds a letter awaiting him from Rosanna Spearman, to be delivered in person by the friend entrusted with it. It tells him where she had hidden a box. In the box is a paint stained night shirt, marked with his name, and a letter, which says she is expecting to commit suicide because of unrequited love for him and tells why she had put his night shirt in the box.

Returning to London, he succeeds in having a talk with Rachel and demands an explanation. She tells him she saw him steal the Moonstone. She is incensed with him for looking astounded and saying he knows nothing about the matter.

He had never been known to walk in his sleep. Baffled, he goes again to Yorkshire for more clues. Through Dr. Candy he gets one. Mr. Blake had irritated him at the dinner party the night of the robbery by joking him about the medical profession. Hearing that Mr. Blake has not been sleeping well, unknown to him, Dr. Candy puts some laudanum into drink for him and gets his cousin, Godfrey Ablewhite, to see that he takes it on retiring. Such was his physical and mental condition that it throws him into an opium trance. Stimulated by the drug and worried as to the safety of the diamond, he takes it from the cabinet where Rachel had put it.

To establish that he was morally not responsible for the theft and also to discover, if possible, what he had done with the Moonstone, he re-enacts the scene in the presence of witnesses. He takes a jewel, as before, but falls into a stupor before the experiment is concluded.

How does the Moonstone get into Luker the pawnbroker's hands in London? That Luker had it the Hindoos discover through a friend in his employ, whose letter is intercepted and opened by the warden while they are in jail. A year after the theft when the time comes to redeem the jewel, accomplices of the Hindoos and others watch the bank where it had been deposited to see who receives it. Luker takes it out and passes it to a stranger. That night that man is murdered by the Hindoos and a confederate and the Moonstone, taken from him subsequently goes back to India.

The dead man is recognized as Godfrey Ablewhite. His death leads to an investigation of his affairs. He was found to have led a double life.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

"WHAT are you going to say in your essay about Billy Bunny's ears?" asked Peter Possum of Willie Squirrel, as they started up the steps of the Woodland school.

"You will hear soon enough!" exclaimed Willie.

Sure enough, the very first thing Miss Rabbit asked Willie Squirrel to read what he had written about Billy Bunny's ears. He began:

"Billy Bunny's Floppers."

"What's that?" shouted Billy Bunny, jumping out of his seat.

"Be quiet," said Miss Rabbit. "Willie listened to all you had to say about his tail, now you must listen to what he has to say about your ears."

With that Billy Bunny sat down, and Willie Squirrel began again:

"Billy Bunny's Floppers.

"Billy Bunny is the only living flying machine. All he has to do is jump off the top of a hill, flop his ears and wiggle his tail and he sails away like a bird.

"One day he sailed as far as the north pole, when one of his floppers gave out and he went down 'Cher-plunk!' right on the north pole, and there he stuck. After a while his flopper began to work and he got off the north pole and started home again.

"A rabbit, as you all know, is the ugliest living thing. That is why Billy makes such a good flying machine."

"Teacher, I—" started Billy Bunny.

"Wait!" exclaimed Miss Rabbit. Willie Squirrel ended up with:

"You see that what I say is true, for it is the truth about Billy and the truth always hurts.

"I paid no attention to Billy because what he said about me was not true."

Willie sat down, while Billy began to laugh.

"That's right, Billy," said the teacher, "you must not feel hurt."

Her One Idea.

"His wife is a woman of one idea."

"That so?"

"Yes; whenever he starts to do anything she has the idea that he's doing it wrong."—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Reason.

Positive Wife: John, why, do you talk in your sleep? Have you any idea? Negative Husband—So as not to forget how, I suppose. It's the only chance I get.—Exchange.

The Other Was Important.

"Two great desires of my life have been gratified. One was to go up in an airship."

"And the other?"

"To get safely back to earth."—Exchange.

A Real Pretty Excuse.

Bessie's Mother—Bessie, did you let that Mr. Snuggle have a kiss? Bessie—Yes, mamma. He said it would be a goodby kiss, and I was just dead anxious to have him go.—Puck.

Cleaned Them Out.

First Girl—Was your bazaar a great success? Second Girl—I should think so. All the gentlemen had to walk home. They hadn't even a penny in their pockets to pay their tram fares.—London Tit-Bits.

How It Is.

"How is it, if Love is blind, that we hear of love at first sight?"

"It is after love at first sight occurs that Love generally goes blind."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Love and the Laundry.

"The only thing I find to say against you is that your washing bill is far too extravagant. Last week you had six blouses in the wash. Why, Jane, my own daughter never sends more than two."

"Ah, that may be, mum," replied Jane, "but I 'ave to. Your daughter's sweetheart is a bank clerk, while my young man is a chimney sweep. It makes a difference, mum."—London Tit-Bits.

He Was Considerate.

She—I should like that lovely pearl necklace. Look what beauties they are. He—It's better not to have such large pearls, my dear. People always think they are false.—Journal Amusant.

Marriage.

"Marriage," said the serious man, "is an education in itself."

"Yes," commented old Grouch, "but you have to go out to do after you [illegible] done it."—Boston [illegible]

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

In Pitt's Day the Speaker Kept Himself Stimulated With Porter.

The speaker of the English house of commons holds an enviable position today, but it was not until comparatively modern times that the speaker ceased to be a partisan, nor was his position always one of its present dignity. In the time of Pitt the speaker was accustomed to solace himself with a draft of porter:

Like sad Prometheus fastened to the rock,
In vain he looks for pity to the clock,
In vain the effects of strengthening porter tries
And nods to Belamy for fresh supplies.

Manners were somewhat looser in those days than they are now. Pitt himself on one occasion showed signs of a too copious libation to the gods, and this gave rise to the celebrated couplet:

I cannot see the speaker, Hal. Can you?
What! Cannot see the speaker? I see two.

It is said that on one occasion Mr. Disraeli arrived at the house somewhat "under the influence" and was so indiscreet as to attack Mr. Gladstone, then prime minister, upon some point of foreign policy. Mr. Gladstone replied witheringly that "the right honorable gentleman evidently has sources of inspiration from which her majesty's ministers are debarred."—Argonaut.

AN HOUR OF THRILLS.

Shooting the Rapids of the Hodzu River, in Japan.

The rapids on the Hodzu river near Kyoto must fill even the most blase of tourists with excitement. A train from Kyoto climbs slowly and painfully upward until finally it deposits its passengers at a quaint little siding.

From here, says the Wide World Magazine, one goes to the river bank and embarks in a rude, flat bottomed boat, which is pushed out by four men into the middle of a broad river, reed edged and sleepy.

For a few minutes one glides dreamily along; then, rounding a curve, one suddenly hears the roar of water, and the boat tears down a rapid, just missing the rocks on each side. The high banks race past, death appears imminent, and then, with one mad swirl, it is all over and the boat is on the quiet, unruffled stream once more.

This happens again and again for about an hour. At first one's whole mind is filled with the conviction that an accident must happen, but gradually comes a delicious feeling of safety as one notes the marvelous skill these men show in piloting the boat through the seething rapids and one is able to appreciate the beauty of the scene.

Lucien Bonaparte and Wellington.

Lucien, whom I had never seen before his arrival in England, as he was in disgrace with the emperor, was said to be at least as able as his brother and to have more decision of character. I have heard it said that it was he who saved Napoleon on the 18th Brumaire, and, in fact, I had heard him greatly praised. My actual meeting with him, as often happens, did not come up to my expectations. He seemed to me cringing in his manners and false in his look. He is like Napoleon in the outward shape of his features—not at all in expression. I saw him last year, at a concert at the Duchesse de Canizzaro's, beg her to introduce him to the Duke of Wellington, who was present. I saw him cross the room and come up bowing and scraping to be presented to the victor of Waterloo, whose reception was as cold as such baseness deserved.—From Memoirs of Duchesse de Dino.

Not Moved by Kindness.

A stout woman entered a crowded car and took hold of a strap directly in front of a man seated in the corner. As the car started she lunged against his newspaper and trod heavily on his toes. As soon as he could extricate himself he rose and offered her his seat.

"You are very kind, sir," she said, panting for breath.

"Not at all, madam," he replied. "It's not kindness. It's simply self defense."

Headed Him Off.

"Sir, I have grown gray in your service," began the old bookkeeper preliminary to asking for a raise.

"I was intending to speak to you about that," responded the head of the firm. "Get a bottle of hair dye. Otherwise the junior partner will be wanting to replace you with a younger man."—Kansas City Journal.

Appropriate.

"I want to look at some canes," said a magnificent young man to the shopkeeper, "and I'm in a great hurry."

"Yes, sir; yes, sir," responded the shopkeeper, very much flurried. "Here, James," to shop assistant, "show this gentleman some hurricanes."—London Fun.

Jenny Lind as a Child.

Jenny Lind as a child of three years was the lark of her parents' house. As a girl of nine she attracted the attention of all lovers of music and entered the Stockholm conservatory as a pupil. Her continuous studies at so tender an age caused the sudden loss of her voice, and for four full years she pursued her theoretical and technical studies, when suddenly the full sweet sounds came back, to the delight, as every one knows, of thousands for many years.

Confucius on Kingcraft.

"What is kingcraft?" demanded a disciple.

Confucius replied, "Food enough, troops enough and a trusting people."

"Were there no help for it which could be best spared of the three?"

"Troops," said the master.

"And were there no help for it which could be better spared of the other two?"

"Food," said the master. "From of old all men die, but without trust a people cannot stand."

Got It Mixed.

An amusing blunder was made in the case of a judicial declaration that certain resident magistrates "could no more state a case than they could write a Greek ode."

This was made to read that the magistrates "could no more state a case than they could ride a Greek goat."—London Answers.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

Coming across the Revere Beach ferry were two men whose antics attracted considerable attention. The younger would step around to the right side of his companion, and within a minute the elder would make a corresponding shift. At last the elder became irritated.

"Say, what are you trying to do, shifting around like this?" he demanded.

"I'm deaf in my left ear and was trying to get where I'd hear well," the younger replied.

"And I'm blind in my left eye and wanted to see what was doing," said the other.—Boston Journal.

POSTED ON RUBBER.

He Couldn't Be Fooled About the Growth of the Trees.

A promoter for a rubber company was trying to persuade Mr. Spangler to invest some of his savings in the company's stock. The demand for rubber, he said, was worldwide and constantly increasing. The company owned immense forests of rubber trees and kept an army of workers employed all the time in gathering the crude rubber. The output was enormous, and the profits—well, the scheme was certainly better than a gold mine.

"I have heard," said Mr. Spangler suspiciously, "that the forests are being exhausted."

"That's true to some extent," answered the other, "but we are not depending on the existing trees. We are planting hundreds of square miles with new trees."

"How long does it take for a tree to grow big enough to tap?"

"Only six or eight years."

"That won't go down with me," said Mr. Spangler, with emphasis. "My wife has had a rubber plant in the front parlor for six years, where it's warm all the time, winter and summer, and it hasn't grown a foot in all that time. No, sir; you can't fool me on that!"—Youth's Companion.

Man Eating Wild Men.

In the celebrated "Travailes" of Edward Webb (1590) are dozens of stories that would make Munchausen turn green with envy. One of the most celebrated of these is his story of the wild men of Prester John, which is as follows:

"In the court of Prester John there is a wilde man and another in the high street of Constantinople whose allowance is every day a quarter of raw mutton, and when any man dyeth for some notorious offence then they are allowed every day a quarter of man's flesh. These wilde men are chained fast to a post every day, the one in Prester John's courtd, the other in the high street of Constantinople, each of them having a mantell about their shoulders, and all over their bodyes they have wonderful long haire. They are chained by the neck lest they speedily devour all that cometh within their reach."

GRAND CANYON.

An Ideal Place in Which to Realize the Insignificance of Man.

There is one place in this country where a man can step back not by hundreds but by thousands of years, back to the time when the continent was in the making. This place is the Grand Canyon of Arizona. There the visitor sees a panorama in a million colors as the mists gather about the rugged peaks and the sunlight glistens on the metallic deposits of the cliffs. A whole chaotic world discloses itself. Rock forms of uncanny beauty stand out on those unrivaled cliffs, and far down runs the river channel.

Stand on some ledge and realize the insignificance of man when compared with the handicraft of nature, watch a party of travelers threading their way down some winding trail that clings to the great wall and see them grow smaller and smaller until they become mere specks in the great rift, then some idea is gained of this wonderful place. Yet the canyon is so symmetrical and so unlike anything else that it is with difficulty that one can acquire any notion of its immensity. Niagara poured in would hardly have the dignity of a mountain stream. —New York Sun.

Equal to the Occasion.

"Does your husband ever compare your ways with his family?" asked the mischief-making friend.

"Oh, yes," said the little bride, dimpling, "but I never get angry."

"That's sweet of you," warmly exclaimed the friend. "But what does the brute say?"

"He says," replied the bride, "that there is nothing in our home like the rumpus his mother used to make."

Gas for Whooping Cough.

The gas-fume whooping cough cure has been much resorted to in London lately. Inquiries made at leading gasworks show that during the past week a large number of children so suffering have visited the works to inhale the fumes. The sufferers are kept among the fumes for an hour or so.

Valuable Help.

"I understand that your wife collaborates with you?"

"Yes; her work aids me immensely."

"I don't believe I have ever seen any of her writings."

"She doesn't write. She prepares my meals."

What Came Up.

A young man wishing to have a bit of fun at a farmer's expense passed a few remarks about his cattle and his garden and then said he had set some lettuce and cabbage which had not grown up.

Then the farmer said:

"Oh, that's nothing! I set some carrot seeds, and what do you think came up?"

"Don't know," replied the young man.

Farmer—Why, old Brown's donkey, and ate the lot.—Newark Star.

The Turnip.

The turnip is supposed to be a native of Asia and Europe. It has been cultivated for centuries. The wild East Indian turnip is said to be remotely kin to the edible turnip. It is the size of a walnut and first tasted is sweetish, but in a moment the taster's tongue feels as though it were pricked by a hundred hot needles, and he feels like expectorating for hours after. It is the country boy's favorite medium for a joke on the visiting town boy.

Work and Worry.

"So you think worry kills more people than work?"

"I'm sure of it," replied the sarcastic scientist.

"Why?"

"Because so many people find it easier than work and devote their time to it."—Washington Star.

For who knows most, him loss of time most grieves.—Dante.

My Unknown Love.

I used to meet her in the park
Behind a prancing pair,
While this poor heart went pitapat
To see a form so fair.

I grew to know her lovely eyes,
Her cheeks that flush and pale.
But who can see a maiden's blush
Beneath an auto veil?

In winter she's an Eskimo
In heavy furs arrayed.
In summer she is nothing but
A goggled mummy maid.

And so my heart has ceased to throb
At sound of horn or bell.
It might be Angelina.
If it were I could not tell.

Every Weak Throat Quickly Strengthened And Bronchitis Cured

Grand Results Follow the Direct Breathing Remedy, Which Cures Without Drugging

The country is fairly wild over the wonderful recovery that throat sufferers are making ever day with Catarrhozone. From ocean to ocean comes letters telling of rapid cures—and cures when the complaint was chronic and long standing. It's a brand new principle upon which Catarrhozone works—not a single dose of medicine to take—nothing to upset the stomach or spoil digestion.

You can breathe through the Catarrhozone Inhaler medicated air that is full of healing, soothing, balsams, full of piney, antiseptic essences that resemble the air of the pine woods in the Adirondacks. The piney vapor has a truly marvelous action on weak throats. It brings strength and health to the bronchitic, stops that hacking, irritating cough, prevents hoarseness and difficult breathing. You can't find anything for weak-throated people on earth more beneficial than Catarrhozone. It means heaven on earth to the man that has had bronchitis, catarrh or throat irritation. You will realize this the first time you use Catarrhozone, which is a scientific preparation designed for diseases of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. Get the large size, it lasts two months, costs $1.00 medium size, 50c.; sample size, 25c. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Change in Railway Rates.

An Omemee despatch says that the G.T.R. has reduced the return railway fare to Peterborough by 5 cents and increased the return fare to Lindsay by 5 cents.

Will Go To Lindsay.

At the annual meeting of Peterborough County Orange Lodge, held on Tuesday evening last it was decided to accept the invitation of Victoria County Orange Lodge to celebrate the coming 12th of July in Lindsay.

A Splendid Play.

Last night a large audience gathered in the Grand Opera House and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid production "The Breed of the Treshams." The cast was particularly clever and the play well staged.

Peterborough Birds Won.

Birds owned by local poultry men won many prizes at the Kingston Show. Word was received yesterday morning that the Peterborough exhibit captured 37 first, 32 second and 10 thirds, in addition to several silver cups and other special prizes.

Local Gambler Fined.

At yesterday's Police Court, Howard Innes, a local young man, was found guilty of playing cards for money on Sunday, and was fined $40, the maximum penalty allowed by the law. This is the third time that Innes has been convicted on that charge.

Gambling at Hastings.

Hastings Star: The village has been the victim of an epidemic of raffles but thanks to the bitter sense of some of the parties concerned and a bit of friendly advice from the proper authorities, the contributots to the various pots had their money refunded and the raffles called off.

A Correction.

In our report of the Canadian Club Banquet contained in yesterday's issue a typographical error was made, whereby the function was said to have been held in Hooper's palm parlors. It should have read "Coleman's palm parlors."

Services at Bethany Tabernacle.

A series of revival meeting began in Bethany Tabernacle last night, and will continue through to Feb. 22nd:—Rev. L. J. Long, of Toronto is the speaker for the first four days followed by the Mountioneer Evangelist, Rev. Lucius B. Compton, of Ashville, N.C.

County Takes Over Bridge.

Norwood Register: The ratepayers of Asphodel will be pleased to learn that through the efforts of Reeve Brown the County has again assumed the maintenance of Birdsall's bridge. The bridge was formerly maintained by the county but was taken over by the township for a cash consideration some twenty ago.

A Suggestion for Peterborough

Lindsay Post: The civic dog catcher has been appointed, and started on his duties today in plain clothes. Up to noon hour he had corralled three canines, and incarcerated them in the Bastile. Chief Chilton states owing to the cold weather, the doggies will not be kept long, but will be forwarded to the sausage factory unless the owners get busy.

Good Vaudeville at the Royal.

The vaudeville at the Royal Theatre this week is of very high grade. The first act is given by one of the cleverest ventriloquists ever heard here. The colored musical sketch is also good. The last act, given by a lady and gentleman who do acrobatic acts on a big ball is more than worthy of notice. A special matinee will be given this afternoon for ladies and children.

Child Fell into Cistern

An Omemee despatch says that on Monday a.m. a very serious accident, which might have proved fatal, occurred at the home of Mr. Herb Jones of Emily south, when their little three year old child fell into the cistern. It seems the cover had been placed on the cistern, but the child in steppingon it hand tipped it, letting him suddenly drop into the water. Luckily he was rescued before all life had expired, and with medical aid he soon regained consciousness

Off Her Base.

Yesterday morning Prof. Schlowcho, the local musical instructor, told The Times an amusing story of an experience he had in Toronto some 30 years ago, when his knowledge of English was very limited. He was giving a young lady a lesson on the piano. His pupil struck a young note. The professor with a pained expression on his face, exclaimed, "Miss ——, you are off your base." The young lady replied "Sir, do you wish to insult me?" The instructor explained that his meaning was that she had struck a wrong base key.

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW ON THE DIAL OF A CITY LIFE

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council will be held this evening.

A bad of sugar was stolen, a few days ago from Abe Phillip's sleigh at the Royal Hotel, Hastings.

A stable to the rear of Mrs. Chas. Hall's residence, Lindsay, has been destroyed by fire.

On Monday Mr. George May, of Toronto, will be at the Montgomery House to purchase two car loads of horses.

The limit in matrimonial disputes was reached a few days ago, when a man in Havelock blacked his wife's eye because she would not leave the wash tub and pile wood for him.

HOCKEY NEWS

The Times' staff hockey team had a great work out on Parker's rink on Thursday evening. Grand material for a fast line was in evidence, and under the capable management of Prince Copius C. Clementi will make the best of them hustle. Amongst the shining lights on the ice we noticed "Speed" Quick, "Hamlet" Thurston, "Noodles" Kylie, "Fiddle Sticks" Pearson, "Benedict" Henley, "Razor Back" Killinbeck, "Canal" Scriver, and the management were highly delighted with the improvement shown in the work of the squad. Coach "Tiny Tad" Moore was heard to remark that not since the days when he handled the Indian Head Braves has he been better pleased with the result of his labors. "Speed" Quick has been warned to reduce a few pounds and get in condition, and when he reports at next work out it is expected the entire team will be in green—we mean pink of condition.

TERRIBLE RESULT OF BLOOD POISON

After Three Operations Zam-Buk was Tried and Proved Successful.

If people would only use Zam-Buk for chronic sores, blood-poison, etc., before permitting an operation, scores of limbs would be saved.

Mr. Robt. Patterson of North Pelham, Welland Co., Ont., writes: "My daughter, Annie, had blood-poison in her finger. The doctor operated twice on the finger, but did not obtain the desired result, and a third operation was considered necessary.

"Three doctors were present at this operation, but after it had been performed the wound did not heal. Try as we would we could not get anything to close the wound.

"We at last tried Zam-Buk, and it was really wonderful to watch how this balm healed the wound. Each day there was a marked improvement. First the wound in the palm of the hand closed, and then the finger which had been bad so long began to heal. The deceased flesh seemed to rise out of the wound and then drop off. and new healthy flesh formed from below, pushing off the diseased tissue. In a short time the wound was completely healed. Had we applied Zam-Buk at first we might have saved the finger.

"We had another proof of Zam-Buk's power in the case of my son. When two years old he had his hand badly mangled. One finger had to be amputated and it left a running sore for some months. This wound, also, was finally healed by Zam-Buk.

For chronic sores, blood-poison, ulcers, abscesses, scalp sores, piles, eruptions, inflamed patches, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases Zam-Buk is without equal. 50c. box all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Have you tried Zam-Buk Soap? 25c. tablet.

SENT UP FOR WHITE SLAVERY, WINS PARDON

New Orleans, Feb. 5.—Henry Flaspoller, a youth convicted of white slavery last spring and sent to the Atlanta penitentiary, has been pardoned and is now back in New Orleans, He served eight months of his term and by good behaviour won a commutation of sentence.

Flaspoller's case attracted wide attention. He and Irma Lambesey, a slip of a girl, "eloped" to the Mississippi coast, but returned without having gone through the formality of marriage. The youth was indicted. The girl swore he had forced her to leave the city with him. Afterwards she admitted that she had committed perjury. Meantime the two married and it was believed the case would be dropped, but the federal authorities went ahead with the prosecution.

It is reported Flaspoller's bride still loves him and that they are living together.

DRUGS SMUGGLED INTO PRISONS IN ORANGES

New York, Feb. 5.—Oranges are used to smuggle drugs such as heroin and cocaine, into prisons, according to Miss Katherine Bement Davis, New York's commissioner of correction, who attended a meeting held here yesterday for the purpose of promoting the passage in the New York Legislature of the anti-narcotic bill. Offenders, said Miss Davis, inject drugs into fruit. Even handkerchiefs were saturated with the drugs in solution and then passed on to the prisoners.

DOCTORS TO SEE THE SICK LEGISLATOR FOR PROBE BOARD

Mr. Mousseau's Illness Will be Looked Into--New Committee Named

Quebec, Feb. 5.—Apologies were tendered this morning for the midnight affray yesterday. Mr. Charles Lanctot appeared before the Assembly special committee this morning and tendered his apologies to Mr. McNab and the apology was accepted.

In the Legislative Council the names of Hon. Mr. Bryson, Hon. Mr. Garneau and Hon. Mr. Simard were added to the Upper House special committee. Messrs. Turgeon and Champagn resigned yesterday.

Members of the Legislative Council whose names appeared on the list submitted before the Upper House Committee repeated their sworn declarations, and likewise submitted sworn declaration from J. O. Mousseau the ex-member for Soulanges.

J. A. Labell, the lawyer engaged by the promoters of the Montreal Fair Association bill, when called to the stand, took advantage of his privilege as an advocate and declined to repeat any conversations with his clients.

It is understood that the doctors will look into the illness of Mr. Mousseau.

PRIVACY AND PITY IS GIVEN "GIRL WHO GOES WRONG"

St. Louis Mo., Feb. 5.—Could women be juvenile judges and run courts of correction successfully?

Would they change the long established, man made system of dealing with the wrongs of minors.

And what should be the result of such an innovation?

The answer to all three questions is being kindly and unostentatiously worked out in a pleasant, sunny, little room where fresh air, potted plants and new furniture all bespeak optimism and life and brightness. It is the new council chamber just off the probation officer's department in the Municipal building.

And in it two women juvenile judges are holding their novel court!

There great big wonderful job is to build characters where perhaps there is little but a badly warped heart to work upon; to make over lives that have been almost spoiled at the outset; to turn young humanity out of the crooked path of [illegible] and unhappiness into the road that leads to honor and success. These two women judges are Mrs. E. C. Runge and Miss Catherine R. Dunn. Their duties cover all cases where girls are concerned. Their decision is to release, probation or imprisonment of offenders is accepted as final.

And this how their way of trying cases differ from the old way.

The formalities of the court are largely dispensed with in the sun shiny room where the two women referees sit.

The swearing is not by raising the right hand in the old, cold, formal way as a rule. But instead, one of the kindly-faced women draws the plaintiff towards her, taking her by the hand. She leads her gently to a chair opposite her own on the other side of the table near the window, where the potted plants are growing. Then they both talk, freely, fairly, and, as a rule, the girl who has taken a step in the wrong direction fearlessly tells her story.

There are no staring men sitting within earshot. There are no satirical smilers looking on.

There is privacy and pity as well as the individual attention and interest which must be given and must be felt if the heart of the girl offender is to be touched and to be changed.

Mrs. Runge and Miss Dunn have served a long, faithful apprenticeship as probation officers. They know their work. They understand their cases and they are getting the results. They have already demonstrated that WOMEN CUVENILE JUDGES are a wide innovation in the Courts of St. Louis.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once—Stops falling out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair — fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

APPLICATION TO PARLIAMENT

NOTICE is hereby given that the Corporation of the City of Peterborough will apply to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario at the next session thereof for an Act for the following purposes:

1. To amend the Acts relating to the City of Peterborough to change the name of the Peterborough Water Commissioners to that of the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

2. To amend Chapter 117 of the Acts of 1912 as amended by Chapter 114 of the Acts of 1913 so as to define more clearly what part of the property of the Peterborough Light & Power Company (Limited) it is necessary for the City to acquire, in order that the right of the company to the use of the streets of the City may be terminated, to provide the manner by which the City may ascertain what property and plant is owned by the Company and the means by which the City may take possession of the part expropriated and to extend the time within which the city has the right to acquire said property and generally to amend said acts so that the rights given thereunder may be effectively exercised by the city.

3. To authorise the Council of the City without the assent of the ratepayers to pass a by-law for the purpose of borrowing the sum of Ten thousand dollars to pay to The Peterborough Health Association to assist in the erection of a Tuberculosis Sanitorium for city purposes.

DATED at Peterborough this Twenty-eighth day of January, 1914.

E. H. D. HALL,
Solicitor for Applicant.

Faith.

The story is told of a local clergyman that he once said, in a circle of his brethren, that he thought ministers ought to be humble and poor, like their Master.

"I have often prayed," said he, "that I might be kept humble; I never prayed that I might be poor—I could trust my church for that!"

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN CANADIAN PACIFIC TRAIN SERVICE.

Train No. 7, formerly leaving Toronto 8.30 p.m., arriving Winnipeg 8 a.m., has been temporarily withdrawn.

SANOL ANTI DIABETES
for Deadly Diabetes

SANOL ANTI-DIABETES is the new Cure for this terrible affliction. It is perfectly harmless to the organic system, and contains no poisonous or injurious ingredients whatever. It never fails to effect a Cure in every case in whatever form it may present itself, provided the patient has not reached the very stages of the malady when the vital organs have become irreparably damaged.

SANOL ANTI-DIABETES has cured many people; some of the cases had reached the stage where the patient was suffering from open sores, and in other respects the disease was well advanced. We have letters from just such sufferers as these. We are able to refer inquiries to large numbers of such cases, including people whose names are widely known and who occupy prominent positions. Doctors have tried and have proven the scientific value and worth of this remedy, in fact many of the Medical Profession in Canada have been permanently cured of Diabetes through this wonderful treatment.

VOL. XLI, NO. 32 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, FEB. 7, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

GEORGE E. MILLICHAMP IS NOW UNDER ARREST AT TORONTO

Events Move Quickly in Connection With Union Life Matters This Morning

Toronto, Feb. 6.—George E. Millichamp, the third of the Union Life Assurance Company's directors to be located after the issuance of the writ by Justice Latchford, arrived in the city to-day in company with County Constable Beaumont from Guelph, where he has been for some time in the Homewood Sanitarium.

Inspector of Detectives Kennedy received word last night that Millichamp was in a condition to be removed from the sanitarium. After consulting with County Crown Attorney Greer it was arranged that one of the county officers should go to Guelph this morning. It was expected that Millichamp would arrive in Toronto on an early train, but it was about 12.50 when the train pulled into the Union Station.

Still Is Weak.

Supported on the arm of Constable Beaumont, Millichamp, a man well over 6 feet, with irony grey hair, appeared to be very weak and leaned heavily on the officer's arm. He was dressed in a long fur coat, but despite this fact was apparently suffering from the cold. A taxicab was waiting and the pair hurried to the City Hall. Instead of using the front entrance to the hall the machine was driven round to Terauley street with a view of avoiding any publicity.

Events have moved with surprising quickness to-day in the Union Life case; the bail of Harry Symons, K.C. was removed; Dr. Hughes will be in Toronto either to-day or to-morrow, and now Dr. Millichamp, the third of the four directors of the defunct company, is under arrest. The apprehension of Dr. Millichamp was unexpected as the latest reports from Guelph stated that his physical condition would not allow his removal to Toronto.

PREMIER BORDEN AGAIN CONFINED TO HIS HOME

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Premier Borden is again confined to his residence with a recurrence of the blood disorders which have caused him frequent inconvenience of late. In his absence from the Commons to-day, Hon. Geo. E. Foster acted as Government leader.

HARD CRACK AT BILINGUALISM

Apologists for bilingualism say that it is impossible to educate a child in a language not his mother tongue. But this is what ex-President Taft told the Empire Club in Toronto that the United States has done in the Philippines:

> "We introduced 1,000 American teachers. We thought that English was the language for them to learn. (Applause.) It is the language of free institutions. (Hear, hear.) It is the business language of the Orient. To-day those 1,000 American teachers have trained 8,000 capable native teachers, who are educating 500,000 Filipino children."

That is what the United States Government has done in fifteen years with half a million children who knew nothing of the English language. In Ontario there are possibly sixty thousand French children and many of them are in districts where the English are in the majority, while the language of the nation and of the continent is English.

Why should not Ontario abolish bilingualism? asks The Orange Sentinel. Most of the French schools have already forfeited their grants owing to their refusal to comply with the already too-elastic language regulations. They should be allowed to remain private schools, without the power to levy taxation. The time is opportune for the announcement that French may no longer be used as the medium of instruction in the public schools of Ontario.

Hon. Dr. Pyne moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Taft for his illuminating speech. He should now indulge in the sincerest form of flattery—imitation.

MILITARY AEROPLANES FOR MEXICAN REBELS

General Carranza Will Use Them in the Northern Mexico Campaign.

Culican, Sinaloa, Mexico, Feb. 6.—Military aeroplanes will be among the war munitions to be ordered at once from the United States by Gen. Carranza, the rebel chieftain. This was announced to-day after Carranza had made hasty arrangements to take advantage immediately of the American Government's action in lifting the embargo on the exportation of arms. The aeroplanes will be used in campaigns in northern Mexico.

Fourteen thousand rifles with sufficient ammunition for a long campaign already have been ordered.

The organization of the aerial war fleet will be perfected by General Angeles, Sub-Secretary of War in the Carranza Cabinet.

NEW EMPLOYMENT AND MESSENGER AGENCY

A long-felt want in this city will be filled to-day. This is an up-to-date "Dominion Employment Bureau and Messenger Service." Messrs. C. H. Patterson and G. S. Hogg have opened this morning, such an institution at 174½ Charlotte street in connection with the insurance business. This firm of bright young business men are agents at the place designated; for the Dominion Life Insurance Co., the Canada Accident Co., and many fire insurance companies.

The object of the Employment Bureau is to bring employes and employers together. The firm will also have a number of boys, who, in the near future, will be clad in appropriate uniforms to deliver letters or parcels for those who may call up phone No. 1214, or leave orders personally. The new Bureau is housed in a suite of rooms that are light, airy, and centrally located.

JOKER IN LIQUOR ACT. MAY KILL CROWN'S CASE

Wholesale Wine Dealer May Not Require License so Long as Grapes Were Ontario-Grown

Toronto, Feb. 6.—With all the improved, revised and fancy-fixed liquor legislation, it would seem that intoxicants can be sold without a license and with impunity so far as the courts of law are concerned. An inkling of this condition of affairs was brought yesterday when Mr. P. E. Ryan, 106 Front street east, was remanded for a week in police court on a charge of selling liquor without a license. It may be by virtue of the very wording of the statutes that the Crown cannot impose a punishment, even if the charges be proved.

Recently a temperance hotelkeeper named Bernstein, was summoned to police court and charged with selling liquor without the necessary license. The police had obtained several bottles of wines on his premises, which he declared he had purchased from P. E. Ryan, 106 Front street east, on the understanding that they were non-intoxicating. An analysis of the wine obtained by the police showed that it contained much more than two-and-a-half per cent of alcohol. Bernstein was fined $100 and costs.

High Percentage of Alcohol.

The police on the strength of what they had learned from Bernstein, obtained a search warrant, and, entering the Front street premises, Detectives Twigg and P.C. Massey carried away with them several bottles of wines and bitters.

Bi-Lingual Post Cards

A very strongly worded resolution was unanimously carried at the annual meeting of the Peterborough County Orange Association, held in this city a few days ago, condemning the use of the bilingual post cards which have recently been put in circulation by the Post Office Department. The resolution calls on the Government to withdraw these cards, and substitute cards printed in English only. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the Premier and to the Postmaster General.

BY-LAW TO GRANT $10,000 FOR TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM

Will Go to the People, Probably at an Eearly Date--Splendid Work Accomplished by the Peterborough Health Association--100 Years Peace Between U. S. and the British Empire

The City Fathers met in Committee of the Whole last night, his worship Mayor Buller presiding. There were also present Aldermen Duffus, Stratton, Anderson, Johnston, Langford, Duncan, Green and Saunders.

Messrs. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., Dr. Neale and W. H. Dunsford were a deputation in the interests of the proposed tuberculosis sanitarium, towards the erection of which the city is asked to contribute the sum of $10,000.

Ald. Green was under the impression that the people would not want a consumptive hospital erected within the corporation. Besides, we have two hospitals already, properly equipped and capable of meeting all demands. At Gravenhurst, he is told, there is more consumption in the village to-day than before the sanitarium was instituted, by reason of contact with tuberculosis patients. Again in Colorado, a law is now enacted that no consumptive patients other than those belonging to the state shall be allowed within the state.

The Mayor contended that consumptive sufferers with no home facilities for proper attention must be taken care of. He thought the isolation hospital, from its situation, would make an ideal institution for tuberculosis treatment, were smaller buildings provided to take the place of the present isolation building.

Dr. Neale stated that Nicholls Hospital will refuse tuberculosis patients if known to be suffering from such disease. Under the new law the city will have to support its indigent consumptive patients, whether it be at Muskoka, Gravenhurst or at home, and, on the whole, he considered the maintenance of such patients would come cheaper to the city by being cared for in our own local institution. The maximum fee that can be charged for indigent consumptives is 70 cents a day, and a considerable portion of this would be reduced by the Government grant and philanthropic subscriptions.

To Ald. Green, Dr. Neale replied that the Nicholls Hospital will not take patients known to be suffering from advanced tuberculosis. Such patients who secure admittance do so by reason of a none too thorough diagnosis of their complaints.

Ald. Green had been given to understand that the local hospitals are quite ready to accept tuberculosis patients. If such were the case he could not see the necessity for the proposed sanitarium.

Mr. Dunsford pointed out that since June, 1912, the Peterborough Health Association had raised over $5,000 for treatment of tuberculosis patients. Since October, 1912, the Association had expended $2,277 in this work, and have now on hand a little more than $2,000. Originally one nurse was employed, but now the situation calls for the employment of two nurses. It is quite evident, urged Mr. Dunsford, that drastic measures must be taken to check this dread "white plague."

Ald. Duffus contended that a law to stop people too closely related from getting married, and persons afflicted with the disease from marrying, a big step would be taken toward stamping out tuberculosis.

Ald. Duncan did not think there was any cure for the disease.

The Mayor instanced cases within his own personal experience positively cured by fresh air and out-door exercise.

Ald. Duncan said he would not be in favor of the proposed sanitarium unless the people voted for it.

Further discussion elicited the fact that this question can either be ratified by the people or by the legislature, quite independent of each other.

Ald. Anderson would favor the grant of $10,000 were it not for the uncertainty of what the actual cost of maintenance would stand the city.

Ald. Duffus was ready to endorse the contribution of $10,000 for sanitarium either by legislation or by voice of the people did the law provide that tuberculosis patients must be restricted from contact with others free of the disease. As it is, however, it seems that legislation does not enforce the exclusion of consumptives in a sanitarium.

Mr. Peck answered that legislation in this regard is wanting for lack of a sufficient number of such institutions to accommodate tuberculosis patients.

Ald. Green remarked that more good would be accomplished by the Council giving the Health Association the interest on $10,000, to apply as they are doing now, rather than giving them $10,000 toward a sanitarium.

Ald. Duncan appreciated the splendid work being done by the Health Association, but thought one of the first steps to be taken to stamp out tuberculosis should be legislation to enforce the stripping of walls within which consumptives have died before re-papering. He had seen walls covered with tuberculosis sputum just re-papered over the disease-contaminated wall-paper.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Saunders, that a by-law to provide for a grant of $10,000 toward the erection of a tuberculosis sanitarium in this district be submitted to the people at the first convenient opportunity—This carried.

An amendment by Ald. Anderson and Duffus, that legislation be asked for this purpose, only received the support of the mover and seconder, and consequently was lost.

The Health Association may defray cost of submitting such by-law at the earliest possible date.

Peace Conference.

A public meeting will be held to discuss the question of holding a peace conference (to assure peace between the United States and the British Empire for 100 years) in Peterborough in 1915. Mr. Scammell, secretary of the Canadian Peace Association, will be present and address the meeting.

TEAR AWAY VEIL OF SILENCE COVERING MONTREAL PAPERS

The Demand of B. A. Macnab in an Attack Upon His Former Chief, Sir Hugh

Quebec, Feb. 6.—An attempt at Sir Hugh Graham by Mr. Brenton A. Macnab, former editor of the Montreal Star, gave an exciting turn to this morning's proceedings before the special committee of the Legislative Council.

Given permission by the committee to make a statement, Sir Hugh Graham said:

"If I am permitted to make a brief statement it may simplify matters. I am utterly at a loss to know why I have been summoned before this committee. Until the 18th January, this year, I had not heard of Bill 158. I have no personal acquaintance with the gentlemen against whom charges have been laid. I have no knowledge of the proceedings, and had not heard of them till the 18th, when a gentleman telephoned to me and asked if he could come to my house in company with Mr. Edward Beck. He said over the telephone that he had something of a startling nature to disclose. I asked if I might have my counsel Mr. A. J. Brown, to be present. After a moment's delay he said yes. Mr. Brown was in my library when these gentlemen arrived. A summary was read of the charges which I said I had never heard of before. They were offered to me for use in the journals with which I have or am supposed to have connection. On advice of my counsel I declined to have anything to do with it.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

At the annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company held in Toronto Jan. 29th ult., a most encouraging report of the year's business was presented.

The President, Mr. E. Gurney, in his address indicated that the business of the Company for the year 1913 was the most successful in the history of this great and growing institution. New policies amounting to $8,565,835 were issued during the past year, or an increase of one million dollars over the preceding year. The president expressed his firm conviction that 1914 will show even better results. The Company has now $52,000,000 in force, all of which was written under most conservative conditions. The lapses of policies in this company have been lower than the normal average. The cash income from premiums and interest showed an increase of $157,524. The securities of the company have been demonstrated to be the most conservative and safe character. Whilst there has been a slight temporary depression in general financial conditions, the North American has not been materially affected.

Mr. George A. Benor, local district manager has done good work in advancing the interests of his company. The financial statement is given in another page of this issue.

HOW ANYONE CAN BANISH HAIR OR FUZZ

(Modes of Today)

Superfluous hairs are easily and quickly removed with the aid of a delatone paste. Get an original package of delatone from your druggist and mix enough with water to cover the hairy surface. Apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. No possible harm or injury follows this treatment, and excepting in rare instances, only one application is required to remove every trace of hair. Results are more satisfactory when you get the delatone in an original package.

SIR GEORGE ROSS IS A LITTLE BETTER TO-DAY

Gains Ground and Is Not Suffering Much Pain—Sir James Is Still Improving.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—Sir George Ross was remarkably better to-day, and the unfavorable symptoms, which caused some uneasiness yesterday, have subsided. He had a good night's rest and was bright and cheerful all morning. He is not suffering much physical pain now. Years of frail health have injured him to the mental strain of long inactivity and weakness, and he is bearing up philosophically.

Only his physicians and members of his family are allowed access to the sickroom, and any news that might cause dangerous excitement is withheld. Every precaution is being taken to insure quiet. When examined by his physicians this morning, his heart action was found to be stronger and steadier, and his general condition noticeably better.

Little hope however is held out for a rapid recovery.

Sir James Whitney continues to improve rapidly. He is now so well that the doctors have ceased issuing the usual morning bulletin. He sleeps well and eats well. It is only a matter of days now until his removal from the hospital to his home becomes possible.

A KINDRED FEELING

The new cook who had come into the household during the holidays, asked her mistress:

"Where ban your son? I not seeing him round here no more."

"My son," replied the mistress pridefully. "Oh, he has gone back to Yale. He could only stay away long enough to stay until New Year's Day, you see. I miss him dreadfully, though."

"Yas, I knowing yoost how you feel. My broder, he ban in yail sax times since Thanksgiving."

ALL ON EQUAL BASIS IN THE PANAMA CANAL

President Wilson Announces That He is in Favor of Repealing Provisions in Panama Canal Act Granting Exemption to American Coastwise Vessels

Washington, Feb. 6.—All doubt as to President Wilson's position with reference to the Panama Canal tolls controversy was removed to-day when the President, in response to direct questions from a party of visitors, said that he favored the repeal of the provision in the Panama Canal Act of August 24, 1912, which grants exemption from payment of tolls to American vessels engaged in the coastwise trade.

The President believes that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain guarantees equality of treatment to all nations, including the United States in the matter of tolls, and that the United States is in honor bound to charge American vessels the same tolls it imposes upon those of foreign nations. The President impressed upon his callers that he would use every legitimate influence at his disposal to have the exemption clause eliminated from the Panama Canal Act

C.N.R. SPENDS TEN MILLIONS TO INCREASE ROLLING STOCK

Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Orders to the value of ten million dollars are shortly to be placed for additional rolling stock for the Canadian Northern Railway to operate its main line between Quebec and Port Arthur.

Every effort will be made to have the stock delivered early in the summer when the line will be almost ready for operation.

Orders for close upon one million have already gone in. This will include early delivery of twelve steel first and second-class passenger coaches, fifty-five colonists, and thirteen baggage cars.

The $10,000,000 order applies to locomotives, passenger coaches, dining cars, sleepers and baggage cars.

BARON DE FOREST CALLS EARL OF DERBY'S BLUFF

London, Feb. 6.—A big land deal is likely to result from a political controversy. Maurice Arnold de Forest, who is a hereditary Baron of the Austrian Empire, has accepted an offer recently made in a public speech by the Earl of Derby, to sell his Estate in Bootle, a suburb of Liverpool, for $7,500,000. The property was purchased in 1724 for $35,000, and in a contribution to the Land Inquiry Committee's report, Baron de Forest cited this as a striking example of unearned increment. He estimated the annual income from this property as $500,000, and the value of the property as between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS

Shareholders Are to be Congratulated on the Splendid Report Presented

On Wednesday last the shareholders of the Toronto General Trust Corporation met in the Company's offices in their building in Toronto. The best report in the whole history of the Company's thirty-two years successful operation was presented by the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. J. W. Langmuir, who not only originated the Company, but has been its chief executive since the beginning.

The collection of interest due on the mortgages shows the phenomenal record of 98.4 during the twelve months. This is indicative of the careful selection of mortgages, exercised by the Toronto General Trusts Corporation.

The large volume of new business assumed by the Corporation amounting to over $11,000,000 and the increasing numbers of wills being fyled show the growing confidence of the public in this institution and an increasing tendency to appoint a Trust Company as executive.

The profits during the last year were [illegible] and the increase [illegible] total [illegible]. To the reserve was added the sum of $400,000, making it equal to the capital stock.

Conservaive and careful management has always characterized the conduct of the business of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, and that this policy is a wise one, is shown by the increasing growth and strength of this institution year by year.

BORDER TOWNS.

Many That Are Partly In One State and Partly In Another.

A number of towns and villages in the United States are situated on state boundary lines. The names of some of these are formed on the model of what Lewis Carroll called "portmanteau" words. Delmar and Marydell, for example, are on the line between Maryland and Delaware. Pen Mar is on the Pennsylvania and Maryland line. Moark is named from Missouri (Mo.) and Arkansas (Ark.). Texarkana is partly in Texas and partly in Arkansas. Illiana is on or near the Indiana line. State Line, which is half in Connecticut and half in New York, with numerous instances of the sort in other states, is a self explanatory name.

Other border towns whose names do not indicate their position are Port Chester (New York and Connecticut), Blackstone (Massachusetts and Rhode Island), Westerly (Rhode Island and Connecticut), Kansas City (Missouri and Kansas), Guthrie and Fulton (each partly in Kentucky and partly in Tennessee), Harrison and Union City (in Indiana and Ohio), and Great Falls (New Hampshire and Maine). What is virtually one town on the border boundary of Tennessee and Virginia is legally known as Bristol on the Tennessee side and Goodson on the Virginia side. A number of smaller towns might be added to the list.—New York Tribune.

LIBERTY BELL.

Its Connection With the Declaration of Independence.

The famous Liberty bell was cast in London in 1752, brought to America and subsequently recast in Philadelphia. It bears the inscription, "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the World and to All the Inhabitants Thereof." It was cracked while being tolled after the death of Chief Justice John Marshall in 1835. It is kept on exhibition in Independence hall, Philadelphia. It has had a fictitious importance owing to the popular belief that its ringing proclaimed the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. Concerning this belief, however, Friedenwald in his "Declaration of Independence" (1904) says:

"There is no shadow of authority even for associating the ringing of the bell with the announcement of the agreement upon independence. The mythical legend of the blue eyed boy waiting outside the door to give the signal to the man in the bell tower is the product of the fertile imagination of one of Philadelphia's early romancers, George Lippard, who first gave currency to it in his appropriately called 'Legends of the Revolution.' This book was published in 1847."—New York American.

The Young Men's Fancy.

O summer girl, sweet summer girl,
We're watching now for you!
We're waiting for you to arrive,
You and your peekaboo.
The winter girl is very sweet,
And she has many charms,
But now the summer girl we want
To greet with open arms.

O summer girl, sweet summer girl,
Come early as you can
And be, as you have always been,
A blessed boon to man!
We'll lavish on you all our love,
As we have done before,
And we'll agree to bow the knee
And worship and adore.
—Somerville Journal.

His Error.

The young man who loved the daughter of the widow had called to get the mother's consent to lead the fair girl to the altar, but he blundered at the very outset.

"I have come, madam," he began in a voice that was agitated and beseeching, "to ask you for the blessed privilege of working for your dear daughter, taking care of her, giving her a home and"—

He got no farther. The widow, with indescribable eagerness, threw herself into his arms. "I gladly give you the privilege," she cried. "You don't know how I have hoped and longed for a model man like you to be my darling daughter's father!"—Chicago News.

Why He Was Gallant.

A stout woman entered a crowded car and took hold of a strap directly in front of a man seated in the corner. As the car started she lunged against his newspaper and trod heavily on his toes. As soon as he could extricate himself he arose and offered her his seat.

"You are very kind, sir," she said, panting for breath.

"Not at all, madam," he replied. "It's not kindness; it's simply self defense."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The vaudeville at the Royal Theatre this week is of very high grade. The first act is given by one of the cleverest ventriloquists ever heard here. The colored musical sketch is also good. The last act, given by a lady and gentleman who do acrobatic acts on a big ball is more than worthy of notice.

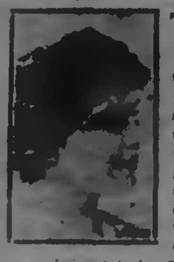
Cords and Tassels Lend Modish Touch to Bags

By MADGE MARVEL



THERE seems no end to the variety or limit to the beauty of the shopping bags and bags for afternoon and evening use that are displayed by the best shops which pay great attention to the accessories of dress. Of course, the wonderful beaded bags are the most alluring for they give us the knowledge that infinite patience and hand work have been responsible for their exquisite colorings and intricate designs. But there are bags of silk and satin, plain and brocaded and embroidered, bags of velvet and chiffon, bags of fur and of lace, which are equally new and desirable.

For example, I noticed a bag at the play the other night carried by a lovely girl wearing a gown of changeant taffeta in which old and blue shades shimmered. It was of white satin brocade with a medallion top showing the head of some Empire beauty, and it was set in a rim of Mechlin lace framed in gold bead work. It was in the long shape with a gold tassel at the lower end, and gold cords drew it up at the top.

Pale blue satin brocaded in gold roses formed an oblong bag with a ruching of plain blue satin to give room at the lower edge.

Rose pink moire was combined with gold-shot chiffon brocaded in pink in another model. Some of these bags are drawn up by ribbons or cords, but many are mounted in frames of gold or silver. They are not difficult to make, and the mountings are easily obtainable.

As spring approaches I am told there will be a revival of the Irish crochet bags for carrying with light frocks, and now is the time for clever fingers to get busy making them. The newest shapes are somewhat longer than wide and have heavy cords and tassels for adornment.

Fancy underbodices also offer most fascinating employment for the woman who likes to sew. The most approved way of making these little garments is with ribbon straps over the shoulder, and the bodice itself is of chiffon or crepe, or lace, or the sheerest of mulle with lace inserts. They are slightly full, and at the waist line, and are made to fit with as little fulness as possible at the top, where a ribbon with a flat bow holds them in place. Pale pink mulle and cream Alencon lace make a charming combination, and handkerchief linen and Cluny are practical, as well as attractive.

I find the bolero appearing on many of the newest blouses, and also the waistcoat made a part of the blouse, unremovable. This was noticeable in a Paris model shown at a specialty house as one of the favorite spring blouses. It had sleeves of cream-dotted net, made very long, with deep wrist frills that would reach to the knuckles. A waistcoat of daffodil yellow brocade was curved out at the arm holes to show the net, and then came well over the front and back to deep points in the front and a square tab at the back. The collar was part of the waistcoat, and was of the Medici style. Below it the net was arranged in surplice folds, and the waistcoat buttoned below the bust with four crystal buttons.

There is a good deal of tan and brown promised on the spring color card, and several shades of green in the tender tones of the season. The silk and wool mixtures show decidedly loose weaves, and the combination of two colors in uneven checks. Blue and rose, violet and cream, green and gray are some of the shades combined. The material has the appearance of the old hopsacking we once knew and liked.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

A Fifty-Fifty Man

XXIII.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

"PETER," said Paul Brooks, —one night as we were all walking home, "just how do you figure out this marriage game, fifty-fifty—as the saying is—or forty-nine-fifty-one?"

I'd been wondering a little about that myself and said so.

"Fifty-fifty!" broke in Ned Cary, before I could proceed. "It's the only way."

"You're wrong," said Paul with decision. "It's got to be fifty-one—forty-nine or there'll be the very devil to pay."

"Fifty-fifty gives the man a better fighting chance," insisted Ned Cary, with smiling good humor. "You'll find that most often when there's a fifty-one-forty-nine arrangement, the woman's the fifty-one. And when there are youngsters it's eighty-nine, eleven, old top, with the man a mere pin-point in the game."

"Well," said Paul gloomily, "it's been my experience that if you don't begin with a high hand and keep it heavy you're in bad at the start. I get my own breakfast" (I winced, for I get my own, though I'm not advertising the fact), "and I do a lot of fool things that I ought not have to do and wouldn't have had to do if I'd just put my foot down after the honeymoon and said, 'I'm boss! I'll do thus and so and not another thing.'

"I figure this way. If a man brings in the money he's exempt from kitchen duty. What's more, he's of necessity the most vital figure in the partnership. Economic independence—"

"What," put in Ned Cary mildly, "what is economic independence? I've read a lot about it, but to my thinking it's a much abused term."

"Earned money," blustered Paul briefly.

"Then your wife has economic independence, too!" asserted Ned easily. "Housekeeping is the only job I know of, my friend, that pays no more than board and clothes. Pay your wife what she earns—in contrast to what she gets—and she's as economically independent as you are yourself."

"Huh!" grunted Paul, in deep disgust. "Been reading feminist literature, haven't you?"

"You know," I spoke up suddenly, "to hear men talk you'd think that the solitary contribution of money to the home is the only thing that counts at all. I'm not one to decry the need and desirability of money—goodness knows, we all need all we can get—but it does seem to me it's a mighty sordid viewpoint deliberately to put the man's wage on one side of the home scale and say 'Let the woman contribute the hours of her day, her gentleness, her tact, sympathy and cheer. Let her bear and rear my children, see that I'm comfortable, undisturbed and happy. All of that is a mere bagatelle in the game. My contribution of dollars and cents still outweighs this elusive contribution she makes!'"

"You're right, Peter!" nodded Ned. "It isn't fair. How can you gauge the value of the heart-aches all mothers put into the game of life?"

"You're both fifty-fifty men!" accused Paul hotly. "Man was made to rule."

"I'm a fifty-fifty man and proud of it," said I. "I want to feel that when my expenses and the expenses of my home are paid—my wife and I will split the rest equally. I want her to respect my opinion and I'm ready to respect hers. I want a partner and a friend—not a doting slave. I want to be able to say, 'I'm going to do such and such a thing tomorrow!' I don't want to ask permission and I don't expect her to.

"On the other hand, I'm not going to abandon the rearing of any children I may have utterly to my wife. I want a hand in it and I don't understand the man who doesn't. A youngster needs the two viewpoints. He needs the man's and he needs the woman's, and, say what you will, too much of either is enervating. I'd like to talk business man to man with my wife and have her tell me the details of the house machinery. That's an ideal sort of partnership."

Then we all sighed. It's so easy to talk. And my Mary, alas, is a clinging vine.

Long Hair on the Job

By Tom Jackson

PIANOS give a living to some people with long hair. Few persons know just what they play—the others do not care. Folks pay three dollars for a seat, and whisper, "Ain't it grand?" while all the time they'd much prefer a little German band. They talk of "motif" and "technique," of "symphony" and such, and all admit the long-haired one has got a perfect "touch," and of the latter there is not the slightest doubt. Oh, no—just ask the man who sits in the box-office of the show. The long-haired one sits on a stool with melancholy face, then he assaults all of the keys from treble up to bass. He thumps the white ones on the face, the black ones on the back; then he grows mad, and with both hands gives all the bunch a whack. All sorts of dins come rushing from the poor piano's works. Some sound like the Bulgarians when they butt into Turks, some sound like tons of anthracite, a sliding down a hole—the racket, though, is "atmosphere" and "art," and likewise "soul." "Bravo!" the people loudly shout—which is the proper thing. Long Hair once more gets on the job, with Biff! and Bang! and Bing! The people are enraptured—or at least they say they are. But ragtime, it is safe to bet, they'd rather hear by far, or listen to the good old tunes that mother used to play, before the long-haired artist man came hunting coin this way. One cannot blame the foreign gent for getting [illegible] but really on the level—it's the label brings the big

THE FLIGHT OF TIME :: By Michelson

NOTHING could possibly be more commonplace than a clock—on its face. Always saying the same thing, until the Frenchmen invented the idea of having them count up 24 hours and asked you to say: "It's half-past twenty-two." But that's another story altogether.

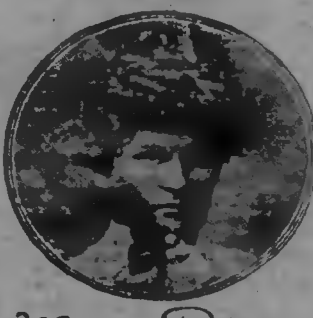
The real point is, the way the HANDS have of racing when you want every hour to be only a minute. All very well for the clock to pretend to put its hands over its face, but when these indexes get to be a BLURR and call it, say, eleven P. M. (or twenty-three o'clock) when it shouldn't be but a tick or two past nine, you can't expect any one to feel any respect for it.

Dreadful hands that push lovers apart! Fickle hands, always straying away from each other! Never a clasp or a sign of affection. No constancy. ALWAYS saying: "It's time to go!" And has anybody invented a worse announcement than that? Nothing COULD be worse in certain situations.

The Little Feminist

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.



Winifred Black

SHE'S just come home for the holidays—the Little Feminist. I met her at a studio tea yesterday and she was quite the sensation of the affair.

She wore the very latest and the very smartest kind of clothes—feminine to a degree—so feminine that they said in every line of them to every casual passerby, "I am a woman; look at me."

But somehow the Little Feminist wore her clothes with a sort of swagger that made them, somehow, in some vague way, absurdly masculine.

Her neat little boots were low heeled and sensible enough to evoke the wild admiration of the most sensible faddist on earth and she carried in a perfectly good little pocket a perfectly good little cigarette case neatly monogrammed, and she hadn't been at the tea five minutes before she had half the other women smoking and the other half looking as if they wished they dared to smoke, too.

We heard all about the new ideal for woman from the Little Feminist. She told us while she smoked. She looked a bit taken aback when the tea was handed around. I don't know whether she really expected a highball or whether she just wanted to make us think that's what she expected. But anyhow she told us things.

Such interesting things—all about what women are doing and what they intend most emphatically never to do again. I gathered a sort of bewildered impression that the principal thing they were not under any circumstances going to think of doing ever, ever again as long as the world goes round—is—to behave themselves.

"Why should we go on being so good and so patient and so forgiving?" said the Little Feminist, striking a match with the greatest neatness and decision. "The men don't do that sort of thing. Down with the double standard. When a man takes a sweetheart let his wife take one, too, and make no bones about it.

"Why should she—men don't.

"Why, nearly every woman I know has some sort of an affair, and not half of them ever intend to marry the man at all. The old-fashioned idea that you've got to marry every man you fall in love with is gone out—absolutely gone out. It's quite impossible, of course—now that you fall in love with so many men at so many different times.

"Women are just like men and always have been. They just live differently, that's all.

"Now they're living alike—and that makes all the difference.

"When a girl sat at home and waited for some man to choose her, of course she thought he was the only man in the world and she had to marry him to keep somebody else from getting him.

"But, now that we women go about a bit ourselves, we've found out that there are others—oh, quite a few others—and we aren't crazy to tie ourselves down any more than men are.

"It took us a long time to wake up—but we're awake now, and we're going to stay awake, in spite of all the old fogies in petticoats and the old frumps in trousers that ever lived."

And the Feminist lit another cigarette—and listened for the explosion.

There wasn't any.

Some of the women were dazed, some of them were horrified, and some were pleased; but the tea came in just then and an astonishingly pretty person began to sing "The Land of the Bright Blue Waters" and we all sat and looked sentimental and thought variously of various Hims—and the thrilling moment passed—unthrillingly.

I wonder if there's anything in what the Little Feminist said? I've heard a good many rather clever women say just such things of late. I can't believe they quite mean them.

Of course, nobody can live in the real world nowadays without realizing that the whole point of view of the average woman is changing, and changing fast.

The woman who, ten years ago, would have sat down and cried when her husband misbehaved gets up nowadays and packs her trunk. She doesn't have to be miserable with any man. She's learned how to take care of herself without one.

I was rather glad about this state of affairs myself. But if, instead of it making men better, it's going to make women worse, I don't think it's going to do after all.

I wonder if women can't be independent and sensible and self-respecting—and decent at the same time.

My little friend, the Feminist, and her followers have dashed my spirit a little.

What do you other women think about it? Do stand up in meeting and tell us.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Shock Made Harmless by "Turning off" Brain

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

DR. HIRSHBERG

YOU are worried. A messenger boy rings the door bell. He hands you a telegram and over you fall as if shot. This is called a shock.

A man is on a telegraph pole. He touches a live wire and almost falls to the ground. This is a shock.

Word of the serious illness of her only son is brought to an old mother. She almost succumbs to the news. This, too, is known as a shock.

A man is eating olives or oysters for the first time. They are both pure and fresh. There is nothing odd about them except this, the food has never been tasted before. His eyes begin to roll, he seems to be suffocating, he keels completely over. Pundits calls this type of shock the "strange protein shock." Food poisoning is a misnomer given to it.

Then there is the shock after an operation or an accident, the shock from drugs, and, finally, chronic and constant shocks known as nerve diseases of a certain sort.

Thus there are these varieties of shock:

1—Emotional shocks.
2—Electric shocks.
3—Injury and accident shocks.
4—Surgical shocks.
5—Food shocks.
6—Drug shocks.
7—Maladies of shocks and others.

The tissues which are concerned in shocks are like a wound-up watch spring, ready to go off as quickly as a hair-trigger. The brain, the muscles as well as the explosive thyroid and other internal organs, are among them.

Gas or vapors, such as ether, chloroform, or laughing gas are no protection against shock. The fact that a man is comatose, unconscious, or under an anaesthetic does not save his life from shock. The brain is a powder train touched off as easily under anaesthesia as without it.

Experiments on Animals.

Dr. G. W. Crile was the first one to emphasize this fact with experiments upon dogs, cats, rabbits and similar brutes.

Strong fear, worry and teasing permanently injured the brain of these creatures. Proteins—foreign or new foods—poisons from germs; drugs such as narcotics; injuries and the other kinds of shock cause serious damage to, and may even destroy, the life of those subjected to it.

Therefore, a new procedure and practice has come about in the art of medicine and surgery.

Hereafter, whenever bad news must be broken to persons likely to be severely shocked, physicians must be summoned to give medicine that will cut off or switch off the tissues such as the thinking and reasoning segments of the brain, so that when the news is broken the tissues which spring the shock are uncoupled from the rest of the body and can do no harm.

Thus when certain new and bizarre or rare foods—proteins—are to be eaten for the first or second time, the doctor must first inject the correct drug to sever the connecting links.

When a boil is to be opened, a tooth to be drawn, a gum to be lanced, or even the most trivial sort of pain is to be inflicted the young, up-to-date practitioner hastens first to separate the scene of his activities from the rest of the body.

None Need Suffer Now.

Cocaine and morphine will not do this separating, and although many different kinds of dangerous shock really come from pain, morphine, the great pain-killing drug, does not prevent shock.

Hyoscine, eucaine, curare and a host of new drugs wholly unfamiliar to those not accustomed to administer them, are available for use before the brain can be blocked off from the rest of the body or particularly from the part to be "shocked."

So, then, hereafter the most fearsome and timorous person need not suffer from either the longest and most severe operations which require hours and hours, or even so trivial a one as jerking forth a pestiferous tooth.

Answers to Health Questions

M. D.—Is there anything safe to use to promote the growth of hair on a young baby?

You should not interfere with the scalp of a young infant. A little lemon juice internally often counteracts the falling out of a child's hair. Breast nursed babies rarely have such troubles.

* * *

B. H. S.—What treatment do you recommend for a person about 60 years old with hard arteries?

Drink real buttermilk and also take the drug store lactic acid tablets. Avoid all excessive exertion and do not eat much of anything at any time. Never eat after sundown.

* * *

W. S.—I always take cold if I stop my morning cold baths. Yet I believe the cold bath does drain my energy. I am now 60 years of age. What do you advise?

Suppose you try a partial cold bath instead of a full one. Stand in the cold water and sponge yourself with cold water, instead of taking the full cold bath, which you think saps your strength.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

"WHERE are you going?" asked Mrs. Rabbit of Brer Rabbit one evening.

"I think I'll go skating," replied her husband.

"Be careful and do not drown yourself," said Mrs. Rabbit, as he disappeared out the door.

Brer Rabbit was soon down by the lake, where Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were already skating up and down the ice, while their children sat on the bank and laughed.

"Hello, Brer Rabbit!" shouted Mr. Squirrel. "Be careful not to fall in those holes over there."

"Don't worry about me," said Brer Rabbit as he started on the ice. He almost fell as he left the shore, and Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel laughed at him, he looked so comical in the moonlight.

Up and down, up and down the lake went Brer Rabbit as fast as the wind could carry him.

Coming down the side away from where Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were, he headed straight for the hole in the ice. Try as he could, he was unable to stop himself.

"Cher-plunk!"

Down went Brer Rabbit with a shout, which attracted Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel, who rushed over to where he had disappeared.

Now, Brer Rabbit was going so fast he fell in one hole in the ice and his head bobbed out another hole and he managed to pull himself out with his front paws.

Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were yelling "Help! Help!" while Jimmy Raccoon went for a stick to poke around in the icy cold water for Brer Rabbit.

Soon Brer Rabbit was scampering up the bank and knocking at Mr. Raccoon's door.

"Come in!" said Mr. Raccoon. Brer Rabbit entered and sat down by the fire.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Mr. Raccoon.

"I'm drowned!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit, as he tumbled off the chair.

Test Too Severe.

"Do you believe in Platonic love? Do you think it is lasting?"

"Not with me. I always married the woman."

One Instance Cited.

"Circumstances alter cases," said the solemn boarder.

"That's right," asserted the young lawyer. "Much less evidence is required for a confession than for an alibi."

How He Avoided It.

"Does he look upon the wine when it is red?"

"No. He always closes his eyes when he opens his mouth."

Speaking Pokerically.

Friend—What answer will you make to that call you received from the West?

Pastor—Turn it down. They should have raised before they called.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

These are sad and dreary days for the Liberal party. There are times when Chief Laurier sits doRn and wonders what he is chief of.

The incaubator baby girl of Kansas is now [illegible] years old. She is old enough to go on the vaudevillestage and make a large fortune by telling the public how it feels to be raised by an oil stove.

The Minnesota School of Agriculture tells parents to train up a boy in the way he should go, and he will be able to sew on his pants buttons thereafter. After second thought the advice doesn't seem so bad.

The New Hampshire courts were asked to decide whether or not Harry Thaw was a menace. They decided he was not. But there will be a different decision if the question whether or not he is a nuisance it put up to them.

A Toronto preacher is anxious to know why it is that people who keep awake in other places go to sleep in church. Probably the keeping awake in other places makes them feel the need of sleep when they go to church.

There are two millions of automobiles in the world and the number is increasing so rapidly that it is only a question of time when pedestrians ~~will have~~ ~~to~~ carry a honk-horn to signify that they have the right of way when crossing a street.

In addition to his other accomplishments Premier Borden is a hypnotist. After looking steadily into the eyes of the Liberal octopus for a few moments it approaches him tremblingly and anifests that it is more willing to eat out of his hand than to bit it.

FRANCE AND GERMANY

Anevent which may have a most beneficial influence on the future course of Franco-German relations was the meeting which took place recently in one of the committee rooms of the chamber of the parliamentary group to consider a communication from a committee of members of the German Reichstag. The initiative this time came from Germany, and was an outcome of the Berne conference last spring. That that conference is now bearing fruit is proved by the formation of an imposing majority of members of the Reichstag into an association for the improvement of relations between France and Germany.

According to the Berlin correspondent of the "Matin" this association represents 98 per cent. of the German nation, the Conservatives alone having held aloof. The Matin publishes from its correspondents some remarkable interviews with members of the committee. Dr. Pfeiffer, of the Centre, spoke thus of the movement: "The Centre, National, Liberal, Radical, and Socialist parties have elected a directive committee, at the head of which are: Dr. Haussmann (Radical)i Dr. Bellert (National Liberal), Dr. Belzer (Centre), Herr Hasse (Socialist), and Dr. Ricklin (alsace Lorraine).

"If we now have thought of constituting ourselves into this association, the reason is to be found in our conviction that after the Berne conference our advances—as the Pan-Germans style them—would this time not be rejected by France, and because members of the Berne conference are now members of your government, and because in France also has been formed an association of pgrliamentarians pursuing the same end as ourselves, and with whom we shall collabomate as often as often as circumstances call for it. Our ibject is to exchange opinions on the questions interesting our countries, based on the reciprocal esteem of two peoples having a common civilizing duty.

Doctor Said He Had Diabetes

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CLEARED OUT EVERY TRACE OF IT.

That's Why Mr. David Heon, of Nicolet Co., Quebec, Is Recommending the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy To His Neighbors.

St. Wenceslas, Nicolet Co., Que., Feb 6.—(Special)—"I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills because the doctor told me I was threatened with diabetes. After taking ten boxes I was again examined by the doctor, and he told me that all trace of diabetes disappeared."

This is the statement of Mr. David Heon, well known and highly respected here, and he is only one of many in this neighborhood who have found a new lease of life in the great Canadian Kidney remedy.

It is cures such as this that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their reputation. They are now known from the Atlantic to the Pacific as the remedy that never fails to cure kidney disease, no matter where or in what form it is found.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure diseased kidneys. The reason they cure backache, dropsy, rheumatism, neuralgia, diabetes, urinary troubles and Bright's Disease is that all of these are either diseases of the kidneys or are caused by disordered kidneys failing to do their work.

LICENSE FOR CIGARETTES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I trust that the by-law for putting a $40 license on the sale of cigarettes will pass. Any legislation designed to limit the sale of coffin nails should be encouraged. It may freeze out the sale of these goods in some of the corner groceries, where cigarettes are too often purchased by, or for, boys. Sweet Caporal cigarettes being 10 cents in Canada though sold in the States for 5c. and Fatima cigarettes are sold here for 25c, but for 15c. in the U.S. The duty on raw leaf tobacco is only nominal so some one must be making a big rake off.

SMOKER.

ROMAN CATHOLIC AMBITION IN ONTARIO

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—Much has been written in The Times, editorially and otherwise, on the Roman Catholic Church and its ambitions in Canada. I asked Dr. Edwards, M.P., for Frontenac, for statistics taken from the blue books, and will give them rather for comment than for any criticisms of my own. The facts obtained from the official census and report of the Minister of Justice regarding penitentiaries are as follows: In all penitentiaries in Canada there are 308 officials, of whom 145 are Roman Catholic and 163 Protestant. In the Dominion 39.3 per cent. of the population are Roman Catholic, but the Roman Catholics hold 47 per cent. of the offices and get 45 per cent of the salaries. In Ontario 19.3 per cent. of the population is Roman Catholic; they hold 36 per cent. of the public offices and get 36 per cent. of the salaries! In Quebec the Roman Catholic population is 86 per cent.; they hold 89 per cent. of the offices and 88 per cent. of the salaries. In the Maritime Provinces 38 per cent. of the population are Roman Catholic. At the Dorchester Penitentiary they hold 43 per cent. of the offices and 42 per cent, of the salaries In Alberta the Roman Catholic population is 17 per cent.; they hold 24 per cent. of the offices and 30 per cent of the salaries. In Manitoba they have 15 per cent. of the population; they hold 17 per cent. of the offices and 17 per cent. of the salaries. In British Columbia less than $15 per cent. of the population is Roman Catholic, and they hold 34 per cent, of the offices and get 32 per cent. of the salaries.

Ever since the Pope could dictate as to who should be King of England, or draw a line in the new world and say to Spain, this side is yours and that side belongs to France, the policy of the Roman Catholic Church is political. They manoeuvre for precedence. They urge early marriages and large families, for the purpose of supplanting Protestants; and that is not very heathenish advice; but to deliberately plan state control should be alarming.

The injustices and favoritism, glaring and bold, that have been recently probed before the Commission at the Kingston "Pen." should have careful attention. Dr. Edwards was forbidden questions, even through his attorney, and Chairman MacDonnell is evidently preparing for a whitewash of the charges. But it is hoped that when Parliament meets and Dr. Edwards has a chance to make his defence and expose the unfairness of the farcical investigation and the causes which called for light, the country will listen and do the facts justice.

THE TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to air some of my objections to the idea of locating a tuberculosis hospital in or near our bright and prosperous —(yes, and healthy, in spite of pessimists)—city.

In the first case, can the city afford the expense? This question rests with our city fathers who have a reminder, when dealing with it, in the white elephant, i.e., the Isolation hospital.

The Health Association asks for $10,000 from the city taxes. If (the Health Association) promises to raise $10,000. The government will contribute $4000. In all only $24,000. $14,000 is inprospective and 910,000 of that $14,000 is also to come out of the pockets of the citizens of Peterborough.

Now, what about the [illegible] in the future? Will this come out of our taxes? Does not the Isolation Hospital cost somewhere in the neighhood of $4,000 or $5,000 annually?

In all due respect to the doctor pre[illegible] this petition to the city council, I cannot agree with his jumble of figures. If he is correct, then the city officials are very poorly paid. He states that 30 men who died of tuberculosis were worth $150,000 to the city who are not worth to the city 15[illegible] cents. That this is a curable disease, which I doubt, is not the discussion here. That it is communicable I quite agree.

Then, why advertise this city as a pest hole of the White Plague, while, we, as property owners and taxpayers, are trying to build it up? Why build a hospital to bring in tuberculosis patients to contaminate our midst with this dread disease, when there is a government institution at Gravenhurst, properly equipped and attended to by experienced physicians? Why bring tuberculosis patients to be treated here by inexperienced (in this disease) medical men? We have a health resort here, all around on the lakes and river. Patients brought from any outside place would take advantage of this (and why should they not?) and expectorate (no one can [illegible] them, not even our laws) in all places, on our streets, on our summer islands in our lakes, and, last, but of most importance to us who live here and have not yet the disease, in our river whence we get our drinking supply.

I sincerely hope that these objections may be well considered before such foolish act as that suggested takes place.

Then, why deprive Gravenhurst of the amount of money sent from here? I consider that if the Health Association wishes to do good, and I certainlythink they do, then let them collect $10,000 or more and pay for some wards at Gravenhurst, and not only keep out any new cases coming from Peterborough, but send those willing to go from this city, and at the same time help to maintain the mother institution which is doing so much good.

A Taxpayer.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DAILY SHORT STORY

GREAT SALT LAKE

Puzzling Aspects of Utah's Wonderful Saline Sea.

ONE OF NATURE'S MYSTERIES

Science Unable to Solve the Problem of Its Escaping Waters and Diminishing Area—The Maelstrom Near Antelope Island.

The Great Salt lake of Utah continues to be one of the greatest mysteries of nature. For sixty years its rise and fall have been studied by scientists in an effort to account for the changes, but as yet they have reached no satisfactory solution of the problem as to what is the principal cause of the decrease in its depth.

Those familiar with its depth and the shrinking in its size each year assert that at the end of twenty years or so the bed of the lake will be nearly all exposed, with the possible exception of a few shallow pools of water. Then perhaps the mystery connected with it will be solved.

In its dimensions the lake is really a sea, it being above seventy-five miles in length and fifty miles across at its greatest width, containing, therefore, over 2,000 square miles of surface Near the shores the water is so shallow that there are places where one may wade out from the beach for a distance of a mile, yet will not be immersed up to his shoulders.

The buoyancy of the water is such that it is almost impossible for one to remain on his feet at a greater depth, his body being lifted up as a strip of wood thrown into the water in a vertical or oblique direction like a dart is returned to the surface in a horizontal position.

Indeed, it is believed the Great Salt lake will support more weight to a given volume of water than even the Dead sea, to which in many respects it bears a striking similarity.

The large quantity of salt in solution is the principal reason for the buoyancy. As the lake recedes its bottom is shown to be composed of a heavy crust of salt, which is almost pure, lying upon a stratum that consists chiefly of sand. In this respect the bed of the lake is similar to some of the deserts in the southwest which once contained bodies of water equal in size to that in Utah or even larger.

It is known that the Great Salt lake loses a large quantity of water yearly by evaporation, but estimates of this quantity indicate that it is far less than that annually poured into the lake from the rivers and creeks entering it.

So far as is known no natural outlet exists, but the lake supplies an irrigating system in the country adjacent that requires a quantity of water yearly equal to a depth of four inches of the present area. This is a very small proportion of the volume of water that enters it through its feeders, so the scientists know the water escapes in some other manner than by the irrigation canal or by evaporation.

This is proved by the fact that the increase in the quantity that enters the lake at a rainy season at times does not increase its depth, and the records show that actually it has fallen immediately after the Jordan and other streams have contributed a larger volume than usual.

Near what is called Antelope island is an indication that a subterranean opening exists Frequently the waters near the island are so violently disturbed that people in the vicinity call this place the "maelstrom" and carefully avoid it when on the lake in boats.

A number of years ago, it is said, a sailing vessel loaded with sheep chanced to approach too near the "maelstrom," and despite the strong breeze that was blowing the force of the water was greater than the power of the sails, the vessel being drawn into the middle of the disturbance and capsized Although sheep are natural ly strong swimmers and land was but a few hundred feet away, not one of the animals escaped and most of the carcasses went under never to appear again.

While the buoyancy of the water is so great that it will support a person without aid, the boats designed for use upon the lake must be constructed especially to counteract this feature. The ordinary wooden vessel when empty is actually too light to be navigated with safety upon it, since such a small portion of it would be immersed. Care must therefore be taken, especially in the building of sailboats, lest they be top heavy. For this reason navigation is dangerous on the lake even when there is only a moderate wind, unless the sailing vessel is loaded heavily so that it sits deep enough in the water to counteract the buoyant tendency.—New York Press.

A MODERN PRESS

The Times To Be Greatly Improved in the Near Future

A Web Perfecting Press to Be Installed, the Circulation Having Outgrown Present Facilities—A Machine That Will Turn Out 5,000 Copies of the Paper Per Hour Has Been Purchased.

The rapid increase in the circulation of The Times during the past few months has made it necessary for the proprietor to instal a modern web newspaper press, which will print and deliver 5,000 folded papers per hour. This machine will be installed in about three weeks, and it is expected will be in commission by the end of the present month.

A night telegraphic service has been arranged, which will be in operation at an early date. It is our purpose to make The Times as near equal to the Toronto morning daily newspapers as possible, so that it will be in demand everywhere throughout Central and Eastern Ontario.

The Times will continue its policy of fearlessly advocating Equal Rights with special privileges to no church or creed. The time has arrived, we believe, when the press of Canada should take a decided stand against anything that savors of priestly or ministerial interference in political matters. Protestants are willing that their Roman Catholic fellow citizens should have every privileges that they themselves enjoy—but no more. The Roman Catholic hierarchy should and must be content with this, if harmony is to prevail.

The new equipment above referred to will add strength to our arm, and will enable us to battle more effectively for the principles above referred to. In the meantime we ask our friends to assist us by speaking a good word for the paper whenever they can, and thus increase our circulation. We want to add a couple of thousand new names to our list during the coming spring.

HOLLAND'S RAILROADS.

They Are Operated at a Loss to Aid the Canal Traffic.

In contrast with the history of Belgium, Germany, France and Austria, Holland alone of all European countries presents a situation where the railroads require protection from the competition of the canals.

Holland thus reverses the general rules which apply in all other countries. Railroad development was remarkably slow in Holland. The first Dutch railroads were short local lines, while the waterway system was extensive and strongly intrenched.

At length, convinced that she could not keep pace with other European countries by her waterway system alone, the Dutch government constructed an ambitious line of railroads connecting with the international lines of Europe

The railroads were built not with any expectation that they would be profitable as investments, but because they were considered absolutely necessary to save the country from industrial decadence Holland is the only country in the world in which the state has provided both rail and water highways substantially free of capital charge The railroads are now operated at a loss to supplement the waterways, which carry 90 per cent of the traffic of Holland.—American Review of Reviews

Her Father's Child.

The six-year-old daughter of a well-known evangelistic preacher was playing on the sidewalk one day when a shabbily dressed and downcast man approached her father's house.

Halting at the foot of the steps, he looked at her, and in a weary voice—the voice of an unsuccessful book agent—he asked if her father might be found in his study.

"He isn't home," said the little girl, drawing close to him and gazing up into the tired face, "but he'll be home pretty soon. You go into the house, you poor, perishing soul, and mother'll look after you till he comes."

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulvency Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulvency. Write for further information free.

The President, the Hon. Featherston Osler, took the chair, and Mr. A. D. Langmuir, Assistant General Manager, acted as Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. J. W. Langmuir, General Manager, submitted and commented upon the financial statements showing the operations of the Corporation for the year ended 31st December, 1913.

The report to the Shareholders was then read, as follows:—

THIRTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF

The Toronto General Trusts Corporation

(being for the year ended 31st December, 1913).

To the Shareholders:—

The Board of Directors have pleasure in submitting the Thirty-second Annual Report of the Corporation, to which are appended the Statements of Assets and Liabilities and Profit and Loss for the year ended 31st December, 1913.

The net profits for the year, after payment of salaries, inspection fees, advertising and all expenses of management, both at the Head Office and Branches, amount to $299,016.40, to which sum has to be added the balance brought forward from the preceding year, amounting to $86,471.08, and also the premium of $212,773.36 received from the sale of $250,000 of new stock issued during the year, making the total amount at the credit of Profit and Loss Account $598,260.84, which has been appropriated as follows:—

To payment of four Quarterly Dividends at the rate of 10% per annum	$134,901.02
To amount written off Office Building at Toronto	16,753.80
To amount of Office Furniture Accounts at Toronto, Winnipeg and Saskatoon, written off	4,373.27
To amount carried to Reserve Fund (thus increasing that fund to $1,500,000)	400,000.00
To amount carried forward to credit of Profit and Loss	42,232.75
	$598,260.84

The Assets and Liabilities Statement shows that the total aggregate assets remaining in the hands of the Corporation at the close of the year amount to $63,055,883.97, showing an increase over the preceding year of $9,203,319.82.

The Board of Directors regret to announce the death in November last of their esteemed colleague, Sir Aemilius Irving, K.C., who was one of the Charter Directors of the Board, and a member of the Inspection Committee for over twenty years.

All which is respectfully submitted.

FEATHERSTON OSLER, President.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We, the undersigned, beg to report that we have made a full examination of the books, accounts and vouchers of The Toronto General Trusts Corporation to the 31st December, 1913, and find same to be correct and properly set forth in the above statements of Profit and Loss and Assets and Liabilities. We have examined, and find in order, all the mortgages, debentures, bonds and scrip of the Corporation, as well as those negotiated for the Supreme Court of Ontario, and Trusts, Estates and Agencies in the Corporation's hands, and we have checked same with the mortgage and debenture ledgers and registers. The Banker's balances, after deducting outstanding cheques, agree with the books of the Corporation.

We have also examined the reports of the auditors of the Winnipeg, Ottawa and Saskatoon Branches, and find that they agree with the Head Office books.

R. F. SPENCE, F.C.A., "Can." } Auditors.
GEO. MACBETH, }

Toronto, January 19th, 1914.

The President, Hon. Featherston Osler, K.C., in moving the adoption of the report, which was seconded by Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., said in part:—

In moving the adoption of this report, I feel it is of such a character as not to require from me any extended remarks, especially as the general body of shareholders have had the report in their hands for several days. You can gather from this report and from the information conveyed to you by the reading of the different statements what a thoroughly satisfactory year the Corporation has passed through, and how in regard to all the activities with which it has been concerned there has been a general increase, and a continuation of the vigor and life which the Corporation has manifested during the long period of its existence. I will not take up your time, as you will all wish to hear from the General Manager of the Company who has guided its destinies up to the present time. I will just say to the shareholders—I do not speak to the kings of finance, who know more about these things than I can ever hope to—but to the general rank and file of the shareholders I wish to say that each one of them can make themselves a centre of a circle of influence by advising in all cases where it is convenient for them to do so the employment of the Corporation as executor, administrator or agent. We have a thoroughly trained staff for the management of affairs of this kind, a staff which can be relied upon to handle efficiently a man's affairs as agent during his lifetime, and administer his estate after his death.

The President then called upon Mr. J. W. Langmuir, Vice-President and General Manager, to address the shareholders.

Mr. Langmuir spoke as follows:—

On a reading of the Report and the financial statements accompanying it (which have been in the hands of the Shareholders for the past two weeks), I am confident that not only the Shareholders, but also the many thousand beneficiaries and others interested in The Toronto General Trusts Corporation will have reason to be satisfied with the results of the year's operations. I say this without hesitation, that the report is in every respect the best in the history of the Corporation, now extending over nearly a third of a century.

The net profits, after charging up all expenses of every kind, and providing for all possible losses for the year, amount to $299,016.40, being an increase of $66,160.47 over the net profits for the preceding year. These profits represent earnings of 19.93% on the paid-up Capital Stock of $1,500,000, or 9.96% on the total amount of the Corporation's paid-up Capital and Reserve, namely, $3,000,000.

Your Directors, acting on the authority given them by the Shareholders in 1912, made a further issue of new stock to the extent of $250,000, which was offered to the Shareholders at $185 per share. The entire issue was taken up and fully paid during the year, netting a premium of $212,773.36. This premium, together with the net profits for the year, and the balance of $86,471.08 carried forward to the credit of Profit and Loss from 1912, enabled your Directors, after paying the usual 10% dividend and writing off $16,753.80 from the Head Office premises, and $4,373.27, the amount of the Office Furniture Account, to transfer to Reserve the sum of $400,000, and carry forward to the credit of Profit and Loss $42,232.75. The transfer of the $400,000 to credit of Reserve brings this fund up to $1,500,000, or a sum equal to our present paid-up Capital Stock, which is one of the gratifying features of this Report.

Coming now to a review of the Assets and Liabilities statement, this account shows a volume of business in the hands of the Corporation as at the 31st of December aggregating $63,055,883.97, or a net increase over 1912 of $9,203,319.82. The new Estates, Trusts, Agencies and other work assumed during the year, apart from Trusteeships in respect of Bond issues and work of a kindred character, amounted—as will be seen by the Inspection Committee's report—to the sum of $11,297,099.86. If these figures are compared with the net increase in assets of $9,203,319.82, it will be obvious that a very large percentage of the new estates and other work coming into the hands of the Corporation remains with it in trust, for care and management.

While commenting on the statement of Assets and Liabilities, I wish to take this opportunity of answering a criticism which one sometimes hears, to the effect that Trust Companies are frequently in no hurry to invest the trust funds committed to their care. In this connection let me direct your attention to the fact that of the trust assets in the Corporation's hands (apart from our guaranteed funds), aggregating over $50,000,000, as shown in the statement, only some $505,948.59 remained on deposit in the various banks at the 31st of December last, a large percentage of which was revenue for distribution as at the 1st of January. It should be borne in mind that in the conduct of a large trust business there must always be funds, to a considerable amount, that are not available for permanent investment. In such cases, as far as it is possible or advisable, the Corporation loans the money at call on the security of municipal debentures, in order that the beneficiaries may obtain the best possible interest return. It will also be obvious that a Trust Company, keeping its trust funds distinctly separate and apart from its own moneys—as is the practice of this Corporation—has nothing to gain, but rather something to lose in the way of commission by allowing the funds belonging to estates under its control to remain uninvested.

Our policy—except in cases where we are otherwise directed by the will or trust instrument under which we act—is to practically confine our investments to first mortgages on improved real estate. The interest return from such investments is not only as a rule better, but mortgages are more convenient and satisfactory to deal with when it becomes necessary to distribute the estate, and particularly so where the beneficiaries desire cash rather than securities, as they frequently do.

In referring to our mortgage investments I have pleasure in stating that, notwithstanding the unusual money stringency which prevailed for the last seven or eight months of the past year, the mortgage interest, and, indeed, the instalments of principal maturing, have been most satisfactorily met. In respect of the mortgage investments in Ontario, aggregating $14,194,553.85, 98.40% of all the interest that fell due in 1913 was paid before the close of the year. The promptitude with which the interest is paid on mortgages of this class makes such investments, in this particular, almost as satisfactory as municipal debentures, while at the same time the interest return is, of course, much higher. The average rate of interest on this entire volume of Ontario mortgage investments is 5.824% per annum, an increase over the average for last year of .24%, or practically a quarter of one per cent. The average rate obtained on Ontario mortgage loans negotiated by the Corporation during the past year was 6.39%.

I am also glad to inform you that our borrowers throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have during the past year met their payments of interest and instalments of principal in a very satisfactory way. These western mortgage investments amount to $7,744,398.05, and 77.64% of the entire amount of interest maturing in the year 1913 was paid during the year, notwithstanding the fact that the interest is, in the case of nearly all western farm loans, payable annually, and a very large percentage of it matures during the last two months of the year.

With these results it will be obvious that the Corporation's loaning policy is a conservative one, not only in the selection of its districts for operation in the West, as well as in Ontario, but also in the selection of its loans within such districts, both in regard to the security offered and the character of the borrower.

You will be pleased to learn from our statements that, notwithstanding the tightness of the money market, especially during the latter half of the year, we have, owing to the extended sources of money supply available to the Corporation, been in a position to negotiate new mortgage loans to the extent of $5,353,543.33, representing, after the deduction of repayments on matured loans, a net increase during the year in mortgage investments of $2,521,536.94.

In dealing with the investments made by the Corporation, I wish to draw your attention to what is called our Guaranteed Plan of Investment. This is a department of work entirely separate from our Estates business. You will observe from the statements that the Corporation has now in its hands guaranteed funds to the extent of $8,785,687.87, which have been entrusted to it by companies, institutions and individuals for investment under a guarantee from the Corporation that it will return the fund intact at the end of the investment period, together with a fixed net rate of interest per annum, payable half yearly. Practically all of these moneys (with the exception of some special funds which we received for investment in municipal debentures) are invested in first mortgages on improved real estate coming within the terms of the Trustee Investment Act.

These Guaranteed Accounts are each kept distinctly separate in the books of the Corporation, and to each is specifically allocated a mortgage or mortgages earmarked as the property of the investor, which, with the Corporation's guarantee, makes it a particularly attractive form of investment. It is not only an eminently safe investment for the guaranteed investor, but it is also a peculiarly safe class of business for the Trust Company, as the risk of loss to the Trust Company in connection with its guarantee to the investor is, owing to the class of investments taken and the system of allocation, reduced to a minimum.

This is a class of work that should be developed, for, while it is a safe business for the Corporation, and attractive to small as well as large investors in Canada, the United States and also Great Britain who have not the facilities for making loans or looking after their investments, it is at the same time of immense value to the development of our Canadian agricultural interests. These funds, gathered from many quarters by a Trust Company having a proper loaning organization and other necessary equipment, should help materially in supplying the needs of the farming community, particularly throughout our western Provinces. Sir George Paish, in one of his recent addresses, pointed out that Canada, in the completion this year of the transcontinental systems of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, would no doubt reach the end of what might be called its great railway expansion period, and in the immediate future should, as far as possible, give its attention to the development of the Dominion's agricultural resources. In order that this may be done the Trust and Loan Companies should, in my opinion, be encouraged by our Governments in the acquirement of funds along the lines I have indicated, to the end that the farmer may obtain on mortgage account, at reasonable rates of interest, whatever funds may be necessary to enable him to properly carry on his agricultural pursuits.

Turning now to our Trust Estates business, let me say that the confidence of the public which we are enjoying is not alone evidenced by the very large increase in the volume of the assets under our control, as shown by the Assets Statement, but also by the increasing number of Wills that are being filed with the Corporation, in which we are named as Executor and Trustee.

For your information I may say that as the business increases we are careful to add to our staff, in order that no single officer or member of the staff may have more to do than he can efficiently accomplish. With the experience that our officers and members of the staff have gathered from year to year in connection with the varying duties that an Executor and Trustee is called upon to perform, it goes without saying that we are in a better position to-day than ever before to carry out successfully the administration of Estates and Trusts comprising all manner of assets.

I desire to take this opportunity of informing the Shareholders, as well as the public generally, that the expert services of the officers and staff of the Corporation may be had in the administration of Estates and Trusts and the management of collecting and investing agencies, at certainly no greater cost than is usually awarded to private executors and trustees on the passing of their accounts, or allowed to individual agents for similar services. A Trust Company cannot, as one frequently hears stated, charge whatever fee or commission it may be disposed to charge, any more than a private trustee, but must accept the allowances that are made by the courts on the passing of its accounts, unless the commission has already been agreed upon as between the parties interested. The management of the Corporation invites inquiry on the part of the Shareholders and the public in connection with any department of its affairs, as a good deal of misapprehension still exists in the minds of many people with regard to the services rendered by Trust Companies and the remuneration received for such services.

Again let me repeat what I have said at former Annual Meetings, that the functions of a Trust Company having the care and management of estates, and the consequent investment of Trust Funds, surely provide a sufficient volume and variety of work, involving great responsibilities, without it entering upon speculative transactions in real estate or stocks, or assuming work other than is required in the performance of duties as executor and trustee and investor of funds under the provisions of the Trustee Investment Act. Not only does it devolve upon a properly-constituted Trust Company to administer and wind up estates, but it has to obtain and keep invested the funds belonging to such estates during the time the trusts are in operation. As time goes on the work of investing trust funds constitutes a large part of the work of a Corporate Executor and Trustee. In corroboration of this statement I may say that The Toronto General Trusts Corporation to-day is not only an Executor and Trustee of Estates, but in its capacity of investor of trust funds has perhaps the largest loaning business in mortgages and municipal debentures in Canada. I cannot, therefore, too strongly press for the confinement of the work of Trust Companies to their legitimate functions, eliminating all speculative transactions, whether in real estate or stocks or underwriting transactions, or in receiving moneys, as bankers, on deposit subject to withdrawal by cheque.

In concluding my remarks I wish to thank the members of the Advisory Boards of the Corporation at Ottawa and Winnipeg, and also the members of the staff at the Head Office and its Branches, for their efficient services and the loyal manner in which they have, on behalf of the Corporation, discharged the duties devolving upon them throughout the year.

The report was unanimously adopted, and the report of the Inspection Committee as signed by Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., Mr. Hamilton Cassels, K.C., and Hon. Sir John M. Gibson, K.C.M.G., was also adopted.

The following shareholders were elected Directors for the current year:— W. R. Brock, Hamilton Cassels, K.C., Sir William Mortimer Clark, K.C., LL.D., Hon. Senator W. C. Edwards, Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., M.P.P., Col. Hon. Sir John M. Gibson, K.C.M.G., LL.D., Arthur C. Hardy, John Hoskin, K.C., LL.D., Hon. Senator Robert Jaffray, J. W. Langmuir, R. W. Leonard, Thomas Long, J. Bruce Macdonald, Sir Daniel McMillan, K.C.M.G., W. D. Matthews, Hon. Peter McLaren, Sir Edmund Osler, M.P., Hon. Featherston Osler, K.C., J. G. Scott, K.C., Sir Edmund Walker and D. R. Wilkie.

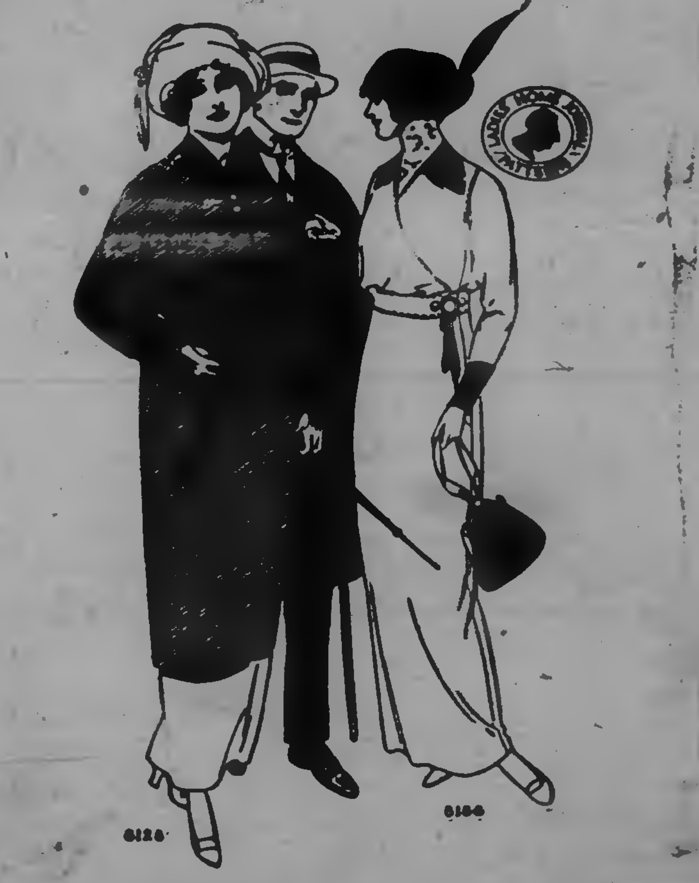
At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors Hon. Featherston Osler, K.C., was re-elected President, and Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., and J. W. Langmuir Vice-Presidents.

The Inspection Committee was re-elected, namely, Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., Chairman; Hamilton Cassels, K.C., and Hon. Sir John M. Gibson, K.C.M.G.

The following members were elected to the Advisory Boards of Ottawa and Winnipeg:—

OTTAWA—W. D. Hogg, K.C., Chairman; George Burn, Captain J. L. Murphy, Hiram Robinson and Sir Henry N. Bate.

WINNIPEG—Hon. Sir Daniel H. McMillan, K.C.M.G., Chairman; H. H. Smith, W. H. Cross, A. L. Crossin, Hon. D. C. Cameron and Frederick T. Griffin.



A LONG COAT TO SLIP ON OVER THE MATINEE FROCK

Perhaps more freaks have been launched this season than ever before, yet we have also had some excellent ideas that were wearable and becoming at the same time.

Fur coats are modish—in fact, entire costumes of fur are being worn at the moment in Paris—but there are times when one really needs a long, warm coat aside from the fur coat. It is comfortable to wear to a matinee or to the theater in the evening when one does not care to dress elaborately.

In No. 8126 there is shown a kimono design, in which the back extends over the shoulders to form a yoke in front. The material is dull [illegible] with collar and cuffs of black plush.

This coat may be copied in size 36 with 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

In No. 8156 a fascinating one-piece dress for a young girl is illustrated. The material is dull blue serge relieved by a girdle of emerald green taffetas. A beaded motif serves to close the belt on the side.

This design may be copied in size 16 with 4½ yards of 36 inch material.

DISLIKES INNOVATIONS.

Hence the Rhino Blindly Attacks Anything New to Him.

Sir Frederick Treves, the distinguished British surgeon, in his book "Uganda For a Holiday," has a word or two to say about the rhinoceros.

"The rhinoceros is the embodiment of blind conservatism," he writes. "Its hide is impenetrable, its vision is weak, while its intellect is weaker. It has, however, two marked qualities—combativeness and a sense of smell. It is aroused to its maximum energy by the presence of anything that is new. This object need not be a thing that is aggressive or inconvenient. Its offensiveness depends upon the fact that it is unfamiliar, and the more unfamiliar the object is the worse the rhinoceros acts.

"When a rhinoceros smells a man he will charge him with maniacal violence, although the man may be merely sitting on a stool reading Milton. The massive beast will dash at him like a torpedo or a runaway locomotive simply because the smell of him is novel. Actuated by this insane hate of whatever savors of an innovation, the rhinoceros has charged an iron water tank on the outskirts of a camp and has crumpled it up as a blacksmith would an empty meat tin.

"A conservative rhinoceros with a senile dislike of anything new once charged a train on the Uganda railway, but with no more serious results than the tearing away of the footboard of a carriage. As regards the rhinoceros in this case, it appeared surprised that a thing composed, as it had imagined, of flesh and blood could be so hard. It went off with an additional grievance and an increased swelling of the head."

Superfluous Verbiage.

It was Sunday evening and likewise his first call. She was entertaining him at the piano, and he was not fond of music. Of course she couldn't be expected to know that, poor girl! She was not particularly accomplished, but she didn't know what else to do, and he hadn't suggested anything. So she played on and on, occasionally skipping a few bars that she didn't remember and trusting to luck. Finally from sheer weariness and to make conversation she turned to him and said:

"Papa thinks it is wicked for me to play the piano on Sunday."

"Papa is certainly right," he replied wearily. "But why does he—er—specify Sunday?"

It is perhaps needless to record that he was never again invited to that little flat.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Absinth.

Dr. R. Hercod of Lausanne in a special contribution to the Alliance Temperance Almanac points out that the absinth liquor, which is now prohibited in three European countries—Belgium, Holland and Switzerland—owes its peculiar noxiousness to the fact that it is prepared with several essences, among them wormwood, which have marked toxic properties. Added to the action of the alcohol (a strong absinth contains 65 per cent) these essences have a most deleterious effect on the organisms, especially on the nervous system. Even small doses provoke a great irritability, which may easily lead heavy drinkers to crime. Epilepsy is more quickly developed among absinth drinkers than among the drinkers of the commoner kinds of alcoholic liquors.—Dundee Advertiser.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 5,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

What America Has Proved.

America has proved that it is practicable to elevate the mass of mankind—that portion which in Europe is called the laboring or lower class—to raise them to self respect, to make them competent to act a part in the great right and great duty of self government, and she has proved that this may be done by education and the diffusion of knowledge. She holds out an example a thousand times more encouraging than ever was presented before to those nine-tenths of the human race who are born without hereditary fortune or hereditary rank.—Daniel Webster.

MOSCOW CATHEDRAL.

Fantastic Looking Edifice Erected by Ivan the Terrible.

One of the most extraordinary and fantastic Christian places of worship in the world is the Cathedral of Moscow, known as Vasili Blajenni, strange not only in outline and conception, but even stranger in its history. No one knows the architect's name, but the story goes that the czar ordered his eyes to be put out directly the church was completed, so that he should never be able to surpass his work. The idea of the building was inspired by the wickedest and maddest monarch who ever sat on a throne—Ivan the Terrible, czar of Muscovy.

The architecture is in every respect extravagant and barbaric, and the coloring is garish in the extreme. It has nine chapels, roofed by nine cupolas, each different and each stranger than the other. One resembles a pineapple, another a melon, a third is said to ape a hedgehog in its appearance, and the rest are more or less grotesque. Some are gilt; others are painted in brilliant hues. Indeed, the only description is that it is a nightmare of a church, the fitting legacy of a ruler who grilled his counselors in frying pans and clothed his subjects in bearskins in order that trained dogs might worry and tear them to pieces.—Strand Magazine.

A King's Hobby.

The late king of Siam had an extraordinary hobby—that of collecting empty matchboxes of all nations. In this connection an interesting story is related. During one of his visits to England the king while passing down Bond street one afternoon, accompanied by two members of his suit, espied an empty matchbox which had been discarded by its owner and thrown away into the middle of the thoroughfare. Without a moment's thought the monarch dashed into the middle of the crowded traffic, grasped the much coveted treasure and was nearly run over by a passing cab. The fact, however, that he was able to add a new specimen to his collection gathered under such circumstances more than compensated him for the risk which he had run.—London News.

RETURNED HER HAT.

She Didn't, but He Did, and He Must Have Been a Brave Man.

The bravest man in New York made his appearance in a Broadway store one day last week. He carried an enormous bandbox, which contained an enormous hat, on which the man wanted what he considered an enormous amount of money refunded. The man was pretty mad, and while looking for some one who had the authority to negotiate the transaction he talked loud enough for everybody to hear.

"My wife bought this hat," he said. "She doesn't need it. She has already bought three hats this season. She paid $35 for this one. She has never worn it. It just came home last night. I can't afford to throw all that money away, and I want you to take the hat back. She wouldn't bring it down, so I undertook the job myself."

"By the side of that man Napoleon was a cringing coward," said the young woman who had made the sale. "Imagine him flouncing into a Parisian millinery shop with a hat that he didn't want Josephine to buy! He couldn't have done it. Very few men can. Once in a long while some poor New Yorker with the courage of desperation in his heart returns merchandise which he cannot afford to buy for his wife, and his audacity upsets the whole store for a month."—New York Sun.

London's Crystal Palace.

The Crystal palace was a great producer of superlatives in its early days, says the London Chronicle. When Queen Victoria wrote of May day, 1851, as "the greatest day in our history, the most beautiful and imposing and touching spectacle ever seen," she was referring to the whole idea and effect of the exhibition, but "the beauty of the building and the vastness of it all" were important factors in the marvel which she relied upon to astound her uncle Leopold. When the palace moved to the new site Herbert Spencer wrote: "I have been once at Sydenham. It surpasses even my expectations, though I had seen it in progress. It is a fairyland and a wonder surpassing all others." Ruskin said that Mr. Dickens has said that there was nothing like it in fairyland and added bitterly that Mr. Dickens was right.

Patronizing.

"That man Pufferton has a very supercilious manner."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "He can't even say 'it's a pleasant day' without seeming to patronize the climate."—Washington Star.

Just a Bluff.

"How is it that the quail on your bill of fare is always struck off?"

"That's just a fancy touch," explained the beanery waiter. "We never had a quail in the joint."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Reason.

"Talking about women," observed the peach to the potato, "I can't bear these so called notable housewives with their energy in providing for their families."

"Why not? What effect do they produce on you?" asked the potato.

"They jar me," answered the peach.—Baltimore American.

A Proper Name.

"You have christened your baby Halley's Comet?"

"Yes. It's unusual, but appropriate. He's a bright spot in one existence that gets us up at all sorts of unearthly hours."—Washington Star.

The Real Job.

Him—I—I don't know how to tell you how I love you.

Her—Don't worry about that. I'll take it as it comes. What you want to get nervous about is how to tell papa about it.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Gothic Architecture.

Gothic architecture began about the ninth century after Christ and soon began to spread all over Europe. Its great feature is the pointed arch, and it was at first called the "pointed style." Most of the glorious old world cathedrals are in the Gothic, and it is generally conceded that for religious purposes no other style of architecture is so perfectly suited. It has been said that the first idea of the Gothic was suggested by the interlacing boughs and trunks of the great woods in which German Christianity was formed; hence the name Gothic.—New York American.

Still More Painful.

The Young Politician—I can assure you there is nothing more painful than having to make—er—er—one's first speech in public. Young Politician's Wife—Oh, yes, there is, dear! Young Politician (displeased)—Then what is it, pray? Young Politician's Wife (sweetly)—Having to listen to it, my dear.

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

The Woman Makes the Home

She makes it best who, looking after the culinary department, turns her back resolutely upon unhealthful, or even suspicious, food accessories. She is economical; she knows that true economy does not consist in the use of inferior meat, flour, or baking powder. She is an earnest advocate of home made, home baked food, and has proved the truth of the statements of the experts that the best cooking in the world today is done with Royal Baking Powder.

DELIGHTFUL AT-HOME.

The home of Rev. and Mrs. Garry corner of George and Romaine street was the scene last night of a delightful at home, given to the members of the Treasure Seekers' Bible Class, of which Mrs. Clarry is the teacher. About 40 of the young people were present and a good time was spent by all.

It Was Not Friday.

The following strictly veracious incident actually occurred recently in a Hunter street hotel. A farmer from Douro sat at the dining table. The waitress brought Mr. T. S—— a plate of soup, and placing it before the guest, asked "Mr. S——, do you want some soup?" "Why," he replied "This ain't Friday, haven't you got any meat?"

Curlers Here.

Amongst the out-of-town curlers who were here yesterday were the following from two of our nearby charming villages, viz., Messrs. William Wedlock, William Campbell, James S. Dickson and Nicolas Doris, Keene and W. Sedgwick, C. I. Puffer, J. R McKelvie and H. Nicholls, of Norwood. The above named curlers registered at the Snowden House.

A Port Hope blacklister has been fined $13.75 for loitering in a bar room. The Guide, of that town, says: "This is the second case under this section in the past month, and as the hotelkeeper is equally liable we think it time to take some action against them."

"If Christ Came to Peterborough."

In St. Paul's church on Sunday morning, the pastor will take as his subject, "If Christ Came to Peterborough," and will treat it with special reference to local social conditions. In the evening he will preach on the "Effect of Social Unrest Upon the Church." He will show the extent of the alienation of wage earners from the Church, and will indicate some ways by which the Church may yet retrieve the ground that she has lost.

Was It a Condor?

A few days ago Mr. Arthur Bolton, who lives some four miles past Burleigh Falls, had a calf die. He poisoned the body and left it in the woods to kill foxes. Next morning by the dead calf lay the body of a huge bird. The bird, whose body is larger than that of the biggest goose, measured seven feet, two inches from head and neck. The body is colored like a turkey. Mr. Bolton contrasted its general appearance with the picture, contained in a geography, of a condor, and thinks he has such a bird.

Canadian Hignorance.

A Times representative happened on Thursday evening to attend the performance at the Grand Opera House, when the "star" in "The Breed of the Treshams" was called on for a speech. Behind the scribe sat two evidently recently arrived Englishmen. As the actor finished his speech one Englishman asked his companion "What do they ask that bleeding actor to make a speech for?" The other replied "It's just their blooming Canadian hignorance!"

A Bad Heart, Its Cause and Cure

Many, Firmly Convinced They Are Dying of Heart Trouble, Have Often the Strongest Hearts.

Sometimes you wake up at night, heart throbbing like a steam engine. Your breathing is short and irregular; pains shoot through the chest and abdomen, and cause horrible anxiety.

Your trouble isn't with the heart at all. These sensations are the outcome of indigestion, which has caused gas to form on the stomach and press against the heart.

Just read what happened to Isaac Malloux, of Belle River, Ont.:

"Three months ago I was a weak, sickly man. My appetite was poor, food fermented in my stomach, I had sour risings and indigestion. At night I would often weaken with gas in the stomach and heart palpitation.

"I consulted my doctor and used remedies that my friends advised. Nothing helped.

"One day I received a sample of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and my cure commenced. To-day I have a vigorous appetite, strong heart action, and no sign of indigestion. I feel younger and healthier than ever before."

Your druggist or storekeeper sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Mr. Tom Eastwood, the genial Buckhorn boniface was in the city yesterday.

We regret to say that Mr. Ptuffe, the local garage manager is laid up with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Armond Welsh, of Peterborough, visited Mrs. H. Gillies for a few days.—Bobcaygeon Ind.

Mr. John Armstrong of Millbrook, has joined the Bank of Ottawa staff here.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Gliddon, of the Conservatory of Music, have returned from Toronto, after attending the Mendelssohn choir concerts.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster, publisher Standard, Havelock, was in the city yesterday and paid the Times a fraternal visit.

Mrs. H. A. Yenney received for the first time in her new home, Barnardo avenue, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. She was assisted by Mrs. A. W. Turner, and Miss Hallett was in the tea room.

Bronchitis Cured By Medicated Air

No Drugs to Take—You Simply Breathe a Healing Balsamic Vapor

Every Breath Carries Healing Balsams to the Sick, Sore Places in the Nose and Throat.

Montreal this time gives splendid praise for the modern way of curing colds, catarrh and bronchitis.

Instead of taking sickening drugs into the stomach, or using an old-fashioned spray, the sensible man nowadays breathes the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone and gets well right away. This is exactly what Mr. Joseph Daoust did, and writing from his office at 57 St. Paul street, he says:—

"I suffered for years with the worst form of chronic bronchial throat and nasal catarrh. I tried all kinds of syrups, ointments, tablets and washes but they proved ineffective. In fact I could get no relief. I read in the Montreal Witness of Catarrhozone and bought an outfit. In a few hours I got relief. The air passages of my nose were cleared out, and I was able to breathe freely. My throat was strengthened — my voice improved—and no longer gagged and coughed. The effect of Catarrhozone was wonderful. Now I am well—no bronchitis—no throat distress. I urge everyone with a weak throat, with a cough, a cold or a touch of catarrh to use Catarrhozone freely."

Get the Dollar outfit — lasts two months and is guaranteed. Smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. each, all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

"BABY A YEAR," SECRET BONNIE CRIPPLE CLUB

New York, Feb. 6.—Four years ago in the complacent little village of Rockville Center, L.I., there was organized the "Bonnie Cripple Club." There were but six members—Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Edwin Temme, Mrs. Fred Marquardt, Mrs. Louis Carr, Mrs. Elmer Raab and Mrs. John Ferrer.

The club flourished. Several there who were curious to know the aim, the object, the work of the club. To all questioners came the simple answer:

"We do the greatest good possible to womankind. We are patriotic and our object is to assist the men of our country to make this great nation even greater."

Every week the club met. Such things as the home, the schooling of youngsters and the generations of the future were considered calmly and without the evolution of curious interpretations of eugenic laws.

Through the "Bonnie Cripple Club" there came to Rockville Center in the four years following its organization five little soldiers for the great army of the rising generations.

A seventh member was admitted to the club—Mrs. James Hatlack, and yesterday from one of the devoted seven it became known that from the Hatlack home within a week there would be recruited another little warrior for the army of hope.

"Don't you see?" asked one of the original members. "Don't you understand? How better may a woman serve her country?"

And thus the secret came out. One baby a year, so say the unwritten by-laws of the Bonnie Cripple Club. The club is one baby ahead of schedule and within a fortnight there will be an excess of two.

WORTH $6,000,000 BUT NOW FACES A JAIL

New York, Feb. 6.—Octavius Guiale, member of a Brazilian importing firm and reported to be worth $6,000,000, expects friends to come to his aid with $5,000 bail today to prevent his going to jail following his arrest on a $50,000 breach of promise suit instituted by Miss Monica T. Borden of No. 448 Riverside Drive.

Miss Borden had Guiale arrested when she learned that he was about to leave the country.

Love letters alleged to have been written by Guiale after she met him in May, 1913, form the torrid part of Miss Borden's complaint.

Sanol BLOOD SALT

No Indigestion can exist if this remedy is taken according to instructions—and there is no known remedy to take its place.

This Blood Salt is a mixture compounded so as to resemble in essence and effect, the salty parts of the human blood. It is well known that our vitality is normally kept up by means of the natural blood salts.

Hence a lack of the latter will alway superinduce a loss of the former. It is also a fact that with each quart of urine we lose about 18 grams of blood salts. Accordingly we must gradually become weak and sick, unless we provide a substitute for these salts in the blood.

This salt is an excellent and absolutely harmless remedy for any disturbances of digestion such as Dyspepsia, Gastric Catarrh, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, etc., and as an aid to digestion, in wasting and nervous diseases.

DECLARATION OF WAR BY M'NAB IS WEEKS BIG EVENT

Sir Hugh Graham's Whole Newspaper Life is Known by Man Who Now Attacks Him

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—The situation in Quebec and Montreal is watched here with even keener interest as things develop from day to day. The outstanding event of the enquiry at Quebec on Friday so far as the politicians here are concerned, and perhaps even more so as far as the people of Montreal are concerned, was the declaration of war against Sir Hugh Graham by Brenton Macnab, the editor of the Montreal Mail, during the proceedings of the investigating committee. Mr. Macnab knows Graham's newspaper record and his life for twenty-five years past, and the two of them worked in the most intimate fashion in many things that have more or less startled the Canadian public, especially at election times, and they also worked together in connection with legislation secured from time to time at Quebec dealing with Montreal franchises. No one doubts now that Macnab has entered on a fight with his former chief, although it must always be remembered, as in the case of Lorne McGibbon, that fights of this kind may come to an end by some kind of settlement and truce. For instance, Lorne McGibbon swore by all the prophets that he would spend all his fortune in exposing Graham and stopping him getting an extension of the Montreal Tramways franchise. Lorne has sold out his newspaper interests to Sir Hugh, though the fued may be on in some other quarter. Perhaps Sir Hugh got the papers and Macnab got the evidence against Sir Hugh! It is not likely, however, that either Macnab or his partner—E. M. Nichols—will consent to any saw off or treaty of peace with Graham.

People say Sir Hugh is very clever and very discreet; it will probably turn out that he was very rich and very foolish, and that he made a lot of money in the wildest kind of political schemes, some of the latter being in the interest of the Conservative party. Nor does anybody now doubt that Sir Hugh Graham was the chief backer of the Nationalists in the row they raised in Quebec in the last election over the naval policy and no one doubts now that Graham has been running Conservative papers and Liberal papers at the same time, and that Hon. W. S. Fielding refused to be his henchman in one side of this game; nor is there any doubt that at times Graham was able to inspire articles in French papers that were against Canadian naval assistance to the mother country; nor is there any doubt that while Graham has been shouting for years for municipal reform in Montreal he has been assisting to secure legislation and franchises that meant demoralization of the municipal government of that city

CHARGES OF CORRUPTION AND INTIMIDATION MADE AT GIMILI

Manitoba Legislature Hears Accusation That Public Moneys Were Corruptly Employed for Candidate

Winnipeg, Feb. 7.—Sweeping charges of corruption and intimidation by provincial government workers in the Gimili bye-election of last May were made in the provincial legislature by T. H. Johnson, Liberal member for West Winnipeg, early this morning, and created asensation. Gimili was carried by L. E. Taylor for the Roblin Government. The charges will probably be probed after the government has replied.

Mr. Johnson opened the matter by reading the following statement in the House:

"I, on my responsibility as a member of this house, charge: that public moneys were improperly and corruptly employed in influencing electors to vote for E. L. Taylor, at the bye-election in the constituency of Gimili on the 12th day of May, 1913, clear evidence of which is to be found in items in the public accounts aggregating some ninety-three thousand dollars expended directly by the government; that bribery was extensively practiced in this bye-election on behalf of E. L. Taylor; that corrupt treating was carried on throughout the constituency to a degree never before known; that liquor was freely dispensed by the agent of Taylor in local option territory and elsewhere; that intimidation was largely practiced; that employes of the Manitoba government and officers of the law were personally guilty of acts of intimidation, bribery, corrupt treating and distribution of liquor; that violators of the law were protected by officers of the government charged with enforcement of law and order; that prominent among the workers and agents of E. L. Taylor were owners, managers, employes and habitues of notorious drinking resorts in Winnipeg and 'clubs of that class'; that this campaign of corruption, intimidation, bribery and illegal use of liquor was directed and managed by prominent members of the Manitoba Legislature."

Johnson also cited over 100 special instances of alleged corrupt practices during the Gimili campaign.

The government has not yet replied.

LOCKED IN COLD STORAGE ROOM

London, Ont., Feb. 7.—Thomas Arnold and Arthur Webster, two young men employed in a big cold storage plant, narrowly escaped being frozen to death yesterday through being locked in one of the freezing rooms.

Arnold and Webster were engaged in restocking the room when in some manner the door closed on them, and as it cannot be opened from the inside and was too thick to be heard through, they were helpless.

The accident was not noticed, there being no other employes about at the time. The pair being missed two hours later, a search ended in their being located. They were in a badly chilled condition, as the temperature of the room was well below zero and they were working in their shirt sleeves when trapped. Both required the care of physicians, but are recovering.

SIR HENRY MENTIONED FOR LONDON POSITION

Montreal, Feb. 7.—One of the topics much discussed here, especially among bankers and business men, is that of successor to the late Lord Strathcona as high commissioner in London. It is, however, conceded that it is likely to be either a Toronto man, or a member of the present government, or some one prominent in Canadian politics. One Toronto man mentioned by bankers and brokers here is Sir Henry Pellatt, who they admit here is well posted in Canadian financial and commercial affairs, has social position, has lots of means and probably would be willing to go to London for a time.

GIRL IN FACTORY WORE $2000 COMB

New York, Feb. 7.—For two weeks last month, the diamond and pearl hair comb of Anna Held, the actress, valued at $2000, adorned the raven locks of Rosie Fucciano as she engaged in her daily toil in an east side paper box factory. This period immediately followed January 1st, when Miss Held lost the ornament from her hair while walking from the Cafe Beau Arts to the stage door of the Casino Theatre.

Rosie's mother, Marie, found the comb and took it to her home. Some of Rosie's schoolmates told her that the ornament was made of real diamonds and pearls and Rosie entrusted it to a cousin, who took it to Sellinger's pawnshop. The pawnbroker advanced $25 on the hairpin to the joy and amazement of Fucciano family. Detective Dave Brown who had been hunting for the lost property ever since Miss Held reported the case to the police, found it in Sellinger's pawnshop. By tracing the address of the nephew, Brown unearthed the stoty of the finding of the ornament. Miss Held has been notified that she can call at Sellingers and get her property. It is unlikely that she will take any steps against the Fuccianos.

POLICE MAKE SERIOUS BLUNDER

Rome, Feb. 7.—An amusing story comes from Genoa, where the police were advised on Tuesday that two well known Austrian jewel thieves were staying in one of the leading hotels.

The police arrested the two men, and kept them in custody all night. Then they discovered that one of them was a nephew of the King of Italy, and the other a cousin of the King of the Belgians.

A ROCK ROAD FOR THE CIGARETTE BILL

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—A Broder, M. P., one of the jolly members, decided to bring in a bill to wipe out cigarettes. Having sent in the usual notice to the Clerk of the House, be announced what he had done in No. 16, and awaited developments. But none came. Days flew by and nothing appeared on the O.P. (order paper) about cigarettes. Andrew got anxious. He made inquiries. The clerk also made inquiries. They found that a new page was on duty on the fatal day. When the Clerk told the boy to take the basket (of orders, etc.) "out," he meant out to the Clerk of Routine. But the boy thought differently. He thought "out" meant ash-heap, and thither they went, this anticipating their fate without going through the House.

LOCKED IN TRAIN, THEN SENT TO DEATH IN BURNING TUNNEL

This is Report of How Ten American Railway Men Met Death at Hands of Mexican Bandits

Juarez, Feb. 7.—Definite information of the fate of the ten American railroad men captured by Mexican bandits, was still lacking to-day, although in this city railroad officials were disposed to discredit the rumor that they, or at least six of them who were on the passenger train, were locked in the train and sent to their deaths in the blazing Cumbre tunnel. Circumstances thus far learned are against the truth of the rumor.

According to P. C. These, superintendent of the Pearson plant at El Paso, the train stopped at the station of Cumbre. This is only a quarter of a mile from the big Cumbre tunnel, and Mr. Thede said that in that distance the train could not have gained sufficient momentum to bring on a wreck so that all persons in the train would have been killed. There were about five Mexican passengers.

The rumors were started by a Mexican who is now believed to have been instructed to tell that story to delay pursuit of the bandits and their prisoners.

There were six Americans on the passenger train and two American conductors and two American engineers on the freight which was a double header, and was set on fire to destroy the tunnel. A number of Mexican trainmen are also missing.

Two Mexicans who left at Cumbre said the passenger was not held up, but ran into the tunnel innocent of danger. The fact that none of the crew or passengers have been seen since, although four days have elapsed, was reckoned as the surest evidence of their fate, for which Maximo Castillo, who failed to leave warning that he had set a freight train on fire in the tunnel, was regarded as responsible.

MURDERED WIFE OF HER LOVER AND THEN TOOK POISON

Mystery of "Veiled Woman" Was Solved When Young Girl Committed Suicide

Newark, New Jersey, Feb. 7.—Hazel Herdman, a girl of 20, infatuated with Charles F. Manning, shot and killed Miss Harriett Manning in her home here last night. This was the announcement made by the Newark police this afternoon.

The girl is dying in the Mountainside Hospital at Montclair, N.J., of poison taken with suicidal intent. Learning that a young woman had been taken to the institution in an automobile, the police seized upon it as a clue to the mysterious shooting of Mrs. Manning.

Miss Herdman was the woman detained by the police and questioned last night but was released. She died at 3.10 o'clock. Her mother was at her bedside.

Miss Herdman was the daughter of Arthur J. Herdman an hotel proprietor. The father said this afternoon that he had opposed his daughter's association with Manning, but that notwithstanding this the two had been going together for years.

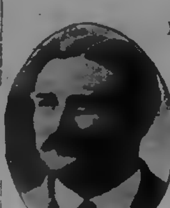
A new edifice of the cathedral type will replace Knox church, Stratford, burned last spring.

THE OLD CUNARD BUILDINGS

There is considerable historic significance in the circumstance that the C.P.R. has just taken for the winter months the old Cunard building erected by the founder of the Cunard line—Mr. Samuel Cunard, who was a Halifax man and who made his name famous in the shipping and mercantile world. It was to Halifax that he brought his first ships; it was in the old office he bent over his task. There is a new day and new methods; and a degree of expansion of which he could not have dreamt. The shipping business has increased hundred-fold during the last half century. The stress and strain of life are indicated by the speed demanded on land and sea—speed which the old founder could not have foreseen in his most prescient moment. The old house (or offices) is a three-storey building of stone with the quaint old windows hinting a quiet and sedate world which minded its business and did not bother looking out at hobble skirts. The name is cut on the old building—"S. Cunard"—offering a memento of the past full of interest, as suggesting at once the small beginnings of a great business to which he devoted his energy and genius and the amazing development of that business, keeping pace with modern demand, by the C.P.R.

MR. BURNHAM'S SPEECH IN HOUSE ON ABOLISHING TITLES OF HONOR

Member for West Peterborough Puts up Strong Argument in Favor of Bill



MR. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P., introduced his Bill in Parliament on the 5th inst. to abolish Titles of Honour in Canada. His speech, taken from Hansard, is as follows:

Mr. J. H. Burnham (Peterborough West) moved the second reading of Bill No. 3, to abolish titles of honour in Canada. He said: In moving the second reading of this Bill, seconded by Mr. Lapointe of Kamouraska, I should like to say that there are really two aspects to this question. The first is necessarily the constititional aspect. Todd, in his Parliamentary Government in the British Colonies says that grants of honours and titles of distinction, like the prerogative of mercy are extraordinary prerogatives and of exceptional nature, but 'nevertheless this prerogative, like any other function of royalty, must be exercised with the concurrence and upon the responsibility of ministers.' Whatever the Crown may wish to retain or exercise of this prerogative is not in any sense within the purview of this Bill. This Bill deals wholly with the actions of the people and their representatives. The general aspect of this Bill may be referred to somewhat in this way: Modern titles spring from names that were orginally names of the occupants of actual offices or those actually following certain occupations. In the course of time, the occupants and the occupations disappeared, leaving their bare names behind. These names have been appropriated by others for ornamental purposes, and have gradually developed into names for the establishment of classes. They are class names. Now, for a democracy to utilize names for the establishment of classes or orders in the democracy is in itself a contradiction in terms and is, I maintain, entirely contrary both to the wish and the spirit of democracy. Moreover, it is unscientific. In this scientific age—and we may refer to it perhaps in that way—it is entirely crude to label an object Homo Sapiens when—

Some hon. members: Hear, hear.

Mr. Burnham: I knew that a little learned reference would call forth a response from the members of the Opposition, and I am glad their Latin goes so far. I say it is entirely crude to label an object Homo Sapiens when the one so named may be merely a greedy feeder at the public trough, or in fact a member of the protozoa order, the most absolutely undeveloped order of all. That, Sir, I say, is unscientific and objectionable. I do not for one moment pretend that there are not people who have received titles, such as—if I may be allowed the reference—the right hon. leader of the Opposition (Sir Wilfrid Laurier), who are worthy of any title and who are superior to any title; but that does not make the action less a violation of the principle, nor does it make it less likely for democracy to incur the grave and serious danger of drifting into a possible—not under this Government—sale and purchase of honours. We have lately seen, as history will show that there has been an alarming condition developed in England. And not merely is it the cable report, but it is the established fact—established by members of parliament—that there have been sales of honours by the people's representatives in England. That is, of course, most detrimental both to the honours and to the people at large. We know from the facts of everyday life that these things are quite possible and indeed probable. In any event, I still adhere strictly to the principle that democracy in itself does not contemplate class honours, and therefore it is a violation of the principle of democracy and of the will of the people that they should be established.

It being universally admitted that virtue is its own reward, it logically follows that all those who desire further reward must, by so much, lack the requisite qualification. It should be open, I maintain to every man and woman, to reach the highest standard of excellence and esteem without let or hindrance from established customs or the exigencies of government. We know perfectly well that titular honours cannot fittingly be bestowed on people who are too poor to receive them. The consequence is that for the simple virtues of everyday life there have been exchanged what we may euphoniously call the more splendid and showy virtues. I do not think that that is at all desirable, because if there is any class of life that we ought to wish to raise to a high level it is that class which in itself and in its immediate surroundings is deprived of wealth and opportunity. From those who have great means, great wealth, great abilities and good health much is to be expected, and accordingly to them not much should be awarded. But those people who have poor health, little or no wealth, who live in squalor; who are in a condition, perhaps, of semi-starvation; those people, as I myself know to be the case in many instances, are willing to conform to a lofty standard of virtue, and they demand our recognition. These, we should not pass by.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker I have only to say that whatever may be the desirability of the people's representatives bestowing honours upon themselves or recommending themselves for honours; when we see men contemplating their own distinction with such equanimity as to enable them to pin upon their breasts the orders typifying that distinction, we must come to the conclusion that they have gone far past the realization of the basic virtue which should be at the bottom of all our actions.

HON. G. A. COX'S WILL IS TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Toronto, Feb. 7. It is expected that the terms of the will of the late Hon. G. A. Cox, and the amount involved, will be made public within the next week. It is said that a number of bequests have been made to charitable institutions in Toronto and other parts of the country. According to E. W. Cox, his father disposed of the major portion of his estate some time ago, and that the bulk of the fortune which he left is in the form of trust deeds.

WOMAN DYING FROM BURNS WHEN SKIRT BRUSHES INTO GRATE

Waveland, Miss., Feb. 9.—Passing the grate in a room at her home here at noon, the skirts of Mrs. John Turcotte, 32 years old, caught afire. Shrieking at the top of her voice, she ran to the yard and street. When neighbors reached her side she was a torch. Blankets were thrown about her and she was rolled on the ground.

Before the flames could be extinguished there was hardly a spot on her body that was not burned.

Physicians say she can live but a few hours as she inhaled the flames. She has three small children.

A Custom The World Over

Thousands of persons who know the advantage of pure, wholesome, easily digestible food have a dish of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast.

Grape-Nuts food, made of whole wheat and malted barley, is ready to eat direct from the package. It comes to your table in the form of golden brown granules—crisp and nut-like—the delicate sweet taste due entirely to grape-sugar developed by the process of manufacture.

Every year tens o thousands visit the Pure Food Factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., and see for themselves every step in the making of this famous food.

First the milling of wheat and barley; the mixing and kneading into a sort of dough—formed, for convenience in handling into huge 10-pound loaves; then the baking, slicing rebaking, and grinding; and finally the filling, sealin and packing of the well-known air-tight, yellow packages—all accomplished without the food being touched by hand.

Yes, visitors are taken all over the place — upstairs and down. There is considerable to see, and

A UNIVERSAL FOOD
Following Nature's Footsteps

"I have a boy, two years old, in perfect health, who has been raised on Grape-Nuts and milk.

"This is an ideal food and evidently furnishes the elements necessary for a baby as well as for adults. We have used Grape-Nuts in large quantities and greatly to our advantage."

One advantage about Grape-Nuts food is that it is partially pre-digested in the process of manufacture; that is, the starch contained in the wheat and barley is transformed into a form of sugar by the same method as this process is carried out in the human body. This is accomplished by the use of moisture and long exposure to moderate warmth, which grows the diastase in the grains and makes the remarkable change from starch to sugar.

Therefore, the most delicate stomach can handle Grape-Nuts and the food is quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue, certain parts of it going directly for building and nourishing the tissue cells of body, brain and nerves.

SNOBBERY BELOW STAIRS.

The Way English Servants Ape Their Master's Airs and Graces.

Writing on snobs in the New York Tribune, Frederick Townsend Martin, the society millionaire, says:

We are all familiar with the ludicrous snobbery among English servants that existed in the time of Mr. Pickwick. Not so many of us, however, appreciate what snobbery exists today in the realms of the servants' hall. I was once visiting Baron Ferdinand Rothschild, when my valet came to me and asked if he could go to London by the morning train and get back in the afternoon.

I said to him, "Why do you want to go?"

He replied: "Oh, sir, as we are only stopping here a few days, I did not put in my evening suit, and last night, you being a foreigner, I found myself ranked above all the others and had to take precedence of those who were traveling with dukes, earls and viscounts. I outranked them all and took in the housekeeper to dinner. And my mortification was great when I noticed that every one of the men around the table was in evening clothes, and I alone was in my ordinary black suit. By the way, sir," he continued, "perhaps you, being an American, don't know that in the servants' hall the valets and maids are always called after their masters' and mistresses' names. They don't call them Lady So-and-so, but simply by the last name. Thus, Earl Cork's servant would be called 'Cork.' And in the servants' hall they are seated at the housekeeper's table in exactly the same grade and rank as that observed by their masters and mistresses upstairs."

The Shoplifter.

Old Jed Shucks and his wife had visited New York city, and after they got home Jed was describing to his friends the wonders of city ways.

"An' we went to a big department shop," he said, "an' we got inter one o' them 'ere things wot whisses ye clean up to the top—what in tarnation is their name, ma?"

"Shoplifters, Jedediar," Mrs. Shucks replied.

Encouragement.

"I tell you," said Dottypate, "I'm nobody's fool."

"Oh, well, never mind, Dotty, dear," said Miss Cynica. "Some day some nice girl will come along and take you."—Harper's Weekly.

FRONT DOOR NIGHT BELLS.

Doctors Are Not the Only Ones Who Have Use For Them.

At 1 o'clock in the morning a man who was looking for a doctor found a door plate on which he distinguished the words, "Night bell," and rang the bell. When the door opened and a figure appeared in the semidarkness of the hall he said:

"Hurry up, please. There is a sick woman at No. 1[illegible]."

The man inside said "All right," and in a few seconds both men were racing down the street to No. 132. In the top floor front room lay a very sick woman. The newcomer pulled a small table to the bedside and took from his pocket a sheet of paper and a fountain pen.

"What on earth are you doing with that?" said the man who had summoned him. "You're a nice doctor, you are."

"Doctor?" echoed the man. "I'm not a doctor; I'm a lawyer. Didn't you read the sign, 'Lawyer's night bell'?"

"But what does a lawyer need of a night bell?" the other man asked.

"To enable the people who want to make wills in the dead of night to find him readily," was the reply.

"Once in a while I'm called up to straighten out more serious entanglements, but most of the legal papers I write after 10 p. m. are wills. A lot of people who take sick suddenly recollect that they have never made a will and they want to repair the omission while there is time. When you said there was a sick woman here I naturally thought of wills, not medicine. There is a doctor in the corner house."—New York Times.

"Magic" Cloths.

Many housewives gladly pay 25 cents for so called "magic" cloths, as they are very useful for silver and other metals. Being dry, they do not soil the hands or clothing and do their work until the cloth itself wears out. To make such a cloth take one quart of gasoline, one-half pound of whiting and one-eighth ounce of oleic acid, mixing all together and shaking well. Soak pieces of woolen cloth in the mixture and hang them in the open air in a shady place to dry. When the cloths are dry the "magic" qualities have been given to them, and these they will never lose. The material must be wool.—New York Globe.

DARING WORK IN A FOG.

Clever Seamanship of a Captain in a Landlocked Harbor.

"The greatest piece of seamanship I ever saw," said a traveler, "was on a trip to Halifax. It was a marvel, and this is how it happened.

"We were steaming along about twelve hours out from our destination one summer afternoon. It had been clear all day, and the sea was beautifully blue, but about 4 o'clock the fog began to shut down—one of those swift, dense fogs that come on that coast and shroud a boat from sight in less time than it takes to tell of it. Of course the fog whistles began to blow, and many of the passengers got nervous under the strain of its continued bellowing.

"After dinner I went up on the bridge and was permitted to stay. The captain would not enter into any conversation—that is, I could not talk to him, but in his restless pacing up and down the bridge he would frequently make a remark to me. It went on that way for hours, the fog as thick as steam and the whistle reiterating its mournful warning.

"At length the captain gave a sharp order. 'Two points, northwest by north,' he said. 'No, a little more—that's right,' he finished as his command was executed. I was bewildered, and my face must have shown it as he passed me, for he vouchsafed the explanation that he wanted to pass within a few hundred feet of a certain whistling buoy near the harbor. I said nothing, but I did not understand. Why, the night was so thick that it was hard work to see from the bridge to the rail, and what could he mean by making a buoy?

"On and on we went, and always the fog seemed to me thicker. I could not sleep, and most of the night I was on the bridge. When it must have been nearly morning a new whistling began to sound on our starboard bow, as nearly as I could judge. It was a fearful fog siren, and kept getting nearer and nearer. We had stopped whistling, and the passengers were terribly frightened. I looked at one ex-naval officer who stood with me on the bridge, and his face was like a dead man's. Mine must have been also.

"Then, just as it seemed that some giant steamship must strike us, so close was the whistling, the fog lifted like a veil, and there, not 150 feet away, was the buoy that the captain had mentioned.

"Almost at once the fog closed down again; but, do you know, he took us past two warships, into the landlocked harbor and up to the dock in it. It was magnificent, and, though we really could not put our admiration in tangible form, we got together and gave him a gold watch on the return voyage as a little souvenir."—New York Post.

Jerusalem.

"On all sides we see the evidences of skepticism, which often reaches the level of ridicule, for things which we and those who have gone before regarded as sacred," says a Palestine letter in a German paper, "but here in Jerusalem the shocks to our reverence are less frequent and less severe. Come hither quickly, then, all ye who would see it before the march of modernity sweeps over the sacred city and before its atmosphere suffers still greater changes. To the tramway and other things modern electric light, power and heating are soon to be added by a French company. The waters of the river Jordan, which fall more than 600 feet near the Lake of Galilee, will furnish the power. Think of a great electrical plant furnishing power for many miles doing business under the name of 'the Galilee Electric company!' Can you fancy it complacently?"

Against Capital Letters.

The Society of Danish Pedagogues and the Danish Literary association in joint session recently discussed the "excessive use of capital letters" and passed a resolution urging the minister of education to issue orders to teachers in public schools through the kingdom "to restrict the use of capital letters to the beginning of sentences and proper names." In explanation it was urged that "in writing our native language the average person halts and is uncertain as to the big letters, and only good could result from using them only as we have indicated."

English Gambling Schools.

Obtain an entry into some of the many gambling schools in the North of England, and you will probably find out how it is that men manage to live without work.

Hundreds of these men attend the gambling schools regularly two and three times a week and risk their all on the tossing of two coins.

Rings are formed. Copper is used at one, silver at another, gold at another. A man is paid to toss up two coins, and the "punters" wager their pounds, shillings, or pence, as the case may be, on the coins dropping heads or tails. "Crows" keep a look out for the approach of the police.

One week a man may be in the gold ring, the next in the silver, and the third in the copper circle. A gambler in the West Riding of Yorkshire was pointed out to The Answers' correspondent as having lost over £2,000 in these schools, whilst another makes a point of speculating the whole of his rent-money every week.

Some men, of course, do well, but there are hundreds of Northern wives and daughters who would delight in the abolition of these "schools."—Answers.

Palmed the Jewels.

Mary Andre was a palmist in Trieste, Austria. When she examined the hands of well to do women she generally predicted some impending misfortune and explained that it was very likely due to their possessing some unlucky jewel. A number of her clients intrusted the palmist with their jewelry in order that she might discover which was the offending stone. Frau Andre must have had a large clientele, for she suddenly disappeared from Trieste with $20,000 worth of their jew-

A LONG COAT TO SLIP ON OVER THE MATINEE FROCK

Perhaps more freaks have been launched this season than any one season before, yet we have also had some excellent ideas that were wearable and becoming at the same time.

Fur coats are modish—in fact, entire costumes of fur are being worn at the moment in Paris—but there are times when one really needs a long, warm coat aside from the fur coat. It is comfortable to wear to a matinee or to the theater in the evening when one does not care to dress elaborately.

In No. 8136 there is shown a kimono design, in which the back extends over the shoulders to form a yoke in front. The material is dull red duvetyn with collar and cuffs of black plush.

This coat may be copied in size 36 with 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

In No. 8156 a fascinating one-piece dress for a young girl is illustrated. The material is dull blue serge relieved by a girdle of emerald green taffetas. A beaded motif serves to close the belt on the side.

This design may be copied in size 16 with 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8136—sizes 34 to 44.
No. 8156—sizes 14 to 18.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy to build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is used better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

A Hospital Nurse's Hands.

As an example of trademarks have you ever noticed the hands of the hospital nurse? The soft white hand which in fiction is occupied in cooling fevered brows does not exist and could not. It is a skilled hand; but its work makes it rough and chapped. Try bathing your hands in disinfectants twenty times a day and you will find that, look after them as you may, they will soon be seamed with cracks, which an east wind often turns to bleeding cuts. And as they are worked hard for some twelve or thirteen hours a day the nurse takes a somewhat larger size in gloves than most women. If you ever see the photograph of a hospital nurse you may observe that she prefers to keep those hands behind her back.—London Chronicle.

Longest Family Tree.

The biggest family tree in the world is believed to be the one which traces the genealogy of Queen Elizabeth back to King David and thence to Adam, or at least as near to Adam as one could get. The coat of arms is given in almost every case, with full particulars of the dates of births and deaths. The labor of providing coats of arms is abandoned before Methuselah's time, but the chart measures forty-five feet and certainly does take one through a maze of nobility.

PERJURY IS A VERY COMMON OFFENCE

Chief Justice Haultain Made Some Strong Comments in Real Estate Action.

Moose Jaw, Feb. 7.—Chief Justice Haultain, in hearing a real estate action in the supreme court yesterday made some very strong comments on the all too common practice of perjury among allegedly respectable witnesses. He spoke of the great difficulty in bringing home the guilt of parties, but promised some close attention to the scandal in Saskatchewan courts in this respect for the future.

His lordship himself to satisfy his suspicions has been acting the part of Sherlock Holmes in this very case. Going out of court on the evening previous he listened to two witnesses he suspected of not studying the facts. Yesterday he sent one from the court and cross-examined the other on the conversation he had overheard. This evidently was correctly reported to him by the witness. He then sent for the other man, and caught him after one or two questions in flagrant perversion of facts.

The chief justice said he had a good mind to impose a stiff fine right away, but contented himself with saying that he would take the matter up after a decision in the case was arrived at.

Weak, Tired Folks Given New Vigor

STRENGTH RETURNS, HEALTH RENEWED, VITALITY OF YOUTH RE-CREATED

Exhaustion and Bodily Tiredness Every Day Being Turned into Vigor and Ambition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From Cheboque Pt., N. S., comes the following from Mrs. H. A. Reynolds- "A year ago my health began to fail. I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really fely as if the charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the 'blues.' I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my apetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

300 TAKE COURT'S CIGARETTE "CURE"

New York, Feb. 9.—The crusade of Recorder John McGovern, of Hoboken, N.J., to rid men and boys of the cigarette smoking habit resulted last night in 300 men and boys submitting to the "cure" in the recorder's court in the presence of their women folk.

After discussing the cigarette subject with Doctors Joseph Longrin and Michael Granille of the Hoboken board of education staff, the recorder decided to invite all cigarette smokers to his court room to be "cured."

The court room was not large enough to hold the crowd which tried to get in the other night to take the treatment and it was not until after the doctors had labored with them two hours that all could be attended to.

The "cure" consists of swabbing the throat with nitrate of silver, which, to judge by the expressions on the faces of those taking the treatment, was anything but pleasant, but many of them had promised to take the "cure" and they were bound not to falter now.

The treatment is supposed to affect the mouth of the smoker so that it will be misery for him to smoke again. The physicians also gave each "cured" person a prescription to fortify his resolve to give up cigarettes.

PUBLIC OPINION

REPORT IN TIMES IS CORRECT

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The news you publish in your valuable paper that hydro is getting ready to buy all the holdings in the Trent Valley from the Seymour Co. is correct. This will get our city out of the mess our mayor, council and solicitor innocently got the city into last year. The notice served by the city contained the word "lands" and so forth used in operating. Of course that meant what it said, and when the city tried to back out it could not back. That is past and gone except the lights on George street, which were shining brighter than the moon last evening. The city will now come under the protection of the Government hydro, and there will be no more talk about going into city ownership on a big, big scale. We had a close shave to a Lindsay act but with our luck we have escaped. That is what the news means. Glory be.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE WHITE PERIL.

Consumption Must Be Prevented Rather Than Cured.

STAMP OUT THE INFECTION.

Unless the Germs of the Disease in the Habitation, Whether It Be House or Tent, Are Utterly Destroyed Fresh Air and "Cures" Avail Little.

There is no cure for tuberculosis, and probably never will be, accepting the word "cure" in the sense of some special medicine. A disease prevented is better than cured, for no one is so well off physically or financially after any illness, and particularly does this truth apply to tuberculosis. The successful prevention of a disease does away with any need for its "cure." This is well exemplified in the case of yellow fever. We have never succeeded in finding a cure for that former scourge of the south, but we have done far better. We have wiped out the disease bodily, bag and baggage, by simple preventive methods.

So writes Dr. F. C. Walsh in the Technical World Magazine, and he declares that notwithstanding the "optimists," the disease is on the increase. He singles out and lays great stress on the fact that consumption is a contagious disease and on the contention that it is not contracted to any great extent through infected milk or even by the using the drinking cups that consumptives use or through the "spitting nuisance." Its spread is through the infection of the habitation. Here is one of his parables:

Brown had moved in the month of May into a house in another part of the town where he had always lived. By fall he had contracted tuberculosis. It was discovered later that several different families who had occupied this same house in succession had lost several members from tuberculosis. No attempt had ever been made to disinfect the house. Brown went to a far western state, pitched his tent on a certain spot, and never made any change from that one spot until his death. Note that fact. As a result the soil over which he slept night after night became saturated with the accumulated germs which he expelled in coughing, so that he was continually at night rebreathing into his system the very "seeds" which cause the disease. He was repoisoning himself nightly and didn't know it. His system would have been able to throw off the original "germ poison" which it contracted, but it was not strong enough to withstand a new dose of the poison every night. Had he changed the location of his tent daily he could have slept each night in an atmosphere practically germ free.

Jones is another victim. He goes to the same state. He has an idea that he can get along without any tent and sleeps with only the stars above, rolled up in his blanket. He naturally moves from place to place, each day sleeping on new and different ground each night. He ends by being cured.

Smith has the disease and goes to the west. He feels and looks in perfect health long before a year is gone. He returns home, satisfied that he is cured. In less than four months he is again in the tenacious clutches of the disease.

There is a lesson in this. The open air treatment is all right, but it must be carried out by right methods. All early cases of consumption which have failed to recover by outdoor treatment must lay the blame to faulty treatment. Jones, who recovered, you will remember, did change his location every day, having no tent to bother him, and in doing so avoided the fatal mistake of Brown.

How about Smith? The case of Smith is of the greatest importance. He had recovered, you will remember, and returned to his home feeling fine—back to what? To the very same plague ridden room in which he had first contracted the disease, a room reeking with tubercular germ life and which had been occupied, it was learned later, by five different consumptives at various times. The disease got a hold on him a second time for the simple reason that he came back to the original source of his disease. He should have sought new quarters, or else the house, and particularly the room he occupied, should have been disinfected before being occupied by him or any one else. These three cases cited are but typical instances. There are thousands upon thousands of Browns, Joneses and Smiths living and dying this very day whose story, if told in its true light, would match exactly the simple but pathetic history of these three men.

The thing that the doctor brings out is that consumption must be prevented rather than cured; that prevention is easy and cheap and lies in disinfection. This, in the case of the consumptive's quarters, he insists, should be at least once a week. The formula is simple: "Fumigate every room in the house with a vapor given off by heating formaldehyde; wash all the floors, windows and woodwork with mild solutions of corrosive sublimate and water." Fresh air, either at home or elsewhere, he establishes, is in itself insufficient.

He reaches the conclusion that the very existence of the hope of a "cure" has been responsible for increase of the disease. He urges people to flee from consumption by killing it in the germ that lurks in house or ground.

A MODERN PRESS

The Times To Be Greatly Improved in the Near Future

A Web Perfecting Press to Be Installed, the Circulation Having Outgrown Present Facilities—A Machine That Will Turn Out 5,000 Copies of the Paper Per Hour Has Been Purchased.

The rapid increase in the circulation of The Times during the past few months has made it necessary for the proprietor to instal a modern web newspaper press, which will print and deliver 5,000 folded papers per hour. This machine will be installed in about three weeks, and it is expected will be in commission by the end of the present month.

A night telegraphic service has been arranged, which will be in operation at an early date. It is our purpose to make The Times as near equal to the Toronto morning daily newspapers as possible, so that it will be in demand everywhere throughout Central and Eastern Ontario.

The Times will continue its policy of fearlessly advocating Equal Rights with special privileges to no church or creed. The time has arrived, we believe, when the press of Canada should take a decided stand against anything that savors of priestly or ministerial interference in political matters. Protestants are willing that their Roman Catholic fellow citizens should have every privileges that they themselves enjoy—but no more. The Roman Catholic hierarchy should and must be content with this, if harmony is to prevail.

The new equipment above referred to will add strength to our arm, and will enable us to battle more effectively for the principles above referred to. In the meantime we ask our friends to assist us by speaking a good word for the paper whenever they can, and thus increase our circulation. We want to add a couple of thousand new names to our list during the coming spring.

TOBACCO CHEFS.

Experts That Make Sauces For Flavoring the Different Brands.

"I am a tobacco chef," said the sallow man. "I make the sauces that give us smoking or chewing tobacco as a food chef makes the sauces which give us sole colbert or poulet creole.

"Take this dark, sweet, juicy plug of navy brown, so popular among the more prosperous type of teamsters. Well, the flavor of this plug is due to a sauce made of sugar, licorice, whisky and honey.

"Here is a mild, cool pipe tobacco that college boys favor. Smell it. Very aromatic, eh? Well, it has been steeped in a sauce composed of the essential oils of citronella, bergamot and cassia.

"But it is when you come to the high grade Havana cigar, the cigar that sells for 40 or 50 cents, that you see the tobacco chef at his best. He doesn't make his sauces then of such common ingredients as sugar, bergamot, licorice and so forth. No, he makes them of bacteria. The flavors of the high grade Havana tobaccos depend, you see, entirely on their ferments. Each tobacco undergoes a different fermentation, and here the chef comes in, applying the bacteria of years which cause these fermentations to the leaf.

"Yes, the tobacco chef of the highest type, the one who ferments Havana tobacco, handles the various breeds of bacteria as an ordinary chef handles pepper and salt, mustard and cloves and mace."—Buffalo Express.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hints on Beauty Culture

Newest Head Massage Has Rejuvenating Effect

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

MAGGIE TEYTE

I WENT to a well recommended beauty parlor on Fifth avenue in New York city for the innocent purpose of having my hair shampooed, time being an object with me, and my maid being for the moment a minus quantity.

That sounds very important to say "my maid." But if the average business woman only knew what a lot of service singers and theatrical women got from their maids all ideas of extravagance would instantly vanish, and the comfort and aid to efficiency one of these useful persons is would be better appreciated.

Personally, I have a treasure. She is a sensible, well-poised woman, honest as the day, and economical and patient and helps me to approach the goal I set for myself. She sees that I am on time for my engagements; that my gowns are in order, watches over me that I get my proper rest, and saves me money and time and nerve strain.

Effect of Good Brushing.

But—to hark back to the beauty parlor I went, I repeat, for the sole purpose of getting my hair shampooed. I entered the place with its white and gold luxuriousness with the idea that I was a fairly well-groomed (much as I hate that word I do not seem able to escape its use) woman. Before I had been there 15 minutes I was led to believe there was a lot of room for improvement, and when I left at the end of two hours I was rejuvenated.

Those beautifiers have the most persuasive manners! It seems a great pity that they should waste their energies on cold creams and rouges when such pleading and convincing eloquence would win them fame in any line of work they entered.

To begin with, I was urged to have my hair scientifically brushed for one-quarter of an hour. I did. It cost me $1.25, but my head felt so alive and the ideas seemed so near the surface I do not know that I begrudge the money. It was a wonderful brush with long, penetrating bristles, and the operator knew how to touch every inch of the scalp and to raise the hair from the roots and give a steady stroke that started the blood circulating and set my head aglow. Also it put life into my hair, and at the end of a week the gloss and vibrant quality is still there. Then she gave my head a massage and an electric treatment which made me feel as if I could go forth and accomplish the greatest of feats.

While she was working over my head she must have been studying my face, for she told me that my nose was just the least trifle too spreading at the nostrils, and, before I could deny the charge she had a dainty clamp on it that held it close, while it did not stop the breath. It was a sort of glorified clothes pin arrangement, and very subtly she urged me to take her advice and save myself from becoming a fright by investing in one of them. When I refused she acted pained, as if she pitied me for my lack of judgment.

New Finger Shapes.

Oh, they are wonderful women these professional beauty makers! They really awe me. While she was adjusting the nose pin she discovered that my finger-tips were less taper than they should be. And with the same confidential insistence she produced some funny little affairs and said if I would only snap one on each of my digits before I went to sleep each night and also every moment that I was in my boudoir it would increase the loveliness of my finger-tips tenfold.

They were quite like miniature thimbles. I believe in the theory of them. If you want to accomplish the same results get some celluloid thimbles, fit them to each finger so they will hold the ends firm, and, when you have massaged the hands carefully with some good skin food, place a thimble on each finger and keep it there all night. This is easy if you sleep in gloves to whiten your hands, and I know that such treatment persisted in for one month will show pleasing results. Especially if every time you wash your hands you will be sure to massage the finger tips into the properly pointed shape.

Erase Worry Wrinkles.

Then she discovered that I had some fine horizontal wrinkles between my eyes and at the corners of them. Quick as a flash she showed me a dainty box of crescent-shaped plasters with the assurance if "Madame would but try them each night she would never be without them. They would soon restore Madame's youth."

I pass the hint along. Smooth out those little worry creases at night and stick them out with adhesive plasters or some slight coating of collodion. I think it may do a lot of good. It is the same principle of the plasters for which I was asked such a very pretty penny.

And if she can easily afford it, I would advise every woman to buy a hand vibrator, for the electric treatment in these strenuous days is really a great comfort. Like all other good things, it should not be over done. In moderation it is excellent. It drives away headaches as well as wrinkles, and it rests one when the forty needed winks is impossible.

The Kind of Girl a Man Likes

BY NORVELL ELLIOTT

The Widow

THE day was perfect as far as outside conditions went for the snow was falling cheerfully, adding millions of flakes to the already well-carpeted ground. But, as my bachelor friend and I sped along in our sleigh, I felt that all was not at peace—there was a hot-headed, careless manner about my companion which was so unusual. I knew something very out of the ordinary had happened.

"Lass, I've just made a fool of myself," said he bluntly, and then added, even more bluntly, "I practically offered my heart and hand to Helen and she turned me down pat!"

"Why I never dreamed you cared for her—I knew you sometimes visited Helen but I really never dreamed you . . . loved . . . her," I answered, just a little dazed by the confession.

"I don't love her—that is the point of it all—that is the reason I've made such a blithering idiot of myself," and he gave a vicious little whack at his horse—an act decidedly foreign to his humane nature.

"Well, there is one bright spot about it all," I suggested, seeing a glimmer of light. "Helen refused you. Think how much more dreadful it might have been had she accepted! But, honestly, I cannot see the necessity for any of it. Why did you propose?"

"She is a widow," rapped out my bachelor friend, as though that explained everything. Seeing my thorough lack of understanding he vouchsafed an explanation.

"Widows have a way with them—never can be dissected and explained, but they have it nevertheless. Make a man feel at home, have the sofa cushions looking as though they were used, papers piled about comfortably on the living room table, nothing set or spick and span looking. A man feels at home as soon as he hangs up his hat, and usually he feels more and more comfortable the longer he stays—I'm talking about the be-knighted widow, lass—not about the be-lighted one: she's in a class all to herself.

"Helen is a typical be-knighted widow. . . . mourned sincerely for Jimmie for three years, and you'll admit yourself that is longer than usual . . . Today I ran in for a little chat with Helen . . . had no more idea when I entered her front door that I was going to propose than I had of blowing up the Panama canal. . . . But, she has a way with her, and I fell gloriously!"

Then followed such a detailed story of a be-knighted widow's conquest as one . . . frequently hears! Every man can tell such a story though few can explain the witchery which surrounded his undoing. After its recital, looking very much like a whipped boy, my friend eased his conscience further by blowing out about be-knighted widows in general.

"You see, lass, a widow has learned two great truths about man; first, she has learned the species is neither a god nor a viking; second (and this is by far the more important of the two), the widow has learned that she must appear to believe all the days of her life that they are! . . . A man can be managed as easily as a kitten; but you've got to rub him the right way if you expect to hear him purr. The woman inexperienced, in handling the afore-mentioned cat, in order to catch it would make a wild grab, only to be seriously scratched and in the end kittenless for her trouble. But the widow, bless you, she just gets a saucer of cream, sets it on her knees, and, presto! the coveted kitten is literally purring its heart out in two minutes.

"True, lass, there never was a truer saying on this green—I mean white—earth than that about pity being akin to love. A man feels the lonesomeness of the be-knighted widow as soon as he meets her, and by the time he catches the big tears in her soft eyes, well, it's all over with him then. He reaches gingerly in his pocket for his own handkerchief, and if she will let him, wipes the tears away himself, and avows himself her new knight forever. . . . And after so long or so short a time he is accepted—for every widow, if she has been happily married, longs for a repetition of that life."

"And if she has been unhappily married?" I asked.

"Then she longs for a chance at a good husband. Either way most widows you will notice marry again."

Having relieved his soul of the burden bearing upon it my bachelor friend turned to me with a laugh and exclaimed:

"Thank God, lass, you are not a widow!"

But I found no echo of this sentiment in my own heart. It seemed to me [illegible]

LOVE'S BURDEN :: By Michelson

SUCH a versatile chap, Love is! Always busy disproving the sure theories of science—and the just as sure theories of sentiment gone sour.

The world may sometimes seem hollow, but if Love is properly braced to the load, and the right two are anywhere inside, let the procession of the solar system proceed.

Yes, Love has Atlas looking like a tottering pigmy. The fact is that Love finds all burdens lighter than they would be to any one else. Bless his plucky heart! HE knows how to lift loads. He isn't PEEVISH. He has no grudges—except against ENVY and HATE; and sometimes he finds it hard to keep up any grudge against envy, because even envy sometimes leads to the IMITATION of Love, which is often next best to Love itself.

"Horrible Examples" Harmful

HANDS across the continent—Judge Lindsey of Denver—good, brave, clever, wise, sensible, honest, practical little Ben Lindsey.

So you don't believe in the moral effect of moving picture films of the white slave traffic?

You say it's all a farce to pretend that such pictures are exhibited to teach a great moral lesson?

"I say that any person who actually knows girls and boys and who believes that these vile pictures of low life can be of any moral influence is either helping the moving picture companies along or else he has very little understanding of human nature.

"To begin with, every girl in her teens knows right from wrong.

"No girl, especially a city bred girl, has ever gone into a man's apartment alone without knowing in her heart that there was danger to her morally.

"If they say they do not, they lie.

"And so I say there is no moral lesson to a girl in seeing representations of white slavery. The girl needs no horrible example—she knows.

"I cannot understand how virtuous, reputable, intelligent women can be so blinded as to stand sponsor for such shows."

True for you, Judge Lindsey, true for you; every letter and every syllable of every word of that opinion is good, sound common sense and good, sound understanding of the human heart.

What in the world has come over the good, sensible women of this country and made them all turn into maudlin, hysterical faddists on this white slave question?

Can't any of them remember anything about their own girlhood at all?

Why do they think that all these girls they are getting so excited about are so entirely different to what they were themselves when they were 16 or 17 and thought that every man who looked at them was desperately in love with them and hoped, oh, so hungrily, that he was.

Come on, sisters and cousins and aunts, let's stop sobbing over the white slave traffic and talk a little plain, hard, common sense together for just a few minutes.

Don't you remember when you were sweet 16 and lived in the little village out on the lonesome country road and the traveller that sold goods to your father's country store met you and asked you to go "buggy riding" with him—and you went—didn't you know that man was going to try to kiss you the very minute you got out of sight of town, and wouldn't you have been disappointed if he hadn't [illegible]

Let him—well, maybe you did—and maybe you didn't (the sort of life you've lived since then is pretty apt to answer that question pretty well); but, anyhow, nobody made you go "buggy riding" and nobody white slaved you out into the moonlight with the Fascinator who came to town with the college glee club. You knew that he wanted you to go out in the moonlight with him so he could make love to you—you knew it just as well then as you know it right now, and you didn't have to read a book or hear a lecture or see a moving picture to find out about it either.

Did you go—or didn't you?

Oh, well, you needn't answer—nobody cares now anyway. But why don't you think back once in a while and know what you're talking about when you talk about the mystery, the misery, the vanity, the folly and the cruelty of the heart of a foolish young girl?

A few years ago we women were all inexorable judges of the folly or the misery of every woman who was not fortunate enough to be as happily protected as we are.

We drew our skirts aside when some poor thing who was found out in doing something some of us had come very near to doing ourselves, perhaps, passed us in the crowded street.

We turned out the poor thing who was facing woman's hour of supreme torment—turned her out to suffer and to die, alone, and prided ourselves on our virtues and our principles when we did it.

Now we're going to the other extreme. Will we women never learn to keep some sort of balance?

Little Mary Smith may have gone wrong—poor, foolish simple-hearted, emotional little thing. Well, then, stand by her, take her by the hand, help her as you'd want your own daughter to be helped if she'd made just such a hideous mistake. But you needn't run out into the streets and catch up every coarse-featured, cruel-hearted vampire who lives on the misery of some mother's broken heart, or the loneliness of some desolated home, and wear her in your bosom like a rose, just because some goose of a sentimentalist chooses to call her a white slave.

You know more about boys and girls, real boys and real girls, Judge Lindsey of Denver, than any other human being in this country.

Do tell us some more about them, just in your plain, honest, straightforward, real way.

We're all in hysterics, it seems to me, over this white slave fad, shrieking, sobbing, moaning hysterics. We do need a good dose of some of the medicine of common sense.

Do give us some more, Judge Lindsey—like the public benefactor you are. We will profit greatly.

Croup, Bane of Mothers, No Longer Dangerous

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

DR. HIRSHBERG

WITH the possible exception of earthquakes, there is nothing that frightens a young mother more than the hard, dry, teasing and hoarse metallic cough, erroneously called "croup." It evidently scares the parent more, and the doctor less, than any other symptom known to the science of medicine.

The midnight summons, "Doctor, come at once; baby has the croup," rings with fear in the physician's ear. The worried tones, anxious, startled words of the maternal command to hasten, all fall upon a tolerant but seemingly callous medical man in vain. The physician will leisurely, deliberately and heedfully arouse himself from his none too peaceful slumber and hie himself forth to the much wrought-up parents. For he views like most other persons that home is saturated with the superstitions and medical delusions transmited from the mediaeval ages of the healing art.

Like the other mistaken terms such as "rheumatism," the expression "croup" is the quack's or layman's cloak for a multitude of diagnostic sins. "Croup" actually as a disease exists only in the minds of the misguided who believe, yet never seek to know. In a word, it is the symptom of several harmless maladies, and of only one to wit, diphtheria, which only in days gone by could be called dangerous.

"Croup" Once Terrorized.

Until the discovery of that medical philosophers' stone—diphtheria antitoxin—which has reduced the death rate of this dread trouble from its last century toll of ninety to the present five in every hundred lives—until all the ancient prejudices against antitoxin were dissipated the word "croup" justly struck terror to a woman's heart. For before the days of the departments of health, before bacteria were handled and recognized as a tangible fact, the tight, dry membranous coughs with the choking mucous of living, malignant diphtheria germs, were indistinguishable from other and innocuous "croups." The distracted mother, often the grandmother of that day, felt despair and imagined that she heard the knell of doom at the very suspicion of "croup." To her, then, it means either death mechanically by choking the infant with the laryngeal membrane, or [illegible] and death from the malignant diphtheria.

Since 1895, when anti-diphtheria serum was put into practical use by the doctors, when every reddened, sore or patchy-looking throat has had its exudates submitted to the alert eye of the bacteriologist, the medical man has breathed easier at what was also to him a most gruesome word. Now when he receives the home-made diagnosis "croup," he puffs and blows with pride. For a full realization of no responsibility impinges upon him. It is either diphtheria (quickly ascertained), or it is not, usually the latter.

Serum All Powerful.

Nine times in ten the baby awakening from sound sleep with that menacing, dry, rasping, metallic, quick, sharp bark has either been breathing through an open mouth in a room with hot, dry air, has enlarged tonsils and adenoids; is exposed to a chilling current of air; has a catarrhal spasm of the throat muscles; is having the first coughs of bronchitis or whooping cough, or is lying on his back and has allowed a relaxed tongue to fall a bit backward into the palate.

The true or membranous croup of 20 years ago and more has finally, unanimously and for all time been positively proved to have been due to the diphtheria bacillus. Therefore, today, whenever a child begins in the morning with hoarseness which grows worse as the day proceeds, whose breathing becomes almost as noisy as a sawmill toward evening, who at night struggles with short, parched coughs for air—when the observant practitioner notes these ominous signs he does not wait for the laboratory to confirm his worst fears but gives the infant a large dose of antitoxin at once.

Unfortunately at times in distant country districts, the serum may not be immediately available. What then does the efficient physician do? He gives an emetic and fugimates the lungs and throat with calomel inhalation; until the specific is obtained in haste from the nearest depot.

From all that I have said the cautious mother will draw the correct inference that unless the child has given ample evidence preceding the "croupy cough" that he was ailing she need have little fear that the thought of "croup" spells calamity. Again, even if the little tacker was a bit off his feed during the day there are more chances against real diphtheria (the only true "croup") manifesting itself than in its favor.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

EVERYTHING was quiet in Woodland one night. The moon was playing hide and seek with the clouds. Suddenly Mrs. Squirrel poked her head out of the window and shouted: "Fire!"

Brer Rabbit was sitting by his kitchen window watching the moon. He heard Mrs. Squirrel and, snatching his hat and hatchet, ran out the back door. He began shouting "Fire! Fire!" and soon all Woodland was awake. Then he ran straight into Mister Possum, who was running in the direction of the Squirrel home.

"I beg your pardon!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit, as he picked up his hat.

"This is no time for begging pardons," shouted Mister Possum, as he jumped up and ran toward the fire.

Mrs. Squirrel was still shouting "Fire! Fire! Oh! do save my children!"

Mr. Squirrel was at the foot of the tree, where he had scampered in the hope of getting help.

The smoke was curling out of the hole which was the Squirrel family's front door.

Just then Mister Flying Squirrel came along, picked up Mrs. Squirrel and carried her to safety. Then he carried her children to another tree. After this he jumped down and got a bunk of moss, which he stuffed into the hole. Soon the fire was smothered out.

"I must have done it with my pipe," whined Mr. Squirrel.

"You better thank me for putting out the fire," said Brer Rabbit.

"What did you do?" asked Mr. Squirrel.

"I ran all the way from home," said Brer Rabbit, proudly.

"Then you may walk back," said Mr. Squirrel in disgust.

BULLIED THE CLUB

A London Duelist Who Forced His Way Into Brooks'.

VETOED HIS OWN REJECTION.

After Having Been Balloted For and Unanimously Blackballed He Made Every Member Deny His Vote and Then Declared Himself Elected.

It was a witty bishop who once defined a club as a place "where women cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." Another amusing definition was that given by George Augustus Sala. "A club," said he, "is a weapon used by savages to keep the white woman at a distance." Nowadays, however, as Ralph Nevill remarks in his book, "London Clubs," things are different. "Within the last twenty-five years or so the spirit of London club life has entirely changed. The old fashioned clubman, whose whole life was bound up with one or other of these institutions, is now practically extinct."

Perhaps the most striking story which Mr. Nevill tells regarding Brooks' club is that concerning the famous duelist, George Robert Fitzgerald, who was executed for murder in 1786. No first class London club would admit him. His name does not appear in the club list, though he must in a sort of way be regarded as having belonged to the club. He was, however, in it only once, though it was his boast that he had been unanimously chosen a member.

Owing to Fitzgerald's well known dueling propensities no first class London club would admit him. Nevertheless he got Admiral Keith Stewart, who knew that he must fight Fitzgerald or comply, to propose him for Brooks'.

Accordingly the duelist went with the admiral on the day of the election to the clubhouse and waited down stairs while the ballot was in progress.

The result, a foregone conclusion, was unfavorable to the candidate, not even one white ball being among the black, the admiral having been among the first to deposit his. Mr. Brooks eventually went to tell Fitzgerald, who was waiting in the hall, that there was one black ball and that therefore his candidature had failed.

Thrusting aside Brooks, who protested that nonmembers might not enter the clubrooms, Fitzgerald flew upstairs and entered the room. Walking up to the fireplace, he thus addressed Admiral Stewart.

"So, my dear admiral, Mr. Brooks informs me that I have been elected three times."

"You have been balloted for, Mr. Fitzgerald, but I am sorry to say you have not been chosen," said Stewart.

"Well, then," replied the duelist, "did you blackball me?"

"My good sir," answered the admiral, "how could you suppose such a thing?"

"Oh, I supposed no such thing, my dear fellow. I only want to know who it was that dropped the black ball in by accident, as it were."

Fitzgerald now went up to each individual member and put the same question to all in turn. "Did you blackball me, sir?" until he made the round of the whole club, and in each case he received a reply similar to that of the admiral.

When he had finished his investigations he thus addressed the whole body: "You see, gentlemen, that as none of you have blackballed me I must be elected. It is Mr. Brooks who has made the mistake."

After this nothing more was said by the members, who determined to ignore the presence of their dangerous visitor, who drank three bottles of champagne in enforced silence, for no one would answer him when he spoke.

When he had gone it was agreed "that half a dozen stout constables should be in waiting the next evening to bear him off to the watch house if he attempted again to intrude, but Mr. Fitzgerald, aware probably of the reception he might get, never did."

Apropos of blackballing, Mr. Nevill mentions the greatest instance of blackballing probably ever known, which took place some years ago at a ladies' club, where one candidate received three more black balls than the number of members present—a case of excessive zeal indeed!

The practical joker is naturally not unknown in the most solemn of clubs, and "some irrepressible jokers have paid for their love of fun by having to resign their membership. One of them, whose escapades were notorious in London twenty years ago, sitting half asleep in a certain bohemian club, became annoyed at a very red headed waiter who kept buzzing about his chair. The sight of the fiery locks was eventually too much for this wild spirit, and, darting up and seizing the man, he emptied a bottle of black ink over his head before he could escape. The result, of course, was expulsion from the club, besides which very substantial compensation was rightly paid to the waiter."

What He Found Out.

An Italian journalist, Signor Tommaso Giloni, has just had some disagreeable experiences. Desirous of knowing something of the lunatic asylums from within, with the object of ameliorating the lot of the insane, he presented himself at the gates of the Cimarosa asylum and asked for an audience of the king of Italy. The attendants showed him the door, and then he ran foul of the police and in the end found himself interned in the asylum. The doctors examined him and finding him far from tractable, administered an emetic. Then they gave him a shower bath and, next vaccinated the enterprising journalist. After that they held a consultation in the presence of the "lunatic," whose bona fides they evidently suspected, and brutally but unanimously agreed that the only treatment in such a case was trepanning for a cancer on the brain. By this time Signor Tommaso Giloni thought the best he could do was to confess. This he did and found himself at the police station. The magistrate, however, released him, observ-

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for 2nd Extension of New Breakwater, Port Arthur Harbour, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., on Monday, March 2nd, 1914, for the construction of an Extension to what is known as the "New Breakwater" in the Harbour of Port Arthur, Thunder Bay and Rainy River District, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., Port Arthur, Ont., Post-Office, Montreal, and Post-Office Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to five per cent (5 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, January 27, 1914.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

Some Consolation.

He was a frugal Scot and when the collection plate came round dropped in a florin in mistake for the humble copper. Speedily discovering his mistake, however, he stepped softly down the aisle and requested the oof gatherer to give him back the coin, which request was politely but firmly refused. A shade of disappointment flitted over the northerner's face as he walked slowly back to his pew.

"Aweel," he said, "it's a loss, but there's some sma' consolation in reflectin' it's a bad one. It might have

A STUDY IN FIGURES.

Calculations Necessary to Produce the Nautical Almanac.

It may safely be said that no one outside the publishing office has read the entire Nautical Almanac from beginning to end, but each figure of the printed almanac is in the office examined twice and read three times.

The total number of figures exceeds a million; but, great as that number is, it is trifling compared with the number of figures employed in the calculations, as the almanac figures represent "bare" results only. The moon, for instance, requires for its calculation more than a million and a half of figures, and similarly with other branches of the work, such as the sun, the planets, etc. Contrary to the general opinion, practically every figure in the book is fresh from year to year.

The tables from which nearly all the work is calculated have been originally constructed from the labors of the astronomical observer and to a large extent from the observations of the sun, moon and planets made at the Royal observatory, Greenwich. Telescopes and other astronomical appliances are conspicuously absent, as the work of the staff is purely mathematical and not observational.—London Telegraph.

A Legend of Mount Omi.

Mount Omi, on the border between western China and Tibet, has the longest staircase in the world. On top of the mountain there stands a Buddhist temple, around which gather some of the holiest traditions of that religion and which is made a Mecca to the Chinese. To facilitate the ascent of its slippery sides some 20,000 steps have been cut in the mountain, forming a single flight, up which the pilgrim toils. Because of its inaccessibility few Europeans have ever visited the spot, but a number of travelers have ascended the stairway and are positive that it is no legendary myth. There is a legend that in earlier times the pilgrim was forced to ascend the mountain without artificial aids until the monks conceived the plan of requiring every pilgrim who would gain especial benefit of his journey to cut a single step.

That Yankee Dodge.

The description of the first operation under ether in Europe as given by Dr. F. William Cook in the University College Hospital Magazine is reproduced in the London Lancet, and the scene is referred to as the "most dramatic ever enacted in which medical men grouped the stage." The operation was performed by Robert Liston on Dec. 21, 1846. "At 2:15 Liston enters, that magnificent figure of a man six feet two inches in height, and says, 'We are going to try a Yankee dodge today, gentlemen, for making men insensible,' so Liston introduced ether to a London hospital." The subject was a man, thirty-six years old, whose thigh was amputated. The operation was successful, and Liston uttered the epilogue, "This Yankee dodge, gentlemen, beats mesmerism boiler."

Marvels of India.

What a wonderful country is India! There is only one India. Its marvels are its own. There is the plague, the black death. India invented it. The car of Juggernaut was also India's invention. So was the suttee, and within the time of men still living 800 widows willingly and, in fact rejoicingly burned themselves to death on the bodies of their dead husbands in a single year. And 800 would do it this year if the British government would let them. Famine belongs especially to India. India has 2,000,000 gods and worships them all. On top of all this she is the mother and home of that wonder of wonders, caste, and also that mystery of mysteries, the Satanic Brotherhood of the Thugs.—Churchman.

Setting Her Right.

The pretty and petulant wife of a congressman stood for a moment before the window of the receiving teller in a Washington bank, then tapped the window with her parasol, exclaiming:

"Why don't you pay attention to me?"

"We pay nothing here, madam," was the reply. "Please go to the next window."—Denver Republican.

Those Useless Questions.

"How did you get the bruised face?"

"It was caused by the hatrack last night."

"Accidentally?"

"No; I think it attacked me purposely."—Kansas City Journal.

TESTING AN EGG.

Many Ways to Detect Staleness Besides Smell and Taste.

It does not require a very discriminating palate to detect an old egg from a new one, says a correspondent of the New York Sun. The former has a musty flavor that the latter never has, and the mustiness may range from a slight taint to a very pronounced one. It is always noticeable in storage eggs.

If any one wishes to verify the judgment of his palate, the following tests may be used:

1.—It is almost impossible to peel the shell from a fresh hard boiled egg without having some of the white come away with it.

2.—A stale egg cannot be beaten to a froth.

3.—When a fresh egg is broken into a dish the yolk stands up and the white does not spread, whereas in a stale egg the yolk lies flat and the white seems watery.

4.—The shell of an egg after a certain length of time loses its chalky appearance and becomes shiny.

5.—The air space in the large end of a newly laid egg is about half an inch in diameter, and as the egg ages this space grows larger. In storage eggs it sometimes extends to one-fourth the length. An expert can very closely approximate the age of an egg by examining this space. This is known as candling and is done by holding the egg in a beam of light. A simpler test is to hard boil the egg and notice the relative size of the space.

Punishment After Death.

A negro, already under sentence of life imprisonment, was convicted of two charges of assault to murder. With great gravity the jury sentenced him to five years on each charge and ordered the prison officers to keep his corpse for ten years after he died. Perhaps a little theology entered the decision, the jury feeling as did the man found hammering away at a snake after he had killed it and who explained by saying he believed in punishment after death.—Judge.

A Statesman's Queer Ambition.

The great Lord Grey had an ambition far above politics. He had passed the reform bill, but that did not satisfy his soul. There was talk of Taglioni, and Grey said quite earnestly, "What would I give to dance as well as she!"

The statesman who had been prime minister and had left an indelible mark on the history of his country was actually envious of an opera dancer!—London Globe.

A New Cattle Hybrid

An English paper comments on a new hybrid animal orginated by Mr. Mossom Boyd of Bobcaygeon. The new animal is called "cattleo." It is a cross between domestic cattle and one of the herd of American buffalos owned by Mr. Boyd. The hybrid animal seems to have the rugged strength of the bison and its flesh tastes like buffalo meat.

Lockport, N. Y., Council Coming to Peterborough

Mr. A. H. Read of the Read Incinerator Co., Toronto, who erected the local incinerator plant, was in the city yesterday, having returned from a business trip to Lockport, N.Y. Mr. Read expects that next week the city council of Lockport and possibly the city fathers of Windsor, will visit Peterborough to examine, the local incinerator.

Young Lindsay Forger Sentenced

Lindsay Warder: The first case to come before Police Magistrate Jackson this morning was that of the young Scotchman, Forbes Skeene, who was charged with the forging of two cheques in the Montreal Bank, which amounted to $50 each. The accused attached the signature of W. J. Graham, a savings bank depositor, to the papers with which he got the money. The young man was given six months in Central poison.

Our Dangerous Pavements.

Mrs. Donald Menzies was the victim of a very painful accident on Friday evening, and is now in Nicholls Hospital. It seems that as Mrs. Menzies was leaving the residence of Sergeant Adams she slipped and fell heavily, breaking a bone in her left thigh. She was removed to the hospital where Dr. Cameron reduced the fracture. Possibly $3 worth of sand on that pavement would have saved the lady from a broken thigh.

A Belleville Accident.

Mr. John Little, milkman, has gone through one of the most trying experiences any man is ever called upon to endure. Mr. Little is accustomed to go over to Prince Edward for milk daily. On his return his horse ran away throwing him out and fracturing his shoulder. Fortunately his robe was hurled out with him and he wrapped himself in this. The horse continued its career and ran into a hole in the ice, where it was drowned. Mr. Little was found in an almost exhausted condition this morning.

A Dog Sleigh Elopement.

Mr. Dan Wetung, the Chemong Indian Village stage-driver, was in the city on Saturday. In conversation with The Times, he told an amusing story of a boy working in the township of Harvey. It seems that in the lumber camp, where the boy worked, was a big dog that was raised in Chemong village. A few days ago the boy hooked the dog to a hand sleigh to ride round the camp. The dog made for his former home and without stopping to consider the high cost of bones, did not stop until he brought the boy to Chemong village.

Who Is Responsible?

On Saturday a George street merchant, speaking to a Times reporter, said, "The good Book says, that Samson slew 1000 Philistines with the jaw bone of an ass." Peterborough Aldermen on Friday night broke the thigh bone of a local woman, who fell on the icy pavement, for the lack of $2 worth of sand. Do our Aldermen think responsibility to their respective constituents ends with de claration of the results of our municipal elections?

Horse Badly Hurt.

Yesterday afternoon as two of the minstrel company that plays at the Grand to-night were out for a drive, the horse, which belongs to a local livery stable, became frightened at a piece of paper blown by the wind and ran away. The two black cork artists were thrown out of the cutter, but fortunately not hurt. The flying steed fell on Charlotte street in front of the White House and was badly hurt. The two actors thrown out were Messrs. Harry Brown of the six Brown Bros. and Mike Celles.

Eggs are going down. Still Saturday's market prices showed that the price is not sinking.

When a lady falls on Stewart street and fractures a bone, it is time sand or ashes were sprinkled on our icy pavements.

Saturday's market was unusually small for that day of the week. The inclement weather was possibly responsible.

The Primrose & Dockstader Minstrels arrived here at noon yesterday. They registered at the White House and will appear at the Grand tonight.

At Saturday's Police Court Michael Murphy was fined $10 and costs for having been drunk as a blacklister. Mike when asked where he got his liquor replied, "I found a bottle of gin at home."

If the Council submits a by-law asking the ratepayers for a tuberculosis hospital, that will bring consumptives to the city, why not, at the same time, have another by-law presented to raise a fund for raising the morality of Thomas Cate?

On Friday Mr. Will Montgomery of the hotel of that ilk went to Hiawatha for a load of straw and got it. He did not bring it all to the city however. The sleigh runners skidded. The load with Mr. Montgomery and a friend on top ran into a small apple tree. The tree broke. The horses got frightened and tried to bolt. The load upset and Will and his friend performed some pyrotecnics as they flew through the air earthwards. Some bruises and a part of a load of straw were the worst results.

Old Folks' Coughs Permanently Cured

The Public is Loud in Its Praise of the Modern Direct Breathing Cure.

Elderly people take cold easily. Unlike young folks, they recover slowly, if ever. That is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia. Even though pneumonia does not develop and kill, coughs certainly weak en all elderly people.

Cough Syrups seldom do much good because they upset digestion. Any druggist or doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHOZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich piney balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

"At sixty-eight years of age I can testify that I am never troubled with coughs or colds," writes J. E. Pilgrim, of Kingston. "They used to be the bain of my life, and that was before I used Catarrhozone, which was recommended to me by C. L. Prouse, druggist. To use Catarrhozone is just like being in an immense pine woods. The balsamic vapor of Catarrhozone is like a tonic, it is so stimulating to the breathing organs, so soothing to sore spots, so full of power to drive out colds and congestion. I will always use and recommend Catarrhozone as a preventive and cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, throat irritation and catarrh.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Dr. William Caldwell.

Very general regret was felt throughout the city yesterday when the sad news became current that Dr. William Caldwell had passed away in the morning at his residence 201 Brock street. Dr. Caldwell was known and respected by a large circle of friends. His death makes a gap in the community that will be hard to fill.

The deceased practised for some 10 years in Lakefield previous to locating here. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity the Peterborough Club and the Peterborough Bowling Club. He was for a number of years, previous to his late illness, physician at the County Jail.

Dr. Caldwell was a member of the congregation of St. Paul's church. He never married. Dr. Caldwell leaves to mourn his death, one sister, Miss Annie Caldwell of Peterborough, one half sister, Mrs. Brodigan, of Toronto, and two half brothers, J. C. Henderson of Rochester and S. Henderson of Toronto. He was born at Huntingdon, Quebec, 71 years ago.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 2 p.m. to-morrow. Rev. Robt. Pogue officiating.

Napoleon Guerin

The many friends of Mr. Napoleon Guerin learned, with regret on Saturday morning that he had passed away. Mr. Guerin died at midnight at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Barbeau; 112 Aylmer street.

The late Mr. Guerin was well known and highly respected throughout the city. For many years he was caretaker of the Peterborough Club boat house. This position he quitted some 25 years ago. Since that, until recently, when the infirmities of age made him retire, he was a faithful and trusted employe of the city. The deceased who was 84 years of age leaves to mourn his death, one daughter, Mrs. Barbeau and three sons, Joseph, Paul and Adlard, all of this city.

The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock to Sacred Heart Church, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Winnipeg tradesmen will call themselves for all packages at the Customs House rather than pay 16 cents a package for delivery.

WEDDING BELLS

Stewart — Stewart

A very pretty wedding took place at Maple Avenue, Otonabee, the home of Mrs. James Matchett, on Feb. 4, 1914 when her niece, Miss Lizzie Jane Stewart, was married to Mr. Ormiston Stewart. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. McConachie, pastor of Stewart Memorial Presbyterian Church, and Miss Mary Laing played the wedding march. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by Mr. Beecher Matchett, and looked pretty in a costume of lace over white satin, trimmed with real Irish lace and seed pearls, and carried a sheaf bouquet of roses and lilties of the valley. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of Persian lamb furs, and to Miss Laing a gold brooch.

After congratulations, guests to the number of seventy-five partook of a dainty wedding supper. The tables were prettily decorated with smilax, roses and carnations. Amid showers of rice and confetti Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left for home, the bride attired in a suit of navy blue serge and black velvet hat with large black plume and tiny rosebuds.

The large numbers of beautiful, useful and costly presents testified to the popularity of the contracting parties. Their many friends in Peterborough and vicinity wish them a long and happy life.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!--CASCARETS

Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, mean Liver and Bowels Clogged—Clean up tonight.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Head aches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing, and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

The many readers of the Times in this section feel that they owe Mr. J. B McWilliams a hearty vote of thanks for his straightforward denial of the report made and attributed to Mr. Fernow regarding the settlers in the north country. It was an ill-advised and false statement and now that McMcWilliams' denial has been so widely published not only in the papers but by his answer to it in the County Council, people abroad will have a better opinion of the north country. Let any one drive through this country now and they will find a prosperous community. A large number of the farmers are lumbering and of those who are not, their sons are in the camps earning good wages. There is plenty of fodder for all the horses and cattle, and we do not hear of anyone complaining of want. We sincerely hope Mr. Fernow was not the author of the statement published as coming from him. The many friends of Mr. McWilliams wish to thank him for his explanation.

The weather, which has been rather mild for the past few days, has turned much colder, and it is to be hoped that it may continue so for sometime. There is a big cut of logs to get out and that requiries good hard roads.

Mr. J. Thompson, of the P.L.Co., passed through Apsley on his way to the camps, Tuesday, 3rd inst.

Mr. Manice, government timber agent, called on his way home Wednesday.

Messrs. Hardill and Case, representing Rishor Ltd., and the Kingan Hdwe. Co., of Peterborough, called on the Apsley merchants, Wednesday, 4th, and as usual picked up all the orders for their respective firms.

Sanol BLOOD SALT

No Indigestion can exist if this remedy is taken according to instructions—and there is no known remedy to take its place.

This Blood Salt is a mixture compounded so as to resemble in essence and effect, the salty parts of the humanblood. It is well known that our vitality is normally kept up by means of the natural blood salts.

Hence a lack of the latter will alway superinduce a loss of the former. It is also a fact that with each quart of urine we lose about 18 grams of blood salts. Accordingly we must gradually become weak and sick, unless we provide a substitute for these salts in the blood.

This salt is an excellent and absolutely harmless remedy for any disturbances of digestion such as Dyspepsia, Gastric Catarrh, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, etc., and as an aid to digestion, in wasting and nervous diseases.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT FACES A VERY MOMENTOUS SESSION

House of Lords Will Propose an Amendment Demanding General Election

New York, Feb. 9. A cable to the Tribune from London says:

The King will open in State to morrow the most momentous Parliamentary session in many decades. One great issue will put every other question in the shade. Never before in living memory has parliament met with the shadow of civil war darkening it.

Though there are several very pressing problems, such as that of the navy, the South African deportations, the Welsh Church bill and education, the thought that will be ever present in the minds of all parties for months is whether the Home Rule bill will be passed and the people of Ulster driven to the extreme measures which they have so loudly proclaimed they will take by way of resisting it.

The Lords' Amendment.

In view of the gravity of the question in the official Unionist view the House of Lords is taking the remarkable course of raising an amendment to the address, demanding a general election. This amendment which will be moved by Lord Middleton, is in the following terms:

"This House regrets that the gracious speech from the throne contains no mention of any intention on the part of His Majesty's Government to obtain the sanction of the nation before carrying into law grave changes in the constitution."

In the House of Lords the Right Hon. Walter Long will begin the Unionist attack on the Government's Home Rule proposals. It is not expected that the measure itself will be reintroduced before April, as immediately after the debate on the address in concluded the House will have to spend some weeks voting supplementary estimates for the navy and passing large votes for the service.

Put Army Out of Existence.

It is reported that the latest Unionist device is to force a dissolution of Parliament and thus defeat Home Rule by having the House of Lords reject the annual army budget bill. If this is done the army will cease to exist and the Government will be compelled to appeal to the country.

It is believed, however, that such an extreme course is hardly practicable, and the milder suggestion is said to be favored of amending the bill in such a manner as to put the army out of existence in Ireland alone and thus preventing it being employed to coerce Ulster.

Latest Rifle For 57th Regiment

The Minister of Militia has Written Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., stating that his request that the 57th Regiment be equipped with the latest pattern of Ross rifles, has been granted. This will be good news for the local militiamen as well as the public in general and shows that the interests of the Regiment is being looked after at Ottawa.

SEEKING THE WATER POWERS IN UPPER ONTARIO STREAMS

Two Well-Knowa Men in North Country Want Control of Falls That Would Supply Lots of Energy

Toronto, Feb. 9.—It is reported from Englehart that Mr. K. Farah has asked the town council to secure for him the High Falls, which he and a number of others interested, guarantee to develop at a cost of $40,000.

The New Liskeard speaker is also authority for the statement that Mr. M. J. O'Brien, mine owner and contractor, commissioned Messrs. Sutcliffe and Neelands, civic engineers, to obtain information concerning the possibility of developing the water-power on the Quinze River, near the head of Lake Temiskaming. The report says that Mr. O'Brien already owns falls and rapids on this river covering a distance of about three miles. And that it is thought the combined power of the Quinze would be sufficient to develop 270,000 horsepower—or sufficient to electrify the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway and supply the heat, power and light for all the industries of Temiskaming.

When seen to-day regarding the above items, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission stated that they were not acquiring water power in Northern Ontario unless specifically invited to carry in their line by municipalities. The local councils of the towns in question had not as yet made application to them, and they were not aware of any proposed private development in those sections

NEW PRIZE GIVEN TO CIVILIAN RIFLEMEN

The Militia Council Decides to Encourage Marksmanship by Individual Prize.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Members of the various civilian rifle clubs throughout the Dominion will in future have a new incentive for shooting straight.

The Militia Council has decided to offer a special individual prize to be known as the Dominion of Canada Prize.

The prize will consist of a nickel-silver ornamental salver ten inches in diameter, bearing the coat of arms of the Dominion.

To be eligible for the prize, it will be necessary for the association in question to hold four competitions during the season in which at least 40 per cent of the members must take part. The ranges over which the competition will be shot will be 200, 500 and 600 yards seven scoring shots at each range to count.

THE WAY OUT.

From Weakness to Power by Food Route.

Getting the right start for the day's work often means the difference between doing things in wholesome comfort, or dragging along half dead all day.

There's more in the use of proper food that many people ever dream of—more's the pity.

"Three years ago I began working in a general store," writes a man, "and between frequent deliveries and more frequent customers, I was kept on my feet from morning till night.

"Indigestion had troubled me for some time, and in fact my slight breakfast was taken more from habit than appetite. At first this insufficient diet was not noticed much, but at work it made me weak and hungry long before noon.

"Yet a breakfast of rolls, fried foods and coffee meant headache, nausea and kindred discomforts. Either way I was losing weight and strength, when one day a friend suggested that I try a 'Grape-Nuts breakfast.'

"So I began with some stewed fruit, Grape-Nuts and cream, a soft boiled egg, toast, and a cup of Postum. By noon I was hungry but with a healthy, normal appetite. The weak, languid feeling was not there.

"My head was clearer, nerves steadier than for months. To-day my stomach is strong, my appetite normal, my bodily power splendid and head always clear."

PRESIDENT WILSON IS FIRM IN HIS STAND

The Democratic Party Platform Should Confine Itself to Domestic Matters.

Washington, Feb. 9.—President Wilson let it be known to-day that from the first, he regarded as an unwise policy the insertion in the Democratic national platform of the plank favoring the exemption of American coastwise ships from the payment of Panama Canal tolls.

The President feels that a platform declaration on such a subject is related to circumstances that arise all over the world as well as in the United States, and that the only element which the United States can control in the situation ought to be binding.

Mr. Wilson told callers to-day that the whole international situation and the point of view of foreign Governments was to some extent involved in the settlement of the controversy. He intimated that platform declarations should be limited to matters of domestic policy and should not embrace relations with foreign Governments.

It was made clear that only England had protested.

LONDON FINANCIERS FOR "SUPREME NAVY"

Lord Mayor Presided at Big Meeting Which Supported Big-Navy Plan.

London, Feb. 9.—"We must have a country to squabble in, and the only way to assure that is a full policy of insurance as represented by a supreme navy," a remark made by Sir Edward Coates, a Unionist member of Parliament, was the keynote of a meeting to-day of representatives of the City of London held at the Guild Hall under the presidency of the Lord Mayor.

The requisition for the meeting had been signed by about 1,000 of the leading bankers, merchants, shipowners, etc., of all political creeds, and it was held for the purpose of assuring the Government that the citizens of London would cordially support it in any measures necessary to give effect to the recommendations of the Admiralty to ensure the supremacy of the navy and the security of British commerce.

A resolution in thos sense was unanimously adopted by the meeting, which represented hundreds of millions of capital.

PREMIER BORDEN RECOVERS BACK AT DESK IN COMMONS

This is to be a Busy Week With Redistribution as Big Debate Feature

Ottawa, Feb. 9. After a few days illness Premier Borden will be back in his seat this afternoon. Hon. W. T. White, Finance Minister, is making good progress although it will be a week yet before he will be able to resume his work. It is expected that the redistribution bill will be introduced by the Premier to-morrow. Outside of the number of members which will be assigned each Province the bill will contain no information. The details will be left to a special committee which will be named by the Premier. It will be a small committee; composed most likely of one representative of each Province

This promises to be a busy week in the House for in addition the report of the National Transcontinental investigation commission will be laid on the table by Hon. Frank Cochrane. Owing to rumors of scandal in connection with this report there is considerable interest in it amongst Ottawa politicians.

CONSERVATIVE M.P.'S TO OPPOSE LOAN TO C.N.R.

Latest Rumor Is That a $20,000,000 Loan Will Be Asked.

Ottawa. Feb. 9.—Is the Canadian Northern Railway again on the list of those who expect prize packets from the Government at the coming session?

Sir William Mackenzie and his advisers have been pretty constantly at the Capital during the opening days of the session and also during the days preceeding the opening. Sir William doesn't usually trail to the capital for his health.

It has been stated that Canadian Northern will this session seek a bond guarantee from the Government. It is pointed out, however, that a bond guarantee is not of much use if there is difficulty in selling the bonds.

The latest rumor is that a loan of twenty millions will be given. It is said that the company is willing to put up as security stock to almost any proportion required.

Gossip in the corridors indicates that there is strong opposition among Government members to any form of financial aid being given to the C.N.R. this session.

On the Government side, R. B. Bennett of Calgary, can be counted upon to oppose any measure of direct aid to the company which the Government may propose.

HOCKEY NEWS

Peterborough play their first game in the semi-finals for the Intermediate O.H.A. championship to-night, against the fast Orillia Seven. The locals have been playing great hockey the last few weeks and have been practising faithfully to keep in shape, and should carry off the honors in the round with Orillia. The northern septette have a fast line-up, and a battle royal can be promised the fans who witness the game.

In the semi-finals and finals the total goals of the home and home games count, so if Peterborough can hold the Orillia boys to a close score in the northern burg, and beat them by a few goals gere they ought to have easy sailing. It is the general opinion amongst those who are in a position to know, that Orillia is the team Peterborough will have to beat if they hope to win the "pennant." They are going to try hard, and here's hoping they succeed.

The two teams will face each other as follows:

ORILLIA—Goal, Corbould; right defence, Harvie; left defence, Percyman; rover, Carter; centre; Ross, wings, Jupp and McNabb.

The second game will be played Friday night. Orillia are running a special train for the game here, and as their last special from that burg carried 400 loyal supporters, they can be counted upon to bring a large number to our city.

The winners in the various groups of the Intermediate O.H.A. are as follows:—

1.—Peterborough.
2. Riversides (Toronto)
3.—Hamilton.
4. Niagara Falls or Dunville
5. Berlin.
6.—New Hamburg.
7.—London.
8.—Sarnia.
9.—Stratford.
10.—Wiarton.
11.—Orillia.

The O.H.A. has ordered the following games in The Intermediate Semi-finals to be played this week:—

Monday—Berlin at New Hamburg.
Monday—London at Sarnia.
Tuesday—Peterborough at Orillia.
Wednesday—Sarnia at London.
Friday—Orillia at Peterborough.
Friday—New Hamburg at Berlin.

HON. MR. COCHRANE VISITS SIR JAMES

Premier Continued Steadily to Gain Strength and His Condition is Gratifying.

Toronto, Feb. 9. Sir James Whitney is continuing to gain strength. Having turned the corner and started on the high road to recovery, there has been no going back. He takes plenty of nourishment and sleeps soundly, and his progress is in every way satisfactory. Dr. Clark stated to-day that Sir James was "very much better and is feeling well."

Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals paid a visit to Sir James yesterday afternoon and spent some little time with the Premier. There necessarily is a time limit to these interviews, as Sir James is not equal to the fatigue of a long conversation.

F. J. Fox is the new president of thw West Kent Conservative Association.

POLICE WOMAN NOT A SUCCESS

So Thinks Police Inspector Boyle, of Springfield, Man.

Inspector Boyle of Springfield, Mass., was here a few days ago. To a Times' representative that gentleman, who seems eminently fitted to give an opinion on such subjects, expressed an opinion distinctly adverse to the employment of a woman policeman. He maintained that experience has shown that a woman police officer requires the services of two or three members of the force to keep her out of trouble. Humanitarian methods are followed by the policemen when and where a girl or woman is threatened with coming possible disaster. The same course is pursued in regard to boys. He noted other cities where a woman officer had been tried and failed to make good.

A woman is always a woman and cannot help her natural mental characteristics. A woman policeman, with a woman's instinct would make many a permanent separations between man and wife, through looking for gossip, where temporary disagreements are, under present conditions, dealed over.

WHITE GIRLS FOUND HID IN OPIUM DEN

Los Angeles, Feb. 10.—While searching a Chinese rooming house in China town last night for opium smokers, the police discovered three white girls hidden between the ceiling of the first storey and flooring of the second.

The girls were crowded in a small aperture concealed by a false ceiling into which they had been forced when the police entered the building.

At police headquarters the girls said they were all over 20 years of age. They refused to tell how they came to be in the house or to give any information against Young Yick, a Chinese who resisted the police while the raid with the girls.

The girls will be held pending an investigation by the juvenile court officials, who believe they are under age.

STORMY PASSAGE

St. John, Feb. 10.—The White Star liner Teutonic arrived today on her first voyage to St. John. The voyage was a tempestuous one, occupying eight days. Among the passengers were Lawrence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and a company of thirty players, who are to tour Canada.

FIND TITANTIC DISASTER WAS THE RESULT OF NEGLIG

British Court Affirms Damage Verdict, and Suits In Millions Will Now be Launched

London, Feb. 9. Negligence in navigation caused the Titanic disaster almost two years ago, according to the British Court of Appeal, which to-day affirmed the damage verdict obtained in a test case in a lower court by relatives of four steerage passengers who died in the tragedy of the ice fields.

The decision of the High Court is expected to bring to trial the enormous litigation growing out of the sinking of the White Star giantess. Millions of dollars in damages were asked on both sides af the Atlantic by families of the Titanic victims. All of the suits have been held up pending the final adjudication of the test cases.

Lord Justice Sir Roland Vaughan-Williams in delivering judgment said he thought the danger to the Titanic was neither unforseen nor unforeseeable, and that practice did not justify vessel in maintaining her course and speed when the warnings of danger ahead were such as the Titanic received. The clause on the back of the ticket exempting the company from liability for negligence was, he declared, invalid.

FARM HAND IS HELD

If He Quits He Forfeits Right to Collect Wages, Rules Judge Macbeth.

London, Ont., Feb. 10. That a farm hand who hires with an employer on a yearly contract and who leaves in violation of such an agreement, is not only not entitled to his wages, but is also liable for damages sustained to the crops of his employer, was the ruling established this morning, when County Judge Talbot Macbeth handed down his finding in a suit recently tried at a special session.

WILL TAKE BABIES BY PARCEL POST IF SMALL ENO

New System Will Come Into Operation All Over C At Midnight

Toronto, Feb. 9. Babies are not barred from the parcels post unless they weigh over six pounds, according to what Major George Ross, I. S.O., Superintendent of Canada post-offices, said this morning. "I don't suppose anybody will want to mail babies, but if they do, as far as I am aware, they can put them in the parcels post and they will be delivered providing the requirements as to weight and parcelling are complied with," he said.

The Canada parcels post comes into being in Toronto when Big Ben rings out the last stroke of twelve o'clock to-night, and it will also be in operation all over Canada then. Parcels mailed here to-day are being handled under the old regulations, but the new arrangement will be in effect to-morrow. For the first three months only parcels of 6 lbs. or under will be accepted. This is in order to get the system working properly. In May the weight limit will be raised to 11 lbs.

BUCKHORN PROTESTANT FEDERATION MEETING

The Times is authorized to state that the regular meeting which was to have been held on the evening of Thursday next, the 12th inst., has been postponed until the following Thursday evening, the 18th inst. This change has been made on account of the Farmer's Institute meeting, which is to take place on the 12th.

DRAMATIC NOTES

The invasion of English actors continues. Following Mr. Martin Harvey, another eminent London favorite, is on his way to visit us. Mr. Laurence Irving will make a trip across Canada in a repertoire, the chief feature of which is to be "The Typhoon." This drama has been used for two season on this continent by Walker Whitesides, and was a big hit in London last Spring. Laurence Irving will appear in the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20th and 21st.

His Strong Stand.

In a certain city an important Presbyterian church was voting on a call to a new pastor. There was only a few negative votes cast, and one of the minority arose and graciously proposed that the vote be made unanimous. But in an instant a stern old Scotchman jumped to his feet and delivered his ultimatim: "There's one thing ye might as well understand right here and now. I'll let ye know that there'll never be anything unanimous in this church as lang as I am in it." And the meeting believed him.

Marriage in Burma.

In Burma marriage is civil, not religious, and is regarded as a simple partnership which, if not happy, may be dissolved at any time. After marriage there is no outward symbol like a wedding ring on a Burmese woman. She does not even adopt her husband's name, but retains her own. The husband has no right over the property which his wife possesses before marriage nor over the property which she might acquire after marriage. The Burmese woman can appear in law courts to represent her husband. In contracts with a third person she and her husband sign their names together. They can borrow money on joint security. Both husband and wife can sign deeds and lend money. And when there is no longer any love between a married couple they can get a divorce with alacrity.

They Were All "Pills."

One of the fashionable east side churches recently witnessed a funny incident at a choir rehearsal. They were preparing for the following Sunday morning a beautiful selection, the first words of which were, "I am a pilgrim." It so happened that the music divided the word "pilgrim" and made a pause after the syllable. The effect was most amusing. The soprano sang in a high key "I am a pil" and then stopped. The tenor acknowledged that he was a "pil," and when the bass came thundering in with a like declaration, "I am a pil," it was too much for the gravity of the singers, and they roared. No amount of practice could get them past the fatal pause without an outburst, and the piece had to be given up.—Musical World.

Clever Dwarfs.

Richard Gibson and his wife, who flourished in the seventeenth century, were a remarkable pair of dwarfs, quite apart from their inches, which combined barely made up seven feet. Both were clever painters of miniatures, and Gibson was drawing master to the daughters of James II. At their wedding, which was arranged by Henrietta Maria, Charles I. gave the bride away, the queen placed a valuable diamond ring on her finger, and Edmund Waller, the court poet, wrote a poem in honor of the occasion. Gibson was seventy-four when he passed away, while his widow died at the advanced age of eighty-nine years.

Madagascar's Two Climates.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and [illegible]

THE STOLID BELGIANS.

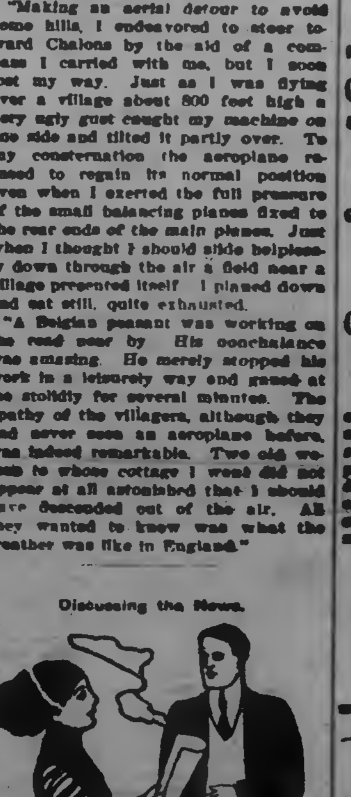
Aviator Sopwith Thought He'd Startle the Peasants, but He Didn't.

Aviator Sopwith describes in the London Times how he landed in Belgium after flying across the English channel in twenty-two minutes:

"Making an aerial detour to avoid some hills, I endeavored to steer toward Chalons by the aid of a compass I carried with me, but I soon lost my way. Just as I was flying over a village about 800 feet high a very ugly gust caught my machine on one side and tilted it partly over. To my consternation the aeroplane refused to regain its normal position even when I exerted the full pressure of the small balancing planes fixed to the rear ends of the main planes. Just when I thought I should slide helplessly down through the air a field near a village presented itself. I planed down and sat still, quite exhausted.

"A Belgian peasant was working on the road near by. His nonchalance was amazing. He merely stopped his work in a leisurely way and gazed at me stolidly for several minutes. The apathy of the villagers, although they had never seen an aeroplane before, was indeed remarkable. Two old women to whose cottage I went did not appear at all astonished that I should have descended out of the air. All they wanted to know was what the weather was like in England."

Discussing the News.



"Item in this paper says that the new mayor of a Kansas town has a set of whiskers that harvest more bushels to the acre than ex-Senator Peffer's."

KING GEORGE'S REIGN.

Astrologer Daoud Says It Will Be Short and Stormy.

A short and stormy reign for George V. is predicted by R. Daoud, the Washington astrologer. Two years ago, it is said, Daoud foretold the death of King Edward and described the circumstances accurately. Among the things which he foresees in the new king's horoscope is that his reign will last but six and a half years.

"The first five years," Daoud says, "will be among the stormiest in England's history. The last eighteen months, however, will be comparatively fortunate. The coming reign will be terminated by the king's death, which will be a natural one. He will more than once be the object of attempted assassination, but would be murderers will be powerless to harm him.

"There will be trouble in all the British possessions during the second year, especially in India.

"In the third year of his reign there will be a conflict between England and another European power ruled by a kinsman of King George, which will precipitate a great war. England will on her own part wage war with this European country. The war will be short and decisive and will result in England's being obliged to make concessions which will deprive her of much of her power.

"Egypt will give King George decided trouble, but will not be able to free herself from English rule during his reign."—New York World.

"Women who wear fine dresses are as superstitious as the girls who make them," said a dressmaker. "If the little accidents that happen in the workroom were not mercifully concealed from the owners of rich gowns they would be sick with apprehension half the time. I had one customer who refused to accept a very expensive dress because a girl who assisted with the fitting dropped a pair of scissors, which fell point down and stuck in the floor. That meant an order for mourning within six months. The customer hoped that by refusing the hoodoo dress she could avert the calamity, but the precaution was useless. In less than three months her father was dead.

"Girls are especially particular in their work on wedding dresses, for if a tiny drop of blood from a pricked finger should fall on the gown the bride would surely die before the end of the year. Then there is green thread. Whether the customer is there to see it or not, no dressmaker will keep green thread near spools of another color. Green thread used for basting means the return of a dress for alterations, and there is enough trouble of that kind in a dressmaking establishment without deliberately bidding for it.

"Women who are themselves superstitious are never surprised or offended at a sewing girl's untidy coiffure. The girls tumble their hair about on purpose when working on a large order, for it is a sacred belief among dressmakers that a hair inadvertently worked into the garment shows that more work is coming soon from the same customer."—New York Sun.

Coronation Memoirs.

Perhaps the most calamitous of all coronation days in England was that of William the Conqueror.

After the coronation oath, whereby the new monarch promised to protect the Church and to execute judgment and mercy, the archbishop put the usual question

"Will you have this Prince to be your King?"

A clamorous shout of assent from the assembled English so startled the Norman soldiers outside that they immediately set out burning and plundering, believing the English had revolted.

Charles Stuart had a most unfortunate day. The royal barge stuck in the mud of the Thames; the sermon sounded like a funeral oration; an earthquake shock was felt during the ceremony; and, finally, the herald pronounced him the "dubitable heir, instead of the "indubitable" heir.

When George III was installed on the throne, the master of ceremonies forgot the Sword of State, and the chair and canopy for the banquet.

And as he moved down the Abbey with the great circlet on his head, the large diamond dropped out.

Have You Noticed It?

"Take a couple of coins out of your pocket," remarked the wise man, "one with King Edward's head and the other with Queen Victoria's."

"Right!" said the friend.

"Notice anything peculiar?" asked the wise man.

"Can't say I do," said the friend.

"Well, look again, and you will see that, while Queen Victoria is represented facing to the left, King Edward faces to the right.

"Now," he went on, "procure one of the George V. coins just issued from the British Mint, and you will see that our present King is shown facing to the left."

"What's the explanation?" demanded the friend.

"Oh, it's just the custom to make the head of the new monarch face in the opposite direction to that of his predecessor, on the coinage."

Limited.

"I suppose you expect to be engaged as soon as you reach the seaside."

"I'm not at all sure. It depends on the men."

"I didn't suppose you were particular."

"One can't be particular at the seaside. I know I couldn't be particular last summer."

"Why not?"

"There was only one man."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy to build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

Mr. George Graves, who is appearing with such success on the variety stage in London in "Koffo of Bond Street," is an enthusiastic sportsman, and recently had a day's shooting in Norfolk. Missing his train back he endeavored to catch it at Cambridge by motor-car, but failed, owing to the bursting of a tyre. In order to appear at the theatre he was compelled to charter a special train from the University town. Mr. Graves's remark, as he alighted from his expensive conveyance at Liverpool street and handed his man a brace of partridges, was very characteristic of him. "Get these birds stuffed, they come too high to eat."

McSwiney's Gun.

Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the seacoast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.

More Worry.

"I didn't know you admired that official."

"I don't," replied the political manager.

"Then why do you insist on crediting him with a presidential boom?"

"Merely to make his life harder by giving him something more to worry about."—Exchange.

Be Slow to Indorse.

"A man should think before he speaks," said the prudent youth.

"Yes," replied Dustin Stax. "And he should think still harder before he writes his name on the back of any sort of document."—Washington Star.

SMART RESULTS OBTAINED BY NOVEL COLLARS, VESTS AND SASHES

It is interesting to note the effect of a cleverly cut collar, an unusual little vest or a graceful, well placed sash. They go far to make the success of the frock.

The sash or girdle may be placed at the natural waistline or it is very high or very low as the fancy inclines. There is a new hip sash that is extremely youthful and becoming to most figures.

In No. 8084 several of these features are brought in. The dress is developed in tete de negre ratine. There is a plaited vest of cream colored net and a wide hip sash of satin in a somewhat lighter shade of brown plaid. A trimming band on the skirt is arranged to give the effect of a tunic.

This costume may be copied in size 36 with 4⅝ yards of 42 inch material with 2 yards of 36 inch satin for sash and trimming.

An afternoon frock for the little maid made up in dark red wool crepe with underblouse of net is illustrated in 7996. The skirt shows a bit of drapery on each side, which is new and pretty.

This little dress may be made for a child of 8 with 3 yards of 36 inch material and ¼ yard of net for the guimpe.

No. 8084—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 7996—sizes 6 to 12.

Women's Ailments Caused by Neglect

Proper Treatment Will Quickly Bring Back Robust Health and Good Spirits.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted — the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their remedies of action as a system regulator, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect—pain in the back and side, shortness of breath, and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c. per box, five for $1.00, postpaid. The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, NY., and Kingston, Canada.

SENDING MEN TO PRISON

Collier's tells of an ordinarily hard-bitten, self-seeking business man who was telling of a big loss he had suffered by embezzlement. "Why," said the listener, "don't you sen that thief to the penitentiary?" Came tue answer: "Did you ever see a penitentiary? I wouldn't send any man to prison."

Every few days recently reports have been coming over the wires of the evidence submitted to the Prison Reform Commission appointed by the Federal government. They tell of conditions in the penitentiary there which ordinarily one would not believe existed in this land of enlightenment. They tell of the hose with sixty pounds pressure of ice-water being played upon convicts, of convicts forced to lie in ice-cold baths until unconscious, and many other unpleasant tales. Moreover they told of grafting guards and incompetent higher officials.

One can easily understand the business man's reason for his statement. It is not pleasant to contemplate sending any man to a penitentiary where only his exemplars in morality are guards who leave him about fifty per cent. of money sent him, and where his slightest offences against the soul-deadening discipline are punished with terrible cruelty.

MINISTERS AND EXPENSES

The Opposition in the House of Commons is to make diligent and exhaustive inquiry into the expenses of Hon. Sam Hughes on his visit to Europe last summer. In retaliation many questions will be asked, says the Star, concerning the expenses of Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he was obliged to go to England on public business. It is desired to know how many stenographers accompanied the former Prime Minister, how many valets and servants, how many wives and daughters, the total expenses involved and what part of these expenses was paid by the Government directly or indirectly.

It is impossible to think that any public advantage can acrue from either inquiry. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had occasion to go often to Great Britain at grave inconvenience to himself and almost to the neglect of public business in Canada. No one doubts his personal honor or believes that for himself or any of his associates he would "graft" at the expense of the country. We have as much faith in the personal honor of Col. Sam Hughes. It is just as unnecessary and invidious that his necessary expenses should be subjected to hostile scrutiny in the House of Commons. Moreover when men are representing their country abroad the scale of expenditures will be and ought to be generous.

As the years pass, is it desirable that Imperial Conferences should be held only in London? Why not occasionally in Ottawa and now and again at the Australian Capital. Owing to the Queen's Jubilee, the Coronation of King Edward and the Coronation of King George, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was obliged to go very often to London. The chances are that Mr. Borden will leave Canada less often on the business of the Empire. Possibly the appointment of a resident Minister at Westminster may relieve the head of the Canadian Government of the necessity of such frequent attendance in London. It is desirable, however, that Canadian Ministers should go often to the Old Country and just as desirable that British Ministers should come to the Dominion more often than they have come in the past

The Times does not hold itself re[illegible] for the opinions of its cor[illegible]respondents

AN OLD TIMER SPEAKS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It will be forty years next month since I left your city. At that time it was known as a lumbering town, and did not take a very large part in the affairs of this Province. As a boy I trapped and hunted over the swamps in the south end of the town, south of Sherbrooke street.

During my visit here I have been much impressed with the wonderful growth of the city and enterprise of the citizens. A short time ago I took a stroll through the newly named Riverside district. The extent of the industrial establishments in this section was no greater surprise than were the many comfortable and beautiful homes of the working people, extending clean down to the riverside. I covered the district fairly well, from the boundary to Crawford's Grove. Since my time all the old landmarks in this section have disappeared.

As a boy I remember well the first moonlight excursion conducted by my old friend the late Mr. Calcutt, down the river on the Maggy Hales. That is almost fifty years ago. For weeks before this important event took place I started to save the price (two shillings—forty cents). When the day arrived I had the change. The start was to be made from the "locks." I was on time. Just about the hour we were ready to embark, my father appeared on the scene. He wanted to know where I was going; boy-like of course, I was going no place. I was asked to take a drive with him which I reluctantly did. At the time I was very much disappointed at not going on the excursion. However, my sorrow faded away with the appearance of the morning light, when I learned that the good ship had stuck on the Yankee Bonnet, and that the gallant young men of the party had to carry their fair friends ashore on their backs, and tramp it home on the morning by the light of the rising sun.

$100 REWARD $1.00

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

They love to take it and it doesn't harm the tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups, plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

New Plant for The Times

The Times is preparing to instal a modern web perfecting press. This fine machine has a capacity of turning out 5,000 copies of the paper per hour. In addition to the press, two additional new type setting machines of the most modern make, will also be installed, making the equipment of the Times equally, if not superior to any newspaper plant in Ontario, outside the larger cities.

The steady increase in the circulation of The Times, makes this addition to our already fine equipment absolutely necessary.

It is the purpose of the proprietor to add a night telegraphic service, corresponding with the service which exists on the Toronto morning daily newspapers, thus placing The Times in line with the papers of that class in this Province.

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL."

That sensational success of two continents "A Butterfly on the Wheel" will appear at Grand Opera House, Saturday, Feb. 14th, matinee and night.

The play of "A Butterfly on the Wheel" enjoys the distinction of long runs both in London and New York and this season is toured with the same attention to detail that characterized its production in both of those cities. Its chief bid for success lies in its human appeal that grips and holds from the fact that the story plays on emotions that are of the present day life and modern in its treatment.

The great scene of all is the Divorce trial of the "Butterfly," who has been indiscreet enough in her action, as to cause a desire on her husband's part to cast her off and the gruelling she endures at the hands of a severe prosecuting attorney results in an ordeal that carries a moral to every thinking woman

No Indigestion can exist if this remedy is taken according to instructions—and there is no known remedy to take its place.

This Blood Salt is a mixture compounded so as to resemble in essence and effect, the salty parts of the human blood. It is well known that our vitality is normally kept up by means of the natural blood salts.

Hence a lack of the latter will alway superinduce a loss of the former. It is also a fact that with each quart of urine we lose about 18 grams of blood salts. Accordingly we must gradually become weak and sick, unless we provide a substitute for these salts in the blood.

This salt is an excellent and absolutely harmless remedy for any disturbance of digestion such as Dyspepsia, Gastric Catarrh, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, etc., and as an aid to digestion, in wasting and nervous diseases.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 161 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Co. and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

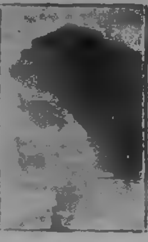
Good Shoes and Gloves Redeem Plainest Frock

By MADGE MARVEL



GIVEN the consciousness of good shoes and good gloves, a woman can rise above the knowledge that her suit is not the freshest in style or appearance. Crown her with a modish and becoming hat and she can even forget the short comings of the rest of her clothes.

When the short skirt was accepted as an institution women began to be more particular about their shoes. As they grew wiser and surer of themselves and their place in the world, they began to use their splendid sense in demanding the right shoes for their feet. That made the makers of shoes change their lasts. They were forced to make shoes that approached sane lines for women's wear as well as for men.

They stopped trying to prevaricate about the sizes. Indeed, they didn't have to mention size, for women grew too busy to bother about the mere size of their shoes. They simply asked to have shoes that fitted their feet and made them so entirely comfortable they had no thought of them.

Heels Are the Rule.

Some one may say there is more flat-foot now than ever before. I will answer that women are using their feet as they never have before. Also, to my mind, one reason we hear more about foot troubles is because women have ceased to hobble around and suffer in silence. They are not afraid to speak when their feet trouble them, and try every sane means to better their condition.

There has been a lot of talk about the heelless shoe. I have tried to find out if it is being worn to any great extent, but I have failed to find that it is. There are women who wear shoes with very low heels or who, for some occasions, dispense with the heel entirely.

But several of the most fashionable shoemakers have assured me that heels are the rule with nine out of ten of their customers.

This is for the general wear. When one buys tango ties and sandals there is more individual freedom of choice. But where one woman buys low heels for dancing, there are a million who wear shoes for other purposes.

The spring shoe, I am told, will have the long vamp and the slender appearance which characterise the best type of custom made shoes. The short vamp and the stubby toe are frowned on by the best dressers. The long, slender foot, like the long, tapering hand, has ever given the impression of aristocracy in the accepted meaning of the word. And, while we are becoming more and more joined in the community of the world interests and activities, we are trying to keep up to the highest type of being.

The low shoe known as colonial will be the most popular for the spring. There will also be a strong liking shown for pumps. The high shoes will be buttoned rather than laced, and shiny vamps and cloth tops will be the smartest. There is every indication that white button boots will retain to favor with all the strength they showed two or three years ago, when every third woman one met in the street wore a pair.

Tan Still Favored.

There are three styles of heels to divide favor, the Cuban, a modified edition of the well known Louis, and a new model called the "kidney heel," which has the curve in the centre somewhat like a spool.

Tan shoes, especially high-buttoned boots for heavy wear, will be worn, and one of the best authorities says these will be in the dark mahogany shade rather than in the yellow or red.

There are a great many bronze shoes and slippers shown in the good shoe shops, and well dressed women are wearing them, which would indicate their place for the immediate future.

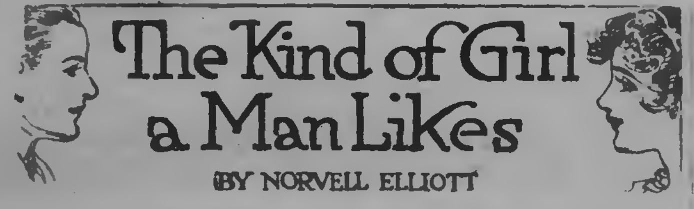
There has been a tendency lately toward the light fawn and palest gray gloves as a change from the white which have been in favor to the exclusion of all else. The spring gloves show this change in more marked degree. I am assured the tans are to be very much liked, and that black stitching will be used on all the best gloves, whether they are white or tan or gray.

Fabric Glove Fashionable.

The buyer for one of the big department stores told me there would be much liking for mousquetaire wrists when long gloves were worn. A good many of this style are seen now, and they are displayed in the more expensive styles.

One thing is sure, the fabric glove, which is so beautifully comfortable and so easily kept in a state of constant cleanliness, will be more fashionable than ever. It has been made to fit most perfectly, and has quite as thorough appearance as any kid glove. In fact, it has displaced kid for the past two years for summer wear.

This year, beside the white and yellow chamoisette, we are to have a very attractive gray, and there are fabric gloves in black that are very much better looking than any of their predecessors.



The Kind of Girl a Man Likes

BY NORVELL ELLIOTT

The Timid Girl

IT was the first big debutante ball of the season. The young hostess looked girlishly lovely as, standing by her mother, she received the several hundred guests in the long saloon of the palatial home. As from time to time during the evening I caught glimpses of my bachelor friend smiling or bending his head interestingly over his vis-a-vis, I was conscious he had never looked better in his life.

I was also conscious that he was devoting by far the larger part of the evening to a pretty little pink and white creature, the debutante sister of a friend. Alice Pierce is a love of a girl, dainty, adorably feminine, but such a child and so mortally timid I wondered what her especial charm was for a man so altogether woman-wise as is my bachelor friend.

Toward 11 o'clock I saw him making his way to me, and, on glancing over my engagement card, realized this was his dance. The room was excessively warm, and instead of dancing we decided a rest in our hostess's famous conservatory would be much more to our liking.

"What is Alice's charm?" I asked, somewhat abruptly. I was keenly interested to know, for I had watched her grow up and failed to find any appeal sufficiently strong to warrant a man's devoting six dances out of twelve to her.

"Charm? Charm? Alice's charm?" repeated my conservatory companion, casually stooping and tying a vagrant shoe lace. * * * "Unless timidity may be classed as a particularly appealing attribute," he added suddenly. "Come to think of it, lass, it IS a virtue. TIMIDITY! And Alice certainly has THAT down to a fine point. Mind if I smoke?" As I nodded he drew out a small, fragrant cigar, and, after a few puffs, continued:

"Alice somehow reminds me of a butterfly just slipped from its cocoon and poised for flight at the first sound in the big world about it. To her life is a fairyland—the realization of a wonderful dream which is about to come true before her very eyes. Men see so much of this fairyland of hers, stripped of its romance and filled with its rottenness, that, just as a woman protects a child from the sad part of life, so do we men feel like protecting the dreams of a little butterfly thing like Alice. Her very shyness, timidity—call it what you will—appeals to all the best that is in a man, and he wants to help her from the flare of Truth, and shield her if he can.

"And one thing I've found about girls which always makes me stop and help the shy ones along. This kind of a girl is generally a bundle of sensitiveness. It's her very sensitiveness which makes her timid, keeps her from putting herself forward as the girls around her are doing. This is the first big party Alice has ever attended. She came with an elderly brute of a cousin and her grandmother as chaperone. The cousin, after accepting the hospitality of their car, paid Alice the scant courtesy of a first dance and hied himself off for a good time with the more sophisticated girls. Alice did not tell me all this. * * * I read between the lines.

"Fortunately, I found her early and I determined that her child's fairy dream of the first ball should not be shattered if I could help it. * * * There she is now, standing by herself—isn't she a love of a creature?—reminds me of a goldilocks with her child's eyes all dazzled with the light and splendor of the place. * * * Lass, come along with me and together let's take her under our wing and give her the time of her life. * * * Who knows but what that timid, shy little girl may be the flower of this company, judged by a larger standard. It's a good thing you are along, lass, for, do you know, I feel positively like putting my arms around her, as a big, old brother or a grouchy old uncle might, and that would never do!"

"No, never!" I emphasized, shaking my head and going forward to help my bachelor friend make a little girl's dream of her first party come true.

Two things this incident showed me. First, a certain deep fineness—pure gold—in my bachelor friend's nature; and second, just how and why the timid girl makes a place for herself in the hearts of men.

WORRY, BEAUTY'S WORST ENEMY

Louise Dresser

Habit of Calm May Be Cultivated

By LOUISE DRESSER

CULTIVATE the blessed Spirit of Calm, which, being interpreted, means stop worrying. That is the first and most important beauty hint I can give to any woman who wants to improve her appearance.

I thoroughly believe in the right of every woman to strive with all her might to attain unto beauty and enjoy the pleasure and advantage it gives. My friends call me the Beauty Optimist because I insist that almost every woman can be beautiful. Not straight-featured, perhaps, nor possessed of all the attributes which go to the composition of beauty in its most commonplace acceptance, but beauty in its real significance.

There are so many women who make such a pitiful mistake in their outlook of life and the worries, either trivial or important, which they encounter. The worrying woman is never beautiful, and the longer she lives and the more she worries the less beautiful she will become. By her face you may know her, the woman who is a worrier.

The pernicious habit leaves its imprint in her expression and transforms her features. It writes fine lines about her eyes, and dulls the sparkle of the eyes themselves. It digs deep lines at the sides of the mouth and lets the muscles sag, and makes her look at least 10 years older than she really is.

I wish I had the power and the eloquence to make every woman in whom the perfectly sane desire to be beautiful exists appreciate the vital necessity for overcoming the worry habit.

Once kill this Ogre of the Mind and he and his horde of ills will never be able to resurrect themselves.

Concentrated mental effort is required to overcome the worry habit. It is not an easy task. It is so subtle. Once get the germ of worry in your system and it requires heroic will power to eliminate it. The only way you will ever succeed is to work by a strict system. Begin with the very first little worry that comes to you in your daily life. Put it resolutely aside. Perhaps it has something to do with domestic affairs. Then take it philosophically.

Is it a cantankerous cook which causes you to wrinkle your brow? Either dismiss the cook and the wrinkle at the same time, or make up your mind to put up with the cook and banish the wrinkle. Make up your mind, I repeat, and let that be the end of the matter. Don't fret and "stew" about small matters, or big ones, either. It is often the smallest worries which do the most damage to feminine loveliness.

I am presupposing that all the seekers after beauty observe all the fundamental and necessary rules of hygiene. Daily baths, out-of-doors exercises, plenty of good pure water to drink, and the proper food all play their part in perfecting the individual.

But, however rigidly these laws of health and common sense in life are observed, if the Demon Worry is permitted to perch on your shoulder and prey on the mind and spirit they will not accomplish much in the way of beauty culture. Do you remember Shakespeare said: "Assume a virtue if you have it not." Let us paraphrase that to read, assume a philosophy if you have it not. Pretty soon assumption will make it your own.

Whether the worry that confronts you be big or little, draw down the blind of mental resistance squarely in its face. It can be done. It will require a bit of will power at the beginning, but persist, for the game is well worth the candle. Every time you feel about to lose your temper (which is only another form of worry) remember to do so is to deepen the lines in your face you are trying so hard to obliterate. Lines of ugliness are not pleasant. Remember this and [illegible], if only for [illegible].

Keep yourself within check, and you will find after awhile you have formed another habit—a salutary one this time—that of casting worry and wrinkles to the wind. This idea is not of my invention. It was taught by the Yogis of [illegible] and practised the doctrine of "Calm." In the attainment of this "Perfect Calm" these wise men rose to a spiritual height whence they were able to look down upon the passing of life and death and time as spectators from without.

The nearer we can come to the emulation of this theory, that is, to regarding the disturbing episodes of our life as part of the necessary panorama, the more we shall be able to cultivate beauty—beauty of the body as well as of the mind and the spirit, for as long as we live, body and spirit can never be separated from one another.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

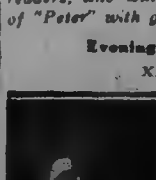
By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Evenings at Home

XXIV.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

I'M AFRAID I made too many air-castles before I married Mary. For one thing, I fancied I'd come home nights, tell Mary all the interesting items of my business day and her honestly interested and helpful. I confess to some interest when the washer-woman burns patterns on the table linen or refuses to iron my shirts. I'm glad to talk these things over with Mary and air my views about the table linen and the shirts. If I'm willing to do this why, naturally enough, I imagined Mary had a similar feeling about my affairs.

I am disillusioned.

"One of our salesmen has just come in from the road," I said one evening, as we settled ourself in our comfortable little library. "He's most enthusiastic about the year's prospects. Bully, isn't it?"

"Yes," said Mary. "I suppose it is."

"Personally, I was afraid the currency bill and the tariff together would make business mighty bad for us—lots of people are going to suffer a bit—but I guess we'll get through the year in good style, for the orders are piling up finely."

"I don't understand very much about the currency bill or the tariff either," said Mary indifferently. "What does the salesman look like, Peter? Has he black hair or blond?"

I looked blank. For an instant I honestly could not recall whether Griffin had black hair or brown.

"Brownish," I suggested lamely.

"Good looking?" asked Mary.

"Clean-cut," I admitted, "keen eyes and intelligent face. By the way, Mary, if you'd like me to tell you something about the tariff and the currency bill, I'd be mighty glad to. You know it has always been a theory of mine that a woman ought to keep up with these things just like a man. Don't you think so?"

"I think they're horridly uninteresting," said Mary with decision. "I don't care in the least about the currency bill or the tariff either."

Now I can't for the life of me understand this attitude. I can't imagine living in a world with whose activities I don't keep in touch.

"Don't you like me to tell you about my business affairs either?" I asked gently.

Mary looked guilty.

"If you want to, of course, Peter!" she said, but there was an unconscious revelation in her voice.

"You see," I said, "Ned Cary's wife is up on all these things and he declares that talking the day's work over with her helps a lot. He says he gets some bully ideas and then it makes the evening pleasanter and draws them into closer companionship. I want to have you interested in just the things I am. Cary's wife is awfully well informed."

Mary stiffened.

"If you like that masculine sort of a woman who's keen on politics and all that sort of thing," she said, "I don't see, Peter, why you didn't marry one of them."

"Is it masculine to be intelligent?" I inquired, nettled.

"Besides," countered Mary, "I haven't time to read newspapers."

"I'm pretty busy," said I, "but I get through the news of the day."

Mary's lip quivered ominously and I manfully shut up. Tears and personalities are essentially feminine weapons. But I'm wondering. Certainly congeniality is the essence of married happiness. Why, then, do we rear our boys and girls so differently? Why don't we give them common topics of interest? I'm willing to be interested in Mary's business life. She isn't willing to be interested in mine—and I know my business hours are more full of color than hers.

After all, there is a reason why men shun home evenings.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Science Now Has Cure for "Red Nose" Victims

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

DR. HIRSHBERG

CICERO received his name by virtue or vice of his nose. The damask nose of Falstaff's boon companion has transferred his name to the vermillion proboscis as "Bardolphian."

Napoleon III. was nicknamed "Nosey," and this same acclamation was common in the theatres where amiable but conspicuous bon vivants each carried his own little red living lamp.

Tycho Brahe, the Danish astronomer, who lost his nose in a duel, adopted a golden one, which was attached to his face by a [illegible].

Everybody remembers the red-nosed wife of Lieut. Bobadil of the Dragoons in the time of George II. She was the inquisitive travelling companion of Waverly when he went by stage to London.

Still, noses are more necessary than merely to be counted, if the [illegible] Orpheus and Eurydice [illegible]. Children at least recall his verse:

Sir, I last night received command
To see you out of fairy land
Into the realm of nose [illegible].

Causes of the Color.

Since the language of the [illegible] nomy is widely read and understood, since the words writ large upon your face are easily comprehended even by little children, no laconism or silence can change it.

Just as the face is the shorthand of the mind, the nose is the pencil which it employs to crowd a great deal in a little space.

Therefore, hesitate long before you conclude that behind every Venetian rose du Barry proboscis there lurks a heavy drinker.

One prominent surgeon is a blue-ribbon teetotal abstainer, yet, due to exposure in Canadian gales and all sorts of icy weather, his nose became so scarletinaform that the suffragettes and other militant vice crusaders and temperance folk drew their own conclusions and would have none of him.

Another very fine gentleman, who abhors all liquors and vices, has been blackballed in several reformer's clubs, city clubs and similar societies because these modern Godfrey de Bouillons see vile motives where none exist.

Usually red noses are the outward symbols of a defective digestive canal, luxurious and gluttonous eating, the swallowing of highly seasoned sauces, condiments, peppers and greasy pabulum generally.

Some Modern Cures.

These roseate beaks, however, are also due to real cerise-making maladies. "Acne rose-acea," for instance, is a dermal affection, which spreads its hues like a vermillion-winged butterfly over the face.

The X-ray, radium and multi-pointed steel leeches are among the measures in use to bleach permanently these fiery facial protuberances. These days there is hope for all red noses, even those truly due to the drink demon. Ministers of the gospel, doctors, surgeons and suffragettes, as well as Happy Hooligans, who are thus bedecked with guzzling red papillae, are quickly relieved of the embarrassing garnet cupola.

Specialists on skin disease each prefer different methods. One doctor is keen on a few radium applications. These applications at different intervals each less than five minutes has cured many.

Another professor is in favor of the X-ray and other methods of treatment, and still another often uses a [illegible] with a score of lancet blades in it. This is applied to the reddened [illegible] to make a series of small punctures. When they heal a pale skin [illegible] where the vermillion once was.

Answers to Health Questions

F. S.—Is there a simple cream that can be rubbed upon the hands?

A hand unguent of value is this one:

Cocoa butter	1 ounce
Oil of sweet almonds	1 ounce
Oxide of zinc	½ dram
Borax	1 dram
Oil of bergamot	6 drops

Heat the cocoa butter and oil of almonds in a double boiler and when thoroughly blended add the zinc and borax; stir as it cools, and add the oil of bergamot last.

Rub into the hands at night.

B. H.—I am very clumsy and awkward. How can I improve myself?

Learn to dance and snowshoe. Then practise this carriage. When you walk, the chin and abdomen should be held in and the chest should be held out. The legs should swing from the hips and not bend mainly from the knees. The trunk should sway very little. The arms, while they must not be thrown forward and backward in an ungainly manner, must not be held rigidly at the side. Many women do not walk correctly because they do not wear proper shoes.

Complete Daily Menu Unnecessary

By M. Pierre Lafage

Chef of the Hotel Plaza, New York.

PIERRE LAFAGE

REGARDING the high cost of living and the way to live economically, taking into consideration the price of almost all foods today, I would say that it is possible for the housewife to furnish her family good food without spending such a great amount of money. But to do this she must have a good knowledge of cooking, and be practical.

It is not necessary, to live well, to have a complete menu at each meal. One good, wholesome dish of meat, with one vegetable, sweets, or cheese, is enough for almost anybody, and in this manner Mrs. Housewife will be able to change her menu every day of the week. This in itself is an inspiration to the husband to come home and enjoy his meals.

Do not forget that the table is one of the great pleasures of life.

I regret to say that this sort of housewife is not common, especially in big towns. There the young marriageable woman forgets that she should know a few notions of cookery. To my mind many a young girl should spend her spare moments to conquer this art, pleasing her husband through the palate besides being able to run her home on economic plans.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

"I SEE they are going to have a new teacher down at Woodland school," said Brer Rabbit to his wife one night, as he sat by the evening light.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Rabbit; "her name is Miss Roberta Rabbit."

"Humph!" grunted Brer Rabbit. "Great name for a teacher. I'll bet those boys of mine will be calling her 'Bertie' before long. They are very smart children, Mrs. Rabbit, very smart children."

"Yes," answered Mrs. Rabbit, "in some ways they are like their dear father. By the way, would you go out and get me a cabbage leaf? I want to put it right on the stove."

"I am sorry, but I am too busy reading the paper. You go out yourself."

"All right," said Mrs. Rabbit. "I will not bother you even to tell you what Miss Roberta Rabbit said about you."

"What's that?" asked Brer Rabbit, sitting straight up in his chair.

"Oh! never mind," said Mrs. Rabbit. "Go on reading your paper."

"But I must know what that teacher said about me!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit, and with that he darted out the door in the direction of the cabbage patch.

When he came back he said, "My dear wife, you need not tell me what the teacher said."

"Oh, course I'll tell you," said Mrs. Rabbit. "Miss Rabbit said our boys looked like you."

"Well, I like that," said Brer Rabbit. "Mr. Possum said they looked like you."

WATERING THE STOCK.

Not in Wall Street, but in the Big Cattle Markets.

Water is the only thing in the marketing of live stock that figures clear profit. Feed corn at $1 per bushel, hay $10 a ton, the charges made by stockyards companies for yardage and the charge for selling made by commission companies tend to reduce the shipper's profit, but when he sees his bunch of cattle properly yarded, fed and quietly drinking at the water troughs he knows the amount of water the cattle drink will cost him nothing and will sell at as much per pound as the weight gained by expensive feeding.

If cattle at the big markets were yarded and sold without a chance to get water it would mean a large loss to shippers yearly.

The average steer or cow will drink twenty to fifty pounds of water at the marketing point, according to the distance it has been hauled and the length of time without water. The hog being much smaller and capacity for drink limited, the water fill seldom exceeds five pounds per head. Sheep drink little water at markets, but to get the proper fill due them the big sheepmen who cover several hundred miles with shipments bill their sheep to some feeding station near the market, hold them on feed and water several days and at the proper time resume the journey.

Dealers in live stock at the Kansas City yards say that weight gained by the use of water at the Kansas City stockyards in 1910 amounted to $5,000,000.—Kansas City Star.

The three great senior societies of Yale—Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key and Wolf's Head—choose on tap day fifteen members each from the junior class, the fifteen members of the outgoing senior class making the choice. Each senior is allotted his man of the juniors and must find him in the crowd at the tree and tap him on the shoulder and give him the order to go to his room. Followed by his sponsor, he obeys, and what happens at the room no one but the men of the society knows. With shining face the lad comes back later and is clapped on the shoulder and told, "Good work, old man," cordially and whole heartily by every friend and acquaintance—by lads who have "made" every honor possible, by lads who have "made" nothing, just as heartily, for that is the spirit of Yale.

Only juniors room in Durfee hall. On tap day an outsider is lucky who has a friend there, for a window is a proscenium box for the play—the play which is a tragedy to all but forty-five of the three hundred and odd juniors. The windows of every story of the graystone facade are crowded with a deeply interested audience. Grizzled heads of old graduates mix with flowery hats of women. Every one is watching every detail, every arrival. In front of the hall are a drive and room for perhaps a dozen carriages next the fence—the famous fence of Yale—which rails the campus round. Just inside it, at the northeast corner, rises the tree. People stand up in the carriages, women and men. The fence is loaded with people, often standing, too, to see that tree.

All over the campus surges a crowd—students of the other classes, seniors who last year stood in the compact gathering at the tree and left it sore hearted, not having been "taken," sophomores who will stand there next year, who already are hoping for and dreading their tap day; little freshmen, each one sure that he at least will be of the elect, and again the iron gray heads, the interested faces of old Yale men, and the gay spring hats like bouquets of flowers.

It is perhaps the most critical single day of the four years' course at the university. It shows to the world whether or no a boy, after three years of college life, has in the eyes of the student body "made good." It is a crucial test, a heartrending test for a boy of twenty years.—Mary R. S. Andrews in Scribner's Magazine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

Elaborate preparations are being made, according to the Munchener Neuesten Nachrichten, for the production at Berlin "early next spring" of an operetta entitled "Der Liebestraum," for which "the best talent in Europe has been engaged. The names of the composer and librettist are not given, but the knowing ones say that the Crown Prince Frederick William composed the score and that the libretto was written by the emperor. VANILLA BEANS.

They Are Not Beans at All, but Pods Filled With Tiny Seed.

The vanilla plant is the only orchid of any industrial value. As orchids go, the plant is not unattractive, for the foliage is much greener and more enduring than in the case of most of the species. It is a climber, and when the leaves are fresh it brightens a small tree trunk wonderfully. The Vanilla planifolia, to give it its full name, is a terrestrial parasite. It climbs from the ground, but once established has feeding stations on the bark all along the line. The leaves—long, very smooth and light green—are alternate, and at the axil of each is a sucker a few inches in length that fastens itself securely to the tree, lying flat against the bark.

The blossoms are inconspicuous. It is the resultant pods that are the vanilla of the industrial world. They are slim pods six to eight inches long and when dried for the market are of a rich, deep reddish brown. These are called vanilla beans, but without warrant. They contain no bean; the seed in them is as fine as dust. These seeds are the black specks that are usually found in the finest grade of vanilla ice cream, the best chefs the world over preferring to grind the "bean" rather than use the extract. Vanilla is found growing wild in the Bahamas, West Indies and Central America. In Madagascar and some of the neighboring islands it has been introduced and now forms an important article of export. But American vanilla is the best.—Harper's Weekly.

Multymill—I am going to marry her because I love her.

Kreme de Kreme—That is an excuse, but no good reason for it.

Wanted to Be a Sacrifice.

One of the strangest petitions ever received by a police magistrate has been presented at Calcutta. A young Bengali, with his forehead covered with heavy caste marks, entered the witness-box during the hearing of applications, and handed to the magistrate a stamped paper praying for an order to have his life sacrificed before the goddess Kali for the benefit of the Government, and also for the people of Hindustan. It added that the comet which had been appearing nightly in the heavens was a very bad sign, and the petitioner who signed himself Prani Nath Sadhoo, wished to become its victim. The magistrate declined, and told the Bengali to go home and pray to avert the evil happenings which might follow the comet, as that might prove more efficacious than the loss of his life.

Australian Military Training.

The compulsory training of lads in the Commonwealth between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years will probably commence on or about January 1st next. The only persons who will be exempt from the new system will be those who live at long distance from convenient centres of population. The Commonwealth is to be divided up into districts for the purpose of the training. In each of these districts there will be a militia area officer, who will be assisted by two permanent staff sergeants. The staff sergeants will be in charge of the drill instruction, and the militia officer will carry out the administrative work. It is proposed to appoint the militia area officer next month, and they will then be required to attend a special school of instruction.

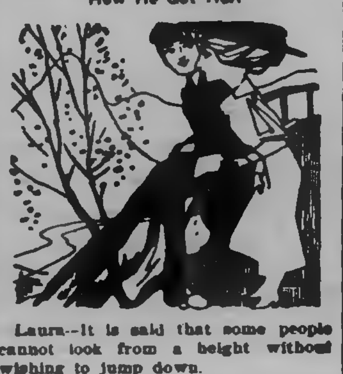
How He Got Her.



Laura—It is said that some people cannot look from a height without wishing to jump down.

Yearuso—I had that sensation when I looked down from a sixth story window and saw you in the street.

Jews Keep the Best.

The "best" fried-fish shops in London are kept by Jews. These shops charge higher rates than the others, twopence and threepence being the usual price. In others, the humble halfpenny will purchase a slice of fish. Many places use grease but the Jews use oil to fry the fish. Their shops are also said to be cleaner than the others.

The evening is the harvest time of the fried-fish shop. After six o'clock, when the tired and hungry workers are returning home, the seats in these places will all be occupied, and the rest of the shop filled with customers standing up devouring the luscious delicacy. The eel shops are particularly well patronized.

Dangerous Sport.

First Lady (reading a newspaper)—This golf seems to be a very dangerous game. Did you see what happened to a man named Taylor? He went into bunker and was in two when he came out.

Second Lady—How dreadful!

"Yes; here are the words: 'Taylor getting out in two, Braid secured a half.'"

"Does it say what happened to the other half."

"No, but there was worse to follow. According to the report, Taylor then fell altogether to pieces."—Word of Golf.

Digging for Fish.

The natives of certain parts of India are in the habit every year in the summer of digging the dry river banks for fish, which they dig out by hundreds, just as they would potatoes. The mud lumps are broken open, and the fish, perhaps eight inches or ten inches long, will always be found alive and often frisky, as if just removed from its supposedly native element—the water.

Headache Over the Eyes? Look for Nasal Catarrh

Catarrh Never Stops in One Place—Often Ruins Health Completely

In this changeable climate it is the little colds that drift into Catarrh. Unless the inflammation is checked it passes rapidly from the throat or nose to the bronchial tubes and then to the lungs. You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or toes, but you can cure Catarrh.

The surest cure consists of breathing in the healing balsamic essences of CATARRHOZONE, which is simply a medicated vapor, so full of rich curative properties that every trace of Catarrh vanishes before it.

"The soothing piney vapor of Catarrhozone is the most powerful medicine I ever used," writes Mrs. Edmond J. Christine, of Saskatoon. "Every breath drawn through the inhaler sends a grateful feeling through the air passages of the nose and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of frightful headaches over the eyes, relieved me of a stuffy feeling in the nose, and an irritable hacking cough that had been the bane of my life for a year. My general health is greatly improved, my appetite and digestion are considerably better than before. Catarrhozone has been the means of giving me such health as I always desired, but never possessed."

Even though catarrh has a firm hold on you, and affects your throat, nose or ears, you can thoroughly cure it with Catarrhozone. Large size guaranteed, costs $1.00; smaller size 50c.; sample size 25c. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LOST.—On Friday evening, between McDonald and Gilchrist, by way of Park street, a watch and fob. "R. C." engraved on fob. Finder will please leave at this office and receive a reward.

Has Dr. McPherson Resigned.

It was current rumor yesterday that Dr. McPherson had tendered his resignation as Medical Health Officer. The Board of Health will meet this evening.

A Live Real Estate Firm.

Owing to their rapidly growing business, Messrs. C. J. Carroll have been impelled to add another room to their suite of offices at 312 Water Street. This is a private office where business transactions may now be dealt with in private.

Family Squabble Aired.

At yesterday's police court Harry Castle was charged with non-support. Mr. G. N. Gordon defended the prisoner and Mr. McElderry appeared for the complainant. The case was held in camera. According to the complainant, Castle, as a carpenter earns $86 a month. The case was enlarged until next week.

Revival Services at Free M. Church.

A series of most instructive revival services is being held at the Free Methodist Church, Aylmer street. Miss Lotta Babcock (who is favorably known in the City, having been the pastor of said congregation for three years) is to preach at each service until the 17th. Rev. W. B. Olmstead, of Chicago, Ill., is to preach on Wednesday evening, the 18th, and remain until the 25th.

Campbellford Hotelman Jailed.

A charge of selling liquor in a local option district against Albert Dunkley, a hotel keeper of town, was brough before Magistrate Payne on Thursday last. The case was called at two o'clock and after waiting half an hour the defendant failed to appear. The Magistrate then found the defendant guilty, and sentenced him to the common jail at Cobourg, with hard labor for a period of four months.

Best Vaudeville Here Yet.

Yesterday afternoon the 20 vaudeville performers, previously advertized in The Times, appeared at the Royal Theatre. This is the best combination of vaudeville performers ever seen at a moving picture house in Peterborough. The songs, "gags," dancing and general act of this combination is the best ever seen here in one act. There will be a complete change of programme to-morrow.

Biggest Land Deal Handled Here.

Messrs. C. J. Carroll & Co., the Water Street real estate agents, yesterday received a letter from Toronto from one of their business associates, stating that he had closed a deal for 72 square miles of timber limits in Algoma, in all 46,080 acres, two townships. This timber is close to the water and 18 miles from the railroad. Messrs. C. J. Carroll & Co. have another deal about closed equally as large as that described for a similar amount of timber lands.

On Hunger Strike.

On Sunday afternoon a Times representative met a well known local citizen. The latter was looking somewhat disconsolate. Our scribe asked: "What's the matter with you? You looked played out." The w. k. l. c. replied: "I guess I'm a suffragette. I had a 'spat' with the wife and went on a hunger strike. I had no breakfast or dinner. I'm going down to the Chink restaurant for a meal."

Charlotte St. Methodist Church.

Operations for the erection of a new church for the Charlotte street Methodists will be commenced as soon as weather permits. The new edifice will cost between $50,000 and $60,000 but for the present only church accommodation will be provided. The Sunday school and other church departments will be conducted for some time yet in the present building. The site for the church is that property known as the Aaron Cox property, lying between Reid and Rubidge streets.

5,000 Facts About Canada.

Do you know Canada? A novel and unique mine of information is found in the popular booklet, "5,000 Facts About Canada," just issued for 1914, and compiled by Frank Yeigh, the well-known statistical authority on things Canadian. This new edition shows a marked advance over previous issues in an increase of new data, a handsome cover, a revised map, and improved paper. The publication contains all the essential facts of Canada's progress in a year, under such chapter heads as Agriculture, Area, Banking, Census, Mining, Manufacturing, Trade, etc., while striking tables of comparisons present a measuring rod of our national development. Its wide circulation is easily understood when its value is realized, for it presents the Dominion in a nutshell, a ready reference encyclopedia of facts and figures. It may be had by sending 25 cents to The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 588 Huron St., Toronto, or from newsdealers. dealers.

THE GREATEST COMFORTER VALUE EVER OFFERED FOR 99c

IF YOU HAPPEN TO PASS OUR WINDOWS, pause for a moment and glance at these Comforts, which will be displayed there, and you will not fail to notice the excellent worth that they possess. They have the soft, fluffy thickness that is necessary in a light, warm bed covering, and they are finished on both sides with art silkoline in floral patterns of many suitable shades. They are well quilted with a filling of downy cotton, and are made in a good large size, that will be found ample for the ordinary double bed. These Comforts are a fortunate purchase made by our Annex buyer, and we believe that in them we have reached the top notch of value giving for this price. So it will not be surprising to see a great number of early shoppers on Wednesday, who will make it a point to secure one of these reversible Comforters at 99c

Bargain Annex
Registered

WOMEN'S LONG COATS, $1.25

Twelve Coats in the long style that were overlooked at the last Annex clearing Sale. They are of sizes 34 and 36, in black, grey and navy and last season were priced at $10 to $15. There is remarkable value in these Coats at the Annex clearing price $1.25

Spring Wall Paper

In all the beauty and variety of the new colorings and designs, we are showing an extensive display of the season's best papers on the third floor.

A SPECIAL WHITE BED SPREAD, 83c.

Full bleached in heavy Marseilles weave, the ends being neatly hemstitched. Really a splendid Spread that is honestly worth every cent of $1.19, and is of double bed size. Wednesday's modest price is only 83c

WOMEN'S FLANNELETTE GOWNS, 47c.

We are certain that 69c seldom buys a gown which in make and quality is better than this kind. They are made of English striped flannelette of appropriate colorings; they are cut in roomy sizes, and neatly finished. Wednesday 47c

GIRLS' WRAPERETTE DRESSES 59c

Maidens of 6 to 14 years will obtain much service from these Navy Blue Wrapperette Dresses, which are in twilled finish. They are well made and daintily trimmed, while being of usual 98c value they are of special worth at 59c

DRESS GOODS MILL ENDS 25c

Mostly 1 and 1½ yards long in coatings, suitings and dress fabrics, a few in the number being 1½ yards in length. As is usual with all Annex mill ends, the value is two to three times greater than the price. Wednesday, per End 25c

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES 12½c YD.

There is plain white and the light stripe patterns, both being 35 to 36 inches wide and sold in ordinary stock at 15c. They are of heavy quality and English make, and offer splendid value in the Annex at, per yard 12½c

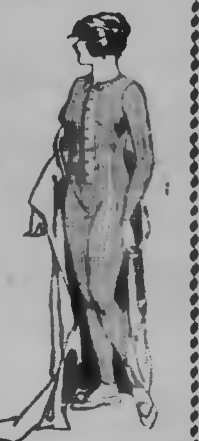
A Well Modelled Corset at 39c

THEY ARE FASHIONED in white coutil with medium bust and skirt and have an extra feature in the form of separate pieces attached to the side to which are fastened two of the 4 hose supporters. These pieces aid materially in the fit and the purpose of the Corset, and place this model in the front rank of the cheaper makes. Wednesday, 39c.

Double Bed Size Flannelette Blankets $1.19

MOST $1.40 LINES of Flannelette Blankets could hardly excel this Scotch variety, that measure 66 x 80 in., and are finished singly. They offer a choice of either blue or pink borders, and one can accurately judge of the splendid value they possess at the modest sum of $1.19 per pair on Wednesday.

Women's Winter Underwear 19c



ANY DOUBT that one may feel with regard to the value received for 19c will be quickly dispelled by a glance at these garments now on view in our windows. They are well fashioned with a close rib knit, the drawers being ankle length, the vests having long sleeves. Seldom less than 25c in regular stock, the Annex offers them on Wednesday at 19c per garment.

The February Furniture Sale Places Furniture at Lowest Possible Prices
3rd and 4th Floors

COTTON BATTING, 10½c ROLL

Put up in good sized rolls, this "Rock River" brand of cotton batting is clean and pure, and generally sells at 15c or 2 for 25c. There is extra value in them for Wednesday at 10½c

MEN'S LAUNDERED SHIRTS, 55c
3 FOR $1.55

With deep laundered cuffs and the soft bosom that so many men desire, is the way in which these excellent shirts are made. The materials are prints and percales in a natty collection of colors and patterns, while all sizes can be secured. Wednesday 55c

LIGHT COLORED PRINTS 9½c YARD

The patterns are black and blue polka dot or a pigweed design, printed upon a light colored ground and woven 32 in. wide. These are our standard 12½c values, and are a decided bargain on Wednesday at 9½c

HEMSTITCHED HANDKERCHIEFS 23c DOZEN

Women's white lawn handkerchiefs, that are finished with a hemstitched narrow hem, and are a regular line at 7 for 25c. A special price on them in the Annex being 12 for 23c.

WASH BLOUSES, 49c

Some very smart Chambray and Percale Blouses are these, in attractive low neck and high collar designs, and are worth 75c to 98c in the usual way. They are neatly and tastefully made and certainly most satisfactory for the price. Wednesday 49c

HEAVY BLEACHED COTTON, 10½c.

This is a new Annex line of cotton, which has the substance and strength usually found in the 14c variety. It is extra heavy, well bleached, and very cheaply priced on Wednesday at, per yard 10½c

ITALIAN TWILL LINING, HALF PRICE.

With a soft, lustrous finish, Italian twill lining is 1½ yards wide and in this instance is in navy blue only. Always sold at 50c yard, it is exactly half price, to clear at 25c

REVERSIBLE WRAPPERETTES, 7½c YD.

Small check and plaid patterns, in black and white, and red and black, 26 to 27 in. wide, and reversible. All English Wrapperettes of 10c value, about 200 yards being cleared in in the Annex at 7½c

EDGINGS AND INSERTIONS, 5c YD.

Swiss and Cambric Embroideries in a host of pretty designs, which measure from 2 to 7 in. wide and are worth between 10c and 15c. All one price per yard on Wednesday 5c

COTTONADES AND MOLESKINS, AT 12½c PER YARD

We have 5 pieces only of these 20c Cottonades and Moleskins for Wednesday's Annex. And we shall quickly clear them at, yard 12½c

ON SALE AT 2 O'CLOCK
40 Inch Factory Cotton 9½c Yard

THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION about the fact that a good factory like this far outwears many of the bleached cottons. For it is closely woven without imperfections, and requires but a few washings and sun bleachings to bring it to a spotless white. And then where could one buy it cheaper than in the Annex? Sold in 5, 10, 15 and 20 yard lengths only at 9½c yard.

THE SALE OF NOTIONS AND SMALLWARES

It commences Wednesday and lasts until Saturday night. While during this time notions and small wares can be obtained at prices truly astonishing. When on your way out from the Annex, spend a few minutes in this section at the rear of the main floor and you will doubtless find many articles that you need, at the lowest figures we have ever placed on them.

Odd Lines of Egyptene and Heatherbloom
Underskirts 75c

THERE ARE ABOUT SIXTY OF them in all. Heatherbloom Egyptene, silk moreen and wool moreen, all carried over from last season, at which time they were selling at $1.98 to $2.98. The reason of so great a reduction is because they are somewhat wider than present styles. But this is a simple matter to remedy, especially when one considers the low price at which they are selling. Wednesday 75c.

Kimberly 'fesses Up.

Alfred Kimberly, the self-confessed murderer, confined to the County Jail was examined by Dr. Morgan yesterday and pronounced sane. Kimberly explained that his story was told so as to effect deportation to the Old Country, as foretold in the Times. Kimberly appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of vagrancy, but in all probability he will be remanded until word is received from the Old Country authorities regarding the affair.

That Female Cop.

Mrs. Rose Henderson, of Montreal, in a juvenile court, is reported as recently having said in reply to a question, "Suppose a woman policeman was submitted to the danger of rough handling, how would you propose to avoid that?" She replied, "I should say the police would be ready to protect them." Let us take a suppositional case. Most of the young girls this female cop is to be hired to protect, don't go astray on George street, they wander down along the bright lights, and if they miss the vigilant eyes of the cops on duty, they innocently (?) stray to the side streets. Let us suppose the female cop sees, what is vulgarly described as a "chicken" straying towards Jackson Park. The woman in the blue and brass buttons, as a woman, and the female wish for virtue and, incidental gossip, will never change, to protect this poor girl, follows. She asks the passersby whom the poor little girl is? The girl meets her uncle John. Uncle John, delighted to meet his favorite niece, grasps her in his arms. The female cop, not armed with a revolver, or club, blows her whistle. In two hours and a half, when the sound of that whistle is conveyed by telephone message, Detectives Newhall and Meagher commander the services of Charlie Carroll's auto and rush to the scene. On their arrival, the poor little offender confesses to uncle John, that she came to Jackson Park to meet Jim whom she married the day before yesterday. The female cop says to herself, "Well, her second cousin, Tim, was none too good."

The proposal as regards the idea of

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" and in five minutes you'll wonder what became of misery in stomach.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

BRILLIANT SCENE WITNESSED AT THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

Queen Mary Accompanied the King, Wearing Her Crown and Royal Robes

London, Feb 10.—King George to-day, with picturesque ceremony opened the fourth session of the present British Parliament—A session that promises to be a history-making one, owing to the important constitutional questions to be decided, including that of the granting of Home Rule to Ireland.

Accompanied by Queen Mary, who as well as the King wore her crown and brilliant royal robes, his Majesty drove in the State coach of gold, drawn by eight Hanoverian cream-colored horses, from Buckingham Palace through the Mall, over the Horse Guards' parade and then along Whitehall to the King's entrance to the House of Lords. Great crowds assembled along the route to witness the procession, which was carried out in ideal weather.

A Picturesque Scene.

In the House of Lords the scene was a picturesque one as their Majesties, surrounded by other members of the Royal family and by peers and peeresses in their State robes and wearing rich jewels, ascended the throne, from which the King read his speech, outlining the Government's program for the session.

Only a few privileged strangers were admitted to the House of Lords, those included besides members of the House of Commons, most of the foreign diplomatic corps.

Members Excited.

The real work of what promises to be the most momentous session of recent times began with the assembly of the House of Commons after a brief luncheon interval to enable the members to digest the King's speech.

The House was densely crowded and excitement ran high as was evident from the wild cheering of the respective partisans as new members elected during the recess were introduced.

Members Wait for Doors to Open.

The opening of the House of Commons found an unusually large number of members gathered at the doors waiting to make a dash into the chamber to secure seats for the momentous initial debate on the address in the reply to the King's speech from the throne, in which the question of Home Rule for Ireland occupies the leading position.

THE VEXED IRISH PROBLEM MAY STILL BE SETTLED NOW

But Premier Asquith Declares That Dissolution of Parliament Would Be Futile

London, Feb. 10.—Early in his speech to-day in the Commons on Home Rule, Premier Asquith promised that the Government would take the initiative in putting forward suggestions for a settlement by agreement of the Irish difficulty.

The Premier continued:

"If this matter is to be settled—and none desire it more than I—by something in the nature of a general agreement, it can better be settled here and now than by a general election."

Mr. Asquith said the Government could not divest itself of the responsibility for initiating suggestions, but whatever steps it took must not be construed as an admission that the Home Rule Bill was ineffective. There was nothing the Government would not do, consistent with fundamental principles of the bill, to avoid civil war and bloodshed.

Without delay the Government would, said Mr. Asquith, submit to the House of Commons suggestions which would be put forward honestly in the hope of overcoming all objections.

Bill Twice Passed.

Reviewing the course of the bill up to the present Premier Asquith pointed out that it had been twice passed with sustained majorities by the House of Commons and would automatically become law this year. He argued that the votes at the bye-elections held since August last had shown increased approval of the Government's policy.

The Prime Minister held the suggestion of a dissolution of Parliament to be futile. He said it would simply lead to a condition of deadlock.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fair and not much change in temperature.

YOUNG WOMAN SAVED FROM AWFUL PLIGHT

Rochester, N.Y., Feb. 10.—Miss Martha Nelson, a handsome young woman from Tonawanda, a Buffalo suburb, was rescued from a group of Macedonians in this city and five of the human brutes were arrested on serious charges made by the hapless victim. The young woman is in the detention ward at police headquarters and the police are looking for other foreigners said to have been connected with the practical abduction of the girl, who was held as a "white slave" by the despicable wretches. Several of the Macedonians held as prisoners by the police can hardly talk "pigeon English," nevertheless they have assumed American names in place of their own unpronounceable ones.

Some time ago a report reached the ears of the police authorities that a band of men had a young woman in "captivity." Yesterday afternoon Special Officer Lindner, of the University Avenue station, found Martha Nelson, 20 years old, in the rear part of Mike Johnson's shoeshining outfit in North Goodman Street. Lindner arrested the girl and Greek and took them to the Franklin Street station.

From Goodman Street the trail led to No. 403 Central Avenue, where Special Officers Lindler and Kauffman arrested Christopher Theodore, who has a pool room in North Street; George Borkoff, a bootblack; Pasco Vangel, and George Williams. All were locked up at the Franklin Street station.

Too Much Talent.

"Where is that barber who used to have the end chair?" asked the customer.

"We had to let him go," replied the boss. "He had too much talent."

"Whaddy ye mean, talent?" asked the customer.

"He got he illustrated his stories with cuts when he was shaving people," explained the boss.

HOW TO SHED A ROUGH CHAPPED OR BLOTCHY SKIN

(From Beauty's Mirror).

This is what you should do to shed a bad complexion. Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of the skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on over night, washing it off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or withered the complexion. The wax literally absorbs the filmy surface skin, exposing the lovely young skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skin coming off at a time. Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drugstore; one ounce usually suffices. It's a veritable wonder-worker, for rough, chapped, reddened, blotchy, pimpled, freckled or sallow skin.

Pure, powdered saxolite is excellent for a wrinkled skin. An ounce of it dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel makes a refreshing wash-lotion. This renders the skin quite firm and smooth indeed, the very first application erases the finer lines; the deeper ones soon follow.

OLD IRISH PEER IS DEAD

The Late Lord Ventry Went to the House of Lords in 1871.

New York, Feb. 10.—A London cable to the Herald says:

The death is announced of Lord Ventry, who had been ill for some time. He was born in 1828.

Lord Ventry was one of the twenty-eight representative peers of Ireland, and was elected to the House of Lords in 1871. He married in 1860, the late Harriett Elizabeth Frances, daughter of Andrew Wauchope. His heir is Col. F. R. W. Eveleigh-de-Moleyns, who served in South Africa and retired in 1901.

MORNING MUSICALE WAS HELD YESTERDAY

A meeting of the Ladies' Morning Musicale was held yesterday morning at the home of Miss Morrow, Weller street, when Wagner was the composer studied. The following program was rendered:

Paper—"Wagner"—Mrs. R. E. Wood.
Song—"Oh Star of Eve"—Miss Allan (Tannhauser) Miss Dean, accompanist.
Piano Solo—"Selections" Miss Dean.
Violin Solo—"The Prize Song" Mrs. Boyd (Die Meistersinger) Mrs. Gilman accompanist.
Duet—March from Tannhauser Miss Gladman, Miss Robertson.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, February 19th, at 10.30 at Mrs. Gordon's, 360 Simcoe street.

UNCLE SAM IS SHORT 19,000,000 ANIMALS

Value of Meat Animals $400,000,000 Greater, Though the Number Is Much Less.

Washington, Feb. 10. The United States is "short" more than 19,000,000 meat animals and milch cows since 1910, according to a bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture to-day.

For every 100 of population there are to-day nine beef cattle, seven sheep three hogs, five milch cows, ten mules and four horses less than four years ago.

Notwithstanding this the total value of meat animals alone is now nearly $400,000,000 greater than last year.

In a brief reference to the grain crops the bulletin states that the world's wheat crop in 1913 was 4,126,080,000 bushels the largest ever reported.

5,250 BOTTLES OF WHISKEY DOOMED

Selma, Ala., Feb., 10.—By order of court, which has been issued to-day, the sheriff of Dallas county is directed to destroy 5250 bottles of whisky captured in this city in the various raids on so-called blind tigers. This whisky, valued at $2000, consists of 112 cases containing 4536 half pints, 200 pints and 120 quarts.

NO LIQUOR TAKEN ON REVENUE BOAT THE WITNESSES ASSERT

Evidence So Far Goes to Disprove Allegations of Liberals.

North Sydney, C.B., Feb. 10.—Mr. C. P. Blair, an official of the Customs Department, Ottawa, opened an investigation to-day into the charge made by some Liberals against the revenue tug Alert. The evidence of the captain, members of the crew and others, taken under oath, all goes to show that no liquor had been conveyed by the steamer to Neil's Harbor, as alleged.

TWO-YEAR-OLD BY PARCEL POST

Wellington, Kan. Feb 10. Mrs. E. H. Staley, of this city, received her two-year-old nephew by parcel post today from his grandmother in Stratford, Okla., where he had been left for a visit three weeks ago. It cost 18 cents to send him through the mails.

SIR GEORGE ROSS RECOVERED

Could Go Home To-day If It Was Not for the Severe Weather.

Toronto, Feb 10.—"I expect to have Sir George arriving at any time now, and he even be home this afternoon, said Lady Ross at noon to-day. "The only thing that keeps him at the hospital is the cold weather, and should to-morrow be warmer, he is almost sure to be back home."

Sir George, although not able to be up like his fellow patient, Sir James Whitney, reads his mail regularly and every day enjoys a book or magazine. His case is continuing to steadily improve.

Sir James, according to the statement of Dr. Clark, will probably not return home for a week, although he has been able to get dressed every day for the last week, and, when it is not too cold, he walks about the verandahs enjoying an occasional cigar. Those who see him try to keep his mind off affairs of State, and it is likely that he will take a lengthy rest after he leaves the hospital.

HOUSE LISTENS AS MARITIME DISPUTE IS GIVEN AN AIRING

St. John-Halifax Row Over the Ocean Steamship Changes is Topic

Ottawa, Feb. 10. The Maritime Province members had another innings on Monday. They take a turn at the bat—about every other day at Ottawa in fact, to keep up the metaphor, the members from the other Provinces are principally bench-warmers this session. On Monday it was the question of the recent warm parochial dispute between Halifax and St. John as to their respective merits as the landing point for the trans-Atlantic winter mail. Mr. A. K. MacLean claimed that the Government had unjustly treated Halifax, while Mr. F. B. Carvell, in the absence of Hon. Wm. Pugsley, championed St. John and argued that the New Brunswick capital-port had been most unfairly discriminated against.

The Government members sat back and enjoyed the spectacle; not forgetting to drive home the very logical conclusion, that if they claimed both ports had been discriminated against, then there certainly could not have been any unfair treatment.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster General, took particular delight in chafing the two Maritime members on the position in which they were in. "They are trying to ride the same horse in two opposite directions," he added. "Mr. MacLean says an injustice has been done to Halifax and Mr. Carvell says that St. John has been wronged. Whom are we to believe?"

"Both," interposed Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Quick as a flash Mr. Pelletier shot back: "That is just like my honorable friend. He puts two opposite policies before the country and then asks it to believe both," and the Government benches rocked with the pounding of desks which followed the well driven sally.

Premier Borden, who showed no signs of his recent illness and was in rather vigorous form, also showed that the Government had treated both ports the same.

PETES FALL AT ORILLIA

Record Crowd Witness First of Home and Home Games

The weather man was very gracious to the lovers of hockey the last two days, and as a result a sheet of ice that could hardly be improved on awaited the Peterborough Intermediates when they entered the Orillia rink to battle for honors in the first of the home-and-home games with the team of that town.

The arena at the northern burg was crowded to the rafters, and it is estimated that 1200 people witnessed the hardest fought game seen in Orillia in many months. Both teams were in pink of shape for the gruelling contest, each man determined to do his best to bring honors to the town he represented. It was a great game from the spectators point, but the pace was killing to the players, and in the last half the Petes weakened.

The score at half time stood at 3—3. The final score being 8—4 in favor of Orillia.

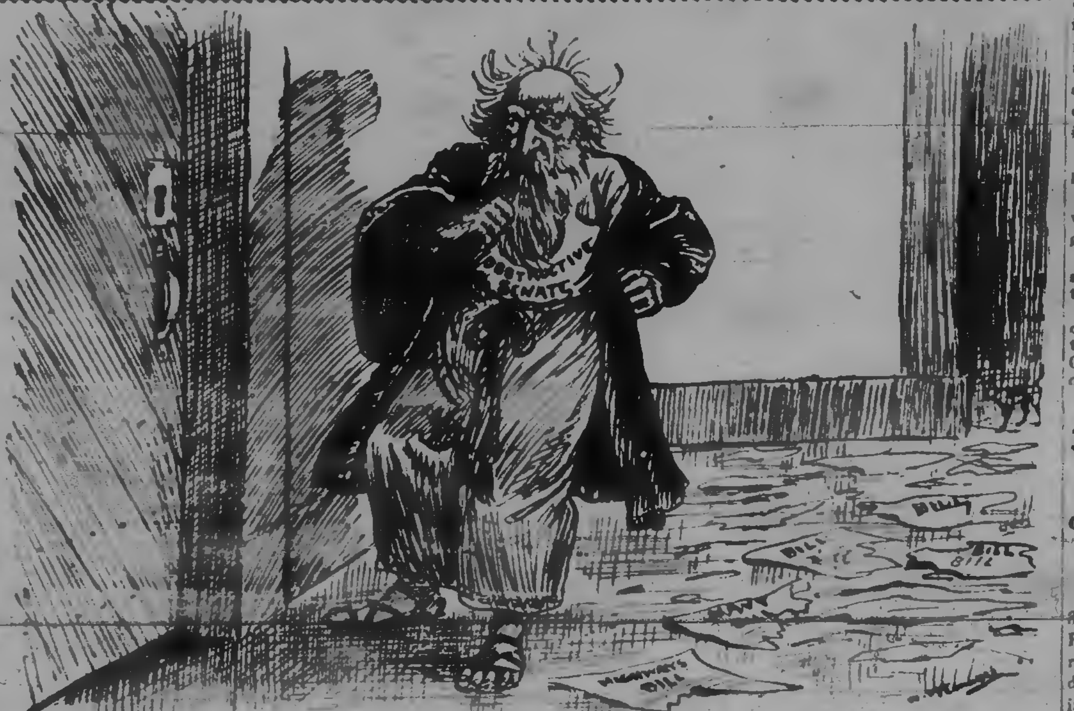
HON. RODOLPHE LEMIEUX ON THE WITNESS STAND

Tells To-day of His Small Connection With the Graft Scandal—Detectives Costly

Quebec, Feb. 10.—The cross-examination of Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux ex Postmaster-General in the late Liberal Federal Administration, by an old political opponent, L. G. Belley, Quebec, the Lawyer of the Montreal Mail followed a statement of Mr. Lemieux in regard to the insignificant part he played in the affairs of the Montreal Fair Association Bill, in connection with which J. O. Mousseau, L. P. Berard, and Archille Bergevin are accused of accepting bribes, occupied the Lower House probing committee this morning. Mr. Belley asked a number of questions about the relationship of Mr. Lemieux and C. P. K. Carpenter the man from Gaspe, who the mail said butted-in the arrangements said to have been made between the promoters of the bill and Mr. Mousseau after Mr. Lemieux had stated he acted simply through politeness in introducing Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Mousseau. Finally chairman Taschereau had to call Mr. Belley to task for wandering too far afield.

NO TANGO, NOR FLOWERS

Toronto, Feb. 10.—No flowers for the ladies and a prohibition of the Tango, One Step, and Hesitation Waltz are the innovations for the next dance under the auspices of the University Arts Club. Of late years competition has been very keen as to who will provide the largest and finest bouquet for his lady guest and the result has been a semi-barbarous decoration and a depletion of the purse of the needy student. The committee have decided to put a stop to such desperate expense, and this year the students will have to behave themselves and save their money as well.



A knock at the Red Chamber door.

THE CITY LAUNDRIES WILL BE INSPECTED AND LICENSED

Bylaw Governing These Institutions to be Prepared, License Fee Will be a Nominal One of $1—Aim is to Force Sanitation on the Chink—Inspection of Eating Houses and Dairy Premises Also in Order.

The City's Property Committee met in business session last night, Chairman Ald. Wm. Langford, Jr., presiding. There were also in attendance Mayor Buller, Aldermen Stratton, Duncan and Saunders. Sanitary Inspector Spence was present.

Extension of Garbage Collecting System.

Sanitary Inspector Spence suggested the following extension of the garbage collecting system.

In East City—the following area: From and including Driscoll Terrace to and including both sides Douro street as the northern boundary, the eastern boundary to be by Concession street from Douro to Sophia; from Sophia to Burnham, Burnham to Maria, Maria to the river.

Northern District. The following new area: Extended to Smith street, Smith to Reid street, and Reid to London street.

Southern District. The following new area: Monaghan Road to Wolfe street, west on Albert street (south), south on Park (east side) to Albert street, west on Albert street (south side) to Alfred street, both sides of Alfred street to Chamberlain street, west on Chamberlain street to Monaghan Road, west on Chamberlain street to Park, south on Park to Romaine street, east on Romaine to Crescent street.

Under the new act, garbage collection now must be charged against all properties within the defined areas, according to assessment, and not on the principle adopted last year, when residential houses were charged an equable fee per month, hotels, boarding houses, stores, etc., fixed rates, all irrespective of assessed values.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Saunders, this whole question was left in abeyance until legal advice is secured as to the legality of omitting factory properties, if thought advisable, which come within the defined areas.

His Worship contended that it might be advisable to place garbage collection under the supervision of the Board of Works. The Board of Works is going to permanently retain, this year, carts and horses, or teams, for road repair work, and it might be found economy to have the city collect the garbage this year; the garbage collecting teams get through at ten o'clock in the morning, or noon at the latest, and might after that hour be used on road work. The Board of Works is really the city's cleaning department, to which garbage collecting properly belongs. He also suggested that building inspection and plumbing inspection should come under the Board of Works supervision.

Mayor Buller and Ald. Saunders moved, that garbage collection and disposal be transferred from the Property Committee to the Board of Works.—Carried.

Ald. Stratton advised that no change be made until definite plans are agreed upon for carrying out his worship's scheme and cost of same to hand. In any event he would not endorse the city's doing the garbage collection this year, instead of the work being done by contract as at present. He would not just now advise expending money on horses and carts, and stabling for garbage collection by the city.

His Worship provided that the resolution merely provided for a transfer of garbage collection to the Board of Works department, and did not commit the committee to any change in the system at present.

On motion of Ald. Stratton, the chairman was authorized to secure from Inspector Spence the cost of collecting garbage within the new area.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Saunders, building and plumbing inspection was transferred to the Board of Works department. City Engineer Parsons will act as Building Inspector.

Inspection Before Licensing.

The City Solicitor will be instructed to prepare by-laws governing the issue of licenses to milk vendors and eating houses; before such licenses are issued a sanitation certificate must be secured from Sanitary Inspector Spence. Boarding houses will not need a license. This was Ald. Duncan and Stratton's motion.

License Fee For Laundries.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Stratton, laundries will be rigidly inspected by Sanitary Inspector Spence, and a license fee of $1 a year imposed. This course is the result of Inspector Spence's disclosures as to the unsanitary condition of Chink laundries in town, some of which he contended should be burned down. A by-law covering this question will be prepared.

Police to Issue Dog Licenses.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Saunders, the police will be asked to issue dog licenses.

TORONTO QUIVERS WITH THE SHOCK OF AN EARTHQUAKE

The Disturbance Felt in Various Sections—House at the Beaches Swayed—Telephone in West End Shaken From the Wall

Toronto, Feb. 10. Between half-past one and two o'clock to-day residents in various parts of the city were startled and agitated by several distinct earthquake shocks. Telephone messages from scores of people came pouring in relating actual cases and asking the cause of such a rare occurrence. Bulletins were also received from Montreal, Buffalo, and New York, stating that distinct tremors had been recorded in those cities, but the local seismograph at the Observatory showed no trace of an earthquake.

It is a most unusual thing to feel even a faint tremor in Toronto, and citizens who had the unpleasant experience to-day of feeling marked tremors were greatly alarmed. The last recorded earthquake trace was in the autumn of 1911, when many stories of shocks were reported from districts in the vicinity of Toronto.

At 3 o'clock the Observatory reported as follows:

Two pronounced earthquake shocks were registered to-day by the seismograph at Toronto Observatory.

The first shock, according to the instrument, occurred at 11.30 a.m. and the second at 1.29 p.m.

The first shock was at a distance of about 600 miles from Toronto and the second one say the officials at the Observatory, was quite close to Toronto.

300,000 SOFT COAL MINERS MAY GO ON STRIKE ON APRIL 1

Conference on Demands of the Men Begins To-day—They Threaten to Tie Up Industry.

Philadelphia, Feb. 10.—Whether the 300,000 soft coal miners in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will go on strike April 1 and endeavor to tie up the bituminous coal industry throughout the country is to be decided at a conference begun here to-day between operatives and officials of the United Mine Workers' Union regarding a new wage scale.

At to-day's conference, which is apt to run on for weeks, the miners will demand an increase in wages of 5c a ton on a mine run basis, 10 per cent. on all dead work, and many other concessions. The wage agreement now in force will run out April 1, and the miners, in compliance with the agreement at their recent convention in Indianapolis, will go on strike at that time if their demands are not granted.

BURNT CORK.

The Paste Used by Minstrel Performers When "Blacking Up."

The popular impression as to the application of burnt cork by minstrel performers and actors in general is that it is rubbed on the face and hands of the player from a cork whose end is charred in a convenient gas jet. This impression is, however, incorrect. The burnt cork used by minstrels and others is the product of the theatrical "paint factories," just as is any other cosmetic or pigment employed by the profession.

One house makes it in the following manner: The corks are placed in three tin vessels, resembling wash boilers, with holes punched in their sides and bottom. Alcohol is sprinkled over the corks, and they they are "fired." When the corks have been properly charred they are placed in muslin sacks, which are kneaded in barrels of water. This operation forces the powdered charcoal through the sacks into the water.

When all the charred corks have been worked through the sacks into the water in this way the water is drained through a close canvas sack, and what remains in that sack is ready for the performers. The stuff is put up in cans, from which, when the minstrel is ready to "black up," he takes a little of the black paste in his hands and applies it to his face, neck and sometimes his hands.—New York Herald.

A CURIOUS BIRD.

The Crested Hoactzin When Hatched Has Four Legs.

The crested hoactzin of British Guiana is the only survivor of a certain race of birds most of which are now known only as fossils. The hoactzin inhabits the most secluded forests of South America, and its survival beyond its congeners is doubtless owing to its retiring habits and to the fact that it feeds on wild arum leaves, which give its flesh a most offensive flavor, rendering it unfit for food.

The chief peculiarity of the hoactzin consists in the fact that when it is hatched it possesses four well developed legs. The young birds leave the nest and climb about like monkeys over the adjoining limbs and look more like tree toads than birds.

The modification of the fore limbs begins at once after hatching, when the claws of the digits fall off and the whole clawlike hand begins to flatten and become wing shaped. Feathers soon appear, and before full growth is reached not a vestige remains of the original character.

The adult birds not only have no claws upon their wings, but their thumbs even are so poorly developed that one would hardly suspect that in the nestlings we have the nearest approach to a quadruped found among existing birds.—London Tit-Bits.

Dickens' Cramped Quarters.

Bleak House at Broadstairs is of interest to the Dickens lover because the greater part of "David Copperfield" was written there. But it is not the Bleak House of the novel, which is definitely located in Hertfordshire. The novelist and his family appear to have been somewhat tightly packed in their Broadstairs home. When Lord Carlisle contemplated paying a visit to "our watering place" in 1851 Dickens wrote promising him the North Foreland lighthouse for a night light in his bedroom, and he continues, "As we think of putting mignonette boxes outside the windows for the younger children to sleep in by and by I am afraid we should give your servant the cramp if we hardly undertook to lodge him." During recent years the house has been transformed out of all recognition.—London Spectator.

Escaped the Bullets.

Dr. James Craik, who was Washington's family physician, was with the Father of His Country in the expedition against the French and Indians in 1754, and the next year he attended General Braddock in his fatal campaigning. Fifteen years later, while exploring wild lands in the western districts of Virginia, Dr. Craik encountered a band of Indians led by an aged chief, who informed the physician through an interpreter that he had made a long journey to see Colonel Washington, at whom in the battle of Monongahela he had fired his rifle fifteen times and ordered all his young men to do the same. In fact, Washington had two horses killed under him that day, and his coat was pierced with four bullets, yet he left the battlefield unscratched.

A Chemical Experiment.

When the genial Quaker, Isaac T. Hopper, met a boy with a dirty face or hands he would stop him and inquire if he ever studied chemistry. The boy, with a wondering stare, would answer, "No."

"Well, then, I will teach thee how to perform a curious chemical experiment," said Friend Hopper. "Go home, take a piece of soap, put it in water and rub it briskly on thy hands and face. Thou hast no idea what a beautiful froth it will make and how much whiter thy skin will be. That's a chemical experiment. I advise thee to try it."—Life of Isaac T. Hopper.

YIELDED TO EDMUNDS.

Cleveland's Political Foe Won After His Friends Had Failed.

Soon after Mr. Cleveland entered the White House in 1885 Vice President Hendricks died at his home in Indianapolis, and the president made arrangements to attend the funeral. Many of his social intimates and all his official advisers united in an effort to dissuade him from making this twenty hour journey, enlarging on the manifold risks of rail travel at all times and the special opportunity this would offer some fanatic to assassinate him. But he remained immovable until within a few hours of the time set for closing up his business he received an unexpected call from Senator Edmunds of Vermont.

Mr. Edmunds was the leader of the Republican side of the senate and was understood to have in preparation several measures of opposition to the announced policies of the new administration. But he was also and above all else an American citizen and a patriot, and his visit to his political foe was made in that character. In a conversation of less than half an hour, in which he drew the curtain over all differences and disregarded all empty formalities of intercourse, he laid before the president in the clear terms and logical order in which he knew so well how to express himself the larger aspects of the situation

As the presidential succession law then stood the speaker of the house of representatives stood next in line to the vice president, and next to him came the president pro tempore of the senate. The house not having organized since the inauguration, no speaker had been elected, and, the senate having failed at its special session to choose a president pro tempore to serve during the recess, only one life—that of the president himself—stood between the nation and administrative anarchy; hence, argued Mr. Edmunds, it was Mr Cleveland's duty to forego every other consideration and invite no chances of throwing upon the country they both loved a strain such as it had never been subjected to before.

The writer of these lines was seated in the next room while this visit was in progress, and he will never forget the president's expression of satisfaction on coming out of his office after the senator had gone. He gave orders at once that all preparations for his journey should be suspended and declared that nothing that had occurred since he entered the White House had so touched him as the kind solicitude shown by Mr. Edmunds about his exposing himself to any peril now. The others who had reasoned with him on the subject were men who were presumptively friendly and whose chief anxiety seemed to be lest he should suffer some injury to his individual person or fortunes But here was a man who, as far as politics was concerned, was a hostile of hostiles, yet who appealed to him in behalf of the American people and their government.

"That settled it," Mr. Cleveland concluded as he turned to go back to his office. "After what Edmunds said there can be no further question of where my highest obligation lies."—F. E. L. in New York Post.

NOISY BUTTERFLIES.

One Species Produces a Sound Like the Snap of a Whip.

One does not think of butterflies as making any sounds, nor of caterpillars as noisy creatures, yet according to the late Samuel Hubbard Scudder in "Frail Children of the Air," the careful student will find some use for his ears when observing the habits of both. Says the author:

It is a fact that certain butterflies produce sound during certain movements. The "whip" butterfly when surprised makes a noise like the snap of a lash by opening and shutting its wings in quick succession. Some hibernating butterflies when disturbed make a faint hissing sound by slowly depressing and raising their wings. The noise thus produced resembles that made by blowing slowly through closed teeth. Other sounds resemble the friction of sandpaper.

A large number of caterpillars make sound by striking the head against the leaf on which they are resting or by swinging the head from side to side, catching the mandibles in the roughness of the leaf or on the silken threads spun on it. It is said that a certain kind of chrysalis when disturbed emits a slight, sharp chirp or clicking noise.

A Hard Face.

Bobby's papa, who is a naval officer, took him to call upon the family of a brother officer who had just returned from a cruise to the tropics.

Among the treasures exhibited was a large red and blue parrot, whose appearance and conversational powers proved most fascinating to the little boy. While the grownups were engaged in talking over old times Bobby, left to his own devices, drew nearer to the parrot's cage, bent on making friends.

Presently there was a squawk from the parrot and a little frightened cry from Bobby, who ran to his father, exhibiting a bleeding forefinger.

The little man was brave, though, as befitted the son of a sailor. He brushed away his tears and said:

"Gee, papa, but that bird has a hard face!"—Harper's Magazine.

Tips to Travelers.

Take a candle in your bag and a box of safety matches. When they are wanted you will be glad they were put in. The space required for them is small. A passenger on a steamer that was wrecked had a small candle, which enabled her to collect some of her most valuable possessions when the lights went out after the collision. Carry a few pens in your bag if you do not use a fountain pen. You will find that it is worth while, as the pens provided at some hotels and other public places are often so bad that it is impossible to use them with any satisfaction.—San Francisco Chronicle.

An advertisement in The Times is guaranteed to reach regularly 98 per cent. of the homes of Peterborough. Sworn statement furnished of proof of this if required.

Business men are also reminded that The Times is the only paper that reaches those served by the Rural Mail Routes on the day of issue. As a result it gets the call.

Thus advertisers will therefore know that by using The Times for their business announcements, they not only reach the WHOLE population of this city of 21,000 people, but a large proportion of those residing within a twenty-mile radius of the city. These are the people who have the money to pay for what they want.

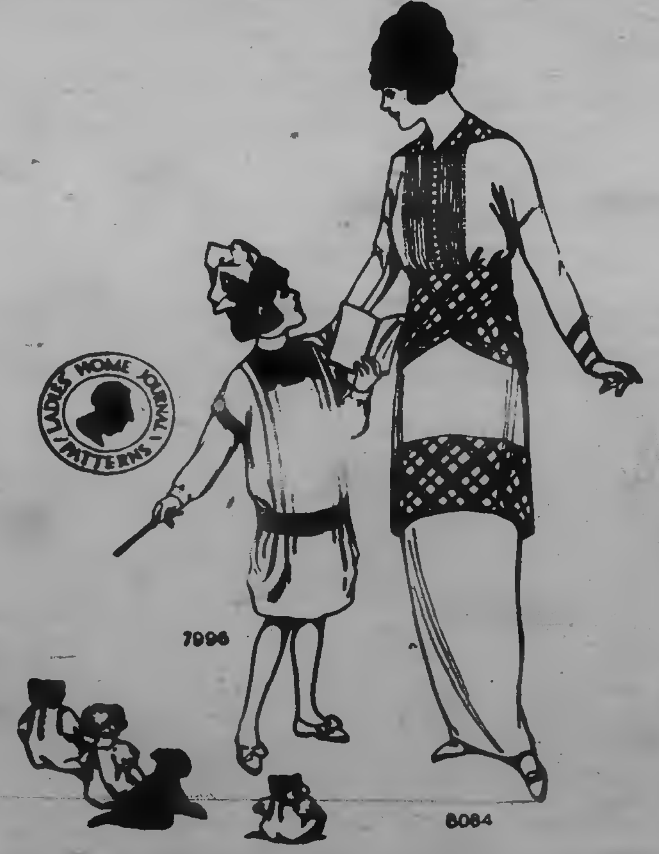
MUNICIPAL FORMS ALWAYS IN STOCK



SMART RESULTS OBTAINED BY NOVEL COLLARS, VESTS AND SASHES

It is interesting to note the effect of a cleverly cut collar, an unusual little vest or a graceful well placed sash. They go far to make the success of the frock.

The sash or girdle may be placed at the natural waistline or it is very high or very low as the fancy inclines. There is a new hip sash that is extremely youthful and becoming to most figures.

In No. 8084 several of these features are brought in. The dress is developed in tete de negre ratine. There is a plaited vest of cream colored net and a wide hip sash of satin in a somewhat lighter shade of brown plaid. A trimming band on the skirt is arranged to give the effect of a tunic.

This costume may be copied in size 36 with 4¾ yards of 42 inch material with 2 yards of 24 inch satin for sash and trimming.

An afternoon frock for the little maid made up in dark red wool crepe with underblouse of net is illustrated in 7996. The skirt shows a bit of drapery on each side, which is new and pretty.

This little dress may be made for a child of 8 with 2 yards of 36 inch material and ⅞ yard of net for the guimpe.

No. 8084—sizes 34 to 42
No. 7996—sizes 6 to 12.
Each pattern 15 cents

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Knom It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

THE PRESS FAVOUR BILL

A leading Montreal newspaper pokes fun at The Montreal Star for attacking Mr. Burnham, M. P., for his conduct in the House of Commons, presumably respecting title-seekers and the abolition of titles. Most of the leading journals of Canada favoured the bill which seems to have enraged the Quebec journal whose proprietor is a knight, who is supposed to have "earned" his title under the Laurier Government.

Montreal Man so Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. Rf Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P.Q. 6

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

DEVELOPMENT OF PRINCE RUPERT, B. C.

General business conditions and the development in and around Prince Rupert, B.C., the Pacific Coast terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, are healthy and good.

Latest reports show Customs returns for the month of December amount to $36,836.00, an increase over the same period last year of over $25,000. For the year 1913, the total customs receipts were $234,326.70, or an increase over the previous year of $100,000.00. These customs figures reflect the general growth and prosperity of the city.

Excavation for the new Grand Trunk Pacific Hotel, The Prince Rupert, is proceeding rapidly, aa large force of men being engaged.

The work on the $2,000,000 dry dock is also proceeding very satisfactorily.

A large apartment block is being erected in the City and several other permanent and substantial buildings are being constructed with all possible speed and the citizens are looking forward to midsummer when the Grand Trunk Pacific, the all Canadian Transcontinental Railway, will be lined up from Coast to Coast, and at which time it is prophecied that a great impetus will be given to this coming metropolis.

INCONSISTENT

A few weeks ago we noticed that a Protestant public school teacher in the Philippines was reprimanded by authorities under United States control for teaching a Sunday-school class in the church of which he was a member, and he was informed that this was inadmissible. And only a few weeks later we read that Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell have united in formal encouragement of Roman Catholic laymen and lay-women who are teacher in public schools to form the Roman Catholic children in their schools into classes and instruct them on Sunday in religious matters. To the ordinary Protestant this seems strangely inconsistent, but to the Roman hierarchy we suppose it seems in accord with the eternal fitness of things. Why can't Roman Catholics treat Protestants with the same toleration which Protestants extend to them?

USEFUL NEW INVENTION

Enables Anyone to Play Piano or Organ Without Lessons

A Detroit musician has invented a wonderful new system which enables any person or little child to learn to play the piano or organ in one evening. Even though you know absolutely nothing about music or have never touched a piano or organ, you can now learn to play in an hour or two. People who do not know one note from another are able to play their favorite music with this method without any assistance whatever from anyone.

This new system which is called the Numeral Method, is sold in Canada and as they are desirous of at once making it known in every locality, they are making the following special free trial and half-price offer to our readers.

You are not asked to send any money until you have tried and are satisfied with the new method. The Numeral Company is willing to send it to you on one week's free trial and you will not have to pay them one cent unless you desire to keep it. There are no express charges to be paid, as everything will be sent by mail. Simply write a letter or post card to the Numeral Method Music So. of Canada, 198A Curry Hall, Windsor, Ontario, saying, "Please send me the Numeral Method on seven says' free trial." If you are satisfied after trying it, the Method and fifty different pieces of sheet music will cost you only $5, although the regular price of these is $10. You should not delay writing, as the Numeral Company will not continue this special half-price offer indefinitely. Later on, the Method and fifty pieces of music will be sold at the regular price.

SLAYER WAS IN TEARS AT MOTHERS FUNERAL

Fred W. Kitzinger Closely Guarded at Bier of Parent.

New Orleans, Feb. 10.—Accompanied by two deputy sheriff, Fred W. Kitzinger, who killed Joseph Laughlin a year ago, attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Johanna A. Kitzinger. Permission to leave the parish prison, where he is held as insane, was granted both by Judge Joshua G. Baker and Sheriff Mast Long.

Kitzinger behaved himself with propriety, although exhibiting much feeling when lead into the parlor of the little home at 1717 Euterpe street, where the body of his mother was laid out. From the former home of the woman to Greenwood cemetery he followed the hearse in a carriage, Deputy Sheriffd John Lund and Joseph Cain never for a moment leaving him.

Although the deputies were armed and carried handcuffs, neither were observed by those in attendance upon the funeral, which started at 11 o'clock Thursday morning and was over before 1 o'clock. At that hour Kitzinger had been returned at the prison.

Mrs. Kitzinger was 63 years old. She died at the Touro infirmary Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. She had been ill eight years. The woman is survived by the prisoner and by three other children.

Kitzinger shot and killed Laughlin when he returned one night to find Laughlin in his home with his wife. Kitzinger became insane after being placed in the parish prison.

$100 REWARD $1.00

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

Written by
DR. DAVID H. REEDER,
Chicago, Ill.

NERVES: (Continuation of articles written for Home Health Club by H. Lindlahr, M.D.) Many intelligent physicians are now convinced, as has always been maintained in these columns, that poisonous drugs should not be taken at all into the human body. They realize more and more that these dangeriys agents are not at all necessary to cure human ailments; that this can be accomplished much better and more safely by the natural methods of treatment.

Dr. Osler is probably the greatest medical authority on drugs now living. He was formerly professor of materia medica at the John Hopkins' University of Baltimore, U.S., and now holds professorship at Oxford University, England. His books on medical practice are in use in probably every university and medical school in English-speaking countries. His views on drugs and their real values as expressed in the following article should be an eye-opener to those good people who believe that we of the "Nature Cure" school are altogether too radical, extreme, and somewhat "cranky." In his article entitled "Medicine," in the Encyclopedia Americana, Vol. X., he expresses himself as follows: "The new school does not feel itself under obligation to give any medicines whatever, while a generation ago not only could few physicians have held their practice unless they did, but few would have thought it safe or scientific. Of course there are still many cases where the patient or the patient's friends must be humored by administering medicine or alleged medicine where it is not really needed, and indeed often where the buoyancy of mind, which is the real curative agent, can only be created by making him wait hopefully for the expected action of medicine, and some physicians still cannot unlearn their old training. But the change is great. The modern treatment of disease relies very greatly on the so called 'natural' methods, diet and exercise, bathing and massage,—in other words, giving the natural forces the fullest scope by easy and thorough nutrition, increased flow of blood, and removal of obstruction to the extretory system or the circulation in the tissues."

"One notable example is typhoid fever. At the outset of the nineteenth century it was treated with 'remedies' of the extremest violence,—bleeding and blistering, vomiting and purging, and the administration of antimony and mercury, and plenty of other heroic remedies. Now the patient is bathed and nursed and carefully tended, but rarely given medicine. This is the result partly of the remarkable experiments of the Paris and Vienna schools into the action of drugs, which have shaken the stoutest faiths; and partly of the constant and reproachful object-lesson of homeopathy. No regular physician would ever admit that the homeopathic preparations, 'infinitesimals' could do any good as direct curative agents; and yet it is perfectly certain that homeopaths lost no more of their patients than others. There was but one conclusion to draw,—that most drugs had no effect whatever on the diseases for which they were administered."

The foregoing is certainly a strong condemnation of old time drugging, and an unqualified endorsement of natural methods of healing, by one of the greatest medical authorities now living. However, when Dr. Osler says that most drugs have no effect whatever he makes a serious misstatement. While they may not contribute anything to the cure of the disease for which they are given, they are often very harmful in themselves. By far the greater part of nervous diseases, (and of all other chronic diseases) are complicated, on the one hand, by the suppression of acute diseases by the means if drug poisons, and in the other hand, through the destructive after-effects of the drugs themselves.

CLUB NOTES

I will gladly answer all inquiries for information on health subjects from readers of this publication if same are addressed to Home Health Club, 5039 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago. Send full name and address with 4 cents postage.

Dear Doctor:—Have been reading your Health Column for some time and find the articles so enlightening and helpful that I ask you to write one on Catarrh, its cause, effect on system, its cure, etc., anything you know will be helpful. I have had it in nose and throat and head for several years, but never so very bad untill lately. In the past year I have taken up Voice Culture, and the catarrh interferes much with this. Is there any simple home remedies that are effectual, etc.? I have hesitated taking treatments or using catarrh remedies, because of having read an article once which stated that some of these catarrh remedies were injurious and that they contain ingredients which some times cause the loss of the sense of smell. Is there truth in hese statement?—Miss. B. B. H.

It is a well known fact among those who closely follow nature's rules that all who keep their digestice and eliminating organs in good shape, and this means not only the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the kidneys, but also the skin and the lungs, are not easily effected by disease. Catarrh will not arise except after a cold and a cold would not come if there was no suitable soil, that is, impurities in the system. Keep out all waste matters by the right kind of diet, proper exercises, and hygienic measures in general and there would not be catarrh. Constipation will induce colds and following catarrh more than anything else.

In order to overcome catarrh it is necessary to reduce and finally remove the inflammation of the mucous lining in the nose and the throat. This can best be done by the practice of deep breathing exercises and how such exercises should be practiced I have more than once explained in my lectures. It is also fully described in the Home Health Book Vol. 2. Some of the catarrh treatments advertised are dangerous to take, because, even though they may temporarily influence the Catarrh for the better, they may create other disturbances just as bad if not worse. I would under no circumstances recommend anything for internal or local use, which is dangerous to health, nothing containing strong or poisonous ingredients. Properly selected tissue foods are safe and I believe would do you much good.

Sanol BLOOD SALT

No Indigestion can exist if this remedy is taken according to instructions—and there is no known remedy to take its place.

This Blood Salt is a mixture compounded so as to resemble in essence and effect, the salty parts of the human blood. It is well known that our vitality is normally kept up by means of the natural blood salts.

Hence a lack of the latter will alway superinduce a loss of the former. It is also a fact that with each quart of urine we lose about 18 grams of blood salts. Accordingly we must gradually become weak and sick, unless we provide a substitute for these salts in the blood.

This salt is an excellent and absolutely harmless remedy for any disturbances of digestion such as Dyspepsia, Gastric Catarrh, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, etc., and as an aid to digestion, in wasting and nervous disease.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I read some days ago, with interest, suggestions made by some correspondent in The Times that Peterborough designate her various wards and subdivisions by some more euphonious titles than south, west, central, etc., wards. As a resident of the south ward I would suggest that the name "Monelec" be used instead of south. This would be a compliment to Monaghan and also recognize Peterborough's largest industry.

Fichu Adds Charm to Plain Gown

By Madge Marvel

THE fichu is at once so useful and becoming that it is destined to remain in favor during the spring and summer.

Women are keenly appreciative of its possibilities. It has the power to transform a plain frock into a costume quite suitable for the home dinner, the matinee or even the evening theatre-going.

It is offered in countless styles with frills that soften and fluff the person who needs such embellishment, or severely plain and flat and neat to suit the wearer who clings consistently to the tailor-made effect in all her clothes.

The woman who has time at her disposal can make the most delightful neckwear from the bits of lace and embroidery to be had at present prices during the midwinter clearance sales, and thereby save a pretty penny for the more substantial articles of her wardrobe.

Most exacting prices are asked in the exclusive shops for this alluring neck fixing, and those who have the generous dress allowance to afford to buy without much thinking never count the cost of the articles which mean so much in the ensemble of their appearance. But so many of us have to think about everything we buy and plan for the present and the future at the same time. It is for us to prove ourselves capable of reproducing the daintiness, which is so desirable at a minimum of expense. One can buy fundamental patterns which make it possible to add all manner of embellishment to suit one's fancy.

There is the necessity for nicety of fit in the guimpes and fichus, or the allurement is greatly discounted.

One particularly attractive fichu was of white net in surplice style with the edges showing a flat box plaiting. There was a wired collar of black tulle with one thickness of white next the neck. This collar was in Medici style, and there was a strap of black velvet around the front which made it desirable for the person who does not always care for the open throat in her collars.

For wear with the severe morning blouse of heavy silk or crepe there is a folded cravat of satin ribbon in black, or any of the modish colors, which ends in front in a four-in-hand knot and supports a thick upstanding ruche. This does not quite meet in front, and is higher in the back.

If you have a blouse that seems to have lost all its usefulness, look it over, mend any rips, cleanse it and wear it over a guimpe of net with a pretty collar or frill, and you will find it giving good service under the tailored suit or the heavy coat.

Net flouncing makes a guimpe which is easy to fashion and attractive, a bit of the edge being used for the modified sailor collar. The guimpe has the edges crossed in surplice style. The back of the guimpe may be of net in a heavier mesh. Some seamstresses find that binding ribbon makes a better finish at the arm sizes than the bias band of net.

Are You a Weather Vane?

IT LOOKS easy to be a weather vane. Nothing to do but follow the whims of the wind. And the wind, whispering softly or belching its commands, whisks the vane this way and that.

Sometimes the wind has the breath of violets in it. Sometimes the mellow fragrance of ripe fields. Sometimes the tang of sulky cold.

The poor weather vane has no rest, no real CHOICE at all.

Who would be a weather vane? Who wouldn't like really to DECIDE? Actually, you know, no one can decide anything for you. Come down to the earth and pick your OWN direction.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Women and Newspapers

XXV.

L. DALRYMPLE

WOMEN are surely prodigies of contradiction and pathetic inconsistence. After repudiating the newspapers in no uncertain terms, when I suggested that they were an excellent medium for keeping up with the times, Mary, in a spasm of remorse, has developed an insatiable passion for reading the news. She buys a scurrilous sheet that, in ordinary circumstances I probably wouldn't have in the house, but it all began, I know, to please me, and therefore I am wisely holding my tongue and waiting the eventual modification of this new phase of my wife.

"Peter," she said firmly one night at dinner, "I suppose you read about that dreadful man who murdered his wife?"

"No," said I. "I merely read the headline."

"And there's been a dreadful accident, you know that, didn't you? Twenty men buried alive in a mine!"

"I saw the headline of that, too," I admitted.

"Then there was a girl found in a river, and a little boy tumbled from the fourth story and broke himself somewhere—and—and——"

"Yes?" I encouraged stupefied by the list of casualties.

"Didn't you read about them?" demanded Mary suspiciously.

"No," I said. "I'm neither an undertaker nor the owner of a morgue—why should I?"

"Peter," exclaimed Mary indignantly, "don't you ever scold me again for not reading the news. You don't know as much of what's going on in the world as I do!"

I said nothing—wisely.

"Did you see where a woman's back hair caught fire—and burned her scalp?" demanded Mary a little later in the library.

"My Lord!" I exclaimed in a flash of foreboding. "Mary, dear, have you been combing the newspapers for all the casualties in sight?"

Mary burst into tears.

"Peter," she said, "I do think you are perfectly horrid. You scolded me one night because I didn't read and keep up with the times like that horrid suffragette, Ned Cary's wife, and now when I read and read and read until my eyes ache and try to entertain you by talking things over, you tell me I talk like a morgue and an undertaker"—and Mary cried some more.

It was ridiculous, of course, but I defy any one to say it wasn't pathetic, too. Here was Mary poring over the newspapers she hated, trying in an agony of resolve to please me, skipping every item of real news and bringing up for my entertainment a most horrible catalogue of casualties.

"Don't you see, Mary," I said, "we can be sorry for all these unfortunate things, but we don't have to gorge ourselves with morbid items—it would shadow our whole lives"—and very gently I picked up a newspaper, seeking, as many a man has done before me, to show my little wife how to extract the intelligent items of interest from the mass of sensational personalism with which the dailies teem.

We had a very bad time of it indeed.

"Here is some Balkan war stuff," I suggested after a while.

"I hate war!" sniffed Mary.

"So do I," I admitted. "We all do. But the Balkan war, dear, is making history."

"I hate history, too," said Mary.

"And here's some interesting Senate news."

"I detest politics," exclaimed Mary angrily.

I laid the paper aside.

"Mary," I said, "do you honestly mean to tell me that you enjoy the murders and suicides and all the sensational truck more than the real intelligent news of the world?"

"Yes," said Mary. "Lots of women do."

A woman and a newspaper, since my talk with Mary, has been a mystifying combination.

Why the Tango Is Moral

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

Winifred Black

AND now the bishops and the clergy in general have come out in favor of the tango.

There's nothing wrong about it at all, say the bishops of London.

It all depends upon who dances it say the clergy of America. And there we are right back to first principles again.

It all depends, of course, it does of course, it always has and it always will "depend."

The whole thing is a matter of mental attitude.

I went bathing once with a woman who was so modest that she made me blush every time I looked at her.

All the rest of us wore regulation bathing suits. Some of them were cut square in the neck and some were cut rounding; some were a little shorter than others and some had sailor collars and some had no collars at all. Taken as a whole, they were just every day blue serge bathing suits, and nobody on earth would even turn around to look twice at any one of them.

My modest friend wore a black bathing suit—with a ruffle on it.

I don't know who she thought might see her knees. Perhaps she imagined the fish or the crabs were especially inquisitive when she was around. Anyhow, the times that women had with that ruffle were enough to focus the eyes of the entire beach upon her and her sensitive, shrinking knees.

She wasn't pretty and she wasn't young—and her knees were just plain, every day knees without the sign of a dimple in them to entice or allure. But not a human being on that beach ever let a moment go by without watching to see if the wind wouldn't blow that ruffle aside—just a minute.

Modest—that woman? She was the most immodest woman I ever saw in all my life.

I saw two girls doing the tango the other night. One of them was a gay, light-hearted girl with a smile for every one and a laugh for every joke—no matter how many times she'd heard it before. She was as pretty as a peach and as sweet as a pink rose, and she did the tango just exactly as a rose sways in the morning breeze.

The girl who was dancing down the room right behind her was a quiet little creature with secretive eyes and an elusive, shadowy smile that meant nothing—or everything.

She did the same steps exactly as the other girl, but she ought not to have been allowed in the ballroom with decent people at all.

It isn't the tango. It's the girl who dances it.

I know a woman who can't let a man open a door for her without giving him the look that Delilah gave to Samson the first time she ever met him.

I know another woman—and she is a beautiful woman, too, and one much admired by men—who could travel all over Europe with a man and never give him a chance to have one thought about her that he should not have.

It was Byron who wrote the horrified poem about the immodesty and immorality of the waltz.

His immorality was, at the time he wrote it, the gossip of all civilized Europe. Of course, he thought the waltz immoral; he was immoral himself.

If I knew a young man who thought the tango wicked, I would take particular pains to see that my daughter or my little sister never went to church or choir practice alone with that particular young man.

The tango is no more immoral than the waltz, or the two-step, or any other dance. And a dance is only just as immoral as the people are who dance it.

Three cheers for the tango. Hurrah for the hesitation waltz. I'm for them every day in the week and every night in the year 'round, as long as the band plays and the floor is smooth and hearts are light and eyes are shining.

When I get too old to love the lilt of a laughing tune, when I get too wicked to enjoy the sight of a room full of gay people dancing gayly—I hope some one will be kind enough to take me out and chloroform me.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

SOMEBODY you thought was your friend said something mean about you the other day—and now you don't know what to do about it?

She said you let your mother do all the hard work while you skipped around to teas and tangoes. She said your mother hadn't a decent dress to her back, and you always have the very latest fads in the way of clothes—and she pretended to think so much of you, too.

Well, now, how do you know she said it?

Who told you—and why did she tell you?

And then—is it true?

Do you let your mother do all the hard work while you run around to teas and tangoes? And do you look like a picture out of a fashion plate while she looks like a poor but honest scrubwoman?

If you do, your friend had a perfect right to say so.

Who are you that no one should dare to tell the truth about you?

Your mother wants you to have a good time. She's never happy unless you're happy.

How about you? Are you happy when she is not?

If you are, you have a very foolish mother, and your mother is bringing up a selfish, cold-hearted, silly girl.

Perhaps your friend didn't mean to do you a good turn when she said that about you—but it seems to me she did—anyhow.

Perhaps you will realize now just exactly how you looked to other people.

Turn around in your tracks and be a different sort of girl. Perhaps then people will say a different kind of thing about you.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

You Are Only as Old as You Are Adaptable

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

DR. HIRSHBERG

THE grave question which all the sons and daughters of Adam ask themselves sooner or later is, "How can we preserve our salad days of green judgment? How can the mirth of December and the warmth of July, as it fleeteth by, be bottled up for emergencies?"

Youth is filled with buoyant hopes which turn everything like marigolds toward the sunny side. Youth is bright with beginnings, with aspirations, with faith, with trust, with gleaming defiance of danger, despair and darksome deeds.

The heart and living structures of youth are like a bee among a wild of honeysuckles. The play-place of life's endeavor knows no such word as work or worry.

While growth and upbuilding changes occur in the living fabric—in the structural texture of the body—it is physiologically impossible for the gray matter and the bodily sense of health to look seriously upon anything.

There is, said Hazlitt, a feeling of eternity in youth which makes amends for everything. To be young is to be as one of the immortals. No youth believes he will ever die. Healthful growth of the organism is incompatible with any realization of sickness, age or death.

The Greatest Boon.

The gift of youth is the greatest boon of the gods. Sadly, it is the most precarious, the most easily lost and outgrown gift of life.

The philosopher said a man that is young in years may be old in hours if he has lost no time. But that happens rarely. Generally youth is like the first cogitations, not so wise as the second. There is youth in health and in thoughts as well as in ages. Yet the invention of young men is more lively than that of old, and images stream into their senses and brain better, and, as it were, more divinely.

Youth is the flow of growth, of expansion, of physiological adaptation. It is a fever of reason. Youth is the resilient, plastic, elastic life putty which meets all change, despite the defects of inheritance.

Therefore, it so happens that many young persons supposed to be sparkling with youth are actually old, while many octogenarians and so-termed aged ones are bubbling over with the fountain of youth.

Individuals under twenty who fail to feel, see, hear, move, touch and otherwise take in and store up for future use all that goes on around them are prematurely old. They are not taking advantage of their growth and expansive powers. Youth is not in them.

Youth Always Adaptable.

There are many such. Just as there are more sheep who blindly follow a leader without hewing pathways for themselves, so there are more "old" young people who cohere as one society, one organization, one unit, one mass, one agreeable, pleasant body.

Similarly there are often middle-aged and soi-disant old men who are actually more youthful than most persons under thirty-five. These learn new things easily, apply progressive inventions quickly, grow every hour and are forever adaptable.

These facts also give the solar plexus blow to such absurd phrases as "a man is as old as his arteries."

There is no truth whatever in that slogan. Experimentally it is discredited, and physiologically it has been completely disproved. Neither the fleeting years nor the absence of sensory and muscular growth, neither lack of originality nor deficient adaptability make hardened arteries.

Indeed soft, compressible and seemingly pliable blood channels often are associated with senility, decay and incapacity for mental, physical or [illegible] growth at ninety and at nineteen.

Hardened arteries are as independent and distinct from crabbed age and dauntless youth as are the tango and the Congo sleeping sickness.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. R. N.—Will you kindly tell me what is a good brush to use on the hair? I am going to try the brushing method to increase the length of my hair.

Select a brush that has bristles stiff enough to stimulate the scalp, but do not have them so stiff that they irritate. The proper stiffness of a brush depends upon the sensitiveness of the scalp.

In order to have healthy and beautiful hair the brush should be frequently washed.

* * *

M. C.—When I dance my arms grow tired holding them out. What shall I do?

When you are not dancing take an erect position, body rigid, head braced, with hands tightly clinched, extend the arms above the head as far as possible. Now bend the arms at elbows and with the hands turned downward at the wrist, drop the hands till the thumbs touch the shoulders. Extend the arms again to first position. The arm and shoulder muscles will be developed and the circulation of the upper part of the body stimulated.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

IT SEEMS to me we ought to have a larger house," said Mr. Squirrel to Mrs. Squirrel one frosty morning.

"How are we going to get it?" asked his good wife.

"Well," began Mr. Squirrel, "I know of one way, and that is to pour some water in this crack in the oak tree and when the water freezes it will split the tree."

"What!" exclaimed Mrs. Squirrel. "Do you mean to say that frozen water will split a big oak tree?"

"Indeed it will," answered her husband.

"All right," replied Mrs. Squirrel. "We will do as you say. Where do we get the water?"

"From the same place we always get it," answered Mr. Squirrel. "At the spring. You know a spring never freezes in the winter time."

Soon Mr. Squirrel and his wife were carrying water in little nuts which they had hollowed out. After a while they filled the hole in the oak tree with water and it started to freeze. By and by the tree began to crack.

Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were busy getting out the ice with their teeth and claws. Suddenly they looked down and saw Brer Rabbit watching them from the foot of the tree.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"We poured some water in a hole in the oak tree and when it froze it cracked a hole and made a nice new room for us," said Mr. Squirrel.

"I see! I see!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit, as he started for the hole he had made in the ground. "Now," he said to himself, "I will fill this little hole with water and when it freezes it will make the hole larger, so I can get in myself and save me digging so much."

Back and forth to the spring he went with the cup he had made from an oak leaf.

By and by the hole was filled with water and Brer Rabbit went away.

When he came back the top of the hole was covered with ice.

"Now what do you think of that!" he said to himself. "I have gone and closed that hole up. My teeth are not like those of Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel. They will not bite the ice out. I guess I won't try to imitate other folks after this."

Practice.

Mertie—But what did Fred say when you caught him kissing the maid?

Marie—Oh, he explained that he was merely "warming up."

It Looks Easy.

"I think I would like that job," said Toyle Knott.

"What job?" asked Tyre Dout.

"Switchman on an airship transportation line."

Letters Transposed.

"I see that Flijit and his wife are united."

"That was a typographical error. It should have been 'untied.'"

Both Were Successful.

"Was he successful in his suit for the hand of the heiress?"

"Yes, but not so much so as the chorus girl was in her suit for breach of promise. She got a judgment for $50,000."

WANDERLUST.

I hear insistent singing in a corner of my brain.
It must
Be the gust
Of the waking wanderlust.
What glimpses it is bringing of the orient—and Spain!
I scan
Quaint Japan
And bejeweled Hindustan.
I sway to rhythmic measures of a melody unknown
"Why thrall,"
Is its call,
"To one land, O lord of all?
You, who yet are straight and strong,
Foot the highway! Life's not long!
Throw away your shriveled crust!
Waken!" sings the wanderlust.

"See where waters lap the sky,
Slave of poisoned city dust?
Far beyond is bright romance
Where the languid houris sigh.
Spurn the job and lose the chance!
Would you rot?
Would you rust?
Chained and cobwebbed would you die?
Waken!" sings the wanderlust.

"Oh, the breakers now are pounding on a Polynesian shore
To the rip
Of a ship
Throttled in the tempest's grip,
And the booming conch is sounding in the temples of Lahore,
And the lead
Bloody red
Stretches desert bandits dead.
And the slender palms are sighing by a sea of rippled gold
Where guitars
Lift the bars
Of a love song to the stars.
Out—oh, you yet are hale!
Out—to battle with the gale!
Out—to parry foeman's thrust!
Waken!" sings the wanderlust.

See where scarlet sinks the sun,
Slave of poisoned city dust?
Far beyond is where there's life,
Where the reckless deeds are done.
Stolen kiss and gleaming knife—
(Would you rot?
Would you rust?)
Ha, the glint along the gun!
"Waken!" growls the wanderlust.
—Thomas R. Ybarra in New York Times.

A CITY IN THE SEA.

Ruins of an Ancient Town on the Bed of the Adriatic.

Near Rovigo, on the peninsula of Istria, in the Adriatic sea, the ruins of a large town are said to exist at the bottom of the sea. It had been observed for some years that fishermen's nets were sometimes entangled in what appeared to be masses of masonry, of which fragments were brought up from the sea bed, says the Pall Mall Gazette. A diver declared that he had seen walls and streets below the water.

The city authorities decided to investigate. They sent down a diver, who, at the depth of 851 feet, found himself surrounded on the bottom of the sea by the ruined walls, undoubtedly the work of man. Continuing his explorations, he traced the line of walls and was able to distinguish how the streets were laid out. He did not see any doors or window openings, for they were hidden by masses of seaweed and incrustations. He traced the masonry for a distance of 100 feet, where he had to stop, as his diving cord did not permit him to go farther.

Some people think that they identify this lost town with the island mentioned by Pliny the elder under the name of Cissa, near Istria. This island cannot be found now, and it is thought the submerged town may have been a settlement on the island that so mysteriously disappeared.

LIGHT REFLECTION.

The Reason Why Foam Always Appears White in Color.

When water or liquid of any color is violently agitated small bubbles of air are mixed up with it, and thus foam is formed, and its whiteness is due to the fact that when light passes from one medium to another of a different refractive index it is always reflected, and this reflection may be so often repeated as to render the mixture impervious to light.

It is, then, this frequency of the reflections of the limiting surfaces of air and water that renders foam opaque, and as each particle reflects light in all directions so much light is reflected that the mixture appears white.

To a similar cause is due the whiteness of transparent bodies when crushed to powder. The separate particles transmit light freely, but the reflections at their surfaces are so numerous that the resulting effect is white. Thus glass when crushed is a white powder and is opaque, but when it is put under water it once more becomes transparent, because the water fills up the interstices between the particles and the reflections are destroyed. Salt and snow are also common examples of this condition.

How Roots Penetrate Hard Ground.

The extreme tips of a delicate root are protected by a sheath set with minute scales, which as it is worn away by friction against the soil is as constantly replaced, so that it acts as a wedge and the root thread is carried down uninjured. Another aid to penetration lies in the provision whereby the root as it pushes downward in search of nourishment exercises a slightly spiral, screwlike motion which worms its tip into the ground. Another important agent is the acid cell cap, which exudes on to and dissolves to some extent the rock or hard soil. This may be tested by placing a small piece of polished marble in a pot in which a plant is set and covering it with earth. After some weeks the marble will be found to have been corroded by the continuous action of this acid.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months resident upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for 2nd Extension of New Breakwater, Port Arthur Harbour, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., on Monday, March 2nd, 1914, for the construction of an Extension to what is known as the "New Breakwater" in the Harbour of Port Arthur, Thunder Bay and Rainy River District, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., Port Arthur, Ont., Post-Office, Montreal, and Post-Office, Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to five per cent (5 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

Two Tales in One.

Six-year old George's father had taken him to a circus, and that night the mother asked her little son what he had seen.

"Mamma," said George, all excitement, "I saw a great big 'l'phant with two tails, and he was eatin' with one of 'em."—St. Louis Times.

A man who formerly was a waiter on a big transatlantic liner told this story the other day:

"On a certain trip over I had at my table an irascible old gentleman who was a fresh air fiend. No matter what the weather he always insisted on having the porthole over the table open. It was no use to argue with him, but one day when the seas were very high and the ship pitching and rolling I ventured to remonstrate. He was up in arms in a minute. 'You are paid to obey orders,' he said tartly. 'Open that port.' I did. The soup course was served in safety. Then I asked him if he would have fish. 'Of course I will,' he snapped. 'And I'll have it in a hurry. Don't keep me waiting all day.'

"Just at that moment an unusually big sea rolled by—that is, part of it did. A goodly portion came through the porthole, soaking the old man and depositing on the table in front of him a live fish. No waiter on board of our ship had ever served an order so quickly before. But I didn't get any credit for it. The queer thing about that story," he added, "is that it isn't a fish story at all. I never told it yet to any one who believed it, but it is absolutely true."—New York Press.

The Magnetic Needle.

There are two places on the earth's surface where the magnetic needle must point due south. They are not easy places to reach. One is in the arctic regions north of the northern magnetic pole, on the line between that pole and the geographical north pole. The other is in the antarctic regions, south of the southern magnetic pole, on the line between that spot and the geographical south pole. In the first case the point of the needle is attracted to the northern magnetic pole. In the second case the other end of the needle is attracted to the southern magnetic pole.

Reasonable Fear.

"John, is that you?"

"Yesh, Mary."

"What in the world are you doing down there? Why don't you come up to bed?"

"I'm afraid of gettin' hurt on these darned revolvin' stairsh."—Chicago Record-Herald.

NAPOLEON LOVED SNUFF.

And He Pinched the Boxes as Well as the Pungent Dust.

Napoleon loved snuff; not only on the battlefield, but at home in the council, he had recourse to the dust, especially when his schemes were unfavorably received and he wished to hide his uneasiness or impatience. Unable to sit still in his elbow chair, he would try in a thousand ways to divert attention from himself, and among other devices, as soon as he saw a member's eye fixed on him would hold out his arm and shake his thumb and forefinger, to signify that he wished for a pinch of snuff. Not less than four, and even six, snuffboxes disappeared in this manner during a single sitting, and it was not till he had left the council chamber that he became aware of the larceny. So confirmed was this habit that some of the councilors, whose snuffboxes were heirlooms or presents from foreign princes, hit upon the expedient of carrying cheap papier mache or wooden boxes for the emperor to pocket. The snuffboxes, however, always returned to their owners and in doing so were often found to have undergone a very pleasant metamorphosis. By some necromancy a wooden or tortoise shell box, on coming out from the imperial pocket, was usually transformed into one of gold, set around with diamonds, or bearing the emperor's miniature on the lid.—William Matthews, "Hours With Men and Books."

Dr. Arnold Hague shows that there is a strong contrast between the geological conditions connected with the geysers of Iceland and those of the Yellowstone park. Volcanic eruptions may be said geologically to be still going on in Iceland, while in the Yellowstone such action ceased many thousands of years ago. The Yellowstone phenomena as seen today represent a phase in the evolution of thermal springs. The tendency of a geyser is to develop a hot surface pool, after which explosive action may cease and the geyser, as such, become extinct, but this is a very slow process. Dr. Hague rejects the idea that the cessation of activity in a geyser indicates the dissipation of the original source of heat and ascribes it simply to a shifting of the channel of the ascending waters.

Intensive Cultivation.

"Intensive cultivation," so called, has reached its highest state of perfection in the market gardens lying about Paris, where land rent runs to $250 an acre or more a year and four crops are taken from the soil between February and November, and on the island of Guernsey, in the English channel, where farming land is valued at $1,200 an acre—two instances that move all writers upon agricultural topics to wondering awe—and yet in the near vicinity of Boston gardeners growing lettuce, radishes and cucumbers under glass are clearing $3,000 to $4,000 an acre a year without attracting more than passing notice.—National Magazine.

A Card Sharp's Trick.

A Moscow card sharp has confessed that he has been winning money at the chief clubs for thirty years past by the following trick: On the pretext that his eyes were weak he invariably wore dark spectacles at night. His favorite game was one called "bank," in which the eights and nines are the most important cards. In his waistcoat pocket he kept a preparation of phosphorus and by touching the backs of cards which he wished to mark he made them slightly luminous. His dark spectacles enabled him to see the small phosphorous marks, which were invisible to the other players. After a few deals with a pack he could play with absolute certainty.

Many Reasons Why Liquid Cough Mixture Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary but will always cure permanently.

Yours sincerely, (Signed) WILLIAM RAGAN, Brockville, Ont.

For absolute, permanent cure, use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A Good Work Done.

Good boy, Street Commissioner Evans! Icy pavement in the central portion of the city actually had some sand sprinkled on them yesterday. Any broken thighs, arms, legs, heads or tempers will be confined now to the residential portion of Peterborough.

Did We Have an Earthquake.

Peterborough had a real earthquake which rocked the entire north-eastern section of this continent yesterday afternoon between 1.30 and 1.40 o'clock Reports from schools, factories and private homes all state that the tremor was very distinct and in a few instances considerable alarm was felt

Lindsay Game Called Off.

Lindsay Post: "Pete" Spratt's hand picked hockey team from Peterborough will not clash with the pick of the local Town League on Thursday evening of this week, so the game will be arranged for a later date. Peterborough Intermediates have two games with Orillia this week—on Tuesday and Friday and this is the reason for postponement.

A Mistaken Correspondent.

A correspondent writes the Examiner last night re the local street railway motormen and conductors. The writer says that "there is not a city born employee manning the cars." He says further, "they must be on the job every day in the year." That correspondent evidently is short-sighted and thinks there are Sunday cars in Peterborough.

Our Icy Pavements.

On Monday night, Miss Chamberlen of North Monaghan, was the victim of a painful accident. She was returning home from down town by way of Hunter street. Near the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, she slipped on the icy pavement, and fell, breaking her arm. The ambulance was hurriedly summoned, and Miss Chamberlen was taken to Nicholls Hospital.

Local Man at Chicago.

Mrs. Octave Mollatt, of Peterborough, Ont., was in the city last week visiting her brother, J. P. Sullivan, 4515 Indiana ave., a well known and prosperous decorator, who recently figured in all the City Market buildings at Columbus, Ohio, also on the complete re-decorating of the Fair department store, Chicago. He is a former resident of Peterborough and Lindsay, Ont.—Chicago British-American Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association.

The annual meeting of the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association Limited was held at the offices of the Equity Life Assurance Company, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, for the election of directors and the transaction of other general business. Reports showed that the Association is in a very healthy condition in every respect.

Explains His Black Eye.

Yesterday morning a well known local citizen, who occasionally dallies with the extract of malt and rye, had a black eye. When asked by a Times reporter, "Have you been out splitting wood and had a stick strike you in the eye?" replied, "No, I had a nightmare last night. I dreampt that I tackled a Peterborough Intermediate hockey player and the hockey artist hit me with his stick."

Farmers' Institute Meeting.

Yesterday the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute held a special winter meeting at Temperance Hall, on the 4th Line of Smith. The following gentlemen delivered addresses —C. E. Moore, President, opening address; D. James, Thornhill, subject, "The Dairy Herd—Feed and Care;" Robt. Murphy, Alliston, subject, "Soil Cultivation and Drainage." Some addresses were given by local gentlemen at all the meetings.

That Basketball Game.

Referring to the basketball game played at Lindsay by Peterborough young ladies, the Post says: "Both teams played beautifully, but L.C.I. gradually forged ahead and by half time stood 13—6. The Peterborough girls were undismayed by the turn of events and strove to regain the ground lost. Fine combination plays were made by P.C.I., only to be checked by a similarly brilliant counterplay of the local team. At the final play, the score stood 24—20 in favor of the local Collegiate girls.

Local Mumps Epidemic.

On account of the epidemic of mumps in the Public Schools and in order to check the spread of the disease, the following instructions have been sent to the Public School teachers: Pupils coming to school from homes where mumps exist, must have a doctor's certificate before they will be admitted. Pupils who have had mumps are not to be allowed to return to school before the expiration of four weeks. Teachers will be required to have medical certificates in all suspected cases.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held yesterday morning. Dr. McPherson spoke of great necessity of an assistant to Mr. Spence. He would greatly like to see Mr. Spence have written office hours. The suggestion of the M.H.O. was not acted on. An extension of the garbage system was held over until the meeting of the Property Committee last night. Scavangers will now be licensed.

Charley Ray's Benefit.

At a meeting held Monday night in the Dominion Bank Chambers to consider giving a hockey match as a benefit affair for Charley Ray, son of Mr. S. Ray, the Hunter street tobacconist briefly referred to in yesterday's issue, the following committee was appointed to arrange for the affair for Feb. 21st: Messrs. R. Neill, W. H. Denham, Dr. McPherson, R. Dobie, H. R. H. Kenner, P. Campbell, F. M. Dela Fosse, L. J. Picard, J. J. Thompson, George Lynch, F. D. Craig, C. E. Curtis, C. H. Clementi, W. H. Walkey, J. P. Bond and W. M. Lang.

BREAKS A BAD COLD IN A JIFFY! TRY IT

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy, and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

The Late Dr. Caldwell.

The funeral of the late Dr. Caldwell took place yesterday from the family residence, Brock street, to the Little Lake cemetery, and was largely attended. The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church, who in his address referred in feeling terms to the love and useful life which Dr. Caldwell had lived. The pall-bearers were Drs. Halliday, Hammond, P. T. McCullough, Carmichael, and Messrs. John Nugent and W. H. Robertson.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel and Pills act on Liver and Bowels like pepper acts in Nostrils—Danger!

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. They only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

20,000 BALES OF COTTON DESTROYED IN TEXAS FIRE

Houston, Tex., Feb. 11.—Nearly $1,000,000 damage was done by fire in the Southern Pacific cotton sheds at Clinton, Tex., to-day. Between 15,000 and 20,000 bales of cotton were consumed or badly damaged. The fire, starting before daylight, burned for six hours before it was brought under control.

CRITICISM OF FORD'S PROFIT SHARING PLAN

Montreal, Feb. 11.—At a socialist mass meeting in Detroit 500 workingmen, many of whom are employed in the automobile factories, denounced Henry Ford and his $10,000,000 profit sharing plan on the ground that labor has been dealt the severest blow it has received from capital in many years.

W. W. Niles writes to the New York Sun on the subject of Henry Ford's profit-sharing plan in part as follows:

"His proposition is so weighed down with possibilities for evil that it would seem as though every man who has the welfare of his country at heart would enter his protest against it. To my mind Mr. Ford has done more to advance socialism than all the propagandists have been able to accomplish in the last 20 years. Such ill considerd and irrational distribution of wealth makes it imperative that the individual should be curtailed in his power to injure by depriving him of or at least limiting his opportunity for acquiring wealth."

Mr. Niles suggests the following reasons for belief that Mr. Ford's act will result in great harm:

"First, it is charity, in its most unjustifiable form: that is, where there was no pressing need. Mr. Ford has thrown his money away among his employees as truly as though he had gone into the streets with a bag of gold. They are to do nothing in return for the extra money.

"Secondly, he has done something which will tend to demoralise the entire automobile business, nay, all business. His act cannot fail to make labor discontented and to result in demands which cannot be met.

"Thirdly, his act will not benefit his intended beneficiaries. What has cost nothing is appreciated at about that value. His employees will gain nothing except perhaps a more stylish mode of living which it will be extremely difficult for him to forego should disaster come to his plant.

"Fourthly, he has dealt a serious blow to all other labor within the territory in which this money will be spent. His employees in spending their money will largely increase the already high cost of living in the section where they live.

"Fifthly, should disaster come to the Ford plant from death of its master or from decrease in demand for automobiles or from invention of some better and cheaper machine, what is to become of all his employees who have been led into needless extravagance by his unwise misuse of his money?

"Should his example be followed by all other manufacturers, which, of course, it cannot, we should be none the better off. It would be merely like an inflation of the currency; we should have twice as much money to expend, but everything would cost twice as much so we should get no more for our money."

The appeal of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the matter of the Fort George station site has been dismissed.

LIBERAL MEMBERS MEET TO DISCUSS REDISTRIBUTION

Ontario and Quebec Members Held Separate Caucuses This Morning

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 11.—Liberal members from Quebec and Ontario held separate caucuses this morning at which the question of redistribution was discussed, and the matter of appointing members to the redistribution committee considered. It was felt that members should be in a position to keep the committee posted on various points in connection with the representation of the Province, and it was decided that every man should be in possession of all the facts required for the consideration of the redistribution of the constituencies.

No decision has yet been reached by either party as to who will make up the committee of seven to prepare the schedules. H. B. Ames of the St. Antoine division of Montreal is spoken of favorably for chairman of the committee. Mr. Ames possesses a strong personality, and would, it is considered handle the difficult committee well.

The Conservative Choice.

It is believed that either Dr. Roche or Hon. Arthur Meighen will represent Western constituencies for the Government. There is a wide choice in Ontario, and Sam Sharp, Hon. Sam Barker, Col. Hugh Clark and W. F. Bennett are all talked of. It is thought that E. N. Rhodes will represent the Maritimes.

It is believed that the choice of the Liberals for their wing of the committee will be E. N. MacDonald, of Picton; Dr. Beland, of Beauce and Fred Pardee, chief Liberal whip.

Seven For Toronto.

By the proposed redistribution Toronto will gain two new seats, thus making seven in the city, or ten in Toronto and York County. It is possible that the Provincial boundaries will be followed in the case of York County, making East, West and North York.

NATIONALISTS SIT SPEECHLESS, GLUM AS ASQUITH SPEAKS

Position Now Far Removed From Redmond Mandate "Full Steam Ahead."

London, Feb. 11.—Two features of the Parliamentary situation stand foremost in the public mind to-day, namely: The expression in His Majesty the King's speech, which was obviously his own, that Irish settlement by consent is his earnest wish; and Mr. Asquith's obvious anxiety for peace.

The Ministerial Daily News half rebukes Mr. Asquith for pledging the Government to take an early initiative in attempting the solution of the Home Rule bill.

No "Full Steam Ahead" Now.

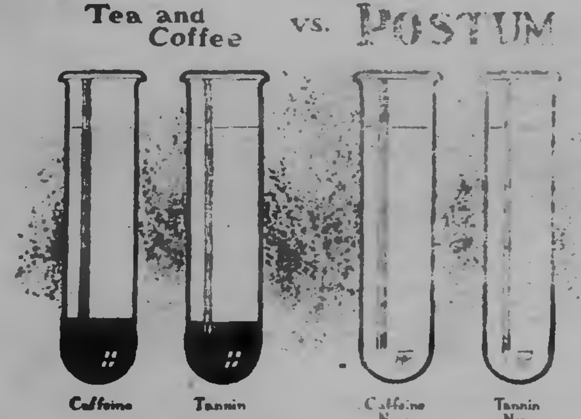
Especially noteworthy was the gloominess of the Nationalists in the House when Mr. Asquith in solemn tones made this concession. How far removed this seemed from Mr. Redmond's defiant mandate "full steam ahead."

Unionists call Mr. Asquith's attitude a "climb down" and "throwing the bill into the melting pot."

The Government are evidently unprepared to fight the issue to a finish on the measure as it stands.

A well known Nationalist after hearing Mr. Asquith said: "We could never agree to the exclusion of Ulster but we fear we may be jockeyed into such a position by the combination of the English parties."

Tea and Coffee vs. POSTUM



Any analytical chemist can prove by analysis, that tea and coffee contain two harmful drugs—

Caffeine—an alkaloid that irritates the heart, liver and kidneys, and upsets the nerves.

Tannin—a drug which produces an astringent action upon the tissues of the stomach and bowels.

But the greatest test of all is made in thousands of homes where it is daily proven by personal experience that headaches, biliousness, indigestion, heart irritation and nervousness are very often caused by tea or coffee drinking.

An ordinary cup of tea or coffee contains from 1½ to 3 grains of caffeine, and from 2 to 7 grains of tannin.

Therefore, the simple, easy way out of tea and coffee troubles is to quit these harmful beverages and use the pure food-drink

POSTUM

It is absolutely free from these drugs or any harmful substance. Made only from prime wheat (roasted) and a small per cent of molasses, Postum contains the rich, nutritious values of the grain—is a genuine food-drink.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder. A teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water, with cream and sugar, makes a delightful beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

PRINCESS BLACKMAILED

Former American Girl Has a London Man Arrested.

London, Feb. 11.—Charged with attempting to blackmail Princess Victor of Thurn and Taxis, formerly Mrs Fitzgerald, of Uniontown, Pa., J. H. Maur was arrested to-day and remanded for trial in the West Minster police Court.

The Princess charged that Maur, impersonating a private detective, wrote her letters demanding money, threatening in the event of her refusal to pay, to make public information of her visits to the flat of a London man.

MORE POVERTY TO-DAY THAN IN PAST 35 YEARS

Is Opinion of Canon Dixon, Who Has Intimate Knowledge of the City Conditions.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—"Never in 35 years anything like the amount of poverty that there is to-day," is the well considered opinion of a man who has been connected with charitable work in Toronto all his life, and who for many years has been rector of a parish including some of the poorest parts of Toronto, the district south of Queen street near the Don. Canon Dixon, whose first hand knowledge of actual conditions among the poor is not surpassed by anyone in the city writes as follows:

"I have been in charitable work for over 35 years, but have never seen anything like the amount of poverty that there is to-day. It is quite true that there are some frauds, and they will remain in this world as long as the world remains, but I can vouch for the fact that where there is one of this class in the community we can produce many who are everything that can be desired and will do a good day's work if they can get it. But let us suppose that there are a number of men who are of the fraud class, what is to be done with their little children in this kind of weather, without proper food or clothing? I have had men within the last few days scramble for the position of sandwich men, which is considered to be the hardest to obtain men for that can be mentioned; but each cheerfully said: 'I am willing to do anything if I can get my children bread.'"

WARSHIPS TO RESCUE OF DRIFTING POTOMAC

Naval Tug Thought to be Locked in the Centre of an Ice Field

—Warships to rescue drifting

Washington, Feb. 11.—Drifting helplessly about, locked in the centre of an ice field in the bay islands, the naval tug Potomac is now believed to be without any means of extricating herself. Equipped with provisions intended for the forty Maine fishermen whose fleet is slowly being crushed in the formidable ice jam, scant danger from lack of food confronts the 36 members of the tug's crew, but the coal bunkers of the vessel have undoubtedly been exhausted, according to experts.

Navy department officers have heretofore belittled fears of those interested in the safety of the crew, but real anxiety was admitted to-day. Deluged with appeals from the wives and families of the crew, Secretary of Navy Daniels is now considering dispatching one of the most powerful vessels in the navy to crush a path through the ice and tow the tug to safety.

Wireless calls sent out at short intervals for 48 hours from the station at Sydney, Cape Breton, Ireland have brought no response.

UNION MEN PREFERRED

One Body That Worked 30 Years Without a Strike.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Extracts from the report of the investigators appointed by the commission on industrial returns to ascertain the relation of the Western Federation of Miners to the industrial disturbance in Michigan and Colorado, were made public to-day.

In Butte Mont., the report stated the union laborers are preferred from choice by the mine operators. The favorable conditions are caused by the fact that 76 per cent. of the miners are American, English, Irish, Scotch, Welsh, or Canadian, says the report. In Virginia City, Nevada, the miners have worked under written trade agreements for thirty years without a strike it adds.

SEVEN MILITANTS GO TO JAIL

They Protested Because King Did Not Mention Votes for Women.

London, Feb. 11.—Seven militant suffragettes were sentenced by the magistrate at Bow Street police court to-day to four days imprisonment each on their refusal to find sureties that they would keep the peace for six months after they had been charged with obstruction and assault in connection with last night's attempt of the police to arrest Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst.

The women informed the magistrate that their demonstration of yesterday was a protest against the exclusion of the question of votes for women from the King's speech at the opening of Parliament. There was no leaders among the prisoners.

$33,420 WANTED BY BOARD OF WORKS FOR CURRENT YEAR

Last Year's Appropriation Was $28,500, Making an Increase of $4,920 Submitted Last Night--Estimates May Be Pared Somewhat--Suggested That $9000 for Stone and Gravel Be Applied to Permanent Work

The City's Board of Works met in regular weekly session last night, Chairman Ald. Geo. Duncan presiding. There were also present Mayor Buller, Aldermen Duffus, Stratton, Anderson, Johnston, Green, Saunders and City Engineer Parsons.

Street Signs.

The Engineer reported that to put one sign to each street intersection would require a total of 821 signs. To put one sign at each of the available corners on every street intersection would require 2246 signs.

The estimate cost of the post to support such signs made out of two inch galvanized iron pipe and set in concrete, the post to be 8 feet above the ground, is $2.95 a piece. $200 worth of signs will be indulged in for this year.

New Bridges.

The Engineer will estimate cost of building bridges on Bonacord and Townsend streets (the latter at George street), the work to be done by debenture under the local improvements act. Also bridges on London street across the Downie street creek, Victoria avenue and Smith street.

General Appropriations.

The City Engineer submitted the following estimates for this year:

Approaches	$ 50
Miscellaneous	750
Horses' feed	425
Bridges (county repairs)	650
Concrete walks maintenance	150
New crossings (concrete)	200
Culverts	300
Flagging Ry. crossings	750
General Street work	2,500
Grading and water tabling	1,000
Gravel and stone	9,000
Office supplies	350
Opening water courses	300
Protection wall for Murray St. creek	500
Sanding walks (to avoid accidents)	200
Sewerage pumping station (maintenance, repairs, etc	100
Sewer maintenance	400
Street cleaning	2,500
Surface drainage	1,500
Trimming trees	200
Weeds and grass cutting	200
Repairing wooden walks	600
Salaries	7,000
	$31,925

Extras.

Boundary roads appropriation	$450
Street signs	200
Painting bridges and railings	150
New water cart	350
Smith St. bridge (at Jackson Park)	120
Cement testing outfit	225
	$1,495
General appropriation	$31,925
Total	$33,420

The Paring Down.

Discussing the advisability of cutting these estimates down somewhat, Ald. Green contended it would be more honorable to raise the tax rate in order to meet all requirements than to undertake work and not do it properly, and still have a high rate.

Of the $7000 shown above for salaries, $4500 is chargeable to debentures, leaving the amount chargeable to the Board of Works Department at only $2500.

No paring down was done last night the estimates being left in abeyance until the estimates for other departments are arrived at.

Ald. Green again expressed his anxiety to keep down the rate, but was not willing that such should be done in a manner detrimental to the city's interests. A low rate is not always healthy. Any legitimate work called for which can be done should be done.

Ald. Johnston replied that, for this year at any rate, every effort should be made to keep the rate where it is.

A Good Move.

For gravel and stone for road making $9000 was allowed, but the city engineer and Ald. Duncan suggested to put this money into concrete road work (permanent) which would not need repair for years, and thus have more cash available for work on streets which have practically been receiving no attention. Permanent concrete road work could be done under the local improvement act, thus reducing the Board of Works appropriation.

THIS SIMPLE RECIPE QUICKLY BANISHES HAIRS

(Beauty Topics)

Here is a simple and inexpensive recipe of formula which is used with excellent results by many beauty specialists for removing hairy growths on the face, neck or arms: Mix a stiff paste with a little delatone and water and spread on hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. Care should be exercised to get the delatone in an original package, otherwise it may not be pure.

BRITIAN'S WARSHIPS GO INTO FOREIGN SEAS

England Virtually Denuded of Defensive Ring of Fighting Craft--Little Alarm Now

Montreal, Feb. 11.—A London cable to the Daily Mail says:

The departure yesterday from home stations of the first and third battle squadrons and the first battle cruiser squadron completes a series of British fleet movements, spread over the past month which have virtually denuded the shores of England of their defensive ring of fighting craft, and at the same time afford the clearest proof of the vastly improved international situation.

For some years past, so threatening has the international horizon appeared that in the North Sea alone was it possible to contemplate a concentration of the home fleet for the spring exercises, officers and men thus being held almost prisoners to the shores which it is their first duty to guard.

The Departures.

Almost a month ago the nine battleships of the second battle squadron and the four armoured cruisers of the second cruiser squadron, left Portland Bay for Spanish waters, Aroma Bay and Vigo being their destination.

At the same time the third cruiser squadron was at Gibraltar and the fourth battle squadron was enroute for "The Rock."

Yesterday's departures completed the removal from home waters of the vessels which are constantly maintained in full commission, and the 16 battleships of the fifth and sixth battle squadrons, with their nucleus crews and the torpedo flotillas, alone remain in home waters.

PLEADING FOR LIFE WOMAN SHOT AT HOME

Mysterious Veiled Stranger Slays Mrs. Harriett Manning, While Mother and Sister Look on.

Newark, N.J., Feb. 11.—The entire detective force of Newark aided by the staff prosecuting attorney to-day endeavored to solve the mystery of the shooting of Mrs. Harriett Manning, 28 years old, who was strangely killed in the home of her mother last night.

An umbrella dropped in haste, a revolver, cast away when no longer needed and a button believed to have fallen from the slayer's raincoat are the only clues obtained.

As to the identity of the person in woman's garb who gained admission to the house by describing herself as a "friend from Philadelphia" whipped a pistol from the folds of her dress and then shot Mrs. Manning to death as her mother and sister screamed in terror.

Although the theory was advanced that the murderer might have been a man dressed as a woman, Mrs. Harriett Cobb, the mother, and Mrs. Mary Reilly, the sister of the dead woman, declare the intruder had the voice of a woman. She was heavily veiled, however.

The first shot fired by the mysterious slayer struck Mrs. Manning in the head. She dropped beside a couch as she prayed that her life might be spared, her assailant sent another bullet into her body.

R. C. PRIEST, A MURDERER WILL END LIFE IN THE CHAIR

Sentenced at New York--Quotes Poem in Last Message --Taken to Sing Sing

New York, Feb. 11.—Hans Schmidt Roman Catholic priest convicted of murdering Anna Aumueller, a domestic, at St. Boniface Catholic church, to-day was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing sometime during the week beginning March 23.

Just before Schmidt was called into the court the newspaper men sent him a message asking him if he wished to make a statement. He sent back a carefully penned note as follows:

"Beyond this vale of tears there is a life above,
Unmeasured by the flight of years,
And all that life is love."

Schmidt took his sentence with absolutely no show of emotion. He stood erect before Justice Davis and looked straight at him, taking no notice whatever of anyone else around him. When justice Davis put the question, "Have you anything to say before sentence is passed upon you?" he merely leaned slightly forward. There was a pause, and Attorney McManus moved for a new trial and a stay of sentence. Both motions were denied.

Immediately sentence was pronounced, Deputy Sheriff Bowers stepped to the priest-murderer's side with a pair of hand-cuffs. Schmidt turned to Bowers and cooly held out his hands.

Schmidt was immediately taken to Sing Sing.

Hamilton tax rate was fixed by the Board of Control at 20 mills.

TRIP FOR PRINCE IS BEING ARRANGED

Under Secretary of State for the Colonies is Mapping Out the Route.

London, Feb. 11.—I understand today that Sir John Anderson, permanent under secretary of state for the Colonies has been directed by His Majesty the King to draft a proposed route for H.R.H. the Prince of Wales' tour of the Empire, which it is expected will take place in the autumn of 1915. The Prince will probably be accompanied by his sailor brother, Prince Albert.

Pat's Argument.

An Englishman touring through Ireland was caught in a rainstorm, and was obliged to take shelter in a cottage, where he saw several holes in the roof, which let in the torrential rain.

"Why don't you mend those holes?" he inquired.

"Would you have me get out and mend them in this weather?" inquired Pat.

"No, you could do it when it's fine."

"Shure, your honor," was the reply, "there's no need to do it then?"

POET OF MANY VERSES.

An Anecdote of Pellegrin, an Eighteenth Century Bard.

The impecunious French poets of the middle eighteenth century used to consort at the cafes, where sometimes they would pick up customers. One of the worst and at the same time the most facile of the bards was Pellegrin, of whom a characteristic story is told in "An Eighteenth Century Marquise." One day a newcomer entered the cafe and began complaining that he was going to be married and had no epithalamium for his wedding. Pellegrin hastened to offer one of his own compositions. A deal was soon arranged, and the price agreed upon was 20 sous a verse. The poet disappeared. The bridegroom was presently accosted by a stranger, who began a conversation on various subjects and suddenly said:

"By the by, my friend, what price are you paying Pellegrin?"

"Twenty sous a verse."

"H'm."

"Is that too dear?"

"No"—doubtfully—"not if you fixed the length of the poem."

"I never thought of doing that."

"When is he to bring your epithalamium?"

"Tomorrow morning."

"Tomorrow morning!" cried the stranger. "Why, you must be rolling in money!"

"What do you mean?"

"That you will have to pay for at least a thousand verses."

"Oh, what a fraud!" exclaimed the bridegroom and rushed off to find Pellegrin in his attic. The versifier had just completed his hundredth verse.

A Shaded Story.

Joseph Alexander is a pickaninny of many virtues, but sadly given to exaggeration. One day when I had him pulling weeds in the front yard he ran into the house with eyes big as moons and cried:

"Law, Miss Minnie, what you think! I dun kilt three big rattlesnakes out in the yard."

"Now, Joseph," I replied, "you know that is not so."

"Well, now, Miss Minnie," he insisted insinuatingly, "it wus two turrible big snakes, an' I killed 'em fo' sho'!"

Determined to convict him, I insisted, "You know you did not kill two snakes, Joseph."

He thought a moment, then said impressively, "Well, now, I did kill one powerful big snake in dat very front yard."

"Go away, boy! You are an outrageous story teller!" I cried indignantly. He was not one whit abashed by my vehemence, but cheerfully replied:

"Well, 'clare for goodness, Miss Minnie, hit was a powerful big worm!"—Delineator.

Reason For the Peculiar Signature on the Hotel Register.

Many peculiar signatures in the course of a season find themselves upon the register of a hotel. There are foreign fists of all sorts in script that none but the Kytka could unravel. The most curious of all, however, was placed on the book only recently. It is this:

"Wm."

Only that and nothing more!

There is no surname, no address, nothing at all but just "Wm."

This is the way it happened:

A well dressed man entered the hotel the other day and followed his bags to the desk. The register was swung around into position for him and a pen handed him by the gentlemanly desk clerk. Then, in a free, swinging hand, he wrote the accepted abbreviation of his first name, "Wm."

As if a thought had suddenly occurred to him, he stopped writing and looked up.

"What do you charge for a single room here by the day?" he asked.

"Three, four, five and six dollars," answered the clerk.

"Ain't you got no dollar rooms?"

"No, we have no dollar rooms. Three, four, five and six."

"Gosh!" he said, and he didn't look the part either. "This is no place for me. Gimme my luggage."

And he sneaked out of the hotel as one who had trodden on sacred ground. Which is why on the register today is the odd signature:

"Wm."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A grass plant will in the course of a hot day exhale its own weight of water, and a young leaf of wheat or rye exposed to the sun may even exhale its own weight in an hour. Experiments summarized by Storer indicate that "more than 300 pounds of water pass through a plant and are transpired from its leaves for every pound of dry matter fixed or assimilated by the plant." In Wisconsin, King found the mean amount of water used by barley, oats, corn, clover, peas and potatoes in producing a ton of dry matter ranged from 270 tons for corn to 576 tons for clover, "the average for the six crops being nearly 450 tons, or four acre inches for each ton of dry matter."—Agricultural Department Year Book.

AN ARTIST OF NERVE.

Remarkable Daring and Coolness in an Alpine Accident.

The architect Viollet le Duc was one day on the Schwarzenberg glacier at a height of about 9,000 feet, accompanied by Baptiste, the guide, who marched in front. The two men were attached to each other by a rope, as is usual in Alpine mountaineering.

The guide had passed over a crevasse, but when M. Viollet le Duc attempted to cross it he failed and fell into the abyss. The guide tried to pull him out, but instead he found himself gradually descending.

The architect perceived that his companion if he persisted in the attempt to save him would surely share his fate, and he asked if Baptiste had a family.

"A wife and children," was the answer.

"Then," said Viollet le Duc quietly, "I shall cut the rope."

He did so and fell, but a block of ice thirty feet lower down stopped his descent. When Baptiste saw this and that for a time the danger was lessened he went in search of help and returned with four stout peasants. Three hours afterward Viollet le Duc was extricated.

In spite of his perilous position the ruling passion was strong with the artist, for, although he was almost covered with icicles from the dripping water, he had contrived to make drawings of the novel effects he was able to perceive.

TOURISTS IN BERLIN.

They Should Be Careful In Selecting a Boarding House.

A case has occurred in Berlin showing the unpleasant experiences which may occur to tourists who engage board in a boarding house not well recommended. Three American women were the victims.

In the new part of the town, the so called American quarter, a neat sign of "Pension" attracted the women, and they engaged board there. According to the German custom, they paid the boarding house charges a month in advance. Two days afterward the landlady went to a hospital, and the next day the domestic girl of all work took her departure. Food and service ceased, and the host, a count, moved into the attic for some reason unknown to the Americans.

The Americans protested that their money should be refunded or they should have food and service. The host told them he could supply neither as he had no money. The women consulted their friends and were advised to make the best of the bargain and camp out for the rest of the month.

Some days later the host appeared in their rooms and proceeded to remove the curtains from the windows. The women appealed to an American who happened to be calling, but the only result of his interference was a scuffle with the landlord, who knocked him out with a bunch of heavy keys.

Two of the women then sought police aid at the nearest station, a mile away. The officials laughed at them, telling them it was a private matter and no concern of theirs.

In the meantime the landlord returned with two men and took down the curtains, informing the women that he would be back at 5 o'clock the next morning to remove the furniture. The women then sought the aid of the American consul general, who advised them to move out quietly and offered them hospitality for the night. They accepted the offer, but did not get their things away before half past 3 in the morning.

Incidents like this are not rare in Berlin's American colony.—New York Sun.

Money In the Laundry.

Three little heaps of silver and copper coin lay on the laundryman's counter.

"That is money that I have just found tied in the corners of customers' handkerchiefs," he said. "It is strange that with all the purses and hand bags manufactured for the accommodation of women so many of them will still tie their money up in a handkerchief. Sending it to the laundry is funnier still. Every day we dig out a little pile of unsuspected wealth, and many a careless customer gets her laundry back with nearly enough money in the package to pay the bill."—New York Sun.

Why the Spider Was There.

When Mark Twain in his early days was editor of a Missouri paper a superstitious subscriber wrote to him saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asking him whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist wrote him this answer and printed it:

"Old subscriber—Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Nursery Windows.

If the nursery window is not protected by outside bars hammer a large screw or nail into the groove of the lower sash, so that the window cannot be raised more than six inches. If the top sash is drawn down this is quite enough for ventilation, and, no matter how ingenious or venturesome the little ones may be, they cannot wriggle through the lower opening.—Philadelphia Press.

Protected Against Bores.

To save himself from loss of time caused by callers who are a long while in coming to the point, a Paris functionary has had put on his office table a card bearing the words: "Be so good as to abstain from speaking of my health or the weather or of the bourse quotations, three subjects with which I am perfectly well acquainted. Start at once on the matter that brings you here."—London Telegraph.

PARIS DECLARES THAT SKIRTS WILL REMAIN FULL AT THE HIPS

Peg-tops and panniers, tunics and ruffles, mark the new skirts and seem to be growing in favor every day. Often these hip draperies are of chiffon or net; the new soft taffetas seem especially suited to panniers, as it has just body enough to require no bones or wire. The flowered taffetas are very quaint and pretty, giving an 1830 effect which is fascinating.

No. 8236 shows an afternoon costume of plain and figured taffetas. The skirt is a peg-top design with the folds laid in softly about the waist. A soft sage green is the color, with the side tunics showing just a suggestion of pale Persian shades and a cleverly arranged waistcoat of the same shade of green velvet.

Taffetas may be had in black and colors from $1 to $4 a yard. They range in width from 36 to 44 inches.

To copy a dress for a girl of 16 it requires 4⅞ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8200-8201 is a dainty suit for spring. The coat is developed in golfine trimmed with contrasting revers and a few buttons; the skirt is a two-piece design with a slightly draped effect brought about by two crosswise pleats in front. This design requires for size 36 3¼ yards of 36 inch material for the coat (8200) and 2⅝ yards for the skirt (8201).

No. 8236 - sizes 14 to 18.
No. 8200—sizes 32 to 42.
No. 8201—sizes 22 to 30.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Knom It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

HIS PLAN OF THE DAY.

Rigid Rules of Living Made by a Colonial Minister.

An orderly arrangement of working hours is a desirable and time saving thing, but when one reads the plan of the day made by a colonial parson, he cannot help wondering where the good man's family life came in, and if the system held any possibility of relaxation. The record, quoted by William Root Bliss, in "Side Glimpses From the Colonial Meeting House," is taken from the diary of Thomas Prince, a minister of the Old South church, Boston.

1719. Oct. 30th. I marry.
Nov. 19. We begin to keep House.
My proposed order is:

At 5 get up and go into Study. Pray and read in original Bible till 6, and then call up the Family.

At 6½ go to Family Prayers and only the Porringer of Chocolat for Breakfast till 7. 7 go into my Study till 12½, then do something about the House till 1 to dinner, except on Thursday study till 10½, then dress and 11 Lecture.

At 2 Dress and go abroad till Candlelight. Except Wednesdays after Dinner do something about the House and Saturday afternoons visit at Dr. Sewall's till 3½, then Home and study till Candlelight. Study till 9½.

9½ go to Family Prayers and go to Bed.
N. B. I eat no Supper.

Frightened Off.

A Washington car conductor born in London and still a cockney has succeeded in extracting thrills from the alphabet—imparting excitement to the names of the national capital's streets. On a recent Sunday morning he was calling the streets thus:

"Haitch!"
"High!"
"Jay!"
"Kay!"
"Hell!"

At this point three prim ladies picked up their prayer books and left the car.—Lippincott's.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

If you look into the matter you will find that every man who has gone the downward path was equipped with a self-starter.

◆

It is a law of nature that what goes up must come down, but it is being outrageously violated these days by the high cost of living.

◆

Before we pass on to other matter it is well to remark that our old friend Nic Huerta has qualfied as an authority on how to run a country without money.

◆

A Massachusetts man is going to retire from single blessedness at the age of 94, which proves that a man can make a fool of himself at any time of life.

◆

A Toronto paper says: "Mrs. William Altman fell downstairs the other day, throwing her ankle out of place and bruising her otherwise considerably." We are informed that the doctor set the ankle, but no mention is made of the treatment given the injured "otherwise."

◆

The Montreal Star believe that Henry Ford has dealt a body-blow by dividing 110,000,000 of profits among his employes. This prompts us to remark that probably other employers will take the hint and refrain from slugging the working man with bank notes.

GOOD FOR BUSINESS MEN

Though at the outset there was on the part of busines men generally objection to the proposed parcels post system for Canadai that opposition seems to have altogether faded away, and with good reason.

The fear of the retailer in the small towns and cities that parcels post would means the turning of much business from himself to the big mail order houses was a short-sighted fear. There is every reason to believe the parcels post system in operation will mean more business for the small retailer, who, through this medium and via the telephone route, will be able to serve limited zone customers much more readily and handily than ever before.

Business men as well as consumers will await with pleasurable anxiety the inauguration of the new system. Its success in the United States is sure to be duplicated in Canada, and the quicker it succeeds the sooner will the rates be revised in a downward direction.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well known resident of Labeniene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

BOTHA'S BOLD COUP

Premier Botha's action in deporting the ten most active strike leaders in South Africa is being criticized both in his own country and in England. It was drastic, beyond doubt.

Every strike leader is, to be established authorities, an "undesirable" in a manner of speaking, because he makes trouble for them if order is not strictly preserved. It is the duty of the government to suppress rioting and disorder, and if stern measures are needed, then it is the duty of the government to see that they are applied. But to deport citizens (not aliens) for their part in strike disorders is contrary to the spirit of the British constitution. To take part in a strike does not make a citizen an "undesirable" or make deportation necessary, and technically the leaders are no more guilty than the men in the rank and file.

England recognizes the principle. Jim Larkin and Tom Mann have been responsible for a great deal of bloodshed, rioting and disorder. Both have served terms in jail for their part in strikes, but the British government has been much too wise to order their deportation. Canada has frequently sent strike leaders who transgressed the bounds of the law to jail, the British Columbia miners being a case in point, bur Canada has never considered deporting citizens.

The question in South Africa is, it is generally understood, whether or not the men were political prisoners. If they were, Botha's action was probably justifiable. At this distance it is difficult to see how a strike leader could become a political prisoner, which implies plotting to overthrow the government of the day by force. It may be, however, that there are local condition in South Africa best known to the citizens and government of the Union, which would make of a strike leader, under certain circumstances, a plotter against the state. If the strike was a strike against the state, with violence, and not against the employers, then the leaders become political offenders.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

FORTY YEARS AGO

An Old Peterborough Boy Tells of the Town Nearly Half a Century Ago.

Editor Morning Times:

Dear Sir: As a resident of your fair city in my early life it is needless to say I was very much interested in your correspondent's review of the changes that had taken place in the south end since his boyhood days, now known as "Riverside." During my wanderings over this continent, which have been fairly extensive, there is no place I have seen of the size of Peterborough that begins to compare with it for natural situation and beauty. In laying out the city, the great care exercised by the officials who had charge of affairs in the early days, is now shown by the beautiful squares, parks and driveways within the city limits.

I also note that the marked growth of your city has not been confined to the south end. With the opening up of new streets the building of new homes and the general increase in manufacturing in the north end, this section has been completely transformed.

In the early days that beautiful section now known as Jackson's Park—the lower end was a swamp, and the higher ground thickly wooded. As youths we used to snare rabbits, and experience all the excitement that men of the north do when they catch polar bears.

At the time referred to the beautiful chain of lakes to the north was very little known to the residents of the town. I remember my first trip to these north waters very well. It was forty seven years ago. At that time there was only one summer home on these waters. It was known as "The Lodge," and owned by the late Mr. Wm. Cluxton. The name "Kawartha" was not used (if then known) in referring to these waters. The transportation during this time must be very marked.

I am hopeful of paying your city a visit during the coming summer, when I hope to enter these waters through the "Kawartha Gateway," which, I understand the north section of the city is now known by, and view the great transformation that has taken place.

Thanking you, Mr Editor, I am.

An Old Peterborough Boy.

FIRST FIGHT ENDS FUED IS OVER

Affair of Honor Is Settled Out of Court—Assault Charges Dropped

St. Rose, La., Feb 10.—An affair of honor was settled behind the levee this morning between John Tambrello, an Italian, and Edward Bicknair. Each party received a punch in the face and honor was entirely satisfied.

The feud had its origin on the quiet Sabbath. That afternoon Tambrello missed a $5 bill from the family till. He jumped at the conclusion that it had been stolen, and asked Bicknair's little son, who was playing in the Tambrello yard, if he had seen anyone enter the house. The boy said he had not; and then ran to his father to tell him that Tambrello had accused him of stealing $5.

That very night Bicknair entered Joe Caronia's store, where Trambrello, with other Italians, were gambling. "You accused my boy of stealing," he is said to have shouted. "Take that," and fist of hand popped out, according to reports, against Trambrello's cheek.

The next morning Trambrello filed charges of assault and battery against Bicknair. Friends convinced him that red-blooded gentlemen always did, and always would, settle such matters with their bare knuckles. This was Bicknair's way of thinking, too, and the Tuesday morning mill behind the levee was arranged. It was a splendid mill, according to the half of the town which delighted to attend. Bicknair drew blood out of Tambrello's forehead; Tambrello drew blood out of Bicknair's chin, according to ringside reports.

When all was over, Tambrello and Bicknair clasped hands in friendship, and the former rushed down to the police court to dismiss the assault and battery charges.

The missing $5 bill was found near the gate in the Tambrello yard early Tuesday morning.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. LIFE IN ICELAND.

Farmhouses Are Built of Turf and Often Have Earthen Floors.

The guest room in the Iceland farmhouse contained a narrow bed, a big round table and an organ made in Brattleboro, Vt. Our host produced the usual box of snuff and with it a box of good cigars.

The host and hostess then showed us all over the house. It is a turf structure and is typical of the older farmhouses, with narrow, dark, windowless corridors winding in labyrinthian maze from room to room. One passageway leads to a large open mound where a fire is made to smoke meat and fish and incidentally the whole house and everything in it. Another passage leads to another kitchen with a modern stove. The walls are all of turf, as is the roof, with just enough driftwood in the roof to make a framework to hold it in place. Very steep stairs lead up to the badstofa, or sleeping apartment. The badstofa frequently forms the sitting and common workroom of the family, especially in winter, as well as the sleeping room of the entire household.

Bunks built into the wall extend around the room and are often filled with seaweed or feathers, over which is thrown a fold or two of wadmal and a thick coverlet of eiderdown. The floors are sometimes covered with boards, but more often consist of damp earth. From the ceiling are suspended numerous articles of domestic economy, while large chests containing clothing and valuables are scattered throughout the house.—Springfield Republican.

STORY OF A LOAN.

A Case Where the Statute of Limitations Was Not Considered.

A well known Kansas banker told a story the other day about the statute of limitations. There is a smile in it, plus some good philosophy.

One day an old southerner walked into this banker's office. The southerner was a typical gentleman of the old school, suave, courteous to the point of punctiliousness and honorable to a degree of martyrdom.

"What can I do for you?" asked the banker.

"Well," replied the southerner, "about thirty-five years ago I loaned a man down south some money—not a very big sum. I told him that whenever I should need it I would let him know and he could pay me the money. I need some money now, so I shall let him know, and I would like to have you transact the business for me."

"My good friend," replied the banker, "you have no claim on that money. You can't hold that man to that loan. You say it has been thirty-five years since you loaned it to him? The statute of limitations has run against that loan years and years ago."

"Sir," replied the southerner, "the man to whom I loaned that money is a gentleman. The statute of limitations never runs against a gentleman."

So the banker sent for the money, and within a reasonable time thereafter the money came. There was a courtly gentleman at the other end of the transaction also.—Kansas City Journal.

Trees and Wind.

The effect of wind upon trees is powerful. Even the presence or absence of forests may be determined by the character of the prevailing wind or the conditions that modify it. The wind acts as a drying agent, giving a special aspect to many plants. When it is almost always from the same quarter the plants show greater development upon one side. Trees are smaller on the windward edges of forests, and trunks and branches are bent to leeward. The deformations are most marked near the sea or in flat regions. The cherry, plum, walnut, black poplar, ash and certain pines are very sensitive to the wind, but mountain pines and certain firs offer great powers of resistance, and these are recommended for reforesting wind swept lands.

His Way of Getting Even.

"You know that fellow, Jim McGroarty, the lad that's always comin' up an' thumpin' ye on th' chest and yellin' 'How are ye?'"

"I know him."

"I'll bet he's smashed twinty cigars for me—some o' thim clear Havannys—but I'll get even with him now."

"How will ye do it?"

"I'll tell ye. Jim always hits me over the vest pocket where I carry me cigars. He'll hit me there just once more. There's no cigar in me vest pocket this mornin'. Instead of it there's a stick of dynamite, d'ye mind?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Matter of Business.

"I cannot understand, sir, why you permit your daughter to sue me for breach of promise. You remember that you were bitterly opposed to our engagement because I wasn't good enough for her and would disgrace the family."

"Young man, that was sentiment; this is business."

Afflictions.

Before an affliction is digested consolation comes too soon, and after it is digested it comes too late, but there is a mark between these two as fine almost as a hair for a comforter to take aim at.—Sterne.

Dear Talk.

"Talk is cheap," quoted the wise guy.

"Not always," replied the simple mug. "Sometimes it costs a man his reputation."—Philadelphia Record.

DAILY SHORT STORY

POLICE OF PARIS.

Their Methods Effective Even if Sometimes Dramatic.

TESTING A MAN OF COURAGE.

The Secret Service Knew More About His Own Affairs Than He Did Himself and Proved It in a Most Startling and Conclusive Manner

The police of Paris have always made it a rule to keep closely in touch with the criminal element, the spies and secret officers of the department posing as criminals among the real criminals when necessary to learn their secrets. The following incident, in which the national impulse for dramatic effect crops out, will serve to illustrate how well at times they do their work.

At the beginning of the French revolution the chief of the police of Paris had upon his register the names of no fewer than 2,000 suspected and depraved characters whose pursuits were known to be of a criminal nature.

A merchant of high respectability in Bordeaux had occasion to visit Paris upon commercial business, carrying with him bills and money to a very large amount. On his arrival at the gates of the French metropolis a genteel looking man opened the door of the carriage and addressed him to this effect:

"Sir, I have been waiting for you some time. According to my notes, you were to arrive at this hour, and, your person, your carriage and your portmanteau exactly answering the description I hold in my hand, you will permit me to have the honor of conducting you to M. de Sartine."

The gentleman astonished and alarmed at this interruption and still more at hearing the name of the chief inspector of the police mentioned, demanded to know what M. de Sartine wanted with him, adding that he had never committed any offense against the laws and that the police could have no right to detain him.

The messenger declared himself ignorant of the cause of the detention and said that when he had conducted him to M. de Sartine he should have executed his orders. After some further explanations the gentleman permitted the officers to conduct him to the police official.

M. de Sartine, the chief of police, received him with great politeness and, after requesting him to be seated, to his astonishment described his portmanteau and told him the exact amount in bills and cash which he had brought with him to Paris, where he was to lodge, his usual time of going to bed and a number of other circumstances which he had conceived were known only to himself.

Having thus excited his attention, M. de Sartine asked him:

"Sir, are you a man of courage?"

The gentleman, still more astonished at the singularity of his interrogatory, demanded the reason why such a question was put to him, adding that no man had hitherto doubted his courage.

"Sir, you are to be robbed and murdered this night," replied M. de Sartine. "If you are a man of courage you must go to your hotel and retire to rest at the usual hour. But be careful not to fall asleep. Neither will it be proper for you to look under your bed or into the closet which is in your chamber. You must place your portmanteau in its usual situation near the bed and betray no suspicion. Leave what remains to me. If you do not feel your courage sufficient to bear you out I will procure some one who will personate you and go to bed in your stead."

The merchant, being convinced that M. de Sartine's information was accurate in every particular, refused to be personated and resolved to follow literally the directions he had received.

He accordingly drove to the hotel and went to bed at his usual hour, 11 o'clock. At half past 12—the time mentioned by M. de Sartine—the door of his bedchamber was quietly forced open, and three men entered with a dark lantern, daggers and pistols. The merchant, who pretended to be asleep, perceived one of them to be his own servant. They rifled his portmanteau undisturbed and discussed and settled the plan of putting him to death.

Hearing all this and not knowing by what means he was to be rescued, the merchant was under great perturbation of mind during such an interval of suspense.

Just at the moment the villains were preparing to take the merchant's life four police officers, who were concealed under the bed and in the closet, rushed out and seized the offenders in the very act of attempting murder and with the stolen property in their possession. The law made short work of the criminals, and the police congratulated the merchant on his courage and coolness.

An Excellent Reason.

"You girls are beyond me," said the father as he tied the ribbon of his daughter's shoe. "Why don't you wear buttoned shoes that won't come unfastened instead of these confounded things that are untied half the time?"

"Because, papa," said Gladys sweetly. "I'd rather have a bow than get the book."—Harper's Weekly.

Dickens and His Wife.

Commenting on the unhappy relations between Dickens and his wife, Goldwin Smith wrote in one of his last papers: "It was a common case. Dickens had married at a low level, and his wife had not risen with him; otherwise there was no fault on her side. The matrimonial history of writers of works of imagination has often been unhappy. Their imagination turns the woman into an angel, and then they find that she is a woman."

Latest Hints on Beauty Culture

Habit of "Taking Cold" May Be Easily Broken

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

MAGGIE TEYTE

THIS is the accepted season for "taking cold." Everywhere you go you may hear it discussed. One has just taken cold and expects to be in "simply horrid shape tomorrow," or is "afraid she will take cold because she sat next a man who sneezed on the car, and her feet got very cold and it was so warm when she started out that she didn't wear her furs, and she feels a chill even at the moment."

I know that we are improving in our struggle for common sense and health, but we have not quite reached the point where we can break the habit of taking cold."

Personally I seldom have colds, because I don't want them. They make me look so wretched, for one reason. I don't want a red nose and fever blisters on my lips and watery eyes and a fog horn voice—particularly NOT the fog-horn voice. And then I hate to be ill. It isn't just the pain and the inconvenience and the loss of time and the interference with the business of life, but it always humiliates me to be physically out of condition. It shows me that I have made some foolish mistake somewhere that I should have avoided.

I am perfectly convinced that about three-fourths of the colds might be avoided if every one made up his or her mind that colds were foolish things to have and therefore not worth wasting time over.

Just about here I can imagine some one with a sore throat and a fever and a splitting headache saying some unkind things about me between coughs. Even so I stand by my statement.

The phrase "taking cold" is really quite suitable, for I think we do "take" the cold more often than it forces itself to us.

By that I mean we let down the bars and make it easy for a cold to take anchorage in our system. I suppose the general idea is that there is a mischievous little germ which causes colds. I know less about germs than I do about the dialects of the Chinese language. But I do know that colds will undo weeks of beautifying. And if you wish to look and appear and feel your best, you must stop catching colds and make it difficult for colds to catch you.

In the first place, if you do the things I have told you would make you beautiful you have made excellent progress toward keeping colds away.

Disease does not as a rule lodge in a well-cleansed system. And the cleansed system is the first step toward good looks. If you get tired hearing that, stop reading what I write, for I shall repeat it.

If you eat regularly and sleep regularly and keep your excretory organs working, you will keep the poisons out of your system.

The glass of hot water and lemon that I have advocated as a morning drink will lessen the tendency to colds.

The deep breathing in front of the open window every day that I have tried to make important as an aid to clear complexions and ruddy cheeks and well rounded throats and deep chests and an enemy to clogging fat, is one of the best ways in the world to fight off colds.

It stands to reason that if your lungs are filled with pure, fresh air colds can't find lodgment. Also if your lungs are doing all the work they should do, your blood is purer and your circulation is better.

Keep clean outside and in. Take your baths regularly; drink lemon and water. Eat food that is simple and nutritious and BREATHE! You will improve in looks while your neighbors are sniffling and shuffling and coughing. And when you have to be where such ones are, don't think about sharing their misfortunes—for colds are misfortunes. Think of something pleasant. When you get the chance fortify yourself with some pure air and a drink of pure water.

And remember that a temper fit will bring on a cold just as well as it will make wrinkles.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges

The truth, plain and unvarnished about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Back Into the Rut

XXVI.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

"THERE'S a red two over there, Peter," said Mary. "And there's a black five. You don't watch your cards."

Now if anything drives me to the point of desperation when I'm idly indulging in a game of solitaire, it is the vocal guidance which some people feel called upon to offer when you don't see a move quite as soon as they do. If a man began to advise me, I'd likely tell him in a friendly way to shut up. Mary would cry if I ventured an expression of my distaste and therefore, up to date, I've grinned and borne it.

"And why in the world," went on Mary carelessly, "don't you uncover your king? You're missing a move!"

I patiently played the game through to the end and put the cards away.

To tell the truth, my evenings are growing deadly. I don't know what to do with myself. If I read a book or a paper, Mary talks to me, a desultory, inconsequent sort of chatter sufficient to spoil my book without becoming definite conversation. If, in sheer self-defence, I dig forth my solitaire pack and concern myself with successive reds and blacks, Mary instantly lays aside her work and advises me how to play. Which may be all right from Mary's standpoint, but it's very trying from mine.

I tried my paper tonight, and had scarcely read a half a column before Mary was telling me about a party in which she was exceedingly interested. I remember something about rose-colored candles—and a chocolate cake. I listened politely toward the end, and went back to my reading. The party was replaced by a forbidding account of Mrs. Craig's twins who yell by night and sleep by day. With a sigh I eventually laid aside my newspaper, and, lighting my pipe, moved over by the fire. As usual, Mary sighed contentedly, moved over beside me, and watched the fire glow and sparkle in the fireplace.

"Now," thought I, "Mary can talk herself out, and when she gets tired I'll get a book and read."

But Mary didn't talk. The fire was warm and pleasant, and she went to sleep.

I sat there, frowning, and watched the fire die down. And I did some thinking.

How can two people spend evening after evening together when they haven't a thing in common? Courtship and honeymoons, of course, are times of idyllic madness when time never palls, but after the honeymoon has waned and you're facing the gray verities of life once more, you can't merely stroke your wife's hair for hours at a time and say foolish things about her beauty. The esthetic side of your relationship must be merged into an intellectual one, or satiety flies in pretty swiftly.

Love is a wonderful thing, but it's all the more wonderful if along with it you have the spark of friendship and congeniality. Mary and I somehow have missed that spark of congeniality, and so, I take it, have many another unfortunate pair who love each other most sincerely.

"Mary," I exclaimed suddenly, bent upon fighting away this deadly monotony, "wake up, dear. Let's read a book together. This is a waste of good time, dozing by the fire."

"What shall we read?" yawned Mary.

Now I like to read, and Mary doesn't. Therefore I fear her assent was not over-cordial.

"You select the book," I urged. Mary did so.

I need not mention her choice. It was a book of notorious sentimentality that cloyed after a page or so. I endured it to the end and finally induced her to take some interest in a volume of De Morgan. The experiment was highly unsatisfactory.

Now Mary and I have slipped back again into the rut, for all I make heroic efforts to get us out of it. I take off my hat to the man and wife who settle this problem to the satisfaction of both!

ROAST TURKEY, NUT DRESSING.

Select a small turkey, not too fat but quite fleshy; bone the entire front part, leaving the breast skin as long as possible, also the thighs; diminish the thickness of the filets and place these pieces where there is no meat, so as to equalize the thickness of the meat.

Season the inside of the breasts, stuffed with following stuffing: One pound forcemeat; four baked onions minced; two sliced apples fried in butter; four rolls; one egg soaked in milk; one pound peeled chestnuts, half-cooked in chicken broth, with two spoonfuls sugar and celery flavor; season salt; allspice; pepper, and braise it for an hour and a quarter to an hour and a half on a very slow fire, and at the last moment glaze, drain off and undress the turkey.

Surround it with a Chipolata garnishing, into which a good brown gravy with Madeira wine has been added, reduced with the braise stock, pour a part of the sauce over the turkey and serve the remainder separately.

CHIPOLATA GARNISHING.

This garnishing is composed of 18 small whole carrots or else cut into balls and glazed; 18 small glazed onions; 18 cooked mushrooms; fluted 18 whole chestnuts, moistened with broth and cooked until they fall to a glaze, and small broiled Chipolata sausage.

Set these various garnishings into a sautoire and pour over when ready to serve some Espagnole sauce, reduced with Madeira wine.

Add half a pound inch squares of salt pork fried in butter and cooked in consomme; arrange the garnishing in clusters for remove or mingled for entrees.

TALES IN A FLUTTERING FAN

Georgia Caine

Fashion's Fad an Index to Character, Says Georgia Caine

"IF you want to read a woman's character watch her use a fan," remarked Georgia Caine, languidly waving an enormous fan of pale blue gauze, across which trailed pink roses, while yellow butterflies fluttered at the edges.

"It has long been a fad with me. That is why I regret that the modern woman does not have more appreciation of the possibilities of the fan. It adds so much in the way of grace and line. It can be made to accentuate good points and to modify poor ones. There is no way so legitimate for the display of jewelled fingers and wrists, and if there is any more ideal background for one's head and face than a soft black feather fan I have yet to discover it.

"But I was speaking of it as an index to character. Did you ever see the woman with the little bit of a fussy fan and watch her use it? Merely as a means of stirring up a refreshing breeze it is slighted. But the efforts the woman who deliberately chooses such a fan makes are more pathetic than funny. They would accomplish so much if used in the right direction.

"Flutter, flutter, my, how she beats the air. She bites her lower lip and grim determination takes hold of her face. Flutter, flutter. Her cheeks are red with exertion. She is plainly tired, but the fluttering goes on as if it were a matter of life or death. It takes no great power of discernment to see what a hard worker the woman is, and how she uses a lot of energy and never gets anywhere.

"Then there is the woman who fans by fits and starts. She fans for a minute or two as if her very existence depended on it. Then she sits back and forgets all about it. Suddenly she starts in again, and for a few minutes the fan moves with lightning speed. It is usually a nondescript kind of fan with no meaning.

"I always think the woman of this type has something on her mind which really troubles her, and I feel like going up and taking the fan away from her and fanning with easy rhythm and saying: 'Now, sister, let's see if we can't straighten this kink out and make it right.'

"Then there is the simpering fanner. She opens and shuts the fan with aimless motions, and holds it in front of her face when she talks and when she smiles, and perhaps she sits with it closed and the end of it in her mouth. Watch women fan and see for yourself.

"Talk about the language of the fan! There is a language that talks plainer and louder than the sentimentalists ever realized.

"But, seriously, I am sorry the fan has not a firmer place in the modern world of fashion. It makes a woman seem so sweetly feminine, and it gives her the opportunity for so many little winsome airs that are most attractive, especially in masculine eyes. And it has the most delightful way of saving an awkward situation and relieving one from any fear of self-consciousness. Any debutante who wants to cultivate grace in her arms or hands should seek the means in her fan.

"Try it before your mirror, and I believe you will be as devoted a fan advocate as I am."

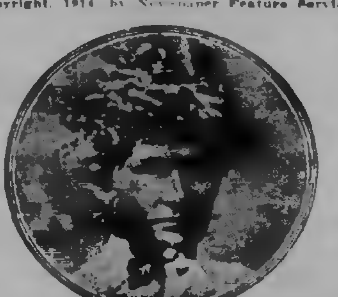
The fan which Miss Caine shows in the illustration is of black ostrich feathers mounted on jet sticks. It is a trifle of beauty which cost something over $100, but it surely is an addition to the costume.

The gown to which it adds the completing touch is of pale yellow gold embroidery appliqued with other begemmed fabrics. The girdle is of grass green satin. The three-yard train is of black satin lined with green. It is a yard wide and is straight up and down.

Shall We Censor the News?

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service



Winifred Black

THE Swiss press has just issued a classified list of subjects which all news editors "should be careful to exclude from all newspapers, in view of the newspapers being the sole intellectual provender of the masses."

Here's the list:

All court news, unless of historical importance.

All personal gossip.

All sensational news, such as reports of suicide, etc.

All news circulated in the interest of a political party.

All improbable news.

I would hate to be in the business of selling printers' ink in Switzerland today.

Any newspaper which followed these rules would have to suspend publication at once.

All sensational news—forsooth.

What's the news for, if it isn't to give sensation, pray tell us, gentlemen of the Swiss censorship?

What is a sensation, anyway, but a feeling, an emotion, a something which makes the man who feels it different from a dummy in front of a clothing store?

No sensations—why, the only man who ever attains to that state of affairs is a dead man.

What is there so terrible about a "sensation," I'd like to know.

If you're going to cut out all the "sensational" things in the world, you'll have to burn up every book of importance that was ever written, and you'll have to begin with the greatest book of all—the Bible.

Battle, murder, suicide, love, hate, revenge, ambition stultified, devotion crucified—the human heart beats in the great book from beginning to end.

Why, there never was such a sensational story in the world as the glorious, heart-breaking story of the crucifixion.

What about Mary Magdalene—and her offering of scented oils?

If there lives one who can read that story without a "sensation," I don't want to have the pleasure of that one's acquaintance.

The story of the flight into Egypt, how often has it been told in music and in art. Would you cut it out of the printed page, pray tell?

What newspaper has ever printed anything as full of "human interest" as the old, old tale, as ancient as the drumbeat of the human pulse, as tragic as the smile of the new born babe, of Samson and Delilah?

The "affinity" romance did not begin after the first newspaper was printed.

It was a great king of Israel who fell in love with the wife of one of his captains, and we find out all about it in the pages of the greatest book that was ever printed anywhere on earth.

No "sensations," you say, gentlemen of the board of Swiss newspaper censorship.

Burn down your libraries; shut up your playhouses; close the doors of all your churches, and burn every Bible in the world. So shall you do away with the record of "sensations."

The "sensations" themselves you will never do away with as long as blood is red and men are men—and not insensate blocks of wood.

What is the newspaper for but to tell of life—not as it ought to be, not as it might be, but as it is, right now, today, here, while we who read the papers live it?

Who am I that I should be wrapt in cotton and have my ears muffled so that I cannot hear the groan of my neighbor that is in distress?

What ineffable air do I breathe that I should think that my children and I are too good to know the truth—the cruel, heart-breaking, beautiful splendor of the truth about this world we're all trying to live in as best we can?

No suicides in the papers? Why not, I'd like to know, why not? Are we grown too fine, too delicate to be brought to realise that a human heart has broken right, perhaps, on our very doorsteps?

Are we not to be disturbed at our comfortable breakfast with the news that some poor woman and her babies starved to death within a stone's throw of plenty?

All personal gossip must be cut out, the censors say. What is history but a budget of personal gossip?

Napoleon lost the battle of Waterloo because he ate too much of a favorite dish the night before.

Why shouldn't we, the plain people who suffer for the defeats of such Napoleons, have a right to the "personal gossip" which tells us the truth about it? Mr. Newspaper Censor of Switzerland, that's all the good it will do you.

Censor away—for a day or so. The time for tying a bandage over the eyes of the people and saying, "There is nothing to see; how fortunate you are that your eyes are bandaged," has gone—and gone forever. And it is the daily newspaper with its daily record of daily events, good and bad, wise and foolish, inspiring and discouraging, which has put an end to that day—once and for all time.

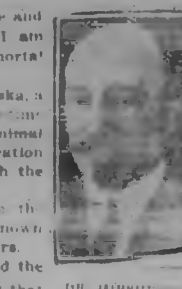
Secrets of Health and Happiness

Your Common Senses Determine Your "Nature"

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg



DR. HIRSHBERG

IN HIS Isis and Osiris Plutarch dilates upon nature and human nature as a personality in this wise: "I am whatever was, or is, or will be, and my veil no mortal ever took up."

Prof. H. B. Alexander of the University of Nebraska, a more modern philosopher, puts the matter thus: "The time honored scholastic definition of man as a rational animal has nowadays given place to a zoological classification which sets him in the order of primates along with the lemurs, monkeys and anthropoid apes."

Human nature, however, begins to differ from the other manifestations of nature by the activities known as conduct. Out of the book of nature reason appears.

There is a vast abyss between human nature and the rest of nature. Prof. Henri Bergson of France says that creation is double or "dualistic." Plato said something of the sort [illegible] Burton in his "Anatomy of Melancholy" [illegible] quotes Socrates as holding that nature is single—"monistic" [illegible] promontory, one mountain [illegible] one river and see all."

[illegible] other "common senses" make the [illegible]. Or, as Ovid had it [illegible] "Our vigor is our immortal [illegible]."

> And this our life, exempt from public haunt,
> Finds tongues in trees, books in running brooks,
> Sermons in stones and good in everything.

Science's Last Word.

Prof. Eucken, another of the living philosophers, considers creation like a religion. But

> If nature be an phantasm, as thou sayest,
> A splendid fiction and prodigious dream,
> To reach the real and true I'll make no haste,
> More than content with worlds that only seem.

Life and spirit are the creator's energy of the universe. In stones it is all energy—electrons inside of the atoms. In plants life is comatose. In animals it becomes instinct seen as through a glass darkly. In human nature "a window is opened" without outside limitations.

Some learned pedants make an attempt to show the place of "mind" in nature. "But," says Prof. Knight Dunlap, the distinguished experimental psychologist of Johns Hopkins University, "there is no such thing as 'mind.' What those who speak of it mean is human nature."

In other words, the newer laboratory psychology denies that there is any such thing as "mind." In its place is human nature.

Thought, imagination, feeling, reason and religion are all matters of physical behavior. These have always been wrongly classed as "mental operations."

The sum total of common sense muscular activity, and therefore of the character, habits and temperament which result, yield the conduct by which you are found to be superior to other human natures. So says this new scientific dictum.

"Vigor Is Soul."

Human nature is a roaring torrent placed in the midst of "engulfing outer nature."

Says Prof. Alexander: "Intelligence and sentiment are the proper tokens of humanity, because they stand for clear-cut ideas. Apart from conduct all thought is illusory."

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

I'D like to shake him, the boy who's ashamed of his mother.

I saw him on the street car the other day. He was with a couple of silly little geese, overdressed and overpainted little creatures, who hadn't as much sense in their whole bodies as that boy's mother has in the tips of one of her little fingers. But when the mother stepped into the car she wore a neat little, old-fashioned coat and a plain, neat dress, and the boy tried to pretend he didn't see her.

But mother saw him all right, and she was so pleased just to be on the same car with him, and so proud that she couldn't keep her eyes off him—poor, devoted, loving heart.

I could fairly see her trying to admire the girls her wonderful son was escorting.

She didn't admire them really at all. Nobody with an ounce of common sense could admire them. But she tried timidly to smile to them across the car, and they saw it; let them alone for seeing anything that would give them a chance to giggle—and they nudged each other and giggled, and the boy turned red and frowned sullenly.

Poor fool, I wonder how long it will be before he has to go to mother for help to get out of the clutches of one of the lovely creatures who helped him to be ashamed of his mother yesterday in the car.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her care this office.

Great Novels in a Nutshell

"Adam Bede"

Condensed from the ELIOT novel by HELEN S. GRAY

ADAM BEDE is a carpenter. His joy in his work, the beauty of health that is his, and his strength of character command respect and admiration for him wherever he goes. He is ambitious and attends night school. He and his younger brother, Seth, have so much affection for each other that they never bicker and quarrel, as relatives frequently do. And they are tender and dutiful toward their old mother, notwithstanding she is fretful and addicted to endless complaining.

Adam is in love with Hetty Sorrel, the 17-year-old niece of a neighboring farmer named Poyser. Hetty is a beauty, fresh, rosy, plump and graceful. She is so pretty that it is a delight to look at her. But her mental and moral traits do not correspond with the beauty of her body. She is very vain and selfish, and not tender-hearted. Adam is so much in love with her that he is blind to her defects, but she does not appreciate or reciprocate his love.

Arthur Donnithorne, a vacillating youth of 21, who is soon to come into possession of his grandfather's big estate on which the Poysers are tenants, admires Hetty. Her head is completely turned by his attentions, and she dreams day and night of some day marrying him and being a fine lady living in luxury.

Hetty's life is wrecked by her misdeeds. Distracted by grief and shame, penniless and alone, she deserts her baby. When she goes back to it, it is dead. She is arrested and tried for murder. The English law is very severe. She is condemned to death. Dinah Morris, a kind friend, stays with her in prison during the trial. On the way to the gallows, through the intercession and influence of Arthur Donnithorne, the penalty is commuted to imprisonment, and Hetty is transported to serve her sentence in a distant colony. She dies before it is completed.

Just at this point the death of his grandfather makes Arthur Donnithorne heir to all his property; but, on account of the suffering he has caused Adam, Hetty and the Poysers, he gives up his long-cherished plan of taking charge of the estate and improving it, and rejoins his regiment, where he remains eight years, finally returning shattered in health by a fever.

Seth Bede asks Dinah Morris several times to marry him, but she feels she must devote herself wholly to her religious duties, and refuses. Eventually she marries Adam, however. Seth, realizing that his own case was hopeless, rejoices in his brother's happiness.

ERIN'S ANCIENT KINGS.

Untimely Death Was the Rule For Monarchs of Old Ireland.

'Tis ould Oireland can bate them all, begorra, when it comes to talkin' of kings and coronations! For there was probably a king of Ireland when Noah was building his ark. There certainly was one in 1300 B. C. To be sure, though, Ireland's ancient monarchs mostly came to unhappy ends, either dying of the plague, being assassinated or killed in battle, says London Answers.

For instance, King Lugbaidh, who reigned in the second century, was killed by being thrust through the eye with a spear during a conspiracy. His successor, Feargus, was assassinated by order of the next comer, Cormac-Ulfhada, who, however, was merely choked to death by a fish bone at supper.

"Slain by his successor," indeed, was the fate of very many Irish kings, but of Congal Clonmaghair, who died in 693, it is simply but eloquently recorded that he "died suddenly." He was a "cruel persecutor of the Irish church." In 308 King Dathy was killed by a thunderbolt, while King Conner died of grief in 837. And one of the greatest of them all, the valiant Brian Borolhme, was assassinated in 1014 while at prayer after he had defeated the Danes at Clontarf.

It is hardly surprising to learn that four of Erin's kings resigned their crowns to become peaceful, cloistered monks.

Why Iron Rusts.

British investigators estimate that the rails of a single railroad system in England lose eighteen tons of weight every day and that the larger part of this loss is due to the effects of rust. The problem of rust is of great economical importance not only because of such losses as that just mentioned, but also because of the great expense involved in repainting iron and steel structures in order to preserve them. Thus $10,000 a year is spent in painting the great Scotch bridge over the Forth. Recent experiments indicate that pure iron in the presence of pure oxygen does not rust. It appears to be necessary for the production of rust that some acid, notably carbonic acid, shall be present. When iron is subjected to the action of water containing traces of acid and in the presence of atmospheric oxygen it always rusts. The rapid rusting of iron in railroad stations is ascribed to the presence of sulphuric acid derived from the smoke of locomotives.—Harper's Weekly.

Tax Dodging In Japan.

Lately I have been far afield in a small Japanese-English dictionary, from which I have culled a choice collection of words peculiar to the country, such as:

An—A small house inhabited by a Buddhist priest.

Araigome—Washed rice offered to idols.

Onden—Rice fields about which a false statement has been made in order to diminish the tax.

Now, idols are all very well, for even in this country we have idols (of sorts) to which we devote more precious gifts than much washed rice; also no idol nourished merely on rice will be able long to withstand the assaults of the higher criticism. But it is rather melancholy to find that tax dodging is not unknown to that most patriotic though by no means lightly taxed nation.—Atlantic Monthly.

Weak Women Against Strong Man.

Monday. He (of the iron will)—No, my dear. Not to be considered for a moment.

"— — — —."

Tuesday. He—Most certainly we will not. It is ridiculous, preposterous.

"— — — — — —."

Wednesday. He—Why, you must be crazy. It's the most unreasonable thing I ever heard of. It would bankrupt us, I tell you. It is not to be thought of.

"— — — — — —."

Thursday. He—Haven't I told you we cannot afford it? What is the use of talking about a thing that is already settled? Of course I would like to please you, but it is simply out of the question.

"— — — — — — —."

Friday. He—How much did you say that thing would cost?

"— — —."

Saturday. He—Well, go ahead then.—Pearson's Weekly.

On the Installment Plan.

Accosted by a beggar while coming out of a theater on Chestnut street a few evenings ago, a prominent member of the bar was asked for a nickel.

"That's all I want, boss, just a nickel," said the beggar in a whining tone of voice.

"No!" answered the lawyer, rather sternly. "I am saving up my nickels to give away a million dollars at one time. I'm not a philanthropist on the installment plan."—Philadelphia Times.

Its Stunted Tree Forms and Its Petrified Forests.

In places in the Colorado desert are stream beds where perhaps once in several years heavy rains in distant mountains will cause water to flow for a short time. In these dry water courses several varieties of stunted tree forms are often found. The desert willow, which resembles the willow with which we are familiar, though smaller in size; the val verde, or green tree, a tree which is a bright green from trunk to tip of limb in every twig, and the ironwood, so dense in fiber that it turns an ax's edge, are the principal varieties. They are rarely above twenty feet high and, like all desert vegetation, have not a leaf.

They are apparently outcasts from the two great tree divisions, deciduous and citrus, for they have leaves neither to lose nor to keep. These may be called the living dogs of the tree family. We will find here also the dead lions.

Not far from the mountain range we will come upon the remains of what were once extensive forests of gigantic trees, now turned to stone and lying as they fell centuries ago. The great trunks, perfect in grain, knot and bark fiber, cumber the ground in tangled confusion in those places which have been protected from the drifting sand, giving evidence that what is now a desert was once upon a time a tropical wilderness.—Travel Magazine.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

A COLD STORAGE ROMANCE.

Bill Bailey was a bachelor, forsaken and forlorn
He used to eat a single egg for breakfast every morn

He bought his egg one morning from the shop across the way.
The sign above them read, "These Eggs Are Strictly Fresh Today."

Bill Bailey's wonder and surprise were more than we can tell
When he discovered some one had been writing on the shell.

In fact, it seemed a woman had inscribed upon the egg
Her autograph. The name he found was Clementine Clegg

He wrote to the address she gave and registered a vow:
"This is the woman of my choice. I'll find a partner now."

For weary weeks he waited, though the maiden had forgot,
And then his hopes were shattered by the answer that he got:

"Dear sir, your letter is at hand, and in reply would beg
To state that there is no one here named Clementina Clegg

"Some of the oldest people here admit they used to know
A bunch of Cleggs who peddled eggs, but that was years ago

"They tried to run a poultry ranch, but couldn't make it pay,
So sold to a cold storage plant, and then they went away."
—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

His Apology.

Mrs. Minks—I don't want to make a scene, but that man over there is staring at me very offensively. Mr. Minks—He is, eh? I'll speak to him. Mrs. Minks (a few moments later)—Did he apologize? Mr. Minks Y-e-s. He said he was looking for his mother and thought at first that you were she.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

The First Iron Bridge.

The first iron bridge ever erected in the world and which is in constant use at the present time spans a little river in the county of Salop, on the railroad leading from Shrewsbury to Worcester, England. It was built in the year 1778 and is exactly ninety-six feet in length. The total amount of iron used in its construction was 378 tons. Stephenson, the great engineer, in writing concerning it said, "When we consider the fact that the casting of iron was at that time in its infancy, we are convinced that unblushing audacity alone could conceive and carry into execution such an undertaking."

LENGTHY VISITS.

The Unstinted Hospitality of Old Virginia.

Virginia hospitality is a byword. The old time country house, says Mrs. Roger A. Pryor in "My Day," was built of elastic material, capable of sheltering any number of guests, many of whom remained all summer. Indeed, this was expected of them.

"My dear sir," said the genial master of Westover to a departing guest who had sought shelter from a rainstorm, "my dear sir, do stay and pay us a visit."

The guest pleaded business that forbade his compliance.

"Well, well," said Major Drewry, "if you can't pay us a visit come for two or three weeks at least."

"Week ends" were unknown in Virginia, and equally out of the question an invitation limited by the host to prescribed days and hours. Sometimes a happy guest would ignore time altogether and stay along from season to season. I cannot remember a parallel case to that of Isaac Watts, who, invited by Sir Thomas Abney to spend a night at Stoke Newington, accepted with great cheerfulness and stayed the rest of his life, nearly forty years, but I do remember that an invitation for one night brought to a member of our family a pleasant couple who remained for years.

One Turn of the Hand.

Bliffers—Who says women have no heads for business? There's a woman made $50,000 by simply turning her hand over.

Whiffers—Phew! How?

Bliffers—She turned it over to Mr. Bullion, and now she's Mrs. Bullion.—New York Weekly.

A Good Landing.

His Own Joke.

"I admit I was found in the possession of firearms," said the prisoner, "but it's only a joke of mine, my lord."

"Explain yourself," said the magistrate.

"Why, I put two pistols in my pocket when I go out to a friendly gathering. Then I start talking of aeroplanes."

"Well?"

"Then I say my life was once saved by parachutes."

"Yes?"

"And I pull out the pistols and say, 'Pair o' shoots.' Ha! ha! See?"

"Yes. I see. Did you make up that joke yourself?"

"Yes, my lord."

"Two years' hard labor."—London Answers.

And All of Them Americans.

An English visitor has recently been expressing his wonderment at the facility with which America assimilates its stream of immigrants. A friend with whom he was talking on the subject remarked, "My housemaid is a Norwegian, my grocer a Scotchman, my butcher is a German, my druggist is a Finn, my barber an Italian, my newsman a Jew, my laundryman is Irish, my fishmonger English, my florist Greek and my tailor Russian."—American Hebrew.

Learn to Obey.

Learn to obey! By obedience I do not mean a merely outward submission to outward force and authority, but the voluntary subordination of one's own will under the will of a better and higher intelligence. He who has not learned to do this in childhood will have great difficulty in learning it in later life; he will rarely get beyond the deplorable and unhappy state that vacillates between outward submission and uproarious rebellion. No greater wrong can be done to childhood than the one caused by our desire to spare it the necessity of obeying. Whoever conceives the duty of the educator to consist in giving in to all desires of the child, in gratifying all its wishes, makes himself guilty of the gravest sin toward his child. He denies it what, in view of its future mission, it cannot afford to lose—namely, the exercise in voluntarily subordinating its own will under necessity, be it a natural or a social one.—Professor F. Paulson, University of Berlin, in Educational Review.

Australia's Hinterland.

The one problem in Australia which really overshadows every other, says an English paper, is that of the huge rich, unpeople northern territories—not only that section of the north which is at present controlled from Adelaide but the whole of northern Australia. It is an even greater problem than that of immigration, which to some extent forms a part of it. Here are enormous stretches of well-watered land capable of growing wheat, vast grazing areas, auriferous belts, rich tropical lands, innumerable natural products, deep rivers, and fine harbors. The portion known as the Northern Territory contains little more than 1,000 white inhabitants; the rest is populated on the same scale. There is need for a very rapid awakening of Australian opinion upon this vital issue.

All early writers attribute wonderful qualities to toads and frogs and the various parts of their bodies. Pliny believed, for instance, that if a toad was brought into the midst of a mob or other large and unruly concourse of people "silence would instantly prevail." A small bone found in the right side of toads "of the proper age" was also believed to have powers over the various elements. "By throwing this bone into a vessel of boiling water," says Pliny, "it will immediately cool it, the water refusing to boil again until the bone has been removed. To find this bone, expose the dead toad on an ant hill. When the ants have eaten her all away except the bones, take each bone separately and drop it into boiling water. Thus may the wondrous toad bone be discovered."

Offensive Breath Caused Usually by Catarrh

A Simple Remedy that Cures Without Drugs.

The American people suffer more from Catarrh than from any other disease. It undermines more constitutions and creates more sickness than all other diseases combined. It is, therefore, very dangerous.

You can't successfully treat Catarrh by internal dosing—you must in some way send a purifying, healing agent through the breathing organs, so that the germs can be reached. This you do every time you inhale Catarrhozone. It's rich essences and healing balsams are breathed all through the nose, throat and lungs, and effectively destroy every trace of Catarrh. This is a proven fact.

I endorse Catarrhozone because I know of six bad cases of Catarrh, including my own, that it has cured. It is a sensible remedy because it is capable of going where the disease is, I believe it cures quicker than other remedy because it gets sooner to the source of the disease than anything else I know of. I had headaches, bad breath and much stomach trouble associated with my Catarrh, but they have disappeared since using Catarrhozone, which keeps me free from colds, headaches, catarrh and all winter ills." OTTO E. KRAMER, Belleville, Ont.

Catarrhozone is needed in every home. Large size lasts 2 months, price $1.00; small size, 50c.; trial size 25c. At all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Bethany Tabernacle.

The large audience which gathered in Bethany Tabernacle were privileged to hear an instructive address delivered by the Mountaineer Evangelist, Rev. Lucius B. Compton, on the striking subject of the "Threefold Manifestations of Christ."

North Monaghan Assessment

The Council of North Monaghan has decided to place property of non-residents in that township, just south of the city limits on the assessment roll as "non-residents." This will increase the taxes of those affected about 10 per cent.

Mice Injured Church Organ

Lindsay Warder The new organ lately installed in St. Mary's church has been injured through mice depositing foreign material in the tubes. An expert in organ repairing from Woodstock is expected at an early date to remedy the trouble caused by the rodents.

An Otonabee Wedding.

"Crystal Stream" Otonabee, the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Deyell, was the scene of a double wedding at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, when their daughters, Miss Elsie Deyell was united in marriage to Mr Wm. Hanbridge, and Miss Ethel Deyell was united in marriage to Mr. Tennison Mawofiney.

Annual Meeting of Y.M.C.A.

The annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. was held in the parlours of the local branch of that institution. The meeting was largely attended by members and directors and reports were presented by Mr. A. A. Hainsworth, Mr. J. J. Thompson and Mr. Barnett Galley, that were received with the greatest interest.

A Suit for Damages.

One of the cases which will be heard at the Spring Assizes on the 21st of this month, is that of Wm. J. Kearns vs. H. F. Jackson, the plaintiff claiming damages to the extent of $3,000 for false arrest and imprisonment. Hall, Medd and Davidson are acting for the plaintiff, while Mr. G. N. Gordon is representing the defendant.

Central Canada Railway

It will be remembered that the franchise for the Central Railway of Canada, which will pass through the Northern portions of Peterborough and Hastings Counties and run north of Bobcaygeon to Fenelon Falls, expired some time ago. Mr. Bennett, M. P., of Simcoe, has introduced a bill in Parliament asking for a renewal of the franchise. Such a railway would be a great boon for settlers in the north.

Home After Pleasant Visit

Miss Jessie Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Spence, Downie St., has returned after a month's visit with friends in Ottawa. During her stay this popular young lady had a most enjoyable time. She received invitations to the State ball at Rideau Hall, Hon. R. Borden's reception, a big reception at Chateau Laurier and other brilliant functions. She leaves to-night for a visit with friends in Toronto.

A Musical Treat.

Yesterday morning a Times representative had the privilege of hearing some classical music. Mr. Frank Whitehouse, local representative of the Nordheimer Piano Co., Toronto, played several violin selections, accompanied by an $800 Nordheimer "player-piano" recently sold to a local citizen. Among the selections rendered was "Chant du Soir" or "Evening Song," by Chas. Bye, and dedicated "To my friend, Frank Whitehouse." Mr. Whitehouse is an expert with the violin.

Want Car Line Extended.

Residents residing in North Monaghan, a mile or more south of the present district known generally as "Browntown," or as it may be re-christened "Riverside," are anxious to see the street Railway extended as south as Crawford's Grove. Under existing conditions many men living at the first designated part of Monaghan who work in local factories are compelled to drive daily to and from work. Such people claim that an extension of the car lines would be a great convenience and would pay good returns on the outlay.

Best Vaudeville Seen Here.

Mr. Clayton, manager of the Royal Theatre is certainly keeping faith with the public of Peterborough. He announced on Tuesday a complete change of program by the "Happy Musical Co." of 20 people. The Royal yesterday afternoon was crowded from the orchestra to the rear rail by people who expressed in no uncertain way, their appreciation of the change of program. The Happy Musical Co. is the best light opera combination seen here in many aday. The songs are bright, sparkling and catchy, the dances are original with nothing shown that the veriest prude could object to. The same program is on this afternoon and evening.

An Omemee Tragedy.

An Omemee despatch of yesterday says: "Omemee to-day mourns the loss of one of her most respected citizens, as the result of a terrible accident late yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Thomas G. Stephenson was so seriously injured in an accident at the grist mill that he died without regaining consciousness. Mr Stephenson was at work in the mill about 4 o'clock, when the chopping machine burst. Pieces of iron struck Mr Stephenson about the head and body, causing many punctures. The skull was effected and one of the arteries in the skull was severed. Medical aid was summoned and Dr. Earle took charge of the case. Dr Sutton of Peterborough was also called for consultation, but little could be done for the unfortunate man. He died about six o'clock."

All the Tired Nervous Women

CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Madame Perreault Tells How She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found Health and Contentment.

Verner, Ont., Feb. 11.—(Special). "I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well." These are words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, run-down pain racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

AN UNJUST CHARGE.

Yesterday a well known local man told The Times of a terrible robbery he had been an eye witness of. It seems our informant had been in a local bar-room. A man who was mdch the worse of liquor came in and asked for a drink. Owing to his the man's, condition, the wine clerk refused to serve him. The man pulled out a wallet containing some $10 bills and again asked for a drink, only to be refused. The bartender who knew the man said to him "You'd better let me take that money in charge until morning." It was handed over. The wine clerk who knew the man's characteristics, on counting the money dropped a few of the $10 bills on the "work board" under the bar. The man did not notice the abstraction of his money and demanded the purse back. Our informant saw the bartender put the dropped bills in his pocket. He thought a robbery had been committed and notified the police later on. Before the chief could investigate, the robbed-(?) man had sobered up and, in the presence of a local civil engineer, was handed back his money. The bills had been taken as the wine clerk knew the man, in his former condition would demand back his purse and thought if the man lost his wallet, he, the clerk, would save his friend at least $40.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

The death occurred last Friday evening, at the residence of his son-in-law, A. Windsor, Anstruther, of Samuel Peters, one of the oldest residents of the Township at the advanced age of 76 years. He had been ailing for about a year. The funeral took place Sunday, Feb. 8th. Service was held at the home of Mr. Windsor, Rev. J. A. Prosser officiating. A large number of friends and neighbors followed the remains to the place of interment, Apsley cemetery.

Mr. Wm. Tucker, ex-Reeve, met a painful accident while assisting his brother, Mr. Z. Tucker, cutting logs. A large limb hanging from a tree became dislodged by the high wind, fell striking Mr. Wm. on the head, inflicting a severe wound on the side of his head. Had the limb struck fairly on the top it might have proved fatal.

Miss Charlotte Tucker was visiting friends in Apsley Saturday and Sunday.

Hear All the Great Artists in the World's Masterpieces on the GRAFONOLA

YSAYE
Until you have heard Ysaye play the "Caprice Viennois" on the Grafonola, you can't know how perfectly Columbia Records reproduce the actual music—not an imitation.

GARDEN
Mary Garden's wonderful rendering of Thais' "Love is a Virtue Rare" is yours to command—or any other famous star's interpretation of any of your favorite arias.

FREMSTAD
Fremstad—have you heard her sing "Dich Theure Halle?" It is only one of the dozens of Wagnerian arias that you may hear on the Grafonola.

BONCI
You can hear Bonci sing the great Italian arias—or any other tenor sing any song on any disc record. The Grafonola plays them all.

The Grafonola plays every disc record made by any artist without a single exception.

By your own fireside in after-dinner comfort—you can enjoy musical treats greater than any single grand opera, concert or recital.

You can combine all three in one evening—and add vaudeville songs and dance music for good measure.

The highest priced and the best low-priced instruments are both Columbias. $650 for the "Grand" and $32.50 for the "Eclipse." Other models between these extremes. Convenient monthly payments and free trial in your home can be arranged. 305

DIVORCE HEARINGS UNDER NEW METHOD LIKELY AT OTTAWA

Private Bills Committee Has Informal Discussion Upon Live Topic

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—A better and more intelligent method of dealing with divorce cases was informally discussed by the Private Bills Committee here to-day. As matters now stand divorce cases after being passed on by the Senate Committee and the Senate are sent to the Private Bills Committee for consideration. Members of the committee claim that they are called upon to vote on divorce cases without having any opportunity to hear witnesses or often even to read evidence.

Dr. Steele raised the question and claimed the committee should have the same opportunity as the Senate of properly passing on cases. They were supposed to be a court of Appeal without any of the advantages of such a court. He was supported by Mr. W. A. Boys and other members.

Members Might Well Attend.

The new Chairman Major Sam Sharpe, suggested that the committee be either a joint one with the Senate committee or else that a small subcommittee be appointed to pass on all cases and report.

Hon. George Perley said that it was impossible to have a joint committee but there was no objection to members of the House attending such sessions. The Chairman was instructed to make inquiries as to some reform in present methods.

Queen's Bill Is Amended.

An amendment to the Queen's University bill was considered by the Private Bills Committee this morning and was finally reported. It was explained by Mr. W. F. Nickle, who had charge of the measure, that the bill passed two years ago provided for the appointment of the Minister of Education and another appointed by him to be on the Board of Trustees of Queen's University. The Minister of Education objected to being on the Board as it might bind the Government to any policy adopted. The clause providing for the appointment of these two men to the Board was struck out.

Custom House Site Chosen

The Times received a despatch from Ottawa, stating that the expert who has been looking over the city for a suitable site for the new Customs House, which is to be erected at once in Peterborough, has chosen the lot occupied by the Peter Hamilton Company, being the north-east corner of George and Sherbrooke streets, as the only first-class site available. Mr. Burnham, M.P., has forwarded a copy of the report for the City Council's approval. What they say goes, so that it is now up to those who are opposed to this site to get after the Council if they feel so inclined.

YOUNG WOMAN DEAD FROM INHALING GAS

Mrs. Madden Died at the Western Hospital and Mother is Very Ill.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The death occurred early to-day at the Western Hospital of Mrs. Madden aged 25 years, who with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders, aged 55 years, was found unconscious as a result of inhaling coal gas fumes at their home 25 Beaconsfield avenue, on Monday night.

The two women were found by their husbands, who had not thought their condition serious enough to warrant their removal to the hospital until the next morning, when all efforts at resuscitation had proved futile. The mother's condition is still very critical.

FEET FROZEN, CRAWLS MILES

Young Lumberjack Overcome by the Cold, Alone in Woods, 30 Below Zero.

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 12.—Frank Collins, a young lumberjack whose home is in this city, was brought to the Hotel Dieu this morning.

He had both feet badly frozen and it is feared that they may have to be amputated. He was working at Easter Camp, about one hundred miles north of North Bay, and set out to walk to another camp at Cache Bay, a distance of 30 miles. After covering about 24 miles he was overcome with the cold, it being about 30 below zero, and had to drag himself as best he could four miles farther to reach the nearest farm.

Part of the way he had to make on his hands and knees and he suffered terribly. He had a man drive him to Cache Bay and here he started on his journey home.

NEXT PROBE IS FOR MONTREAL CITY HALL

Detectives Have Been at Work Looking Into the Municipal Affairs.

Quebec, Feb. 12.—The Lower House even when it has dealt with the report of reports of graft investigation committee, if gossip around the Parliament Buildings to-day be true, will not be through with the subject. A movement has been suggested to call to the bar of the House Jules Fournier, the editor of L'Action, a Montreal paper, which has discussed the question of corruption at Quebec. Rumor also states the story that still another attempt would be made to bring Bicklinger, the Burns' detective, who worked on the case and resulted in the Mail charges, to give evidence before a committee, as it is held in some quarters that he has not told all he knows.

Unofficially it was stated to-day that the Montreal Daily Mail will now proceed to publish articles, based upon detectives' investigations, in connection with the alleged corruption at the city hall in Montreal and that a lawyer, who is a member of the Lower House and not affiliated with any party will be retained to handle the paper's end of the case in any investigation the Montreal City Council may order.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Mostly fair and about the same temperature.

PAY DAY ON C.P.R.

Over Six Millions Paid to Employees Every Month

For many years pay day on the C.P.R. has been an eagerly anticipated event, and each month the Company pays out over $6,000,000 in cheques, distributed over the system.

By actual count the cheques reach a total of 120,000, and this number with the growth of the system and the consequent need of more men, ever grows.

"We do everything in our power to accommodate the employees," says Mr. H. E. Suckling, the treasurer of the C.P.R. There is a great deal of of time and work associated with the monthly pay day; and if we had to have it twice a month, as is the case in certain of the States—well, it would mean a lot more trouble, a doubled staff, and considerable more expense. We have to do it in Vermont and Maine, which we pass through and which have the bi-monthly payments, and I can tell you it is work. In several of the States it is the same; but wherever it is found it is because State legislation pander to the so-called labor vote. Our people have not sought for short term payments; and in fact, seeing that they know for a certainty that on a certain date, without fail, they will get their money, they are perfectly satisfied to have it once a month. Think of a job of sending out twice a month 120,000 cheques. There was some talk at Ottawa some years ago of initiating bi-monthly payments, but the matter was not pursued.

"The single monthly payment works well; it is a certain fixed date which does not vary; there is a fixedness which gives security; and it suits all the people with whom they deal. Branch banks will be found all over the system, close to the place of work and payment, so that there is no trouble in getting the cheques cashed anywhere."

The wages list is constantly increasing on the C.P.R.

A decade ago the total number of employees was something like 65,000. Today it is over 120,000 in all grades of activity. It might be said that over 500,000 persons are directly interested in, and look forward to, the monthly pay day, while, if we consider the allied interests, the indirect relations sustained one way or another, the commercial and industrial affiliations of the company outside the regular list of employees, we get over 1,000,000 people more or less directly concerned in the issuance, once a month, of those seemingly innumerable bits of paper which are so eagerly transmuted into bread and butter. If, however, we get beyond all those who are more or less directly interested in the company, and reach out to the various activities which depend on the company—each industrial organism with its own army of employees; if we consider every allied or affected interest, we find that the entire population is, remotely, it may be, but, nevertheless, certainly affected in their lives and outlook by the operations of the C.P.R., and, with measurable closeness, concerned for the pay envelope.

The London Board of Health goes on record endorsing the proposed legislation to prohibit the manufacture and sale of cigarettes.

Belleville assessor reports the population at 11,893.

SENATOR NOT IN IMMEDIATE DANGER

Dr. Goldie States That Sir George Ross is Slightly Better To-day.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Sir George Ross is slightly better, his condition to-day being stated by Dr. Goldie to be better, on the whole, than it has been for several days. He had a very fair night. His condition is serious, but Dr. Goldie said there is no immediate danger. He is able to receive visitors but beyond the members of his own family he has not seen many persons. His medical attendants do not encourage visitors, unless Sir George expresses a particular desire to see them.

MR. W. R. BROCK IS THE NEW PRESIDENT

Elected to Succeed Late Senator Cox by Boards of Assurance Companies.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—At the meeting of the Directors of the Western and British America Assurance Companies held to-day, Mr. W. R. Brock, formerly vice-president was elected president of both companies, to succeed the late Hon. Geo. A. Cox. Mr. W. B. Meikle, the general manager was elected vice-president and general manager. The vacancy on each board caused by the death of Senator Cox was filled by the election of his son, Mr. H. C. Cox, president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company.

WOMAN'S PLACE HOME HE TELLS CLUBWOMEN

J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., Speaker Before Publicity Organization.

Boston, Feb. 12—Boston woman of today are not all they should be, apparently, in the estimation of J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. At the dinner of the Boston Women's Publicity Club at the Hotel Thorndike last night he freed his mind on several points regarding the conduct of women in business and out.

He said that woman's place was the home. Then he criticised freely wherein he thought they might make Boston and the world generally a little better. Obviously, he was not a suffragist.

"I don't pretend to understand the feminist movement," he said. "I can't understand organizing a sex, but I can understand the developing of a beautiful personality. Women are partly to blame for the present lack of interest in social intercourse with women evinced by the men of Boston today. If women should take the time to be well dressed and the trouble to be well mannered, we should not see men coming into an assemblage like this with their hats on as if no one save themselves was present.

"I would like to see still more of a desire to get home earlier in the evening on the part of the women. Men are not homemakers and women are. Boston society is incomplete in that courteous and delightful spontaneity that is marked in the social life of the South. We have sound standards but we are in the dark ages so far as social intercourse is concerned."

Companies obtaining characters will have hereafter to start within one year and finish within three years.

PERSONAL DESIRE OF KING FOR PEACE GUIDES LIBERALS

Asquith Change of Front Directly Due to His Majesty's Opinion

London, Feb. 12.—I was given to understand to-day that the Asquith change of front on the Irish question, of which the English people generally seem cordially to approve, was directly due to a strongly expressed wish of the King.

His Majesty has for months, past expressed to his intimates, who include both Radical and Unionist politicians, his grave concern at the spectacle of Ireland drifting towards civil war.

While political leaders on both sides were manoeuvring for positions, the Government's attitude hitherto has been.

"Home Rule Bill is our solution, and the Parliament Act is the means the electorate has given us to force it through. We cannot parley with insurrectionists like Sir Edward Carson, but we will listen to any reasonable suggestions."

King Disturbs Deadlock.

The King's intervention alone is sufficient to raise the deadlock, which this attitude created. Mr. Asquith now pledges that the Government propose concessions to Ulster in the hope of securing a settlement by consent. Mr. Redmond has reluctantly assented to this abandonment of the policy of "Full Steam Ahead."

Nationalist journals are now seeking to make the best of the new situation. Freeman's Journal to-day says "Unionists and the House of Lords must accept the liability for whatever happens, if they reject Asquith's proposals. Having done all in his power to allay apprehensions, the Government cannot quail before threats and violence."

Test Credit of Unionists.

The Irish Independent also warns the Unionists that the country will test their credit by the way they receive the Government's suggestions.

Unionist journals of Dublin claim that the Ministers themselves are now driven to recognize that their case has collapsed, and say that Home Rule is dead.

The moment of last night's debate in the Commons was when after a close glance at his votes Sir Edward Carson wheeled round to Mr. Redmond, flung forth a not unfriendly hand, greeted the Nationalist "My fellow-countrymen," and cried: "Ulster you may take her, but you must win her." Mr. Redmond was unmistakably moved

LIGHTED A FIRE UNDER HIS HORSE

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Wishing to keep his horse warm, T. Chiovatti, an Italian, gathered a small bundle of straw lighted it and placed it under his horse, in a stable at the rear of 109½ Portland street. The animal did not appreciate the man's kindness, for as soon as the blaze got under way the horse took a flying kick at the bundle of burning straw, scattering burning fragments in all directions. As the stable contained considerable inflammable material, including hay and straw, it was not long before the place presented the appearance of a bonfire.

Alarmed Chiovatti rang the fire alarm. The firemen extinguished the conflagration before any great damage was done.

FAMILIES LACK FIRE AND FOOD AT 18 BELOW ZERO

Cold Snap Hits Poor People Hard, and Help is Needed --Children Without Milk

Toronto, Feb. 12.—To be out of work, without the means of buying coal or food, and to see wife and children huddled together, shivering under all the blankets and coverings that the house can boast, while the room steadily grows colder and the frost crackles out of doors, is the experience of many men in Toronto today. For the past month the scanty resources of hundreds of families have slowly been exhausted. One or two or three days' work from the city through the Civic Employment Bureau enabled them to prolong the struggle so long as the weather was fairly warm, and the entire family income could go for food, but during the past two days, when fuel has been the prime necessity of existence, they have come to the end of their tether.

Cold Hits Poor People Hard.

"I have had more cases of urgent need come to my attention to-day and yesterday than during any previous two days through the winter," Rev. D. W. Christie who has a large parish in the East End, said. "At the time of the first cold spell our end of the city did not suffer so severely, and I thought for a while that we would weather the winter without very serious difficulty. But in the interval since then, many families came to the end of their resources, and many were caught yesterday without money, with very little food, and scarcely any fuel. They had to apply for help, although a month ago they would not think of letting their need be known. Fortunately we are better prepared to meet this cold spell than we were to face the last one. The relief fund is proving invaluable. We can go right ahead and help every distressed family as soon as we learn of their need."

ENGLISH BEAUTY TELLS COMPLEXION SECRETS

("Elsie" in American Home)

Through a fortunate meeting with an English lady, noted for her dazzling complexion, I recently learned the full meaning of that old adage, "Beauty is but skin deep." She taught me how to remove my muddy old skin, revealing the young and beautiful skin underneath. The process is so simple, harmless and inexpensive. I'm sure you'll be glad to know about it. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at any drug store and apply nightly, like cold cream, for a week or so. Every morning in washing off the wax, tiny particles of worn-out cuticle come off too. The action is so gentle and gradual, there's no discomfort. It's a wonderful treatment, as it not only peels off the faded or discolored skin, but all of its defects, as chaps, roughness, freckles, pimples, blotches, blackheads.

I am indebted to the same lady for a remarkable wrinkle-removing formula. One ounce powdered saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Used as a face bath, this is so effective that just one application causes the finer lines to disappear, and soon even the deepest ones go.

THE MARRIAGE LAWS MUST BE MADE MORE CLEAR AND DEFINITE

The Orange Sentinel Wants the Government to Clear the Situation

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The Orange Sentinel says that the lawyers who are acting for Mrs. Hebert evidently put the same construction on the Court of Review judgment in the famous marriage case as The Sentinel expressed in last week's issue. This is indicated by the inauguration of a suit to establish the validity of Mrs. Hebert's marriage, in which Archbishop Bruchesi is made co-defendant with the husband. The plaintiff's petition declares that his Grace had no authority to declare the marriage illegal and that his decree against it was libellous and defamatory, and has caused the plaintiff's co-religionists and even the general public to question her standing in the community. She demands that the decree of nullification be expunged from the church's records.

We believe the issue is more clearly defined in this new suit than in the first one. We trust it will be pressed with vigor and result in the marriage laws of Canada being established on the basis of justice and equality. Those who are behind the reform movement have two strings to their bows in the Hebert and Tremblay cases, and much as the Roman hierarchy will scheme and wriggle, an authoritative decision should be reached.

The Orangemen of Canada are spending four thousand dollars in an effort to secure justice for Mrs. Tremblay, though she is a Roman Catholic. In so doing they are performing service for the nation, for the abortive case prosecuted by the Federal Government showed that the Borden Government recognised the desirability of clearing up the situation. The great Protestant denominations all have a duty in this connection and should contribute generous sums rather than allow the new Hebert case to be abandoned for lack of funds

HOW TO BECOME INVISIBLE.

A Sample of the Mummery Used in Ancient Witchcraft.

Some curious formulas of ancient witchcraft are given in Mr. A. E. Waite's "Book of Ceremonial Magic." Here is a recipe for becoming invisible:

"Begin this operation on a Wednesday before the sun rises, being furnished with seven black beans. Take next the head of a dead man. Place one of the beans in his mouth, two in his eyes and two in his ears. Then make upon the head the character of the figure which here follows. (Omitted.) This done, inter the head with the face toward heaven, and every day before sunrise for the space of nine days water it with excellent brandy.

"On the eighth day you will find the cited spirit, who will say unto you: 'What doest thou?' You shall reply: 'I am watering my plant.' He will then say: 'Give me that bottle; I will water it myself.' You will answer by refusing, and he will again ask you; but you will persist in declining until he shall stretch forth his hand and show you the same figure which you have traced upon the head suspended from the tips of his fingers. In this case you may be assured that it is really the spirit of the head, because another might take you unawares, which would bring you evil, and, further, your operation would be unfruitful. When you have given him your vial he will water the head and depart. On the morrow, which is the ninth day, you shall return and shall find your beans ripe. Take them, place one in your mouth and then look at yourself in a glass. If you cannot see yourself it is good. Do the same with the rest or they may be tested in the mouth of a child."

Uncalled For Courtesy.

The Vicomte Toussaint was formerly a colonel in the French army and mayor of Toulouse. He was a brave man and a dashing officer. During one of the hottest engagements of a terrible year of war, noticing that his troops were bending forward under a galling fire to escape the bullets of the enemy while he alone maintained an erect position, he exclaimed, "Since when, I should like to know, has so much politeness been shown to the Prussians?" The sarcasm took instantaneous effect, for the soldiers rushed forward and carried everything before them.

Devoted to Duty.

"Are you ever coming to bed?" he called out.

"I don't know," she replied. "I promised Mrs. Jones that I'd keep track of her husband while she is away, and I'm going to know what time he comes home if I have to stay up all night."—Detroit Free Press.

Strange Death of Rival Stags.

Many records exist of the way in which rival stags have met their death when fighting for supremacy. Probably none is more strange than that described by Herr C. Drathmore of Charlottenburg in the Deutsche Jager-Zeitung. In 1908 the keepers on the Gelbensand shooting in Mecklenburg-Schwerin found a fine twelve pointer lying dead, apparently from antler thrusts and with both beams close together. Not far off was a smaller stag, a ten pointer, still living, but as its back was broken it was put out of its misery. On examination it was found that the antlers of the larger stag were torn out of the skull and the frontal bone was broken. The back of the smaller stag must have been broken in the struggle.

One of Mark Twain's Jokes.

Mark Twain played a practical joke on the first audience he addressed in England. This was in 1872, when his reputation was already high in that country, and the announcement of his lecture filled St. George's hall, London, to overflowing. Few if any of those present had ever seen the humorist. He came on the platform in evening dress, with the crestfallen air of a manager announcing a disappointment. "Mr. Clemens had landed at Liverpool and had fully hoped to reach London in time, but unfortunately missed his train." The audience started booing, but the boos changed into cheers and laughter when he added that, fortunately, Mark Twain was present and would do his best to fill the place of the defaulting Clemens.

INCURABLE.

Some Interference Wireless Operators Cannot Overcome.

Few are the steamer passengers who fail to visit the wireless office aboard ship to watch the operation of the instruments and to question the operator. Needless to say, the technical understanding of the well meaning visitors is a variable quantity. The operator must listen to wondering exclamations, original suggestions for the improvement of the service, discourses on the relations between wireless telegraphy and spiritualism and other doubtful topics with uniform courtesy. At times, however, the strain is too great. It was a lady passenger with an eye for details who came to the wireless room and looked wonderingly in.

"Oh, here's the wireless! May I come in? Isn't it wonderful to think of sending those—those waves—you call them waves, don't you? How fascinating to work at this! Are those jars filled with water?"

"Those are condenser jars, madam, quite empty."

"Really? I don't believe I could ever understand it. That coil of wire looks like a birdcage."

"That is the inductance helix."

"What are those things over your ears?"

"The receiving telephones."

"Then you have telephone connection too. One can hardly keep up with the times these days. What does that coil do?"

"That is the receiving tuner and interference preventer."

"Wonderful! Does it keep out all interference?"

"Not all," replied the operator wearily. "Some kinds of interference can't be tuned out; we just have to stand it."—Youth's Companion.

EIGHT CENTS A DAY.

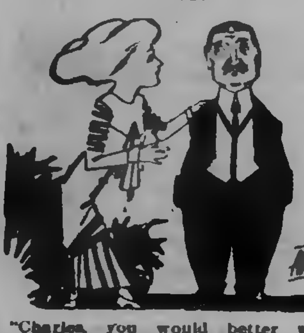
Workers' Pay In England When Board Was a Shilling a Week.

There was a time when a workman in England received 8 cents a day as an ordinary wage, when skilled artisans commanded 12 cents a day and when women worked in the field at such tasks as reaping straw, hoeing, planting beans and washing sheep for 2 cents a day, and a wise student of the subject has expressed the opinion that the British workman of that day was better off than he has ever been since then.

That sounds paradoxical. But the explanation is this: The workman who sold his services for 8 cents a day could buy good beef or mutton for 1½ cents a pound. Wheat cost him on the average only 18 cents a bushel. He could get board for 12 to 16 cents a week. The pay he would receive for fifteen weeks' services would suffice to purchase a supply of suitable foodstuffs, according to the standard of his time (consisting of wheat, malt and oatmeal), to maintain his family for an entire year.

Under these circumstances 8 cents a day—increased to 12 cents in harvest time—was a fair wage, and "times were good" for the average workman.—McClure's Magazine.

In Doubt.



"Charles, you would better walk down to papa's office and see him about our engagement."

"Clara, I can walk to your papa's office, but I may need some help to get back."

His Money.

A poor beggar received a monthly allowance of $5 from a rich man. The money used to be paid to him regularly by the bookkeeper. On one occasion when the poor man came around the bookkeeper handed him only $3. The poor man remained standing quietly until the bookkeeper asked whether there was anything else he wished.

"You must have made a mistake," he said. "I always get $5."

"Yes," replied the bookkeper; "that has now been changed."

"Changed? Why?"

"You see, the boss recently married off his eldest daughter, and he had a great deal of expense, as you may imagine—the dowry and so forth. You can easily understand"—

"Yes, yes!" grumbled the beggar. "Give your employer my best wishes and tell him that if he ever marries off another daughter he may do it with his own money, not with mine."—Maccabean.

Interested Them.

"I have here," says the inventor to the capitalists, "two plans for radical changes in sleeping cars."

"Yes?" murmur the capitalists.

"This plan increases the space given to each passenger and makes the berth much more comfortable by"—

"Can't consider it."

"Well, the second plan makes the car uncomfortable, but it enables it to carry half as many more passengers, and"—

"Give us the complete details with estimates of cost."—Life.

Even In His Day.

Croesus was complaining of the high cost of living.

"The worst of it, though," he grumbled, "is that I don't know whether it's caused by the tariff or an oversupply of gold."

Bitterly regretting the necessity for economizing, he canceled his order for a mess of ortolans' tongues and told the waiter to bring him an omelet of humming birds' eggs.—Chicago Tribune.

PARIS DECLARES THAT SKIRTS WILL REMAIN FULL AT THE HIPS

Peg-tops and panniers, tunics and ruffles, mark the new skirts and seem to be growing in favor every day. Often these hip draperies are of chiffon or net; the new soft taffetas seem especially suited to panniers, as it has just body enough to require no bones or wire. The flowered taffetas are very quaint and pretty, giving an 1830 effect which is fascinating.

No. 8236 shows an afternoon costume of plain and figured taffetas. The skirt is a peg-top design with the folds laid in softly about the waist. A soft sage green is the color, with the side tunics showing just a suggestion of pale Persian shades and a cleverly arranged waistcoat of the same shade of green velvet.

Taffetas may be had in black and colors from $1 to $4 a yard. They range in width from 36 to 44 inches.

To copy a dress for a girl of 16 it requires 4¼ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8200-8201 is a dainty suit for spring. The coat is developed in golfine trimmed with contrasting revers and a few buttons; the skirt is a two-piece design with a slightly draped effect brought about by two crosswise pleats in front. This design requires for size 36 2½ yards of 36 inch material for the coat (8200) and 2⅞ yards for the skirt (8201).

No. 8236—sizes 14 to 18.
No. 8200—sizes 32 to 42.
No. 8201—sizes 22 to 30.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.—

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

Ancient Oath Taking.

A method of taking the oath far more hygienic than kissing the book was that observed at the Forest of Dean Mine court for about 500 years, beginning in the thirteenth century. It was not for any hygienic reasons, but to prevent soiling the book that the miners before giving evidence touched the four gospels with a stick of holly. The witnesses wore their hats to show that they were free miners.—London Chronicle.

NEW YORK A SEPARATE STATE

It is proposed to make New York City a separate state by itself. Those who advocate this radical change urge that New York city pays a majority of the state expenses, but is necessarily a minority in the Legislature which decrees them. The rest of the state habitually "works" in the city. Millions of Albany appropriations are now going to good roads, but none for improved pavement on Manhattan Island. Scores of disparities of this sort are set forth in detail.

New York city could doubtless govern itself as a sovereign state with exceedongly little additional machinery. It would be homegeneous, something that cannot now be said of the two sections that now make up Uncle Sam's greatest state. Politically, a persistent contest now wages between the city and the "up-state." They are in a ceaseless tug-of-war. It is urged that if the city had only itself to attend to, its own reputation to maintain, its own decisions to make, there would be much better done. The rest of the state ought also to profit by liberation from the unequal yoke.

New Treatment Now Advocated For Bronchitis

Is Having Wonderful Success, and is Making Most Remarkable Cures.

For bronchitis a different form of treatment is now advocated. It consists of a scientifically devised vapor that penetrates to the uttermost recesses of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Every spot that is sore, every surface that is irritated is at once bathed with soothing balsams and healing essences that make chronic bronchitis an impossibility.

This treatment now so universally employed in bronchitis, throat troubles, colds, etc., is called CATARRHOZONE. It acts just as air of the pine woods act, as a healing antiseptic remedy for all diseases of the breathing organs.

Just think of it—a remedy that can be carried with the very air you breathe to the seat of bronchial or catarrhal inflammation. A remedy powerful enough to kill germ life and yet so healing that disease flees before it. Catarrhozone is truly a wonderful remedy. In many lands it has won its way and is affording grand results to sufferers from colds, catarrh, throat weakness, asth,a and bronchitis. There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c., sample size 25c., all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

EVANGELIST SERVICES IN FREE METHODIST CHURCH

Miss Babcock preached a very able sermon last night from the 27th and 28th verses of the 5th Chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke. Subject: "The Call of God."

"This call comes to every one," said the speaker, "sometime during their life. He called Matthew in a quiet, simple manner, apparently without telling him why he should follow him. Many are waiting for some great supernatural, irresistible power to induce them to decide to yield their hearts to God. The only people that ever feel such power are those who yield themselves to the Holy Spirit's strivings. It is very important to hear the Gospel, and a fearful thing to reject the call. The danger is, he may never call again. We should do as Matthew did, who immediately responded. It means much to follow Jesus. In order to do so we must forsake all sin. Many are making failure in the Christian life because they have not renounced all evil, they are trying to mix sin and holiness, which is as impossible as it is to mix oil and water. We must also turn to God and follow him, and go his way. When we turn to him we turn to an infinite source and have infinite power to help us overcome temptation. Paul said, 'I am not ashamed of or rather disappointed at the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation.'

"We must also strive to imitate him; he wants to teach us how to live that he may shine through us. The life of Jesus is the standard for the Christian. The easiest time to yield is when the call is first heard. The longer we postpone a difficult task, the more difficult it becomes. Many otherwise courageous men tremble at the thought of taking their stand on the side of God and right. This lack of moral courage is the cause of spiritual ruin in many cases. Matthew placed a proper estimate on eternal things. He did not prefer the things of earth, to the heavenly. Matthew decided at once and acted at once; he took a definite stand. If we do this it will be manifest to all with whom we have to do. This gives one a wonderful start toward heaven, and is a wonderful drawing power to others."

Come to-morrow night at 7.50 for the song service. Preaching at 8 o'clock.

COLOR BLINDNESS

John Dalton, the famous English chemist and natural philosopher, without whose discovery of the laws of chemical combination chemistry as an exact science could hardly exist, was wholly color blind. His knowledge of the fact came about by a happening of the sort which we call chance. On his mother's birthday, when he was a man of twenty six, he took her a pair of stockings which he had seen in a shop window, labeled "Silk, the newest fashion."

"Thee has bought me a pair of grand hose, John," said the mother, "but what made thee fancy such a bright color? Why, I can never show myself at meeting in them."

John was much disconcerted, but he told her that he considered the stockings to be of a very proper go to meeting color, as they were a dark bluish drab.

"Why, they're as red as a cherry, John," was her astonished reply.

Neither he nor his brother Jonathan could see anything but drab in the stockings, and they rested in the belief that the good wife's eyes were out of order until she, having consulted various neighbors, returned with the verdict, "Varra fine stuff, but uncommon scarlety."

The consequence was that John Dalton became the first to direct the attention of the scientific world to the subject of color blindness.

$100 REWARD $100

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HOTEL BEDS ABROAD

To Get Into Some of Them One Has to Use a Stepladder

The European who always strikes the uninitiated American traveler as a huge joke. In France they commence to impress him with their height and narrowness, and he looks dubiously at the enormous Turkey red cotton "couvre pied" of eiderdown, which seems something like a mountain, and he wonders how he is ever going to bear all that extra weight on his person. But when he has slipped between the sheets and the grateful warmth communicates itself to his cold bones if it is winter they are sure to be like icicles he discovers that it is deceptively light and deliciously comfortable.

In Switzerland the beds attain a little more height, but it is in Germany that they become of such an altitude as to necessitate a pair of steps to mount them. One tourist, finding that one leg of the stepladder was broken, solved his difficulty by going to the extreme end of the room, taking a running start and landing with a flying leap in the midst of the Turkey red eiderdown. He crawled in under the crocheted counterpane and was soon fast asleep. Some time in the night he became sleepily aware of a consuming thirst and started to get out of bed for a drink. A startled shriek, followed by some swear words that even the thick headed German watchman understood, penetrated to the remotest chamber in the inn.

"I was half awake," he explained afterward, "and had been dreaming of standing on Table rock, in the Yosemite. I started to get out of bed—and began to fall. Naturally I supposed I was plunging to the bottom of that precipice, and I'll leave it to you if any one wouldn't have let out a yell when he thought he was going to be dashed to death."

Sometimes in European hotels the tourist is taken solemnly to one side and told that by paying a few francs or lire more he can have the royal bedchamber. A certain hotel in Sorrento, where a dozen or more royal heads have lain in one season, is even more generous, for if the rooms are empty they make no extra charge. And the traveler loves to recount when he is back on his native heath how his cheek pressed the same pillow that had been used by the little queen of Holland or the king of Saxony.—New York Tribune.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Centre Pier at Cobourg, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M., on Wednesday, March 11, 1914, for the construction of the Centre Pier at Cobourg, Northumberland County, Ontario.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; Windsor, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Cobourg, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

"Touch Not the Queen."

Under this title a Paris journal professes to give an account of the tragic death of the queen of Siam, who was as greatly loved as her consort. Some years ago her majesty was boating with ladies of the court in a lake in the gardens of the palace at Bangkok. The boat overturned, and the queen could not swim. She was surrounded by numerous personages who could have saved her life, but no one has the right to extend the hand upon the queen. The king alone could have held her up and prevented her from sinking, and he was nowhere at hand. Respectfully the court allowed the queen to drown.

DAILY SHORT STORY

CZAR OF HIS SHIP

The Captain of an Ocean Liner Is a Real Autocrat.

HIS WORD IS ABSOLUTE LAW.

He May, If He Deems It Necessary, Put a Passenger In Irons or Clap Him In a Cell, and In Cases of Emergency Is Empowered to Take Life.

Imagine a mayor or a judge of a circuit court or a county sheriff or a town marshal of a village of 3,800 population stepping out into the street and on general and self imposed authority picking up a citizen, ordering him to a cell and clapping irons on him for safe keeping.

Wouldn't the bird of American liberty set up a scream? Wouldn't the old and badly cracked Liberty bell resonate in discord?

After one of the great transatlantic passenger steamships leaves the three mile limit of New York the passenger is in foreign territory on the high seas. English, French, German whatever the flag at the masthead the ship is a section of its fatherland, floating in the high seas, where only maritime laws regarding its transit in times of peace may hold check upon the czardom of the ship's commander, on or off the bridge.

No czar has more power within his territory than has the captain of the great Atlantic liner on the high seas. He is on an island of his country's ownership—a floating island, having a population of 800 employees and looking after the welfare and safety of perhaps 3,000 passengers. He is practically the administrative, executive and judicial single individual, such as exists rarely on the map of present day civilization. Aside from his authority over mankind, he may have $7,000,000 of vessel under him, to say nothing of the international mails and millions in gold in transshipment.

"There's the captain," is a whispered bit of comment made a million times a year in the beginning of the passages of great ocean steamships. And generally the captain looks the part.

It is not so much his uniform either. Ordinarily the captain is not young. There is gray in his hair, mustache or beard. That young man in his twenties, no matter what his schooling for beginning the work, isn't called at a moment's notice to the captain's bridge. He must have his maximum of training for six or seven numbers below before he is called to the foot of the ladder.

On the British passenger vessels most of the beginners at navigating an ocean vessel of the first class will have had a lieutenant's commission from the navy. It is from the royal navy reserves that the lowest officer's vacancy is filled. Filling it, he has his chance to rise to the position of captain.

As to the captain's authority: One midnight, when in a fog the White Star Baltic struck the German oil steamship Standard, the Baltic needed its captain, and he was there. His ship carpenters were rushed to the bow of the vessel and began the work of patching up the hole in the Baltic's steel sheathing.

Suppose that in a stampede of the Baltic's crew its employees had rushed up to fill its boats? It was within the captain's power to have shot down the leader—to have brought about war to the knife, revolver and rifle in the interests of his vessel and its passengers. Or had some passenger or passengers become panic stricken and against orders menaced the welfare of the majority on the ship death would have been dealt with the same rigid discipline which requires of the captain that he be the autocrat at his post.

There are no forms of writs or warrants necessary. There is no court at which the passenger or the seaman may give bond. In that instant of sudden great emergency which arises the captain's word is more than written law; it is the unwritten common law of the high seas, in the spirit of which the vigilance committee of the wild west of the United States rose, lawlessly lawful.

Today the captain of the great liner may step into the palatial cabin and command order. He may go into the smoking cabin and stop the game of cards at which the sharper is playing for his stakes. In case of refusal that ancient land right of "no deprivation of liberty without due process of law" becomes a farce. The cell room or even the iron manacles of the captain's authority may be used upon the individual who has paid $500 or $1,000 for his suit of rooms and his passage. On the high seas the captain's ship becomes an autocratic democracy. The individual in the first cabin and at the captain's table must share with the immigrant far below those equities that are granted to each in his place.

"Don't buck the captain," said an official in the offices of a great steamship line. "He is all there is of authority. He is the supreme entity of his ship. He is dressed for it; but, more than that, he is trained to it. He is empowered to take life if he must, and on land this is the most serious of all things in the statute books."

"Commodore of the fleet" is one of the offices toward which the old sea captain looks, not enviously, not with disdain. It is a naval number in the passenger service which marks the age of retirement. There is honor in the title. It does not descend to his children. He gives half his life to the gaining of it, and it means that his activities and powers are at an end.—Chicago Tribune.

A Complicated Case.

"Of course, doctor, German measles are seldom serious?"

"I never met but one fatal case."

"Fatal?"

"Yes. It was a Frenchman, and when he discovered it was German measles that he had mortification set in."

Philosophy is nothing but discretion.—Selden.

Latest Hints on Beauty Culture

Facial Beauty Exercise Aids Your Expression

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

MAGGIE TEYTE

THE beauty specialists have a great deal to say these days about the exercise of our faces. They tell us we exercise our bodies and let our faces go with a bit of unguent of one kind or another, rubbed in any old way, and, while we often struggle to keep youth in our figure, we frequently top the figure with a face that is old and flabby and lazy.

Until you begin to loosen up the muscles of your face and move them you have not the least idea of the muscular construction of the cheeks you have spent so much time over making plump and smooth and pink and white. You have been just going over the surface and all the time splendid muscles have been lying useless and growing weak and making the work in vain as a thing of permanency.

It is absurdly simple when you hear it explained. You feel provoked to think you never thought it out for yourself. The beauty of the plan, when you come to the understanding of it, is that you can go on indefinitely planning new and useful exercises for yourself to suit your individual needs.

The same principles are involved which govern the muscular exercise for the body. The flexing and tensing of the facial exercises will do for the face what the same use of the body muscles will do for that.

The bright young woman who gave me the treatment combined skilful massage with the exercises and told me it was the only way to attain the desired results.

For example, I wanted particularly to erase a slight hollowness which had begun to appear under the eyes.

"Grin," ordered the young woman. "Stretch your mouth in the widest of grins and make it an upward one, so you will send the muscles of the cheek up under the eyes." And while I did so she told me she massaged the corners of my eyes in soft circular strokes with a touch light but firm and with a real appreciation of the muscles.

"Drop your jaw," she commanded; "Drop it as far down as you can with your mouth hung open and your eyes open. Look as if you were just so surprised the words wouldn't come and all you can do is to open your mouth." And while I obeyed she massaged from the corners of my mouth upward and removed those tired lines which come at the side of the nose. And while I repeated the dropping of the jaw and the snapping it shut, and while she massaged in harmony with the exercise, the idea came to me why not make one's exercises aid in the expression, which after all is the real secret of beauty.

Begin these exercises with thought. Study your face and find out the uses of the various muscles and why they are to be exercised in certain ways in order to accomplish certain results. Don't begin by making a lot of senseless grimaces and rubbing at cross purposes and then say the system is all wrong. It is not easy at first, but it can be learned with the aid of a mirror and thought.

Blowing an imaginary feather will fill out the lines at the side of the mouth, exercise your lungs, round the throat and fill the hollows in the neck. Try it.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Ideal Evenings.

XXVII.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

"TELL me," I said one morning to Ned Cary, "What in heaven's name do you and Nan do to kill time in the evenings?"

"Kill time!" exclaimed Ned. "We don't have to kill it. It dies so fast by itself that we're aghast when it's really bedtime."

"Do you play solitaire?" I inquired jealously.

"Lord, no!" laughed Ned, greatly amused. "Peter," he added cordially, "the evening's the best part of the day. By George, I find myself looking forward to it with real satisfaction."

"Do you read together?"

"Sometimes," said Ned. "It would be hard to say just what we do do, old man. There's everything in the spirit of the evening anyway. Lots of times enjoyment is an elusive thing that you can't put your finger on. Nan and I chatter and gossip and read and have a bully time in general. Then we adjourn to the piano and fiddle away an hour or so. Nan's a wonderfully sympathetic musician and I'm coming along. I'm not so bad as I was, thanks to her."

"She's teaching you?"

"Sure thing. Expression and all that sort. Nan says if Nature didn't equip you with congenial tastes, you've got to match them to each other. That's why she's polishing up my music. I wasn't much of a fiddler, you know, until Nan got after me."

"Yes," said I absently. "Music would help a lot. I never thought of that."

"And then," added Ned with a droll smile, "Nan and I quarrel about the tariff. We have great debates—but, Peter, I haven't the ghost of a show with that little woman. She reads a thing up thoroughly and then, of course, she has me up a tree barking for help in no time. You know, Peter, it's a great gift, this making a house an attractive, desirable place in the evening. I know women who save up all the domestic tragedies of the day to relate at dinner time. I know women who talk nothing but death and morbid sentimentality—and, incidentally, I don't blame the husbands of those women if they depart for the club by night. Nan hasn't time to talk tragedies. She's so busy thinking up jolly stunts for us at night that we can't get through them all."

"You must be very happy," I said, enviously.

"I certainly am!" agreed Ned. "And I've been married three years. Old married man, eh, Peter? Let me tell you what Nan and I did last night. It was my birthday and when I got home there was Nan trailing about in a wonderful gown, a favorite of mine, with some shiny silver on it, almost as cheerful to look at as Nan is. 'Ned,' she said, 'get into your dress clothes. We're going to have a party.'

"Well, sir, we had a real dinner party there by ourselves—all my favorite dishes and the best table linen. Nan's forever thinking up pleasant things like that. She's got an original spark in her that helps a lot."

He slipped his arm about my shoulders with sudden affection.

"What's up, Peter?" he asked gently. "Things going wrong?"

"No," I said. "I'm just thinking I'll get Mary to teach me how to play the piano. I'm a bit of a dub."

"Nonsense!" said Ned in his big, hearty way. "Your liver's out of order this morning and you're seeing blue."

Maybe I was seeing blue—but the liver, I fear, was a mental one.

So there's a philosophy of companionship, too, and Ned and Nan have found it. And there are women with a divine genius for wifehood. It's a big job. Mary, I fear, is the effortless type who follows life along the lines of least resistance. Nan is more courageous. She fights and wins.

Which of these two, I wonder—Nan or Mary—is typical of the great mass of womankind. Mary and I must dig out a philosophy of companionship that will stand the wear and tear of everyday life.

Three-Minute Journeys

By Jonathan MacFarland

TRAVEL is interesting chiefly for its pleasing contrasts. It is the spice of life—a synonym for the word "variety."

One's own country is the standard, of course, and the traveller wonders at anything in foreign lands that differs from what his own country has to offer. You go to China to see the man who pays his doctor for keeping him well instead of for curing him when he is sick. In the Malay archipelago you are pleased to observe that the native propels his rowboat by pushing his oars instead of pulling them, as we do. The contrast between the Moorish woman who carries her young offspring in a cloth slung from her shoulders and the woman who wheels her baby in a luxurious carriage gives you food for thought in these days of feminism.

It is a surprise to most people to find on their first visit to London that the traffic passes to the left instead of to the right, as in this country.

The interest in travelling is solely a [illegible] of contrast. Sometimes the contrast is in the difference between what [illegible] and what you had been led to expect to see. On my first trip to Cuba I thought I should find Havana a very cosmopolitan city and, moreover, I took it as a matter of course that practically everyone with whom I should come in contact would speak English.

Instead, I found it quite the opposite. Havana was beautiful, with a charm all its own, but it was wholly an old-world city, with narrow streets, picturesque natives and very distinctive manners and customs. And even in many of the more pretentious shops English was not spoken.

Another surprise for the American traveller in Cuba is to find that there are no smoking cars on their railway trains. And this in a land where the best, and the most, cigars in the world are made. That is, there are no cars reserved for those who wish to smoke, for even on the trains de luxe—and there are some—one is permitted to smoke wherever he wishes. Surely, home was never like that! Then if you'll take into consideration the low cost of smoking in Cuba, the effect is doubly agreeable.

Contrasts, surprises—call them what you will—they make travel worth while. I make one reservation—the "extras" you sometimes find charged on your hotel bill.

"HOME FROCKS" THE NEWEST FAD

Frances Starr

Dainty Creations Especially for Husbands

By MADGE MARVEL

THE "husband-at-home" gown is the latest sartorial novelty, and one which wise women are taking seriously. For, after all is said and done, the greatest problem which wives in general have to solve is how to make home and themselves so attractive that the husband has no wish to leave it when business of the day is over and the recreation hours are his to dispose of as he likes.

So much is said about the tango craze that one is prone to forget that the vast majority of married couples are not tangoists, and that there are women who really care, care with tears and prayers, whether their husbands stay home or at the club or somewhere equally distant.

Frances Starr of the Belasco forces is responsible for the "husband-at-home" gown. She wears it in "The Secret," and she laughingly confesses that she has had almost as many inquiries about it and compliments for it as she has notices about her acting.

"I try always to have all my gowns have a meaning," said Miss Starr in a recent interview. "It is not enough that a gown shall be simply a gown. It must express something. It must tell a story or express an emotion or give some pleasure because of its beauty. The situation in the play demanded a dress which should give the idea of homeliness. It should be as comfy as a negligee and yet be entirely free from any attributes which the kimono or kindred loose and easy garments possess.

"It must be the gown in which a woman would appear most feminine and sweet and charming. A gown in which she would not be overdressed to sit at home in her own sitting room, opposite husband, and read or embroider, and yet it must be enough of a costume to be perfectly suitable for wear if friends should drop in unexpectedly. Moreover, it must be a gown which would make her so bewitchingly lovely that her husband could find no possible excuse for leaving her alone unless it was some advantageous bit of business which would net him profit enough to enable him to buy more frocks like it."

There is a lot more to this frock—an artistic concoction of lace and frills and chiffon and ribbons jumbled together according to the latest recipe of the fashion.

It is a frock with personality and character. It is insidious and subtle. It attracts, then allures; fascinates and holds attention. The man who can resist the appeal of its daintiness is beyond all hope. He really is unworthy the honor of having the gown designed for him. The woman who fails to look lovely in such a costume is—well she is NOT, because no woman can help possessing more or less enchantment once she arrays herself in its softness and beauty.

It is as simple as a blush rose fresh with the morning's dew.

The foundation is a sensitive shade of pink chiffon. It is the pink that deepens in the heart of the rose. This is draped in fil D'auegnier lace. The skirt is made of two lace valances, which form a double apron in front, and are draped high in back with what is known as a "luke," which means just caught up.

About the border of the skirt is a festoon of deeper pink roses.

The girdle is of Nattier blue tinsel cloth. Over the gown is a coat-like garment known as the "Vestal," which is of the same lace, made very short in the waist and having a deep lace valance. This is lifted in the back to match the skirt. A scant petticoat of white chiffon with a foot ruffle is worn with this most exquisite little frock.

"Hold Tight to the Lamp"

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service

Winifred Black

THE other night when the wind was raging and the cold sleet rattled on the window-pane, the Little Boy and I sat by the fire and told stories.

The Little Boy told me about Jack the Giant-Killer. Oh, such a murderous story it was the Little Boy told me—all full of knives and hatchets and battle-axes and swords—and there was even a pistol in it, though I really don't believe that Jack and his Giant knew much about pistols when they were alive. And yet the Little Boy is the mildest, kindest Little Boy in the world. He won't even step on an ant, if he can help it, and he's been known to apologise to a mosquito for slapping him.

My story was about Aladdin—Aladdin and his Wonderful Lamp. What a wonderful story it is, too—the story of the poor, battered, shabby, little old lamp, set in all the glory of the oriental cave—the simplest, plainest thing there—and the only one of any real value, after all.

I told the Little Boy just how poor Aladdin was, and how he and his mother often went to bed hungry and awoke cold, and how there was never any happiness for them at all—till Aladdin walked so boldly into the dark door of the cave of opportunity and seized the wonderful lamp—and made the slave of it his own.

The Little Boy listened with eyes that shone and sparkled. "Aladdin was a brave boy, wasn't he?" said the Little Boy. "My goodness, I don't believe that Aladdin was afraid of nothin'."

The Little Boy's face fairly shone. "Why," he said, "I believe that Aladdin would have walked wight straight into the closet at the foot of the stairs when the light was out and his mamma couldn't go with him—and he knew just as well that there was a great big scarey bear waiting to grab him."

And I told the Little Boy that he was quite right about Aladdin and his courage, and that I believed that was one of the things the man who told the story first meant when he told it way off there in China years and gray years ago.

"The name of the Lamp is sometimes courage," said I to the Little Boy. "Hold it close to your heart, the bright, bright lamp of courage. Let nothing take it away from you; not the big boy at the corner who makes faces; not the great dog who leaps at his chain when you run past; not the dark corner of the porch where something seems to lurk in wait for a Little Boy.

"Hold tight to the lamp of courage, Little Boy," I said, "and, lo, the big boy who wants to frighten you will let you alone; and the great dog will stop his hoarse barking and wag his tail and try to be friends, and the Thing in the dark corner of the dusky porch will turn out to be your own little bicycle with your nice, gay, friendly red sweater thrown across it. Courage, Little Boy, courage, and hold tight to the lamp."

And when the Little Boy dropped down from my lap and started all alone to his room to go to bed he carried his arm gently as though he held something precious within the circle of it, and, as he passed the dark corner of the stairs, he put out one chubby hand as if he were rubbing the lamp.

Dear little heart—how bright the lamp glowed for you—the bright, brave lamp of courage.

May it never go out in your loving little heart—never, though all the years grow cold and all the hearts around you prove false and full of timorous fears.

Shine on, brave lamp.

Beat loyally on—oh, gallant heart of courage.

So shall the great miracle of life be wrought in joy.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why You Are Hungry Without Any Appetite

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg

DR. HIRSHBERG

"NOW good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." Although the true Laureate of Avon intuitively stated here the difference between hunger and appetite, physicians and physiologists complacently tolerated the bard's inspiration with the usual patronizing disdain of one not in the inner circle. This pooh-poohful derision, however, was not limited only to poets. Prof. William James, the Harvard philosopher, also called attention to a distinction between hunger and appetite. But he had no worshippers and plastic medical students to mould to his faith, so his discovery also went unheralded and unsung.

Cassius may still have a lean and hungry look, yet [illegible] without an appetite. The one is stomachic and the other is an emotion. Hunger, you will recall, is due to the muscular rumblings in the stomach; appetite, according to Dr. A. J. Carlson, the Chicago physiologist, is in the brain.

"Have you any appetite?" was an ancient medical query, which means nothing now. Wiser physicians nowadays know that Epicurus, Gabius Apicius and Timon of Athens are sicker with appetites than they would be without them.

New Hunger Test.

When Lucullus sups at night with Lucullus he is often an ill man in exactly the degree that he has an exorbitant appetite.

Dr. Carlson, the young medical Lochinvar out of the West, maintains that doctors may now see how hungry you are just as the pulse is felt, the temperature taken and the heart examined. He has devised a small, cigar-shaped rubber balloon, about six inches long, and fitted at one end with two long rubber tubes. He then determines whether his craving for food is due to appetite or hunger, and, if the latter, just how much there is of it.

He places the balloon in his mouth and takes repeated drinks of water. He swallows it until it rests in his stomach. He then inflates the toy balloon by breathing into the tubes. The two long tubes, however, still protrude from his mouth, and are attached to a recording device.

"If I am hungry," says Dr. Carlson, with the tubes hanging from his lips, "the muscles of my stomach will grip upon the balloon and drive the air from it. As the air comes from the tube it will record on this instrument just how hungry I am. If, however, I am moved to eat by 'appetite' the muscles of my stomach will fail to react upon the balloon, because appetite has to do with the brain and not with the alimentary tract."

Henceforth, now and forever it can be easily noted whether you are an epicure, a glutton, or whether you eat only to live and be healthy.

Appetite Not Necessary.

An appetite is not necessary in order to eat, but hunger is. When you say: "I'm not a bit hungry" what you usually mean to say is that you are lacking in the mental exhilaration of an appetite.

Individuals who have "diabetes" or sugar in the blood which escapes through the kidneys, are very sick, yet they have a voracious hunger and thirst and little appetite.

On the other hand, the victims of tuberculosis have neither hunger nor appetite, yet they must eat excessively in order to add sustenance and vitality to their parts over and beyond a mere balance of what is being wasted.

Then, with or without hunger or appetite, in health practise a sane discretion in your diet.

Temperance is a virtue without price, a bodily fortune that excites no envy. It gives a firm physique with an equality of reason. Sanity in eating is the best guardian of youth as well as the Gibraltar of old age. It is the physician of the soul as well as of the living texture.

Answers to Health Questions

F. D. S., Philadelphia. What is good for sciatica?

If the trouble is due to a pressure inside or some other internal trouble this must be removed. If due to drinking liquors or taking patent medicines with alcohol in them, this must be stopped.

After the cause has been discovered and remedied simple local applications will suffice to relieve the trouble.

• • •

MISS A., Philadelphia. Which remedy is best for a brown patch on the forehead?

Dry boracic acid powder alternated with peroxide of hydrogen should remove the patch.

• • •

MISS E. F., Toronto, Can.—My brother suffers with sweaty feet and also perspires under the arms. Can anything be done for him?

Wash the affected parts with a glycerine soap free of sugar three times a day. Then anoint the soft and tender skin with peroxide of hydrogen and tincture of benzoin.

✠ Advice to Girls ✠

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I am engaged to a very nice young man, but he has lost his position. He has a good chance to start a little business of his own, but needs some capital. I have a little money put away which I have been saving for four years. Do you think I would be foolish to lend it to him and let him get a start—so we can be married? My brother gets very angry when I even talk about it, but my sister seems to think it would be all right. If I do not do this, there doesn't seem to be much chance of our being married very soon. Please advise me as my father and mother are both dead and I take care of myself entirely.

HESITATING.

WHAT sort of man is your brother—and what sort of man is your sweetheart?

Go into your own room and think about it—all alone.

Think them over carefully and try to figure them out just as if you didn't care anything about them at all.

Don't judge either of them by what they say, but by what they are.

How can you tell the difference? Why, by just seeing quite plainly what they do—that's all.

What a man says is part of what he calls his bluff; what he does is part of himself. That's what they meant when they used to say actions speak louder than words.

Does your brother take good care of himself? Is he a kindly, good-humored sort of chap who really cares something for you?

What if he doesn't say much about it—don't think about that—how does he act? That's the point.

Think back and remember—and then, if you make up your mind that your brother really cares for you and that in all other affairs except this particular one he seems to be a sensible sort of chap, take his advice—and follow it.

Now about the sweetheart. When you think about him—think—don't dream.

Dreaming isn't anything in the world like thinking, you know.

Don't sit and thrill over something he said to you or over some look he gave you. Those things have nothing to do with the case right now.

What sort of a chap is he; who are his friends; what kind of people does he like; what sort of people like him?

Oh, no, you're not going to change his whole character—just because you are you, and he is he. Don't believe that, no matter how much you want to.

There's one thing very much against him—he's willing to borrow money from a woman. I never saw a man who was worth an hour's serious thought who would ever dream of such a thing for a minute.

A man wants to stand on his own feet, if he is a man.

If he isn't, the woman he chooses to lean on is sure to have plenty of trouble to keep her busy the rest of her life.

Save your money, little sister, and let sweetheart hunt up a job for himself. If he can't do that, you'd better tell him good-by right now, instead of waiting for the divorce lawyers to say good-by to him for you.

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her care this office.

THE KING CAN DO NO WRONG.

Neither Can He Ever Die, According to British Law.

It is a curious point of British law that the king never dies, or, to put it in another way, it would be useless for any barrister to argue that the ruler's predecessors have really died, since the utmost the law will admit is that there may be a "demise of the crown," meaning, of course, simply that there has been a transfer of the royal authority from one person to another.

It is a maxim that "the king can do no wrong," and under the law he would not be held personally responsible for any crime or "tort" that he chose to commit at any time. At any rate, we are assured by high constitutional authorities that the law should actually and literally be so construed and that the statutes hold that any injury his majesty might inflict upon a subject must be ascribed to the king's advisers. One thing seems to be certain, and that is that his majesty can under no circumstances whatsoever be arrested. Nor, moreover, could his goods be distrained or taken in execution should he fail to meet his liabilities.

A quaint feature of British law is that in theory the king is present at the law court at every sitting, though he might in point of fact actually be on the continent or elsewhere. It follows, therefore, that it is impossible to nonsuit him as plaintiff should he not put in an appearance when his case is called, since the law specifically states that the king is there. In a similar sense the king is always constructively present in parliament, though he be in fact thousands of miles from his shores.

His majesty is under the law the nominal guardian of all infants, idiots and lunatics, and to him is granted the sole right to print the Bible, the Book of Common Prayer and all acts of parliament in the United Kingdom. It has been stated, furthermore, that should he so desire the king could forbid the printing of any or all of them anywhere within his dominions. —Harper's.

MINED THE ROAD.

The Volunteers Wiped Out the Foe, but It Was a Sad Story.

"I can tell you the saddest thing that happened during the whole war," said an old negro to a group of listeners. The story was this. One night it was reported that the town was in peril of attack from the enemy, and the fighting forces were quickly mustered. One of the volunteers conceived the idea of mining the road and touching the fuse in time to annihilate the foe. There was plenty of powder, and the scheme was adopted. The rest of the defenders stood some on one side of the road, some on the other, ready to discharge their rifles into what might be left of the assailants.

The day passed without incident, but as the night wore on the strain of the situation began to tell on the nerves of the defenders. Presently, however, there was the sound of hoofs on the highway, approaching rapidly. Such was the state of mind of the defenders that the sounds appeared to indicate the coming of a mighty cavalry force. It was a terrifying moment. A vivid flash lighting up the scene as the first horseman reached the spot told that the mine had been exploded and it had done its work. There was not a vestige of an army to be seen when the smoke cleared away excepting the scattered fragments of a big black mule.

The party laughed as the old man concluded his tale. "That's a good enough story," said one of them, "but what was there so sad about it?"

"It was my mule, sah!" was the old negro's pathetic reply.

A Deadly Verbal Insult That Will Render Him Speechless.

A discreet knowledge of slang is a very useful accomplishment for the stranger or the foreign resident in Paris. Thus if a cabman is rude or more than usually extortionate or if he splashes you with mud from head to foot as he passes and then turns around to grin at the damage done, and cochers frequently do these things, an inadequate command of the niceties of the French language leaves all the advantages on his side.

You might call him "idiot" or "sauvage," but this would only tickle him. If, however, you were able to shout "Va donc, Collignon!" the result of the encounter would be at once wholly in your favor.

To say "Collignon" to a cocher is the supreme insult. It leaves him gasping and further speech on his side useless. It is easy to understand why.

Collignon was a coachman who as long ago as 1855 went to the house of a poor professor and murdered him because he had protested against an overcharge. It is satisfactory to know that Collignon was promptly tried, sentenced to death and guillotined. To this day, then, "Va Collignon!" remains the last word.—Paris Cor. New York Sun.

One Pastor Locates It in the Moon, Another in the Sun.

Two Washington pastors hold widely differing opinions as to the location of hades. The Rev. Zed Copp, pastor of Bethany chapel, has boosted the sphere of eternal torment from the bottom of creation all the way up to the sun. The Rev. Dr. Baker of the Theosophical society puts it in the moon.

Dr. Baker's discovery is brand new. He let it out to his parishioners the other night. He told them that after a thorough and painstaking investigation he had become firmly convinced that all other theories concerning the real location of the future address of transgressors were false and that in reality the man in the moon is his satanic majesty.

There are many little dogs in the moon, according to Dr. Baker. They are there to torment vivisectors. As the breath leaves the body of the vivisected animal his soul is rushed through space until he finds himself in the moon, where he patiently awaits the coming of his murderer, and thereafter through all eternity he amuses himself by tormenting the late learned M. D.

Dr Baker did not say whether the presence of dogs in the moon had anything to do with the aversion cats have to the beautiful orb.—New York World.

The Council of North Monaghan has decided to place property of non-residents in that township, just south of the city limits on the assessment roll as "non-residents." This will increase the taxes of those affected about 10 per cent.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

Carnegie's Millions.

Andrew Carnegie has succeeded not only in making himself the second richest man in the world, but also in enriching several of his fellow countrymen, says the London Chronicle. When the "star spangled Scot" retired from business his fortune was estimated at £75,000,000 ($375,000,000), and he had made about £50,000,000 ($200,000,000) for his friends and partners, a large proportion of whom are of Scottish birth. These include George Lauder, his cousin, who now lives in retirement at Pittsburg with at least £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) to soothe his declining years. Thomas Morrison, also a cousin, and Alexander Peacock, another son of Dunfermline, likewise amassed huge fortunes at Pittsburg.

Perplexing Case.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. , Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

ESKIMO WIDOWERS.

Six Weeks Is the Limit They Will Wait Before Remarrying.

In civilization it is said that a wife does not always add to her husband's ease or render his life more supportable, but up on the barren grounds the worst of wives would be better than none.

There, among the heathen tribes, if a man's wife dies—provided he is not a polygamist, in which case, says the Wide World, there is less need for hurry—he often marries again within the week.

Even the Christian Eskimo widowers are with difficulty persuaded by the Moravian missionaries to allow six weeks to elapse between the death and remarriage. On the very day after the six weeks have lapsed the hunter presents himself with a new bride and asks that the marriage service may be speedily read.

The reason is not far to seek. It is said in civilization that "a woman's work is never done," and far more is that true of the helpmate of the savage and the semi-savage, the woman of the barren grounds or of the ice edge. She makes and breaks camp, cooks, cuts up and carries to camp her husband's kill. She dresses the skins of deer and seal.

She is responsible for the fashioning of footgear and clothes. On a journey she often paddles the canoe, and on portage she carries a heavy load. In fact, it is easier to write down the duties not expected of a squaw than those which by immemorial custom she must perform.

A Turkish Love Story.

A Turk knocked at his beloved's door, and a voice answered from within, "Who is there?"

Then he answered, "It is I."

Then the voice said, "This house will not hold thee and me."

And the door was not opened.

Then went the lover into the desert, where there is nothing but Allah, and fasted and prayed in solitude.

And after a year he returned and knocked again at the door.

And again the voice asked, "Who is there?"

And he said, "It is thyself."

And the door was opened to him.

The most famous Philippine volcano and one of the finest volcano cones in the world is that of Mayon. Its height is 8,970 feet, and the volcano is visible at a great distance. Since 1766 records have been kept of its eruptions. In that year many plantations and villages were buried under a stream of lava which flowed down its eastern slope. About 1,200 lives were lost in the eruption of 1814, which buried the country around a part of the base of Mayon under the outpourings of lava and dust. A similar calamity in 1825 destroyed the lives of about 1,500 persons. In the nineteenth century there were a number of severe eruptions, including one in 1886-7 which continued about nine months. An eruption in 1897 killed 350 persons and destroyed much property. Twenty-two violent eruptions of this volcano are on record.

Next to Mayon the Taal volcano is the most remarkable. It is on an island in the lake of Bombon, and the island, built up by its outpourings, has an area of 220 square miles. The volcano is incessantly ejecting dust and vapor from its crater. Taal as well as Mayon has been the center of numerous destructive earthquakes, but no very great eruption has occurred since 1864, when four villages around the mountain were completely destroyed.

The expression "sending to Coventry" had a military origin, according to The London Chronicle. It arose, so it is said, in the days of Charles I., when the inhabitants of Coventry strongly objected to any intercourse with the military quartered in their town, and a woman known to speak to a man in a scarlet coat was at once the subject of scandal. So rigid were the natives that the soldier was confined to the mess room for conversation. Thus the term "sending a man to Coventry" if you wished to shut him from society took root on the English language.

A Historic House.

The Countess of Warwick, who is about to sell off part of her Easton Lodge estate in Essex, is the lineal representative of the Maynards, whose seat it has been for well over 300 years. The manor of Little Easton, in which the venerable and picturesque lodge is situated, was granted by Queen Elizabeth to Henry Maynard, secretary of the great Lord Burleigh, her famous treasurer. His grandson was advanced to the peerage in 1627 as Baron Maynard, and the seventh baron was raised to a viscountcy.

Mozart's Musical Memory.

Mozart had a wonderful memory of musical sounds. When only fourteen years of age he went to Rome to assist in the solemnities of holy week. Immediately after his arrival he went to the Sistine chapel to hear the famous "Miserere" of Allegri. Being aware that it was forbidden to take or give a copy of this renowned piece of music, Mozart placed himself in a corner and gave the strictest attention to the music and on leaving the church noted down the entire piece. A few days afterward he heard it a second time and, following the music with his own copy in his hand, satisfied himself of the fidelity of his memory. The next day he sang the "Miserere" at a concert, accompanying himself on the harpsichord, and the performance produced such a sensation in Rome that Pope Clement XIV. requested that this musical prodigy should be presented to him at once.

Tung Po and Teamaking.

There is but one way of making tea, for—

Unless the water boiling be
To pour on water spoils the tea.

The teapot itself should be heated very hot before the tea is placed in it and the boiling water poured on. It should be scalding hot water or the leaves will float to the top.

No less authority than Tung Po, the Chinese poet, is quoted for a recipe for teamaking. He says: "Whenever tea is to be infused take water from a running stream and boil it over a lively fire. It is an old custom to use running water, boiled over a lively fire. That from springs in the hills is said to be best and river water the next, while well water is the worst. A lively fire is a clear, bright charcoal fire. When making an infusion do not boil the water too hastily. At first it begins to sparkle like crabs' eyes, then somewhat like fish's eyes, and lastly it boils up like pearls innumerable springing and waving about. This is the way to boil water."

Is Your Back Full of Aches All Day Long?

THAT STAB-LIKE PAIN IN THE BACK IS SURE INDICATION OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse. my limbs became bloated and shaky. I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dicziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I canjt describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

A by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers. If the by-law passes the company will start immediately in the erection of the additional buildings. New machinery would be required. The company is to employ for first five years two hundred persons and thereafter an average of three hundred persons for eight hours a day.

Worse Than Here.

Our local citizens kicked yesterday because the mercury in their thermometers strayed away down to 25 below zero, or, as a George street merchant remarked "25 below Douro." Our weather of yesterday, as compared with that of Edmonton is a balmy southern zephyr, a chinook from the Pacific, or a foretaste of Gehenna. Yesterday Mr. Harry (Dad) Garbutt, of the Snowden house, received a letter from his son, Roy, of the Strathcona Hotel, Edmonton. Roy said that for the past two weeks the mercury had never risen above 50 below zero there.

NOT SO MANY VALENTINES

To-morrow is St. Valentine's Day, when Peterborough children send one cent libellous valentines to their respective teachers and when our local gallants send expensive valentines to their sweethearts taking good care that the disguised handwriting on the envelope will not be so disguised as to conceal the identity of the sender. Enquiries made by The Times at the post office elicited the information that the valentine habit has been greatly curtailed. This year the increase in our local mails through sending of valentines is much smaller than in previous years.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try this! Makes hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful—No more itching scalp.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine, and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amagazine—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

HOCKEY NEWS

RECORD CROWD WILL SEE ORILLIA AND PETERBORO IN TO-NIGHT'S BIG GAME

Before the next issue of The Times reaches the hands of our reader, the biggest game in the history of Peterborough will have been fought, and won or lost, according as the fates decree. We hope for the former, as the Petes have made an excellent showing so far, and deserve to go on to the end. However, to night will tell the tale, and the old rafters of Brock street rink will hear a noise that they will long remember. Excitement is at fever pitch over the game. The four goal lead of Orillia in the first game makes the proposition a hard one for the locals. But with the boys off color, and a bad break in the luck, together with the lack of encouragement which a home crowd can instil into a team, the Petes made a remarkably good showing Tuesday night, and the opinion is strong that they can overcome the lead and eventually prove themselves good mettle for faster company.

Orillia is coming down by special train and with a great crowd of routers, and the city sports will be in full force, so prospects are bright for a record-breaking crowd at to-night's game. Good ice is assurred, and as the boys all say they are in better shape than they were in Orillia, we take the lead and predict a victory for the Peterborough Intermediates for the round.

A full report of the game will appear in to-morrow's issue of The Times.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

The funeral of the late Eliza Wright, of Levis, Que., formerly of Peterborough, sister of Rev. J. J. Wright, will take place at 10.30 today from the residence of Mr. Andrew Laidlaw, 221 London street, to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. James Rollins will conduct the services.

Frederic Mortimer.

The funeral of the late Frederick Mortimer, who died in Buffalo, on Monday, took place yesterday afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery, from the residence of Mrs. John Holmes, in North Monaghan

Myrtle Baylis.

Mrs. Thos. Cooley, 498 Aylmer street, was the recipient of a telegram notifying her of the death of her neice, Myrtle Baylis, daughter of Wm. Baylis, of Winnipeg, and formerly of this city. Her father is expected to arrive in Peterborough with the remains to-day. The deceased was 12 years of age.

Mrs. Mather.

Marion S. Blizard, wife of Mr. W. T. Mather, of Otonabee, passed away at her home n Otonabee on Wednesday. The late Mrs. Mather was 59 years of age and was born in Otonabee, where she resided all her life. She was very highly respected in Otonabee and the neighboring township.

She is survived by her husband and seven children.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Edward Shaughnessy.

The death occurred in Otonabee yesterday morning of Edward Shaughnessy, the son of Mr. Jas. Shaughnessy, of that township. The deceased, who was 19 years of age, was well and favorably known. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning to the Sacred Heart Church and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

APPLICATION TO PARLIAMENT

NOTICE is hereby given that the Corporation of the City of Peterborough will apply to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario at the next session thereof for an Act for the following purposes:

1, To amend the Acts relating to the City of Peterborough to change the name of the Peterborough Water Commissioners to that of the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

2. To amend Chapter 117 of the Acts of 1912 as amended by Chapter 114 of the Acts of 1913 so as to define more clearly what part of the property of the Peterborough Light & Power Company (Limited) it is necessary for the City to acquire, in order that the right of the company to the use of the streets of the City may be terminated, to provide the manner by which the City may ascertain what property and plant is owned by the Company and the means by which the City may take possession of the part expropriated and to extend the time within which the city has the right to acquire said property and generally to amend said acts so that the rights given thereunder may be effectively exercised by the city.

3. To authorize the Council of the City without the assent of the ratepayers to pass a by-law for the purpose of borrowing the sum of Ten thousand dollars to pay to The Peterborough Health Association to assist in the erection of a Tuberculosis Sanitorium for city purposes.

"THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII"

A Remarkable Photoplay Coming to The Grand Opera House.

A revelation in photo drama from the standpoint of art and beauty, as well as dramatic force, is made in George Kleine's magnificent production of "The Last Days of Pompeii," adopted from Lord Bulwer Lytton's classic romantic novel of the same title which is announced for four nays at the Grand Opera House, commencing Monday, Feb. 16th, with matinees daily, commencing at 2.30. All the salient points of the story are retained and pictorialized in sequential detail. The principal characters used in the photo drama are: Glaucus, a handsome, wealthy Athenian, and fashion leader of Pompeii, living a life of leisure, a lover and patron of the arts and in love with Ione. Clodius, a young Roman and friend of Glaucus but a gamester and idler, Arbaces, an Ehyptian of remarkable intellect—High Priest of the Temple of Isis at Pompeii, guardian of Ione and Apedides, and in love with his ward, Ione. Apecides, a young Athenian, brother of Ione, studying for the priesthood under Arbaces—a youth of noble instincts and high ideals who revolts at the trickeries of the worship of Isis. Sosia, a Nubian slave, to Arbaces, who acts as goaler of Nydia when she is thrust into the dungeon by Arbaces. Purbo, keeper of the tavern and one of the cruel original owners of Nydia. Nydia, a blind flower girl from Thessaly, originally a slave to Burbo and Stratonice—afterwards purchased by Glaucus to save her from the cruelty of Burbo and Stratonica, which aroused her gratitude and passionate love Ione, a beautiful Athenian maid, cultured and wealthy, sister of Apecides and ward of Arbaces, who secretly loves her,—also adored and loved by Glaucus. Stratonica, wife of Burbo and cruel mistress of the blind girl, a woman of marvellous physical strength. The sorceress, a witch living in one of the caverns on the side of the Vescuvius, and who concocted the philtre that destroys the mind of Glaucus.

In the drama, as in the novel, these characters are woven into a story of marvelous dramatic interest and pictural beauty.

LOCAL BANKER AND REAL ESTATE MAN GO HUNTING

Here is an absolutely veracious account of a happening at the recently established goat farm near Burleigh Falls. This ranch has been previously described in The Times.

A few days ago, a local man, now handling real estate and a Peterborough banker, motored out to the ranch. They went shooting. As the amatuer Davy Crocketts wandered across the ranch, walking like villains in a moving picture show, an Angora Billy goat spied them. Billy's first move was a swift one. He made for the real estate man. The real estate man, throwing away his gun, remembered he had business to transact at the top of a big pine tree, and proceeded to get after that business. The banker at once climbed to the roof of a nearby cabin. When a settler passed by a few minutes later, he found the real estate man up a tree, the banker on a roof and a goat in the tonneau of the automobile.

A few days later, another Peterborough man went out to shoot rabbits on the ranch. He heard the experience of the real estate man and the banker. As he did a sleuth act through the woods, the tabbie cat from the ranch house followed him. In fact one of the cats went ahead and scared the rabbits. The hunter gave up the chase as he was afraid he might have a rear-end collision with an Angora goat.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC WILL NEVER OPERATE LINE EAST OF WINNIPEG; THOUSANDS OF MILES OF RUSTY RAILS THROWN BACK ON TAX-PAYER

Rental of Nearly Fifteen Thousand Dollars a Day Necessary to Provide for All Charges, Due to Extravagance and Rake-offs by Men Who Built Line

GOVERNMENT MAY BE FORCED TO LINK UP WITH INTERCOLONIAL IN LOSING SCHEME

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—There is a very widespread belief here to-day that the real significance of the report on the construction of the National Transcontinental, lies in the possibility that the Grand Trunk Pacific Company will repudiate the agreement with the Government and refuse to take over the eastern section on completion.

The terrific cost of the road, amounting to $234,000,000, entailing a rental charge upon the lessees of the road of nearly $15,000 a day, presents a burden that the Grand Trunk Pacific will likely refuse to assume. The result of this would be that the whole eastern section, from Moncton to Winnipeg, would remain a charge upon the Government and would either have to be operated by them or allowed to pass into the hands of some other railway, at a rental far below that which the G.T.P. is expected to pay; and a consequent loss to the country.

Terrific Burden to Country.

At any rate the National Transcontinental is to-day, and will continue to be, a terrific burden upon the whole country. With the extravagance and waste that has marked its construction there is not the slightest chance of it ever becoming of real value to the West as an influence in the reduction of freight rates, by giving real competition with privately-owned railroads.

Further than this, through the whole of Quebec and New Brunswick it parallels the existing Government railway, the Intercolonial and the report of the commissioners absolutely bears out the stand taken years ago by Hon. A. G. Blair when Minister of Railways, who strongly objected and finally withdrew from the Laurier Government because of his opposition to the plans so far as they affected the Eastern Provinces.

Never Commercial Necessity.

Maritime members all agree with the report of the commissioners in their findings, that the New Brunswick section should never have been built; and that it is not and never will be a commercial necessity.

If the Grand Trunk Pacific does refuse to take over the eastern section it is likely that the Government will link up the National Transcontinental with the Intercolonial, making a Government road from Halifax to Winnipeg, although with the tremendous cost it is a question whether the line would ever pay, and if it would not add still more to the burden that has been for so long carried in the shape of Government railways.

PERSISTENT RUMORS THAT ULSTER PROBLEM IS SOLVED

Liberals and Irish Members Fear That Leaders Will Pay Too Heavy a Price for Peace—The Exclusion of Ulster Likely

London, Feb. 13.—There are persistent rumors that the leaders have found a satisfactory basis for acompromise on the Ulster question. This is premature, but undoubtedly important negotiations have been renewed this week and are advancing rapidly.

While the leaders strictly keep their own counsel, it is clear by the marked unreality of the later stage of the debate that the situation has changed since Parliament opened.

The rank and file of Liberals and Nationalists are openly expressing fears that their leaders will pay too heavy a price for asettlement by consent. The Unionists, sinking for the moment their impossible demand for a general election before the passage of the bill, are evidently concentrating on a demand for the temporary exclusion of Ulster. While this solution would be intensely repugnant to the mass of the Government supporters and the Nationalists, who would regard themselves as robbed of the fruits of victory, it is not without supporters in the Cabinet, Winston Churchill particularly favoring it.

APPLYING THIS PASTE MAKES HAIRS VANISH

(Toilet Tips.)

The popularity of the delatone treatment for removing hairy growths is due largely to the fact that it is quick in action and does not mar the skin, and since its introduction many beauty experts use it in preference to the electric needle. To remove the hair or fuzz, you mix some powdered delatone with a little water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have entirely vanished. Excepting in rare instances, one treatment is sufficient.

A LIBERAL CAUCUS

On Wednesday last a meeting took place in Norwood, presumably for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest East Peterborough in the interests of the Liberal party at the next Parliamentary elections. The meeting was a very quiet one, only a few of the leaders attending. Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, was present, and took part in the deliberations. It is understood that the nomination will be tendered him at the convention, which is to be held in the near future.

Mr. Kerr, it will be remembered, unsuccessfully contested the riding in September, 1911, being defeated by Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., by a majority of 595.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT MURRAY STREET

Harold Gollop Preferred an Accident to Letting Girls Go Alone Into Collision.

A somewhat serious accident occurred yesterday afternoon on Murray street. Master Harold Gollop, son of Mr. Robt. Gollop, proprietor of the Snowden House, was taking a number of young ladies down Murray street hill on his bob sleigh. As they reached the bottom of the hill a local delivery sleigh was proceeding along Water street at a quick pace. The bobs ran into the delivery sleigh.

Harold Gollop had a leg broken between the ankle and the knee and was conveyed to the hotel. Two of the young ladies were badly cut up, and required the services of Dr. Carmichael.

When Master Gollop arrived at the hotel, after the accident, his father asked him, meaning his son and the girls, "Why didn't you roll off the sleigh before the collision?" The boy thinking he was individually referred to, replied, "What, roll off and leave the girls in danger! Not for me!"

GORE DISTRICT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

In this issue appears the annual report of the Gore District Mutual Fire Insurance Co. This rapidly growing company has reason to be gratified at the excellent reports presented. The business is done in a progressive way with a conservative regard for protection of the shareholders. The cash assets amount to nearly half a million dollars. During the year 1913 some 6,764 policies were issued, thus demonstrating the growing faith the public has in the Gore Mutual. During last year there was an increase in the insurance placed by this company of $1,348,983.

The local representative of this progressive company is Mr. R. J. Kidd, 374 Water street.

CAVE MAN AT KINGSTON CROWS LIKE A ROOSTER

Kingston, Feb. 13.—Richard Henderson, cave-man, is in the hands of the authorities at Inverary. Dr. Freeman, who was called on to make an examination of him, crawled into the cave and found Henderson huddled in the corner half asleep. Snow had drifted several feet into the cave where the half-wild man has dwelt for some time.

His hair hangs over his shoulders and his beard is very long. Henderson crows like a rooster and barks like a dog. People became afraid of him when he appeared, and insisted that he be removed from his primitive dwelling.

MINISTER OF MILITIA OPENS FINE NEW ARMOURY, NORWOOD

Yesterday the bright little village of Norwood was "en fete." The occasion was the formal opening of their fine new Armouries, 92x40 feet in size.

Mr. James Bogue, the local contractor for that job, certainly turned out good work.

The ceremony began about three o'clock. The big building was far too small to admit, by over one hundred, those who sought admission.

In the drill hall, Col. Birdsalls, of the 46th, filled the chair.

Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes graced the proceedings by his presence. On being called on for a speech, this gallant veteran of the Boer War, said the Dominion Government is spending large sums in erecting Armouries. He claimed that Armouries not only inculcated a patriotic Canadian spirit, taught the young men of Canada the rudimentary and practical part of a soldiers duties, but provided places where local functions could be held for and by those who paid the taxes.

Among the other speakers were Col. Birdsalls, Col. Williams, of Ottawa, Col. Fisette, Deputy Minister of Militia, J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., Cols. Miller and Clegg of this city, and other prominent men.

In the evening a big banquet was held at which patriotic addresses were delivered.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING

Regular Meeting of the Township Fathers — Considerable Business is Transacted

Mr. Arthur Reid came before the North Monaghan Council at the meeting on Monday and asked them to lease him about twenty feet of the road allowance on the water edge of the Otonabee River at the extreme east end of Lansdowne Street, on which to erect a boat house. Mr. Reid asked that the lease cover a period of years so as to enable him to spend some money on a permanent structure. Mr. Reid stated that there would be forty and fifty feet of the road allowance still open to the public, and that this portion of Lansdowne Street is unused at the present time. Moved by Mr. Young, seconded by Mr. Forster, that Reeve Howden refer Mr. Reid's request to the township solicitor, and report the advice received at the next meeting.

The next matter dealt with was the allowance of five dollars per day for two days to the Medical Health Officer for his time attending the meeting of the Provincial Officers at Toronto. Moved by Messrs. Dobbin and Robinson, that the Medical Health Officer be not allowed a fee for his services attending the Medical Health Convention at Toronto.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Young, that the poundkeepers and fence viewers be reappoiunted for 1914.

A communication was received from Margaret Gordon, M.D., on behalf of the Municipal Franchise Referendum Committee, Toronto, asking the council to express itself on the question of municipal votes for married women. This communication was left over until the next meeting.

Moved by Mr. Young, seconded by Mr. Dobbin, that the taxes of $4.05 re the Peterborough Radial Company for 1913, be remitted on account of the payment in 1912 of a similar amount, and also on account of the said company being liable for school rates only.

A communication was received from Mr. John Cox, thanking the council on behalf of Miss Clara Lonsberry for their assistance to the extent of $25.

A communication was received from Mr. G. N. Gordon for his client, Mr. George Dobbin, in regard to damages from water coming off the gravel road on to the property of Robert A. Dobbin, and on to the property of Mr. George Dobbin.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Young, that this communication be referred to the township solicitor.

An application was received from the auditors to have their salaries increased from $7 to $10 each. Moved by Mr. Forster and seconded by Mr. Dobbin, that the request of the auditors be granted.

Moved by Mr. Forster and seconded ed Mr. Young, that the following accounts be passed and paid:

Secretary, S.S. No. 2, school for election	$ 4.00
J. E. A. Fitzgerald, coal, re charity	7.50
Frank Turner, wood, re charity	3.00

J. F. Clark, auditors' supplies	0.60
John Patten, 260 yds gravel	26.35
J. F. Clark, auditor	10.00
H. A. Robinson, auditor	10.00

The meeting then adjourned to meet on the second Monday in March at the usual hour.

Mr. Laurence Irving as Dr. Takeramo and Miss Mabel Hackney as Helene, in the great strangling scene in "Typhoon," that wonderful Japanese play, which will be produced at the Opera House next week.

SPORT EXTRA

FOUR GOAL LEAD WAS TOO MUCH FOR PETERBOROUGH TO OVERCOME

Sensational individual rushes, persistent back checking, and here and there a dash of combination play that pleased the fans immensely, were dished up in large measure to the large crowd that packed Brock street rink last night to see the Orillia septette quash Peterborough's championship aspirations by a score of 7—4.

True to expectations, the seven that represented the blue and white in last night's game were a different looking team altogether from that which allowed the Northern boys to gain a four goal lead in the first game. Condition, speed, confidence, determination — in fact, a spirit of victory that could not be quenched, prevaded the atmosphere of the rink when the locals skated out on the ice. Big things were expected of them, and they were not found wanting. The entire team, to a man, played his best and their work was a revelation to the 1500 loyal supporters who witnessed the struggle. They were up against a team that were their superiors in every way, however, and met defeat with colors flying.

Janes in goal was a veritable stone wall, and although the Orillia seven drilled them at him unmercifully at times he was there with bells on and played a magnificent game. The defence proved themselves equal to any emergency. Time and again the fast Orillia forwards broke away from their checks, only to be met with a heavy body check from Denison, or a tricky poke from Bond's stick that spoiled the shot. They rushed beautifully, first Denison, then Bond, and the crowd were kept constantly on edge when the two sturdy defence men started on an excursion down the ice.

Halpin, at rover, did yeoman service, and worked splendidly with Park. The two middle ice men showed a speed and persistency in attack that bothered the Orillia line considerably, and the way they worked in on the Orillia nets kept Corbould on the jump all evening.

On the wings, Kelly and Bradshaw had perhaps the hardest checks of the team. "Kell" showed up remarkably well against Jupp and had the Orillia speed artist "all in" at the finish. Bradshaw played the best game of the season, and his passes to centre ice were quick and effective.

In Jupp, at right wing, the Northern town have a star that it would be hard to improve upon. He skates fast and strong when carrying the rubber up the ice, and has a tantalizing little back poke when checking that is very effective. The other wing man, Draper, while not as fast as his mate, gave Bradshaw the time of his life. He has not the stamina that is necessary in a contest like that of last evening and seemed to tire before the half time period was reached.

Carter and Ross divided honors, and while playing a grand game, could not get away very often from the back checking of Park and Halpin.

The Orillia defence won fresh laurels last night by their work. While not showing up as well as they did in the game of Tuesday evening, they were a tower of strength to the team. At left defence Harvie proved himself a worthy foe. He used his body with great effect, almost to a point of roughness. Perryman, at right defence rushed repeatedly, and was a hard man to stop. Corbould, in goal, did some pretty work, and cleared nicely. He was called upon to get in the way of some "sizzlers" that would have fooled a less capable net guardian.

Orillia has a team that are going to go on to the finish. While they defeated us, we take off our hats to them, and wish them the best of success in their future games.

Chad Toms handled the tinkler and gave good satisfaction. The game was clean and few penalties were handed out.

The Line-up.

ORILLIA—Goal, Corbould; defence, Harvie and Perryman; rover, Carter; centre, Ross; wings, Jupp and Draper.

PETES—Goal, Janes; defence, Bond and Denison; rover, Halpin; centre, Park; wings, Kelly and Bradshaw.

Goals Scored—Orillia, Ross 2, Carter 2, Jupp 1, Perryman 1, Draper, 1. Peterborough—Park 3, Halpin 1

HARCOURT'S PHRASE IS LIKELY TO BECOME POLITICAL CLASSIC

Leading London Paper Says Britons Must Walk Warily on Colonial Matters

London, Feb. 13.—"The Empire is held together by a silken cord, but if you make it into a whiplash, the first crack of it will be the knell of the Empire."

Colonial Secretary Harcourt, able administrator as he is, and urban in his dealings with men of all parties, has no particular reputation for oratorical gifts, nevertheless, the above passage from his speech yesterday on the deportation of the labor leaders from South Africa is likely to become almost a classic among political utterances. Much attention is given it to-day.

The Evening Standard remarks that the tendency on the part of the colonies to assert their liberties grows year by year, in spite of the conquest of distance by telegrams. "We at home have to walk warily, as our returning Governors now and again give us wholesome hints. It would tend to better relations, if, instead of dumping ex-soldiers and ex-politicians into Governorships of countries with which they have nothing in common, we sent men from the Colonial office, actually in touch with those countries."

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE

Miss Babcock Preaches an Able Sermon at the Free Methodist Church.

A very appreciative audience listened to a very able and powerful sermon last night, preached by Evangelist Miss Babcock. Subject, the same as Thursday night, viz.: "The Call of God." Text: Matt. 22:14 :—"Many are called but few are chosen."

"I am glad," said the speaker, "that the word of God contains this text, it has been a comfort to my heart. The fact of our being called leaves the responsibility of our salvation on ourselves. This is the thought contained in the parable of the marriage of the King's son. God has called each of us to the great marriage feast he has appointed for His Son. Many make excuses. Some on the ground of the inconsistencies of professing Christians of which we acknowledge with sorrow there are many. It is folly to hide behind such. Many other excuses as foolish as that specified are offered for not yielding to the call of God, but the only real reason is 'Ye will not.'

"But the majority of unsaved are in the class who 'make light of' the call of God.

"Many presume on His mercy, because they have been spared so long, they will be still longer. But this Scripture tells us the 'King was wroth.' God is angry with the sinner every day, and some day the world will see the effects of 'the wroth of the Lamb,' against a world of Christ rejecters. But the wedding will be furnished with guests, as pure as the blood of Christ can make them. He beautifies His people with salvation, no matter how deformed they may be by sin. Although many accepted the invitation, the King found a man among the guests without a wedding garment on: He can see through our shams. The only fitness for heaven is the nature of God which we receive by being born of the spirit. This man would have been given a 'second chance' by Pastor Russel, but the King said, 'bind him hand and foot and cast him into the outer darkness.' If men were allowed a second chance they would wait for a third, etc. The binding signifies his utter helplessness. I am aware this sort of language is largely ruled out of modern religious vocabulary, but it is in the Bible, and this is our text book. The only way God can dispose of the sin question is to pardon it, or cast it into perdition.

"Some say God is too loving to treat us that way, but remember He has offered to forgive and take to heaven, but if we reject this offer of mercy, our case is hopeless. There is pardon for you, will you have it tonight?"

Miss Babcock will preach Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Come and hear her.

There will be no service to-night.

SMILE WHEN YOU LOSE.

Then Brace Up and Start Right In to Become a Winner.

Be as good a loser as you are a winner—a hard task to set a man, but not an impossible one. Many have met it. Those who have are those who win more than they lose, for nothing inspires success or victory like calmness in defeat or coolness under stress. It is true in business, in politics, in sports, in any sphere of competitive endeavor.

Not only that, but nothing is quite as disconcerting to one's opponent in one of life's contests as the ability to lose with a smile and well directed effort to regain the lost. Any man who has run a foot race or boxed or wrestled or played ball knows that.

But nobody has any time for the man who is forever lamenting his own loss or defeat. The world simply credits him with being what it terms a "grouch," which means a poor loser, and passes him by for a more agreeable man. Any one can be a good winner, but it takes a man to be a good loser.

The philosophy of life itself teaches that in all of its precepts. Some one has to lose. It may as well be you, perhaps, so far as the good of the world goes, as your neighbor. It makes for unselfishness to keep that in mind.—Omaha Bee.

A Curious Will.

Countess Anna Maria Helena de Noailles, a member of one of the historic families of France, has made a curious will which has just been proved. She left her estate at Meads, Eastbourne, England, to found "St. Mary's orphanage," laying down the following rules for the education of the girls: No competitive examinations, no study before breakfast, no study after 6 p. m., all lessons to be learned in the morning, no girl to work more than four and a half hours daily. No arithmetic, except the multiplication tables for children under ten. No child with curvature of the spine to write more than five minutes a day until thirteen. Each girl must be certified by two phrenologists as not deficient in conscientiousness and firmness. No child to be vaccinated.

A Machine to Measure Love

Science is slowly killing romance. The latest invention is an instrument called a plethysmograph for scientifically testing the warmth of lovers' affections. The person whose feelings are to be weighed in the balance puts his or her arm into a rubber bag, which is then drawn tight and filled with water. Names of young men or young women, as the case may be, are introduced, and if the name stirs the heart the pulse rises and the indicator mounts up. If the name leaves the subject unmoved the pulse remains stationary.—London Gentlewoman.

SHE WANTED LIGHT.

And So She Had the Windows Fixed Exactly to Her Taste.

The architectural feature of the new house that caused a decided domestic rupture was the windows. The man was in favor of medium sized windows, with small panes to match the rest of the house, but his wife insisted upon enormous sheets of plate glass.

"You are away all day and do not know whether I can see my hand before me at noontime or not," she said, "but I am in the house most of the time and must have plenty of light and sunshine."

So they had big windows. Before the carpenter left she ordered inside shutters put up. The family's first night in their new home was celebrated by adjusting two sets of window shades, one white, the other dark green, which served as a background for two pairs of curtains, one of silk, the other of lace. On the third day the man helped his wife to hang additional sash curtains, and on the fourth day he found a man tinkering with the outside of the window ledge.

"He is just getting ready to put up the awnings," she explained.

Her husband looked at the shutters, the two shades, the two curtains and the sash curtains and the arrangements for the awnings at each window, and then he laughed, but she could not understand why.—New York Times.

Remarkable Case.

"How much your little boy resembles your husband!" said the cunning politician.

"I've always heard," she replied "that people grow to look like those they are much with, but this is quite a remarkable case. We only adopted the little fellow last week."

In His Interest.

Jack—You know when Mabel rejected me last week I told you my troubles, and you promised to help me. Well, she accepted me last night. Am I to thank you for interceding for me? Cousin Belle—Not exactly, dear boy. I simply intimated to Mabel that I was after you myself.

How shall I be able to rule over others that have not full power and command over myself?—Rabelais.

FREEDOM OF THE CITY.

An Honor Which Had Its Birth In the Middle Ages.

The ceremony of presenting the freedom of the city as an honor arose in the middle ages, when such right was not acquired by mere domicile. No stranger could move into a medieval town and go into business, his own gainful occupation or the civic activities. First he must become enrolled in the guild of his trade, then he had to undergo an apprenticeship of full seven years before he could be admitted to its livery. Then only and thus only could he arrive at the freedom of his city.

As a reward for high deeds these medieval city republics sometimes conferred on such strangers as had served them well the freedom of the city by solemn act of the burgesses and liveries without the apprenticeship of servitude. Every such recipient of a city's freedom became at once a burgess, free to dwell, free to engage in trade, free to vote for the civic rulers and to aspire to the civic chair. The key was the visible sign of this freedom—the city gates, closed at sunset against the stranger and the foe, opened to the burgess' key at all hours, as the door of his own home.—Argonaut.

Wit "In Extremis."

Of the men of letters who lost their lives on the scaffold two at least died debonairly.

There was Montrose, poet and king's man in Scotland's king versus kirk business. "On the morning of his execution Warristown, the covenanter, went to his cell, doubtless to make himself unpleasant. Montrose was combing out his curls.

"Why is James Graham so careful of his locks?"

Montrose smiled and made answer: "So long as my head is my own I mean to see to it. When Warristown gets it he may deal with it as he likes."

At the scaffold Sir Thomas Möre asked the lieutenant of the tower to see him safe up the steps.

"I'll shift for myself coming down," the poet promised.—Youth's Companion.

Defended a Little Boy.

Nine-year-old Robert came home from school one day with a dirty face and a torn stocking and a generally disheveled appearance. There was a bump on his forehead which he was manfully trying to conceal by pulling his cap down over his face.

"Why, Robert, what have you been doing? How did you get so dirty? And what has happened to your face?" asked his mother.

Robert looked mysterious.

"Oh, I've been tryin' to keep a little boy from bein' licked," he replied, with an offhand air of accustomed virtue.

His mother was delighted.

"How fine and brave of you, dear," she cried. "That is what you must always do. You must always stand up for the little boys. I am sure you are going to grow up to be a hero. You are a splendid little man, and mother is proud of you. Who was the little boy?"

"Me," replied Robert. "I broke Jimmy Andrews' pencil box, and he tried to wollop me. It was an awful fight. He won."—Philadelphia Times.

The third Lord Templetown used to tell of an extraordinary and really authentic case of second sight. His brother, Henry Upton, the second viscount, was with his regiment abroad when he and several brother officers saw an old friend wearing trousers and shirt only pass through the mess room to another room from which there was no outlet. They followed and saw nobody, and the sentry persisted that no person had entered.

Henry Upton wrote to his brother, afterward third viscount, to request him to go to their friend's lodgings in London and find out what he was doing at such and such an hour on a certain day. The brother in London complied and found that their friend had died, but not on the day he had been seen abroad.

Later the landlady was asked on oath as to the date and hour of death and whether he had died in a white shirt with a blue check. After some demur she confessed that her lodger did not die when she first stated, but on the day when his friends had seen him pass through the mess room.

It seems the date of demise had been falsified on account of his pension, which was almost all his family had to depend upon. And he died in a white shirt with a blue check, his landlady having lent one of her husband's to him on the morning of his death.—London Court Journal.

Lovers of Sports.

The Anglo-Saxons love sport. No matter in what part of the world they are found the spirit is strong among them. Wherever the restless Anglo-Saxon dominates the love of sport is dominant. The Americans are—at least the most of them—descendants of this virile race, and nowhere is the love of sport so much exhibited as in this country. Our people are patrons of horse racing, of baseball, of golf, of football, of all out of door sports as no other people. The English are great sportsmen, but not to the extent that Americans are, for the reason that the opportunities are greater here.—Nashville American.

Bad Advice.

Friend—What's worrying you? Manager—The prima donna of my company refuses to sing oftener than twice a week. I am making only hundreds where I ought to be making thousands. Friend—I'd settle that. If I were you I'd marry her. (A year passes.) Friend—My gracious, you look seedy! What's happened? Manager—I took your advice and married the prima donna, and now she won't sing at all.

Reciprocity.

There is one word which may serve as a rule of practice for one's life. That word is "reciprocity." What you do not wish done to yourself do not do to others.

PHYSICIANS AND FEES.

A Medical View of the Doctor's Charge For His Services.

Those who discuss the physicians' fee frequently miss the essence of it. As a matter of fact, under present social conditions the charge made to the wealthy and well to do is the normal and proper fee; the lowered charges made to those less fortunate are concessions. The tremendous field of the physician's charity is therefore usually underestimated, for it extends to a great majority of his patients.

In olden times, when medicine was nearly all art and but little science, the fee was unknown. Like other artists, the leech received an honorarium, the weight of which depended naturally upon the resources of the patient.

The popular impression that physicians make the rich pay for the poor is incorrect. They extend their services to all alike, and all are supposed to pay as much as they can afford for services really priceless and impossible to represent adequately in money values.

Any attempt made to establish standard fees by law is sure to work injustice to the physician. The "standard" fee would have to be much higher than the average fee at present and there would have to be some method of enforcing its sure payment. Only with the standard fixed, as now, by the ability of the wealthy is it possible for the poor to receive the benefits of the highest professional skill without losing their self respect.—New York Medical Journal.

Cecil Rhodes Grave.

Cecil Rhodes, the diamond king and famous South African statesman is buried in Africa, in obedience to his own wish, as expressed in the following words left in his will: "I admire the grandeur and loneliness of the Matoppas, in Rhodesia, and therefore I desire to be buried in the Matoppas on the hill which I used to call the 'View of the World,' in a square to be cut in the rock on the top of the hill, covered with a plain brass plate with these words thereon: 'Here lie the remains of Cecil John Rhodes.'" Rhodes died March 26, 1902, at the age of forty-seven.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Knom It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color, they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

An explorer claims to have discovered a race of people who go a long time without water. But he is far behind the times. A similar race was dicovered in Kentucky many years ago.

◆

Philadelphia boasts of a ladies' tailor whose name is Needleman, but Galena, Ill., as we showed a short time ago, lays it all over the Quaker City with a Mr. Jugowhiski who runs a saloon.

Some men struggle hard to mend their ways, but as a rule they are not as successful in doing it as their wives are in mending their shirts.

◆

A WORLD PROBLEM

It is not for nothing that the spectre of Asia hangs over our discussion of immigration bills. The world is now face to face, as never before, with the problem of race difference and of how to solve it. Our colored stocks have ceased to be the pliant material they were before the advent of the newspaper and era of popular education. Within the last few years they have witnessed the triumphs of Japan, the ferment in Persia and Turkey, the overthrow of a centuries-old dynasty in China The land of the pyramids has its "nationalist" agitation and the cry goes up—for Muslims, Caots, Syrians, Armenians and Jews—of Egypt for the Egyptians" In South Africa a native and colored population of over four and a half millions demands from scarcely 1,300,000 Europeans its industrial and political rights. Both Brahmanism and nationalism menace the old order in India, and there is not a fluctation in the Mahometan "unrest" which the administrative thermometer does not record. The native orators are few in a country of 300 millions, but they go forth with degrees won at Oxford and Cambridge, and their message is ominous. In the story of "Siri Ram, the Revolutionist," the Swami tells of "the dragon that is sucking the life-blood of our Bharat Mata." The student is enjoined to trample the demon under his foot. "Our country was the crown of all countries, and was called the Golden Land. Her hour has come again. Drums are beating. Heroes and martyrs lead Look at Sayaii, Napoleon Bonaparte and other heroes of Germany and France. Look at Japan. Take only a life for a life."

Add to the claims of bativism and nationalism the demand for free migration, and the problem of race grows portentous. The significant feature of it is that the white man is shouldering a burden much bigger than himself. He has 453,500,000 of his own stocks in Europe, 85,000,000 in North America, in Australasia 6,000,000, 20,000,000 in South America and 1,500,000 in Africa. But there are 947,000,000 colored people in Asia alone Africa contributes 140,000,000; in the United States 10,000,000 of them are at home. To-day the whites now on the planet, even reckoning as such the mixed elements of Mexico, Cuba, West Indies, Central and South America, number no more than 619,000,000, while the colored races aggregate 1,099,000,000 in a total world if 1,718,000,000. Nor is religion a negligible factor. The Buddhists claim 121,000,000, the Mahometans count up to 175,290,000, the Brahmans number 214,000,000 and the Con fucians 300,000,000—a total of over 810,000,000, against 540,000,000 who call themselves Christian. Remember that the absorption of the ancient faiths by our own is an exceedingly slow process, subject to constant setbacks. And none of the populous colored stocks seem to be "dying out"; on the contrary, most of them give promise of increasing faster than the whites. How is this mass of conflicting interests to be harmonized? Of one thing we nay be sure in a world which is to remain a checker-board of race—that the problem will not be wholly of our own solving.

Your Bad Taste In the Morning Is Due to Catarrh

DESTROY THE POISONOUS DISEASE BEFORE YOUR HEALTH IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Perhaps you haven't thought of calling those unpleasant symptoms that affected your nose and throat by any particular name — but it's Catarrh just the same.

When the attack is severe, your eyes are watery and look weak. Your breath is offensive, due to inflammation in the nose and throat.

At last science has discovered a real remedy, a new scientific marvel which acts like no other Catarrh remedy on earth. "Catarrhozone" operates on a new plan; it is a direct remedy, goes instantly to the source of the trouble. Its rich, fragrant essences and healing balsams are breathed in vapor form through a special inhaler and gives instant relief.

Catarrhozone doesn't stop at the relief stage—it goes further—keeps on going till a cure is affected. Bad cases are cured, as you can judge from the following letter:—"Every morning for six months last winter I awoke with a bad taste, an awful breath and stuffed up feeling in my nostrils," writes Rob E. Rutland, of Regina. "It was simply an awful case of chronic Catarrh. Relief first came from Catarrhozone. I used that inhaler twenty times a day and took it to bed with me at night. I am cured, and by the use of Catarrhozone stay well. Now I am free from that irritable throat trouble, coughs, colds, headache, or catarrh."

No medicine on earth is so certain to cure every form of Catarrh or throat trouble as "Catarrhozone." Get the large $1.00 size, lasts two months and is guaranteed; medium size 50c.; sample size 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

THE ROAD MAKERS

Road builders of the world are looking forward to the final lindking up of the "Great Horseshoe Highway," which when completed will be the longest automobile road in the world.

It will measure over 7000 miles in length and will connect the three principal countries of the North American Continent. Scenery, including that of Sunny South, Middle, Eastern and New England states; Montreal and quaint Quebec; the Great Lakes and streams of Canada; the broad ranch and agricultural lands of the last Great West—the Canadian West; the matchless Canadian Rockies with their wonderful valleys and venerable snow capped peaks, the Pacific Coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Portland; then further south, Sacramento, San Francisco and the charming resorts in the southern part of the State of California and finally, with a highly colored touch, the City of Mexico, will furnish the automobile travellers with no end of variety. No such trip can be found elsewhere in the world.

The Highway will begin at Miami, go directly north through all of the principal American cities of the Atlantic seaboard to Montreal, and west through Canada to Vancouver, and thence South through the cities of the Pacific slope, finishing in Mexico City.

Canada is rapidly becoming widely known for its automobile roads and for the many places of interest to the motor tourist. The people north of the international boundary line, from the Atlantic to the Pacific are making efforts to construct as many miles of first class highways per annum as possible. This has been their road-making policy for years and therefore the road conditions of to-day make Canada one of the most delightful places on the continent for the automobilist.

Every province, municipality, city district and township is uniting with the federal government in urging the construction of good roads and thereby luring with the most tempting of inducements motor enthusiasts from all parts of the world. It will not be many months before a motorist will be able to start his journey at Miami, travel north through the United States to Montreal, and thence west ward to the Pacific coast, where he will find the other international highway from Vancouver to Mexico City.

The section of the Eastern International highway, from Rouses' Point, New York, to Montreal, is about complete. This section, which is 42 miles in length, is called the King Edward Highway. This section of the great highway crosses the St. Lawrence river at Montreal by the Victoria Bridge over a mile long.

From Montreal, and in fact, from the boundary to Quebec, the road extends through districts of great historical interest and of unusual scenic beauty.

The road south of the boundary will form the main artery through the most densely-populated portion of the North American continent. The ten States, together with the District of Columbia and the Province of Quebec through which the road leads, have a total population of 81,936,000.

West from Montreal the transcontinental highway runs through the lower portion of the Provinces of Canada touching all of the noted principal cities and leading through a country noted for its scenery and natural beauty. Besides excellent roads and wonderful scenery, there is an abundance of game of large and small variety. The territory around Nepigon, Ont., the northern part of Lake Superior, is wonderfully supplied with combine the two forms of sport. There are many lakes and streams throughout this section in which gamey fish abound. The motorist, if he provides himself with fishing rod and tackle before he ventures on his journey, will be able to get some of the finest fishing to be found on the North American continent.

West from Winnipeg, the motorist will travel for hundreds of miles through one of the finest grain and agricultural belts on the continent. From Winnipeg to Calgary there is almost an unvaried panorama of agricultural prosperity reeled off before the eyes. The tourist swoops along from town to town through waving grain fields or wide cattle ranches. Farms, where the owner is successively employing his time at diversified farming, are to be seen in all directions. In fact, almost every step in th[illegible] of an "empire" is to be found in example.

Probably the most interesting stretch of the road in Canada, if not on the entire continent, is that which bears the name, "The Highway of the Great Divide." This stands out prominently among the great road building projects of the world. For six hundred miles, through the Canadian Rockies, in the Provinces of British Columbia and Alberta, this auto path will wind its way asound mountains over the bridged gaps and ravines, through the dense forests, skirting rivers and lakes bordering on precipitous cliffs and clinging to the steep-sided hills.

A portion of the route extends through the level ranch lands of Alberta, but for the greater distance it pierces the very heart of the Canadian Rocky Mountains, that wonderful country of snow-capped peaks, glittering glaciers, mirror-like lakes, boisterous torrents and silver streams, that country which is the Mecca of the tourist and the lover of solitudes. Through the greater length the road will follow the trans-mountain lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway and eventually connect the five well-known scenic points, Banff, Golden, Cranbook, Macleod and Calgary.

There are already some splendid mountain roads in America, but none of them will compare with this broad path through the fairyland of Canada Nearly five hundred miles of this Highway of the Great Divide is already completed, and the remaining distance is to be finished as rapidly as possible, probably within a few months.

From Golden, B.C., the road is completed as far south as Cranbook and an excellent communication is thereby established between the trans-mountain lines of the Canadian Pacific railway. This road takes the tourist along the Kootenay river, and through the Columbia valley by way of Windermere and Fort Steele, the latter a famous mining town during the rush in the early nineties.

This road is maintained by the Canadian Government and while some of the grades are rather heavy, there are none of them which cannot be negotiated with ease by a moderate-powered car. At Fort Steele, there is an important branch road, which leads to the international boundary, where connection is made with the roads of Montreal. This makes it possible to drive a car from Spokane as far north as Golden, British Columbia.

Of this run from Golden to Cranbrook, Wilbur, Nesbit, author and traveller has said, "In all the world elsewhere there is no such journey possible as this which have just concluded by automobile up the valley of the Colombia to Lake Windermere, eight miles of exciting racing among the crags, over shoulders of mountains, clinging to hillsides, and whirling across valleys, and along the table lands; always and always with The silent Rockies towering high on one side and the majestic Selkirks as sentinels on the other, huge peaks capped with eternal snow, great piles of God's masonry, one uncreasing vista of mountains, of forest, of river, gorge, ridge, crest and peak. There are celebrated rides in England and continental Europe, but there we have the solemn beauty of the Grand Canyon, the wild loveliness of the Yellowstone and the Yosemite, the stately grace of the Hudson, the terrific stillness of the Far North, and the clinging scent of the flowered Southland."

From Cranbrook to Macleod and thence on to Calgary 108 miles along the highway is in excellent shape. The autos have been using the Calgary-Banff section of the road during the present summer and those who have been over the road declare it to be splendid. From Calgary to Banff is about five hour's ride, if no time is lost. With a reasonable margin for delays, the trip can be made in six hours

The British Columbian Government, together with the Dominion Government, and the Canadian Pacific Railway, are forcing roads through in all directions, with the hope that in the very near future they can be connected up forming a broad highway to the Pacific Coast, where splendid roads exist in abundance.

Vancouver, on the mainland, being the chief Canadian port of the Pacific Coast, and recognized centre of the Province of British Columbia, is in the centre of a network of excellent roads. Victoria, on Vancouver Island, boasts of roads equal to any in the world, and tourists who have been over them bear out the statement of the Victorians.

Leading almost due south from Vancouver, connecting up New Westminster, Everett, Seattle, Portland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and on down through the beautiful southern portion of California, into Mexico and finally ending in Mexico City, is the second international highway on the North American continent. This enormous stretch of highway is about completed and in use. It is declared to be one of the best long stretches of highway in the world. The greater portion has been in operation for over a year

Enthusiastic citizens of British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California are behind the movement to make this the best road on the continent. Sign posts have been put up to guide the auto tourists and to point out things of interest, because of international relations, which he might otherwise fail to note. This road is being taken care of in first class style and is kept in excellent condition.

One of the most potent effects of the "Great Horseshoe" Highway is having on the country, is to encourage the building of good roads. The example set by making a first class road of it, is influencing the citizens of each district through which it runs to build branch roads and thereby hold out still further inducements to the motor tourist to linger in the district.

"Good roads make good business," is an axiom generally accepted as true with the bettering of the road conditions.

Increased travel and more prosperous business conditions are vouched for

USEFUL NEW INVENTION

Enables Anyone to Play Piano or Organ Without Lessons

A Detroit musician has invented a wonderful new system which enables any person or little child to learn to play the piano or organ in one evening. Even though you know absolutely nothing about music or have never touched a piano or organ, you can now learn to play in an hour or two. People who do not know one note from another are able to play their favorite music with this method without any assistance whatever from anyone.

This new system which is called the Numeral Method, is sold in Canada by the Numeral Method Music Co, of Canada, and as they are desirous of at once making it known in every locality, they are making the following special free trial and half-price offer to our readers.

You are not asked to send any money until you have tried, and are satisfied with the new method. The Numeral Company is willing to send it to you on one week's free trial, and you will not have to pay them one cent unless you desire to keep it. There are no express charges to be paid, as everything will be sent by mail. Simply write a letter or post card to the Numeral Method Music Co., of Canada, 198A Curry Hall, Windsor, Ontario, saying, "Please send me the Numeral Method on seven says' free trial." If you are satisfied after trying it, the Method and fifty different pieces of sheet music will cost you only $5, although the regular price of these is $10. You should not delay writing, as the Numeral Company will not continue this special half-price offer indefinitely. Later on, the Method and fifty pieces of music will be sold at the regular price.

Women will find more news of interest to them in The Times' magazine page every morning than in any other paper.

Paid For Style.

"Room and a bath, sir," said the hotel clerk politely, "$2 a day."

"I said room and bawth, young man," interrupted the pompous man. "Understand - bawth!"

Fighting the Hatpin.

Another step has been taken in Prussia against the use of long hatpins, according to the Berlin correspondent of The London Daily Telegraph. The railway administration of Saarbrucken has given orders to its officials that women whose headdresses are transfixed by those weapons are to be requested to remove them, and if they decline they shall be prevented from traveling by trains and be called upon to leave the stations. If they refuse acquiescence they will render themselves liable to a fine. "Possibly the Prussian official is the only one in the world who could carry out these instructions without feelings of embarrassment," says Pall Mall Gazette.

"Does your husband allow you to have things charged at the stores?"

"Oh, I think he would, but"—

"But the stores wouldn't. Is that what you were going to add?"

"Oh, no. I was going to say that he gives me plenty of money with which to pay cash. Does yours?"—Buffalo Express.

An Unbiased Champion.

"Queer world, isn't it? See that chap over there, the one who is putting up the big boiler for individual drinking cups for public use?"

WOMEN ARE PRAISING DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Nova Scotia Mother Tells How They Cured Her Aches and Pains, and Made Her a Well Woman Again.

Ecum Secum Bridge, Halifax Co., N.S., Feb. 13.—(Special).—From Vancouver to Halifax daily reports of the splendid work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing for the suffering women of Canada, and this little place can show a splendid cure of its own. Mrs. Orastus Pace, the mother of a large family, was a sufferer from those aches and pains only women know. To-day she is a strong healthy woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it.

"I had a pain in my left side and down through my hips," Mrs. Pace states. "I had headache all the time. My heart was weak, and at times a pain around it added to my fears. Some days I was hardly able to walk.

"I read of a number of cures of cases like mine, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and sent for three boxes. Today I am a well woman, and can do as much work as ever I could."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mrs. Pace because her troubles came from diseased kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneys, and as ninety per cent. of woman's troubles come from kidney trouble, Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to be known as suffering woman's best friend.

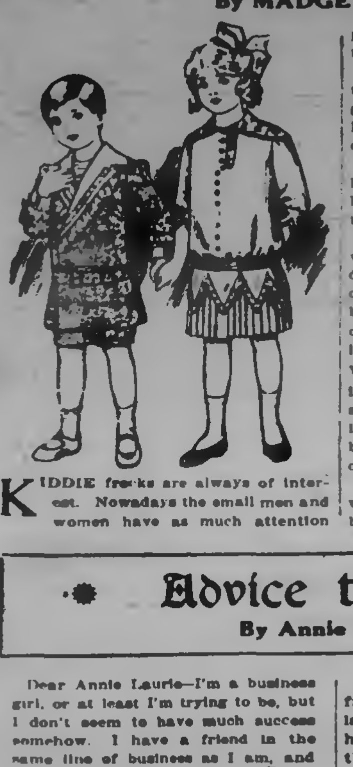
"Dress up" Designs for Kiddies' Spring Clothes

By MADGE MARVEL



KIDDIE frocks are always of interest. Nowadays the small men and women have as much attention paid to the details of their dress as do their elders.

The suit shown for the little boy is intended for "dress up" wear, when he goes to parties, or to his dancing class. It is of soft velveteen in black with a deep pointed collar of lace.

The blouse is belted and loose, and the little trousers are quite short and slightly full. There are cuffs of the lace that match the collar.

His small sister wears a frock which would be serviceable for school, and dressy enough for Sunday school. It is of white cashmere. The skirt is kilted but not full, and the long over blouse is quite plain and fulled so as to fall a little loose over the dull red silk belt. Where it extends below the belt it is cut in deep points and outlined with heavy silk braid with a scalloped edge. There is a prim little frill of lace where the blouse fastens at the neck and a collar of Dresden design on white linen.

For more practical use this dress would be equally attractive developed in blue or rose pink

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie—I'm a business girl, or at least I'm trying to be, but I don't seem to have much success somehow. I have a friend in the same line of business as I am, and every one says I am much cleverer than she is—yet she will walk right into an office when I've just gone out and put a deal through when I have failed.

All the men are very nice to me, but they always seem to want to flirt, and when I get through I find that I'm just where I started. I wonder what is the matter?

AMBITIOUS.

YOU'RE the matter my little girl just y-o-u—that's all.

You may be pretty and attractive, but ten chances to one you are not so perfectly irresistible that no man on earth can keep from making love to you—if you want him to keep from it.

You don't want him to keep from it you think you do, but you don't. Every time you meet a man you wonder whether he would like you or not if you'd let him; and he knows that before you have opened your mouth to speak a word.

How does he know it? Why, just the same way you know it when a man is thinking what a pretty hand you have instead of looking at the figures you are trying to write.

Which are you really interested in—tell me truly now, little girl—those figures, or the man who won't pay any attention to them?

Thoughts are things, you know. You don't have to speak them to make them the most powerful things that there are.

You can push a man away from you with your mind just as much as you can with your hand, but all the gesticulating on earth won't push him away if your mind is calling to him at the same time.

Your friend who takes the contracts from you right under your very eyes is thinking about those contracts so hard that she makes every one else think about them, too.

A flirtatious girl never makes a success of business until she has learned to do her flirting outside of business hours.

Talk about the armor of self-respect, I never knew a woman to make a dollar of honest money in the business world till she had found out how to make her manner protect her from all sorts of little fool annoyances.

The most temperamental woman I know is a business woman. She's feminine from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet, and she has a string of beaux and admirers a quarter of a mile long—out of business hours.

The men who know her simply in her business relations think she doesn't know a thing in the world but business.

They'd as soon dream of making love to the male book-keeper as to think of making eyes at her.

I call that woman a success—both in business and out of it.

She puts on an armor of a sort of common sense—how are you this morning, well, now let's get to work manner that carries her right over all the little difficulties a woman who doesn't know how is sure to meet when she has to deal with strange men day after day.

Learn how, little girl, learn how—it's worth while. But you must begin by teaching your own mind to behave.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her care this office.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

PETER POSSUM gave the Woodland school bell a final jerk which almost upset it. Then he took his seat.

"Now, my dears," began Miss Rabbit. "You remember Billy Bunny and Willie Squirrel were quarrelling the other day. Billy couldn't see through Willie's tail and Willie couldn't see through Billy's ears. I have asked Billy to write an essay about Willie's tail and he will read it. Attention, now. Billy, you may stand up and read."

Billy Bunny stood up and began:

"Willie Squirrel's Tail.

"Once upon a time there was a very beautiful Squirrel who lived in the woods. He was very beautiful except for his tail. It was behind him where he couldn't see it, so he never knew how ugly it was.

"This little Squirrel was always up to mischief and his tail was always in the way.

"He was sitting on a fence one day when a man drove by in a wagon. The man looked at the fence, but he couldn't see the scenery for four miles because of the Squirrel's tail.

"At school the scholars couldn't see the blackboard for this Squirrel's tail.

"This Squirrel's name, including his tail, was Willie. If he hadn't had such a big tail, he might have been called Will.

"Some people say that Squirrels long ago had large, beautiful ears like Rabbits, but that they became too proud and their big ears became a tail. That is why they have such small ears now."

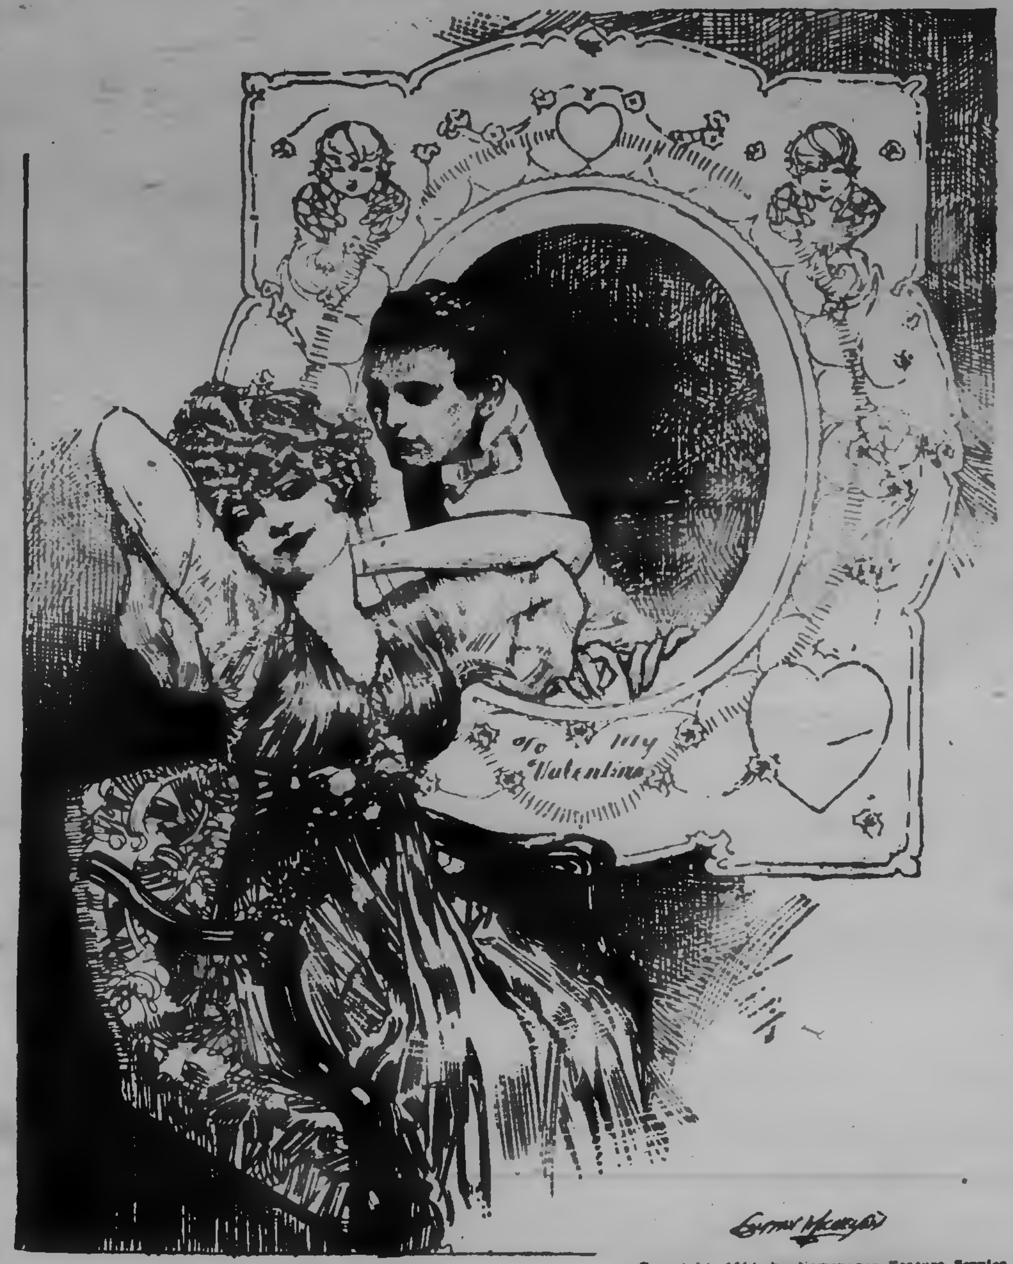
With that Billy Bunny sat down.

Willie Squirrel jumped up in his place and said:

"Teacher, I want to change my essay about Billy Bunny's ears. I'll read it tomorrow. I want to make it stronger."

"Very well," said Miss Roberta Rabbit with a smile.

HER VALENTINE :: By Michelson



Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

ALL the dainty paper, all the splashes of golden and azure and violet color in the world wouldn't make the valentine she is thinking of.

There is only one bit of magic that ever happened from which you could weave that valentine of her thought. That is the magic of the HEART.

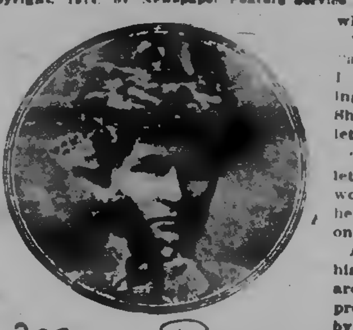
It does happen. That REAL one man could come to whisper the one word that is older than valentines, though different men in different lands and different ages have spelled it differently.

MY valentine, mind you! Not anybody's piffle on paper, but MY best guess, MY best wish and hope, MY life devotion, MY dreams come true.

She Who Is Too Good to Work

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service



Winifred Black

SHE'S engaged to a man who thinks women are too good to work, and she's so pleased about it that she makes you stand on windy corners and listen to the whole story.

I met her this morning, the pretty thing, as rosy as a May apple, and with eyes as blue as the summer skies, when they are the way they ought to be.

Poor little thing—she did look so happy—she's walking in a kind of dream, and thinks that she's never going to wake up.

"He says that it makes him fairly ill to think of a woman struggling in this great big world—all alone.

"He says a woman ought never to lift her finger; she just ought to look pretty and be happy and have everything she wants all the time. He won't even let me button my own glove or tie my own veil—says he doesn't believe in it, and when I'm married I'm to have my own maid to do every single little thing for me; and he's going to think for me and take care of me, and I'm never to go out of the house if it rains, or is too cold, or anything—oh, it's just like a beautiful dream."

I do hope I won't ever meet that poor little girl after she has been married about a year to the man who thinks women are too good to work.

I've known men like that—quite a few of them—in my time, and they're always just alike, when it comes to women.

The man who thinks a woman is too good to work thinks she is too good to think, too good to have any will of her own, too good to suffer. And he thinks these things just as long as he is under the spell of passion, and not one single second longer.

When a man says that he doesn't want the woman he loves to think, he's always afraid that she might get to thinking about him some day, and find out how little there is to think of.

I met one of that sort of men at a dinner not very long ago. He was telling us all how he hated the modern woman, and how very sorry he felt for that man who was married to one of them.

"My wife is old-fashioned," he said, "and I am glad of it—so glad of it that I never think of her without thanking the good Lord that I married her. She attends to her own affairs, and lets me attend to mine.

"She's not very strong, and I never let her tire herself out with a lot of worries. I haven't missed sending her a bunch of violets every day once since we were married."

And the man who was proud of his old-fashioned wife looked all around the table to see which of the pretty girls was the most impressed by the story of his beautiful devotion.

I saw that same man at the theatre with one of those same pretty girls the next evening. She wore a large bunch of perfectly good violets.

I suppose his wife was having a nice, old-fashioned time lying on the sofa at home, and not being silly enough to care where her old-fashioned husband was, so long as she didn't have to work while he was gone.

Beware of the man with the oriental idea, girls.

It sounds romantic, but it is sure to turn out, oh, so drearily prosaic after all.

All that he wants is a woman who will stay "in her place"—and he is perfectly sure to make that "place" just a little bit lonesome as soon as his oriental fancy is taken by some one else—some one he can see in his mind's eye curled up on a divan wearing dingle-dangles.

A man isn't oriental in one part of his mind and occidental in the other.

The woman who marries a man who says quite plainly that he wants her for a plaything and not for a helpmeet must make up her mind to be just the plaything, and that's all.

Too good to work, is she, Mr. Oriental? Well, then, she's too good to marry you or any man like you—poor little foolish, deluded thing.

I hope she'll wake up from her rosy dream before the wedding bells begin to ring.

The Real Need.

"What do you regard as the greatest need of the times?"

"An automobile worth $[illegible] that can be sold for $[illegible]."

The Proper Term.

He—Some of these days I shall have a brain storm and ask you to marry me.

She—That will not be a brain storm, that will be a case of exaggerated ego.

A Real Confession

"I wonder why she says that he 'confessed' his love?"

"I guess he must have been married at the time."

Where Trouble Lies

"Do you think eating cheap cuts of meat will solve the food problem?"

"It might if durability instead of edibility were the requisite of a steak."

Worse Cut up.

"How did the doctor feel when he was sued for malpractice?"

"Oh, he was worse cut up than his patient."

No Find.

"Wot did ye find in her pocket?" asked one pickpocket.

"Nuttin'," said his companion. "I [illegible]"

Matter of Economy.

"New automobile factories are springing up every day."

"Yes, men are finding it is cheaper to build cars than to buy them."

Not an Enthusiast.

"I see in the paper that golf was once a poor man's game."

"Well, I think it is still a poor game for a real, live man."

Anatomical Evidence.

First Boarder—I believe our landlady has experienced a change of heart.

Second Boarder—Why?

"She has given us a change of liver."

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Is Mind More Potent Than Physical Senses?

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg

DR HIRSHBERG

DISCUSS mind and matter as you may, the cat will mew, the dog will have his day. These are the parlous times, when every third man and every other woman you meet tell you exactly "the power of the mind over matter." Yet, were you to pause in your amused ramble long enough to ask these "suggesters," "mental influencers" and "absent treaters" exactly to define "matter" and "mind," they would begin to wobble and go groggy. Then, in the season of their discontent, they would fall back upon the mouldy, reeking, world-old platitude, which some black-faced minstrel sprang upon the tolerant Thales some thousands of years ago:

"Quoth he, 'What is mind?'
Scapegoat—'No matter.'
Babylonian wag—'What is matter?'
Goat—'Never mind.'"

Perhaps Prof. Sir J. J. Thomson, Sir William Ramsay and Profs. Soddy, Rutherford, Wood and the others in their newest researches upon the structures of the atom, will admit that Aristotle and Thomas Aquinas were right in ages ago. These once discredited philosophers practically said that prime matter was mortal and lay beneath the configuration of atoms.

Nature Is Active.

Very good. Let the ultra-ancients and the radical moderns agree. Now then can "mind" affect matter?

The answer rests with the truth that everything in nature is active. As Rastus insisted, "de sun sho do move," and so does everything. All the forces of life and non-life interlock and interact. The destruction of the Titanic and the slides in the Culebra cut, however, prove that matter is more like Gog and Magog, Hercules and Pantagruel than like the clay and putty these "mind over matter" emotionalists would have you believe.

Let us see. Fear is an emotion. Not even the most militant anti-vivisectionist or sentimentalist will deny that. Envy, jealousy, malice, hatred, fright and anger are all emotions.

If the united researches of experimental physiology, surgery, psychology and chemistry is worth anything, the results of these investigations all show that bunches of matter cause all of these manifestations of mind.

In other words, the very instruments of these tantalizing, hypnotizing, scandalizing sentimentalists, their worries, fears, angers and exaltations are all due to an output of definite, tangible concrete fluids.

Have you ever noted the look of fright? The eyes stare and almost pop from the head; nervous tremors, quakings and beads of perspiration stand out on the forehead.

Matter Influences Mind.

It is caused by an extra outpouring of the thyroid fluids from the little bunch of tissue just above your Adam's apple.

This thyroid tissue when it overgrows causes a "goitre" or tumor which surrounds the windpipe and hangs at the neck. This same mass is removed from calves and swine and sold as medicine.

It is a vigorous and dangerous medicine. Taken to excess it produces the emotion of fright, with palpitating heart, shivers, tremblings, popping eyes and cold sweats.

This is called a "hormone." There are other tissue hormones, each a source of some emotion, such as fear, anger, excitement, tenseness, anxiety and the like.

Now, where is that universal delusion about mind over matter? As a matter of fact it's the other way around. Matter actually changes your mind.

Your organs of sensation are matter. Your telephone exchange, the brain is material. The objects outside as well as inside of your body are substantial.

Now, how do you think? How do you imagine? How do you acquire reason, imagination, memory?

Why, from the outside world, the universe of concrete objects and the catastrophes and other sensations that come to you from the moment you emit that first, new born cry.

Your whole life of thought is built up upon that breath of life, that vital fluid which God created in you.

It all comes from the real, material, objective, outside world. The senses were created to take in their proper objects. Until then the thoughts are a blank.

Answers to Health Questions

DAUGHTER—My mother always tells me to "stand up straight," but she never tells me how. Kindly tell me what to do.

Throw your chest forward and your shoulders backward. Even a bit of a swayback is better than stooping shoulders. Hold the hips back and always breathe in thoroughly long drawn breaths.

• • •

C. S.—Are shoes run down at the heels bad for the health?

To speak precisely, no. Since, however, a man is judged by his associations and a girl by her feet, it is better to sacrifice one meal and have even, balanced, good looking, symmetrical heels to your shoes.

• • •

B. J.—My complexion is in very good condition, but I wish you would tell me just what I should do to keep it so.

Plenty of water, inside and out, life in the fresh air, the following of a sensible diet, a great deal of exercise and sufficient sleep are necessary if you would keep your complexion perfect.

The Kind of Girl a Man Likes

BY NORVELL ELLIOTT

The Society Girl

THE theatre was beginning to buzz with the laughter and chatter of the early comers who realized they had 15 minutes to wait before the curtain rose. It was the first night of Grand Opera and "Lohengrin" was the offering. My bachelor friend had secured our favorite seats—10th row front—and we, together with the early comers, were passing the time discussing the people about us.

"Ethel Tucker is positively beautiful this evening!" I exclaimed, as a young girl, followed by an elderly woman and two young men, entered one of the lower boxes.

"Ethel is a pretty girl, very pretty, but Eleanor Russell is radiant. Take a look at her, lass. Did you ever see a girl with finer poise or a more sparkling face than Eleanor's?"

"Just to look at them it would be very hard to decide whether Ethel or Eleanor was the more beautiful," I added discreetly, trying to express myself honestly.

"It is well you put in that clause, 'Just to look at them,' lass, for the secret of Eleanor's attraction goes deeper than mere looks. Perhaps that is the reason she takes on an aurora of beauty which Ethel does not have," answered my bachelor friend, seriously.

"Ethel and Eleanor are both typical society girls, representing as they do the two types existing in every group of social life. Some men enjoy Ethel's kind, others follow Eleanor. As a rule, I have noticed the men who marry an Ethely girl are young men who never had a serious thought in their lives and never did a serious piece of work. Generally they are dissipated to boot. More serious minded men like Eleanor best, and in the end her kind of a girl marries a pretty decent fellow. He may not be deliriously wealthy, but he will have convictions of his own—convictions and the strength to live up to them. Yet, on the surface, Ethel and Eleanor apparently attract the men who visit them for the self-same reason. They are both vivacious, carefree, fond of flowers and chocolates—in fact, are what is generally meant by the term 'society girl.' Men like society girls because their very frivolity is a change from the business or professional life followed by the men. They accept her society as a pastime—she is a toy, delightful and refreshing, with which to pass the evening.

"Naturally these girls marry in time—the Ethel girl to her kind of man, the Eleanor girl to hers. And between them there is all the difference in the world, for Ethel is on the surface, while Eleanor has a depth of her own, a certain fineness of purpose, a vision, an ideal. She may laugh with you and dance with you, and even go so far as to flirt with the man who is caught in her meshes, but in the end she comes up true blue. Her ideas are not warped, as are Ethel's. She believes in the sacredness of marriage and true romance.

"The society girl has her place in the great scheme of life, and it's all with the individual how great a place it shall be. She may be satisfied at being an Ethel, but I, from a mere man's view point, thank God for the Eleanors scattered about here and there in the collection."

I glanced at Ethel. Gayly she continued to chat with the somewhat shallow youth behind her, now and then nodding to her friends, perfectly conscious of the attention she was attracting. Then my eyes wandered to Eleanor, leaning slightly forward, her hands idly folded in her lap, a dreamy expression in her big eyes. She was totally unconscious of her surroundings. Truly she was the girl who could see visions and dream dreams.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Centre Pier at Cobourg, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M., on Wednesday, March 11, 1914, for the construction of the Centre Pier at Cobourg, Northumberland County, Ontario.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; Windsor, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Cobourg, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

"WHEN THE MISTS HAVE CLEARED AWAY"

TEXT: "For now we see through a glass darkly, but then face to face."—I Corinthians 13:12.

I tried it yesterday in the modern sense, for I looked out through a frosted pane. Beyond was a fine stretch of Canadian landscape, the gardenspot of a province, with the border-line of lake as a background. But I saw through the glass darkly, for on the glass was frozen mist. A little boy, annoyed at the hindrance, thawed out a little spot with his breath, and kept scraping the edges with his finger nails, to enlarge the transparent area, but the frost king regained his grip almost instantly and my laddie had to content himself with an occasional peep through the wee clear corners. It was the best we could do and we soon turned back to our magazines, where pictures took the place of the real scenery so provokingly withheld from our gaze.

That is the modern picture of the text. The figure is just a bit changed. In Paul's time the glass was of scraped horn, thin enough to admit light and yet so opaque that only the dim contour of things could be seen through it. Now since we no longer have to see through a glass darkly, we change the metaphor to the times. The hymn-writer has spoken of the mists through which we must look, and has sung:

"We shall know each other better
When the mists have rolled away."

If Paul were writing it now, he would say, "For we see through a frosted window dimly." So the meaning is this: Here on earth, man's view of the infinite is hampered by dimness of vision and by the mists of doubt, but in Heaven we shall see with perfect sight. Mankind is in a house, and the outside is a great world of which he has known but little. The house is the finite. The outside is the great infinite. The window through which we gaze out is our spiritual qualification, or comprehension. The frost on the window is our limitation.

We are all in this house of the finite. For the present, it is our prison. We have a kind of jail-limit freedom, but when we try to escape we find the guard leveling his musket at us with relentless aim. We are chained to place. The chain is long enough to deceive us occasionally into thinking that we have rid ourselves of it and we make a dash, like a dog from a kennel, only to find, like the dog finds, that the chain is still there. We are kept indoors by a remarkable sentry called gravitation. We can move north, west, south or east far enough to exercise ourselves, but not one-millionth part of an inch away from the crust on which our soles rest. Even if we dig a hole towards the antipodes, someone must counteract the power of gravitation sufficiently to bring us back to the surface and even then, their feeble efforts to raise us up depend on the power that gravitation exerts over them. We are prisoners of time and place in this house of the infinite.

Outside is a great world where place and time wield no sceptre. We call it the infinite. Once in a while we gaze out earnestly; and even the look thrills us. Here and there are folks that keep their faces to the window all the time. We call them poets. They look out so intensely and incessantly that they sometimes forget to get their hair cut and their whiskers trimmed, and the folks that don't look out as much as the poets do, say: "Come away, come away, you're looking out too long." And there gets to be something akin to ill-will between the practical folk that don't look out much and the dreamy folk that put their faces against the pane all the time. And in fact one of the great problems of our finite housekeeping is: How much time should we spend looking out of the window, and how much time should we spend in dishwashing, in sweeping and dusting and in looking after the furnace? In other words, how shall we poise ourselves between the look at the finite and the peering into the infinite? Folks who deny we are in a house at all call themselves Christian Scientists; folks who try to bring the outside into the inside we call Spiritualists. Folks who merely say, "I don't know anything about the outside," we call agnostics. Folks who deny that there is an outside at all we call infidels.

But outside of these four classes of exceptional people, there are many who never do look through the windows. They just barely know there is a window there, but they're never curious enough to walk up to it and look out. They are like the folks that never go away from the house and lot. They never go to see anything or to hear anything. The circus, the exhibition, the Mendelssohn Choir, the great Paderewski, the October garrison parade, may come and go, but they never go out.

They are like the people who ride in a railroad from Hamilton to Welland with their backs to the window, reading the book of Job, and never looking out at the gardens and the peach trees and the lake. Did you ever get impatient with the country fellow who shoves up his car window and puts his head out to look up ahead at the engine and lets a draught in on you? Don't get angry. I'd far rather ride with him in front of me than to have the man with the book of Job ignoring all the beautiful things God has made as a kind of foregleam of the glories of paradise. They are like the people who can read Les Miserables and never wipe away a tear, and lay down "The Mill on the Floss" and never once heave a sigh for poor Maggie. They can read the death of little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" without blinking.

They are the unchristlike who never look out into the infinite. They can listen to tales of glorious deeds of kindness and never say "Amen." I told one of these practical fellows who came over to visit me from Buffalo, about a rich Toronto man who found a poor little lame, hair-lipped orphan girl and became interested in her, sent her to the hospital for an operation on her mouth and adopted her. She became a loving daughter to him, nursed him in a long illness and was a blessing to him in his dying hours. I told the Buffalo man that true story, as best I could, and when I had finished I looked up expecting I'd find his eyes filled with tears. But his face was as empty as a boarding-house cream pitcher, and he said, "Yaas?" I do despise a man whose conversation is limited to small talk, and as soon as you reach something grand to speak about, can only answer "Yaas?" and then perhaps ask, as this man asked, if I knew whether the United States duty on Canadian hogs was really taken off. Such people never do hear any music. No use trying to show them a sunset. They never notice anything grand on the street or in the cars. Their hearts never melt when they hear the story of Calvary. They never brighten up when they hear about Jesus and the halt and the blind.

O, God, give us a place among the faces at the window! Stand aside a bit, Tennyson, while you're looking out and singing, "When I Have Crossed the Bar," and let me also see the Great Sea and the Pilot's boat. Get over an inch or two, Mendelssohn, and give humbler folks a chance to see and hear the sublime things that you report to us, shorthand, as you received them from the mansions of the celestial, and form the lips of angels. Ah, Abraham Lincoln, you'll make room for us common people, and let us get a glimpse of the love which you saw and felt, even while you walked through the fiery furnace. We want to look out. We'd like to raise the window and put our heads out, and let our dishevelled hair wave if we can but see something.

The window is frosted. We can just look out here and there, sometimes more distinctly, sometimes more dimly. The frost is our handicap, our limitation. We cannot see out at all, and then we go and hide our faces in our hands and cry, "Father, forgive our unbelief," when it really wasn't our fault that we could not see.

The things about our Father's throne we see through a glass darkly. Did you ever stand at the foot of the American Falls and look up? The wind blows the mist directly across your line of vision, and you cannot see. Wait a moment, and, if the wind veers, you'll be rewarded with quite a perfect view. But not so with the Canadian Falls. They are always partly hidden. You look into the deep green of the horseshoe's curve, and you hope by waiting to see the mist blown away so as to gain the coveted view into the mysteries of the great cataract's holy of holies. But the mist is ever there. It never leaves the rocky precipice. But there is a rainbow above it, an eloquent promise of the Day when mists will have rolled away.

Look up at the Father's great throne! You know He is there. You can feel His presence. But clouds hidden from our view. But the very mist furnishes some beauty, for "there was a rainbow about the throne." Verily, thou art a God that hidest thyself." His providence is hidden. The best hymn for a funeral of which I know is, "Some Day We'll Understand."

Some day we shall see souls more distinctly than we see them now. The habitations of souls hide our view. Like the country boy who returned from the metropolis to say that he couldn't see the city because the houses were in the way, so we cannot see men's souls distinctly because of the bodies in which souls live. We sometimes think we can estimate [illegible] by the length of noses and the [illegible] of chins. We will know each other better when the mists have cleared away. Phrenological guessing is so deceptive. We misinterpret [illegible] and misconceive characters. [illegible] see through a glass [illegible] that they know only in part [illegible] our friends gradually. [illegible] soul reveals itself to us by the slow process of years. By and by we see its hidden beauty and we marvel that we ever doubted the possibility of anybody's immortality.

Some day an angel will come and open the door and say "Walk out." And we will go through the door into the infinite. And we will be surprised to see that the mists have all cleared away. And we will find that all the mist was on the pane, and now that the glass is behind us the mist is behind us too. Then shall we see plainly. There'll be no shadows. We shall perfectly read the Book of God's providences. We shall perfectly see the reason for our manifold sufferings. We shall know why we did not know why. We shall be so pleased with our new atmosphere that we shall be surprised that we were ever able to live in the poorly ventilated house of the finite. We shall be so pleased with our perfect sight that we shall say: "I never did know how poor my eyesight was and how heavy the frost on the pane," and when we meet the friends gone before we shall say: "I never knew they were such beautiful souls," and when we shall see the King in His beauty we shall say: "Something hindered me from seeing Him perfectly before. It was the frost on the pane that hindered me, but now the mists have cleared away."

Why Spiders Fight.

When two spiders fight there is generally a good reason for the attack and the vigorous defense that follows. It is not generally known that after a certain time spiders become incapable of spinning a web from lack of material. The glutinous excretion from which the slender threads are spun is limited; therefore spiders cannot keep on constructing new snares when the old ones are destroyed. But they can avail themselves of the web producing powers of their younger neighbors, and this they do without scruple. As soon as a spider's web constructing material has become exhausted and its last web destroyed it sets out in search of another home, and unless it should chance to find one that is tenantless a battle usually ensues, which ends only with the retreat or death of the invader or defender.

A Pretty Compliment.

His incessant work, his avoidance of all rest and recreation and his rigorous self denial made Joseph Pulitzer in his days in harness the despair of his family.

In this connection a pretty story is told about the famous journalist's son Ralph. Mr. Pulitzer had refused to take a holiday, and Mrs. Pulitzer exclaimed:

"Did you ever know your father to do anything because it was pleasant?"

"Yes, once—when he married you," the young man gracefully replied.—Washington Post.

The Tiny Shoes She Wanted.

"Now, madam, what size shoe will you have?" asked the salesman as soon as he was at liberty.

"The smallest and shiniest you have," she said.

The other women buying shoes sniffed.

And when the clerk returned with a pair of the tiniest imaginable the woman accepted them with the remark, "I guess baby's eyes will open when she sees these on her feet."—Buffalo Express.

An Exclusive Lassie.

Grandma—Why don't you play with that little girl across the street, Nettie? I'm sure she's a nice girl. Nettie (aged six)—But, grandma, you surely don't want me to play with a girl who lives in a frame house! I only play with brownstone front girls.—Chicago News.

Accommodating.

Applicant—Did I understand you to say that you accommodate 200 persons at this hotel? Hotel Proprietor—No. I said this hotel had capacity for 200.—Browning's Magazine.

EGYPTIAN GRAVES.

Bodies Were Carefully Kept For Their Returning Souls.

The great pyramids of Egypt are merely the tombs of Kings. Although they are larger and much more imposing than any built in former ages, these tombs are constructed on the principle of all Egyptian graves. There is a chamber underground in which the body is walled up and protected against decay and spoliation, while above ground a mound of masonry or brick marks the grave and presents a place where the living may meet the dead with offerings and magic words which will secure to the spirit of the dead its daily bread and protection from evil.

An essential part of the Egyptian religion was the belief in another life after death and in some unseen way the personality of the dead man continued after death with the same necessities, the same fear of evil demons, the same work and the same pleasures as on earth.

On the graves of all classes food and drink were placed, and it was the duty of the relatives of the dead to renew these supplies. The kings and great men founded endowments to provide for their wants after death. For these endowments farms and estates were granted to certain men who thus became funerary priests and were enjoined to bring offerings of food and drink to the graves of the founders every day.

Thus it is that each pyramid not only contained the burial place of a king, but also presented on the side nearest the valley a chapel for the presentation of offerings and the performance of certain rites. The pyramids, with their temples, stand high up on the rocky plateau, and for convenience or some other reason which we do not know, a second chapel was built below on the edge of the valley. In such case the valley temple was connected with the upper temple by a causeway.

Beat the Bank's System.

The boy entered the Cleveland bank and laid a half dollar with his bank book on the receiving teller's window. "We don't receive deposits of less than a dollar," said the teller. The boy yielded reluctantly to the system and drew back. But he did not leave the bank. He crossed the corridor and seated himself on a settee. The teller noticed him sitting there and also noticed the reflective look on his face. The boy waited for some time, thinking it over. Finally he arose and went to the paying teller's window. A moment later he confronted the receiving teller. "I want to deposit this dollar and a half," he said. The teller grinned. The boy had just drawn a dollar from his little balance and was using it as an entering wedge for the rejected half dollar. And so the system was beaten by the boy, and a considerable accession of bookkeeping labor was the price of defeat.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Battle of Languages.

Three or four languages strove for mastery in ancient Gaul, which is now France. German was spoken by the 12,000 Frank invaders. Popular Latin was spoken by 6,000,000 Gallo-Romans. Literary Latin was the language of the church and of literature. Low Latin was afterward the language of the administration. German was the first to succumb. In four centuries it ceased to be understood by the soldiers, and in seventy years more it had become an object of ridicule. But it survives in more than 900 words, expressing the things of government, law and war, and thus forms no insignificant part of the French language.

Corpse Rings.

The sailor of the old fashioned, shellback class always wears a corpse ring. This is a plain band of silver or gold, inscribed within with the sailor's name and port. Corpse rings are worn for the purpose of identification in case of death by drowning through shipwreck, etc. The shellback sailor can never swim, and he looks forward calmly to dying suddenly beneath the sea. Indeed, he usually prefers such a death to a lingering one in hospital.—Buffalo Express.

How He Got Out.

"No," said Woodby. "I don't see Wiseman at all any more. He has dropped out of our social set."

"He tells a different story," remarked Sinnickson.

"Indeed!"

"Yes; he claims he has climbed out."—Catholic Standard.

The Optimist.

"You're looking blue, doc. What's the matter?"

"Well, I'll tell you. A patient I began to treat died this morning."

"Ah, cheer up. He might have died even if you hadn't been called."—Toledo Blade.

The judge of the juvenile court, leaning forward in his chair, looked searchingly from the discreet and very ragged piccaninny before his desk to the ample and solicitous form of the culprit's mother. "Why do you send him to the railroad yards to pick up coal?" demanded his honor. "You know it is against the law to send your child where he will be in jeopardy of his life."

"'Deed, jedge, I doesn't send 'im. I nebber has sent 'im, 'deed"—

"Doesn't he bring home the coal?" interrupted the judge impatiently.

"But, jedge, I whips 'im, jedge, ebery time he brings it. I whips de little rapscallion till he cayn't set, 'deed I does."

The careful disciplinarian turned her broad, shiny countenance reprovingly upon her undisturbed offspring, but kept a conciliatory eye for the judge.

"You burn the coal he brings, do you not?" persisted the judge.

"Burns it—burns it—cose I burns it. W'y, jedge, I has to git it out ob de way."

"Why don't you send him back with it?" His honor smiled insinuatingly as he rasped out the question.

"Send 'im back, jedge!" exclaimed the woman, throwing up her hands in a gesture of astonishment. "Send 'im back! W'y, jedge, ain't yo' jest done been told me I didn't oughter send my chile to no such dange'some and jeopardous place?"—Youth's Companion.

WAISTCOAT EFFECTS STILL FAVORED IN AFTERNOON FROCKS

Vests and waistcoats offer an excellent way of introducing a bit of contrast and brightening up a dull frock or suit. These vests are often of the most vivid shades and then again they are fashioned of brocades, printed silks or velvets in which there are interminglings of dull reds, blues and golds.

No. 8331 is smartly developed in an old blue tussor crepe with the upper part of the bodice and the tunic in striped crepe. The rather tight-fitting waistcoat is a part of the bodice and is made of plain crepe to match the skirt.

These crepes, which promise to be equally as popular as the taffetas, are wide, ranging from 38 to 45 inches, and may be purchased from 75 cents and up.

This costume requires for size 36 5¾ yards of 36 inch material.

The small girl's frock is made attractive by the same little touches that are used on the grown up dress and suit. In No. 8332 is shown a drop-shoulder and yoke effect. Flowered crepon is the material with the tiny revers, cuffs and girdle of black velvet.

For a child of 10 this model requires 3⅛ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8331—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8329—sizes 6 to 14.
Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

THE FLOWERED CREPES MUCH FAVORED FOR ONE-PIECE FROCKS

After the frills and panniers it is quite a relief to see a straight-lined frock or suit. Several of the latest imported models show these lines, no doubt by way of contrast, but the effect is very pleasing and at once makes the garment distinctive.

Cotton duvetyn is perhaps the most promising material for spring suits. It is soft and velvety, delightfully colored and wide. Forty-five inches is the average width. In price it ranges from $1.25 up.

No. 8167-8169 is of this cotton duvetyn in a soft shade of terra-cotta. The coat is designed on cutaway lines and has a straight vest in a contrasting color; the skirt is a three-piece model with clusters of tucks arranged to give a bit of fullness about the waist.

This suit may be copied in size 36, with 2¼ yards of 36 inch material for the coat (8167) and 2⅝ yards of 36 inch material for the skirt.

Made up in one of the old-fashioned looking crepes, which will be so popular for summer dresses, No. 7963 is an ideal afternoon frock for a young girl.

This design for a girl of 18 requires 4½ yards of 36 inch material. These crepes may be purchased from 75 cents a yard and up.

No. 8167—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8169—sizes 22 to 32.
No. 7963—sizes 16, 17, 18.
Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

The Church and Social Service.

In the third sermon of the special series which the Rev. R. Pogue of St. Paul's church is delivering, on "The Social Crisis," he will preach to-morrow night on the "Relation of the Church to the Social Problem."

Suit Against Local Man.

In yesterday's police court Charlie Sims, a local painter, sued the proprietor of a local hotel for $4.50 wages, which he claimed was due him on some work he did for the defendant last week. The plaintiff won.

A Series of Clever Sermons.

Beginning with this issue we will print a series of sermons by that talented clergyman, Rev. Byron Stauffer, pastor of Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto. This new addition to our Saturday issue, we feel convinced will be greatly appreciated.

Buckhorn Protestant Federation.

A few days ago The Times gave notice of a week's postponement of the Protestant Federation meeting at Buckhorn. By a typographical error the postponed meeting was said to take place on Wednesday, Feb. 19th, instead of Wednesday, Feb. 18th.

Belmont Cabaret Minstrels.

The Belmont Club Cabaret Minstrels last night drew a crowded house at the Grand. This fine exhibition of local talent certainly made good. The musical sketches were tuneful, the jokes, particularly the local "gags" were sparkling and the entertainment a great success.

Presentation at Bailieboro.

The members of Christ Church Bailieboro, presented Miss Lillian Smithson, who has resigned as organist, with a real seal purse and containing $25.00 in recognition of her services as organist of that Church. The presentation was made by the Churchwardens, Messrs. J. L. McCamus and James Hall.

Curling Notes.

The rinks of W. G. Morrow and R. Hicks returned to the city yesterday from the Oshawa 'Spiel after being defeated twice. The first round was for the Eaton trophy and the second the consolation, for the Oshawa House trophy. The rinks of R. Waddell and W. G. Ferguson were still undefeated.

A Resident of Smith Hurt.

Mr. James Bailey, of Smith, was rather seriously injured yesterday morning, as a result of a runaway. He was one of a party on the way to attend a funeral and when the horses ran away all the occupants of the sleigh were hurled out on the road at the corner of Smith and Park streets. Mr. Bailey's left shoulder was seriously injured.

Manager Blount Busy.

Youngstown, O., Vindicator: Curley Blount, former manager of the Youngstown Interstate League Ball Club, announced last night that he had signed Louie Schettler, local pitcher, who played with Erie last year. Blount has also signed Eddie Price, another local boy who made his professional debut with Steelman last season. Blount expects to land one or two other local lads before the season opens. He will manage the Peterborough Club in the Canadian League the coming season.

A Cold Drive.

A Times representative yesterday had a talk with Mr. Wm. Collins, the local lockmaster. Mr. Collins got back from Buckhorn at 1 o'clock yesterday after attending a meeting of the Farmers' Institute there. He said the drive to Buckhorn on Thursday morning was the coldest he had ever taken. However, on arrival at Buckhorn, Mine Host Tom Eastwood had a good dinner, with plenty of hot soup that awoke their chilled blood. The meeting proved a great success notwithstanding the weather.

Danny Simons Heard From.

The Times yesterday was in receipt of a letter from Danny Simons from the Hotel Grant, Chicago. Danny is an old Peterborough boy, who has made a little better than good on the stage. Those who know Danny, (and who does not?) are aware of his inimitably comic way of telling stories. Danny in telling of the sad details of his mother-in-law's obsequies, that is if he had a m-i-l., that would cause more laughter and tears. Mr. Simons opens a week's engagement in Minneapolis next week. Danny, speaking of former Peterborough men, who are well known to our older readers, says, "I was with Tom Dunn, Hern Kinsey and Charley Shaw (in Chicago) a few evenings ago and we had a few good old fashioned laughs about Peterborough, the old home town and things that happened at home in bygone days. All the bunch look well and are doing well."

Mr. G. C. Wainwright, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, left last night for Montreal, where he will have charge for the next six weeks of the branch of the Bank of Ottawa in that city. Mr. A. F. Knights of Toronto, will be in charge of the local branch until Mr. Wainwright returns.

Mr. Jas. A. Murphy of Toronto, was in the city last night, a guest at the Oriental. It is understood that Mr. Murphy's visit here was to look over the local hockey players, with a view to securing talent for next year.

Mr. J. Lithgow, of Bobcaygeon, who registered Thursday night at the White House has left for a trip to England.

Mr. W. J. Cavins, of Lindsay, was a guest at the Snowden House yesterday.

Mr. W. B. Hughes, of Mariposa, was a guest at the Oriental Hotel yesterday.

Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, was a guest at the Oriental Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Aird D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, a few days ago was in a sleeping car between Omaha and Minneapolis, when a broken rail caused the swiftly moving train to roll into the ditch. He was unhurt.

Rev. Mr. Goodwill, of Keene, was in the city yesterday on business, and paid The Times a visit.

Mr. J. W. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, was in the city yesterday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. H. Robertson, 526 Water street.

Mr. Sam McElroy, formerly of this city, who is now residing on his farm in Hope township, East Durham, is spending a few days here. Sam looks like 60 years old, although acknowledged to be 76.

Mr. Thos. McKenty of Pontypool was a guest at the Montgomery House yesterday.

FIVE MINUTE CURE IF STOMACH IS BAD

When "Pape's Diapepsin" reaches stomach all Indigestion, Gas and Sourness Disappears

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember, as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Funeral of Miss Eliza Wright.

The funeral took place yesterday morning of the late Miss Elizabeth Wright from the residence of Mr. A. M. Laidlaw, London street. The pall-bearers were Wm. Scott, Jas. McDonald, W. Mein, R. M. Glover, J. H. Smith and A. M. Laidlaw. A wreath of flowers was sent by friends of the deceased in Levis, Chaudiere and Quebec. The service was conducted at the house by Rev. Keith, Rollins and Pogue.

Miss Sarah Spencely.

The sad intelligence was received in the city yesterday morning of the death of Miss Sarah Spencely, in Auburn, N.Y., formerly of this city. The late Miss Spencely has a brother Mr. Wm. G. Spencely, in this city, and a brother near Burleigh.

The remains will arrive in the city to-night and will be taken to the residence of Mrs. Jamieson, 252 London street.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Brown.

On Thursday afternoon one of the oldest residents in the community Mrs. Henry Down, passed away, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Yelland, 207 Murray street, after a year's illness.

The deceased lady was 92 years of age. She was born in England, and came to Canada 70 years ago, settling first in Mariposa. Sixty years ago she came to reside near this city. Mrs. Down was a faithful member of George street Methodist church.

The deceased lady is survived by two brothers and one sister, one son and three daughters.

Funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from 207 Murray street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

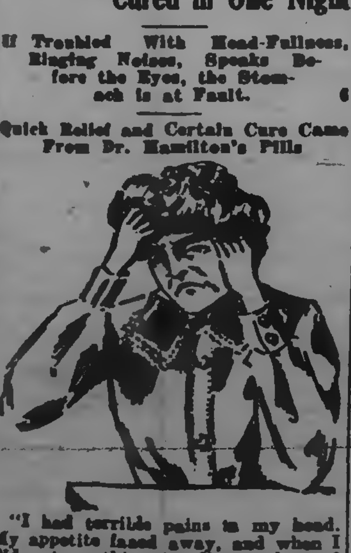
Dizzy Headaches Cured in One Night

If Troubled With Head-Fullness, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach is at Fault.

Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills



"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite fased away, and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleansing remedy I would still be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made strong, ruddy, and healthy, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

"MRS. B. C. CURRAN,

"TYPHOON"

At the Grand Opera House Next Week.

"TYPHOON," that wonderful play, wonderfully acted by Laurence Irving, his gifted wife, and talented company, not merely deserves success for its own sake; the promoters had to strive against somewhat adverse circumstances, and it is highly satisfactory to note that their efforts have been so well rewarded.

"TYPHOON" at once appeals to you. It is both instructive and entertaining, revealing, on the one hand, much of the subtle inwardness of the Japanese mind, and conveying, on the other, touches of colour and charm and vivacity. As 'Takeramo,' the heavy-eyed, purposeful leader of the Japanese Colony in Paris, Mr. Laurence Irving is superb. He portrays the type with almost uncanny fidelity to detail. The turn of the head, the eyes, the hands, even the feet suggest the 'Jap,' as the light-hearted, frivolous, passionate Helene delighted to call him. Nothing could be more stirring than the fatal encounter between Takeramo and Helene at the end of Act II. Her flood of rebellious scorn was terrible to behold. The spectator had more than a grudge against Takeramo for putting her out of action all too soon. Indeed one yearns for sheer melodrama under such circumstances, but the play is faithful to the spirit of the whole situation, and Helene played so exquisitely by Miss Mabel Hackney, is no more. One comes away with the most satisfactory recollection of Renard-Beinsky, the irrepressible, irresponsible author who was so clearly a contrary type to the stolid Takeramo, yet were they so alike in their common passion for the hapless Helene. The theme's the thing, presented with such realism by thoroughly competent artists. No one should miss such a fine spectacle of deep, definite, human emotion and purpose.

"Typhoon" will be produced at the Opera House under the auspices of the British Canadian Theatre Organization Society, on Saturday evening and matinee, Feb. 21st. "The Unwritten Law," Mr. Irvings second great success will be the attraction on Friday, 20th.

GOVERNMENT TAKEN ABACK BY LOUD DEMAND FOR QUICK ACTION ON G.T.P. REVELATIONS

Liberals Not Alone in Difficult Position — Perhaps Borden Thinks That as Alleged Offences Were Committed in Ottawa, Ontario, it is Up to Mr. Foy to Make Move

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—Letters, newspapers and telegrams from all parts of the country indicate a popular interest in the revelations concerning the National Transcontinental railway which the politicians did not anticipate. Liberal leaders and members are embarrassed by the demand that some explanation or defence be forthcoming, while the Government is somewhat taken aback by the vehement demand for immediate action. The Liberals know that many things cannot be explained, still less defended, and the Government is confronted with the difficulties in the way of recovering the money of which the country has been defrauded and of punishing the grafters.

The road as projected was a vast political scheme. The Grand Trunk desired government aid for the construction of a railway from North Bay to the Pacific Coast, and the Laurier Government loaded it up with the National Transcontinental. Nearly every objection now presented against the wisdom of building a government line from Moncton to Winnipeg was presented 10 years ago by Hon A. G. Blair upon his resignation from the government. Nothing worse is being said about Hon. S. N. Parent now than was freely said about him when he was placed in charge of the construction of the National Transcontinental. He had then been forced to relinquish the premiership of Quebec under circumstances which never have been made public.

Davis Doing Big Government Job.

M. P. Davis, the contractor who figured so prominently, changed his politics two years ago last September and is now a big contractor under the present government. He is in charge to-day of a two million dollar job for the Government at the City of Quebec.

The government may have a great deal of material which it has not published and some civil or criminal proceedings may follow, but none just now are anticipated. Perhaps Mr. Borden may think that it s up to Mr. Foy, as many of the alleged offences must have been committed in the City of Ottawa, Caslton County, Ontario.

Plunder Was 1904's Prize.

The big plunder involved in the construction of the National Transcontinental long ago excited the cupdity of many people. It was the prize at stake in 1904, when an immense amount of money was available for the defeat of the Laurier government. The purchase of the Liberal newspaper La Presse of Montreal and the resignation of Hon. A. G. Blair from the railway commission and the reputed purchase of the twenty-five Liberal candidates for parliament in the province of Quebec, who were to withdraw between nomination day and polling, will be remembered.

In some way what is known as the Graham-Russell-La Presse deal broke down. Mr. Blair went to his grave silent and heartbroken, but Mr. Graham obtained a knighthood, and for years, his paper, The Montreal Star, was not unfriendly to the Laurier government. Now the Montreal Star is giving the widest publicity and the biggest head lines to the Gutelius-Lynch Staunton report. Perhaps a good many people prefer to have the grafting on the National Transcontinental talked about so as to have the grafting in the Quebec legislature ignored or forgotten. Some people say that the National Transcontinental Railway scandal is too big to be sawed off, and that the Government must take action. That is as it may be.

POST OFFICE SITE

In this issue appears a letter signed "Merchant" on which the writer vigorously protests against having the new post office built at the corner of Sherbrooke and George Sts. "Merchant" is justified in his protect. It would be the height of folly to ask George Street merchants and residents of Ashburnham to walk so far South. Should the Council advocate securing this site, an indignation meeting of the ratepayers should be called to protest against sich folly.

EDITORS CHARGED WITH INCITING TO RIOT

Japanese Government Takes Strong Measures to Suppress the Disturbances.

Tokio, Feb. 14.—The Japanese government to-day took extensive measures for the maintenance of order in the capital, and for the suppression of disturbances in connection with the demonstrations of protest against the increase of taxation. A line of police armed with sabres, was drawn up around the parliament buildings and several opposition newspaper editors were arrested on the charge of inciting the populace to riot.

In the house of peers an interpellation was addressed to the government in connection with the naval scandal, and in the course of the debate Baron Kenjiro Den censured Admiral Baron Minoru Saito, minister of Marine, for not investigating the matter earlier.

WANT COAL WEIGHED BEFORE SCREENING

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—The first demand of the miners that all coal be weighed before it is screened and must be paid for on the mine run basis was still under debate by the miners and operators of the central competitive bituminous field in joint conference here trying to arrange a new wage scale, when recess was made for luncheon to-day.

C. E. Maurer of Cleveland, one of the spokesmen for the operators, opposed the demand. He intimated during the debate that if the anti-screen bill passed by the Ohio Legislature is signed by the governor its constitutionality may be tested.

William Green of Ohio, secretary of the Miners' Union, and author of the anti-screen bill, defended the measure. He said the mine run basis was the only equitable way to pay miners. The bill now in the hands of the Ohio governor, he said, provides penalties for miners placing waste in mine cars.

QUEBEC PROVINCE STANDS HIGHER THAN EVER BEFORE

Daily Mail, Which Sprang Graft Charges, Editorially Commends Legislature for Its Quick Action

Montreal, Feb. 14.—The Daily Mail this morning in its editorial columns, gives prominence to the efforts of the opposition members in the legislature to have the lid taken off and a real investigation held into corrupt conditions in Quebec. But editorially these efforts are not seconded by The Montreal Mail. In a double-leaded leader The Mail professes itself entirely satisfied with the work of the investigating committee, and says: The result of the investigation at Quebec into the charges of corruption brought by the Daily Mail against three legislators, is that the men named by this paper are found guilty of the charge. This result proves our contention that the charges published were put forward in the public interest, as was contended from the first by the proprietors of this newspaper. The evidence which led to the connection of Messrs. Mousseau, Berard and Bergevin was secured in a manner, somewhat novel, but in such a way as to be absolutely trustworthy in every particular. It was published in the columns of this paper with due reclosures as were made and in such gard to the importance of such disform as would make for the triumph of justice without doing injury to reputations other than those actually laid under a cloud by it.

AUDIENCES FROM THE STAGE

Mr. Laurence Irving, the distinguished English actor and son of Sir Henry Irving, who appears at the Grand Opera House here on Friday and Saturday next, in two of the greatest successes contributes the following interesting article specially to The Times:

I have been asked to give the impressions which come to me as I view the audience from the stage. Being short-sighted I cannot distinguish them individually, and the modern school of acting has given us the forth wall and no longer does the leading man march solemnly down to the footlights to give out its thrilling tones the best lines of his part. But though we modern actors do not actually view the audience, they are with us none the less as a body, a curious combination of entities which we class in one word as the 'audience.' How little the separate members of an ordinary audience realise what an enormous difference they make to the actor, and on first nights to the fate of the play they are watching. It has lways been a matter of interest to me, how, during the run of a piece, the temper of an audience will vary from performance to performance; and it is a curious and sad fact that if an author wishes to show his play off to the best advantage, or an actor his own performance, so surely on that night above all others will the audience be dull and unresponsive. For the audience, as I have said, take an enormous part in the theatre to-day. I have known comedy scenes terribly overplayed by competent artists merely because they were struggling against the cold impenetrable wall of unresponsiveness. Then again I have felt in my own experience more than once how the whole temper of an audience will change during the short three hours traffic of the stage. Take for instance my own first night of "Typhoon" at the Haymarket Theatre, London. "Typhoon" had been refused by practically every management in London. It was published both in French and German in the form in which it was played in those countries, and therefore all the specialists and critics had read or heard of it. The upper part of the house had been affected adversely but the bad failure of Lengyel's other play "The Happy Island" at His Majesty's a few days before. Since the first night I have heard from friends that on going into the stalls many were heard to say "I'm afraid we are in for an awful frost to-night!" And this frost affected the theatre from stalls to gallery—a curious iciness. We had played the piece for months in the country and therefore we knew what lines ought to "go," but on that terrible first night in London the icy house simply sat and gazed: they did nothing: they hardly smiled: and as my wife finished the comedy scene at the end of act one, the only consolation she could give me was, "well, at any rate they didn't cough." The applause at the end of act one was moderate, and on we went still with this cold well in front. When suddenly for apparently no reason, the whole attitude of the house changed. Where there had been coldness and silence there was now an electric hush, the deadly stillness which comes only with the intensely interested audience, a stillness which is broken by no cough or sneeze, or scraping of the throat or shuffling of the feet in the pit, and which broke out at the curtain of the act into that whole-hearted volley of applause which tells the actor his anxiety is over and sends the author's hopes up to the highest heavens. From then on this curious mass in front changed entirely. From then, on, every comedy point was quickly caught: every little bit of first-night slowness hidden by the warmth and readiness to accept all and everything. And I think I never remember a more enthusiastic finish to an evening which began in such a melancholy fashion.

There is a reverse side to this. Some years ago my wife was playing a leading part in a play by one of our former dramatists at a theatre conducted by a favorite actor manager, and she and I on talking the matter over afterwards, both noticed the curious change that came over the audience that night. How instead of a crescendo everything was diminuendo. The evening started most auspiciously. Pit and gallery crammed to suffocation long before the curtain went up. The stalls filled with distinguished

A BIG ISSUE OF PAPER MONEY IS MADE BY HUERTA

Four Hundred Million of Pesos to Be Issued in Form of Irredeemable Paper Made Legal Tender by Law

Mexico City, Feb. 14.—An unconfirmed report was current in banking circles here to-day that Provisional President Huerta had signed a decree authorizing the issue of 400,000,000 of pesos of Fiat money or irredeemable paper money made legal tender by law.

Foreign exchange to-day touched three for one, the highest point yet reached.

Mexico City, Feb. 14.—Elaborate preparations have been made by most of the foreign legations to cope with the uprising in the capital, which is confidently expected to break out within a short time. Whether it is directed primarily against the Americans or against the Huerta government, the legations will be ready to protect their national headquarters if the depredations become general. A military defence organisation has been organized and a section of the foreign colony mapped off for occupancy. Two machine guns have been smuggled into the British legation. It is said that several European governments have secretly sent officers and troops to this city for possible duty. The troops are disguised as civilians and are sworn to secrecy concerning their mission. Instructions are being circulated among the most prominent members of each foreign colony. If the situation reaches an acute stage, the responsibility of notifying their neighbors and getting into the "barricaded" zone will devolve upon the leaders.

BECK RUMOR SETTLED

Toronto, Feb. 14.—All rumors pertaining to the appointment of Hon. Adam Beck as lord high commissioner to succeed Lord Strathcona, are without foundation, according to a statement made Saturday by Mr. Beck. "The visit made on Friday to the capital was also an unofficial trip and was not for the purpose of furthering either hydro-electric business or anything connected with the floating rumors," said F. A. Gaby of the Hydro-Commission, after he had been conversing with Mr. Beck.

HEAVY SNOW STORM CAUSES DELAYS IN MANY BIG CITIES

Washington, Feb. 14.—The north-eastern part of the country to-day was in the grip of the first big storm of the year, which reached blizzard proportions in some places. Railroad traffic was delayed and street railway services in a number of cities were much hampered.

Off the Southern New England coast a mile-a-minute gale was blowing greatly endangering shipping. Several vessels were reported in distress along the coast from Cape Henry, Virginia, northward.

Intense cold in New England and the middle Atlantic States, moderated somewhat with the coming of the snow, but to the southward, where snow had ceased falling, lower temperatures were predicted.

The storm developed Fiday afternoon off the Georgia Coast and has moved rapidly northward. It was central early to-day with much intensity off the South New England coast, the wind at Block Island reaching a velocity of 68 miles an hour.

PROPOSAL TO MOVE POST OFFICE CREATES STORM OF INDIGNATION

Leading Merchants and Business Men Strongly Condemn Proposed Site Selected

Our citizens have every reason to be satisfied with the Government, for the grants that have been made for improvements, etc., and the efforts of our member, Mr. J. H. Burnham, are appreciated to the fullest extent.

Never in the history of this city has a member been so signally successful in his efforts to further the interests of his constituents.

We understand that the Government has submitted to the Council a suggestion that our new post office be built on a site at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets. This being the case we are prompted to ask:

1st—Is it the best possible position for a building of such importance?

2nd—Has any step been taken to ascertain the wishes of the public, and in particular, the views of the tradesmen and professional men of our city?

To the latter class of our citizens the location of such a building is of paramount importance, and with a view to ascertaining their ideas on the subject we have thought it advisable to canvas a few of the most prominent men. The result of this canvas shows in a most emphatic manner that the site selected is anything but satisfactory. Out of nearly a score interviewed, only one expressed himself as satisfied.

Mr. A. W. Cressman was of the opinion that the present site is much more convenient, and failing that the site next to the Telephone Exchange would be much preferable to the one selected.

Mr F. J. Might, the genial manager of the Turnbull Co., said, to quote his own words, "Most decidedly, either the present site or the one on Hunter street, next the Telephone Exchange. The proposed site is most unsuitable. It is a ridiculous idea to build a post office so far south of the business section of the city."

Mr. R. Gibbs, liveryman, said he had no fault to find with the present site. He thought government buildings should be as much together as possible. Property could be bought at the back of the present building that would enable it to be enlarged, and moreover, it could be had at a reasonable figure. Failing this, he thought it should be more central than the proposed site.

All those interested were of much the same opinion, some expressing themselves in a very forcible manner, with great indignation at the government's choice.

Those of the general public interviewed made pretty much the same reply, saying that it made little or no difference where it was situated, as they would get their mail just the same. Many of them were of the opinion that the wishes of the tradesmen should be considered, as its location doubtless affects them more than it did the general public. In this we concur, as the business houses requiring money orders, etc. would find it very inconvenient to go so far south as Sherbrooke st.

Some thought that it would serve no good purpose to raise any objection to the action of the authorities at Ottawa, otherwise we might lose the opportunity presented altogether.

To those of the public who think thus, we would remind them that we are living in enlightened times. We are not living in a half civilized country, where it is considered treason to express one's thoughts. On the contrary, we are living in a country remarkable for the strides it has made in every direction, whether it be agriculture, trade, commerce or government. This progress is largely due to the freely expressed opinions of the public on vital and important questions, with the result that when a decision has been reached on the question at issue, it has generally been to the benefit of the majority.

Such a time is now before our citizens, and it is earnestly hoped that the Government will consider the wishes of our business men, and endeavour to find a site for our new Post Office that will give greater satisfaction than the one proposed.

We hope during the next few days to further ascertain the feeling of the public on this matter.

BIG FIRE LICKS UP FIVE THOUSAND GALLONS OF OIL

Spectacular Blaze at Foot of Cherry Street Heats Zero Air and Threatens National Foundry Buildings

Toronto, Feb. 14.—Over 5000 gallons of oil, spilled by the fracturing of a large still at the refinery of the British American Oil works at the foot of Cherry street, caught fire a little before three o'clock on Saturday afternoon and fanned by the wind kept a large force of firemen working for several hours in an endeavor to keep the fire from spreading to the National Iron Works across the street. Telephone and power connection with the island was cut off as a result of the fire and the high tension wire to Hanlan's Point also fell under the intense heat.

The fire was one of the most spectacular blazes of the year and endangered the firemen, who had to retreat from the immense heat continually when the wind blew the flames several hundred feet across the oil soaked ground. The damage to the oil company is estimated at about $500, fully covered by insurance.

The office of Miller, Cummings and Robertson Company, contractors was burned with all their books and papers. The building was frame and was situated just west of the bridge across Keating's cut.

A Fair Sized Trout.

The gentleman was strolling across a large estate when he came upon a man fishing. "What sort of fish do you catch here?" he said.

"Mostly trout," replied the man.

"How many have you caught?"

"About ten or twelve, sir."

"What is about the heaviest you have caught?" continued the gentleman.

"Well, I don't know the weight, but the water sunk two or three feet when I pulled it out!"

Couldn't Frighten Him.

An Indian maharajah once received Lord Clive, the famous soldier, in his palace court. Presently in sprang two whopping big Bengal tigers, as big as ever grew. They rolled and sprawled and romped all over the court, growled, spit and struck at each other. All the time the rajah slyly and snakily stole glances at Clive to see if it would scare him green white. After a little the tigers were driven out. Clive smoked his cheroot all the while.

Birds and Lightning.

Birds are sometimes struck by lightning. Darwin records the case of a wild duck that he saw struck by a bolt while flying. It was killed instantly and fell to the ground. But birds seem to know instinctively that lightning is to be feared. That perhaps is why they seek shelter in thunderstorms. The sudden disappearance of the birds is, indeed, in the country one of the surest signs of an approaching tempest.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

HIS ONLY REGRET.

The Sorrow That Consumed Bichat When He Was Dying.

Over a century ago died Xavier Bichat, the famous physician and anatomist, author of "L'Anatomie Generale." He probably dissected more human corpses than any other man in the world's history. He established a record when he opened 600 bodies during one winter.

Of his nerve a tale is told. When he lay on his deathbed he called his colleagues to him and said: "Dear friends, I am done, but what comforts me is the fact that my case is a remarkable one. I have had unusual symptoms for some days which I have analysed. They have greatly surprised me." The doctors sought to reassure him. He answered that he was under no illusion with regard to himself. "I shall die fairly satisfied with my life and go to the grave with only one regret, one great sorrow."

"What is that?" he was asked. "I am distressed that after death I cannot dissect my own body. I could, I am certain, have made some beautiful scientific discoveries." Then he sank back, murmuring: "I must not think about it. It won't bear thinking of."—Westminster Gazette.

CLINTON, ONTARIO

To the unthinking mind it would seem a strange proposition that London is the modern Gretna Green; but just as in the first half of the nineteenth century the Border village offered facilities for easily tying the matrimonial knot, so now scores of would-be brides and bridegrooms look with longing eyes on the great metropolis.

Before the passing of what is known as Lord Brougham's Act in 1856, couples who desired to be speedily married often found the English law far too slow or difficult for them.

In order to expedite matters a hasty journey to the Border, and an equally hasty interview with the historic blacksmith, was arranged—with results, let us hope, satisfactory to all the parties concerned.

But, alas! the stern Act of Parliament above referred to put an end to all such swift alliances, and marriage came to be treated in the slower and more stately manner befitting such a solemn ceremony.

Yet it is a curious fact, just as our ancestors hurried to Gretna Green, so do many residents in foreign lands regard London at the present day. To their anxious minds the great metropolis is the Mecca to which all who wish marriage made easy should undertake a speedy pilgrimage.

There are (1) those who wish to avoid the local publicity attendant on marriage in their own district, (2) those who, for a very good reason—often the absence of the very necessary documents — find it practically impossible to be married in their own country; and (3) those who are, through some legal regulation, debarred from marrying at all in the state to which they owe allegiance.

Of course, the latter class is by far the most numerous, and provides the ever-watchful London newspaper reporter with many a modern-day romance.

They also provide a number of more or less reputable "matrimonial agencies" with something more solid—in the shape of fees for arranging the binding together in legal ties of many an anxious couple of foreign origin. Thus there has arisen in recent years a widely-spread and regularly-organised system of circumventing the law.

Advertisements can always be met in certain foreign newspapers, calling attention to the advantages offered by the English marriage laws. The address of the marriage-broker's agent is given, and, when this gentleman is applied to, he most readily quotes inclusive fees, and guarantees to arrange matters so that the proposed marriage may be carried through in a perfectly binding manner.—Tit-Bits.

A QUEER LEGEND.

Feder Kosmich, the Hermit, May Have Been a Russian Czar.

A curious legend is associated with the name of Alexander I. of Russia. It is to the effect that the emperor in 1825 was sojourning in the Crimea. When near Taganrog his coachman by some means managed to overturn the carriage of a court courier named Markof, who was killed. The emperor, wishing to rid himself of the cares of state, so the story runs, caused it to be reported that it was he himself who was killed. Then he carried out a plan which he had for long conceived of retiring to Siberia and living there under an assumed name. Schilder, the historian, professes to have satisfied himself that at all events the remains in the Cathedral of Peter and Paul are those of the courier. Schilder asserts that he learned this much from the children of Markof.

According to the legend, Alexander I. of Russia died in Siberia in 1864, but history records that he died at Taganrog in 1825. It seems that in 1825 a mysterious stranger appeared in Siberia. He gave his name as Fedor Kosmich and never revealed any other or the place whence he came. He lived the life of a hermit and was received generally with respect. In 1856 he accepted the invitation of a rich merchant to take up his abode in his house at Tomsk. There he was very retired and held communication only with Mlle. Kromof and the merchant, her father. Every one who saw him was struck with his extraordinary resemblance to the defunct czar. The Grand Duke Nicholas Michailovitch contributed an article in the Revue Historique in which he denied the sensational part of the story, but admitted that the hermit of Siberia might have been a natural brother of Alexander I.—London Globe.

ESKIMO FAMILY LIFE.

A Glimpse of the Home When White Guests Are Present.

The usual sights on entering an Eskimo habitation are: On the way opposite you a steamer-like berth covered with skins—the sleeping quarters of the family; underneath, or in front, sit one or two women, busily sewing; to the right, a man making hunting gear. Never will you find an Eskimo family idle. All occupants are naked to the waist, sometimes only covered with a loin cloth. Along the wall on either side burn several lamps. These lamps are shallow soapstone basins filled with the oil of the seal, whale or walrus; along the edge is placed a little ridge of moss, which answers the purpose of the wick in our lamps. The lamps do not smoke, and, besides illuminating, throw a great heat. Above the flame hangs a piece of blubber, to replenish the oil, also a teakettle.

You are cordially invited to take off your things and stay awhile. This means disrobing to the same extent, for the air is foul and the temperature that of a Turkish bath. If you come during meal time, which is at any hour of the day, you are cordially invited to partake; you decline and no offense is given. If the meal consists of frozen fish, blubber or something they know the white man abhors, some joker will especially entreat you to join his dish and then there is a great laugh all around. The Eskimo loves to laugh, play practical jokes on his friends, respond in witticism, and is of a happy, childlike disposition. Treachery, stealing and lying are practically unknown among them, the two latter only since some of them have imitated the white man. I am not including the Siberian, Greenland or Labrador Eskimo.—Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt in Pacific Monthly.

ILLICIT DIAMOND BUYING.

Dodges the Traders Worked in Kimberley's Early Days.

There are as many stories of I. D. B. —i. e., illicit diamond buying—in South Africa as there were of smuggling in England a century ago. Louis Cohen tells of some of the dodges in his "Reminiscences" of Kimberley's early days. "Dogs were enlisted in the traffic and used as carriers. Often the poor animals were first kept without food until they were on the verge of starvation and then given lumps of meat containing diamonds, which they bolted. Safely arrived at Christiania, across the Vaal river, the faithful dumb friends of man were immediately rewarded for their services by having their stomachs ripped up and the imbedded baubles taken out. Horses, too, were utilized, being fed with balls of meat containing diamonds and driven across the river under the very noses of the police. Carrier pigeons were requisitioned to 'fly through the air with the greatest of ease' laden with the brigands' booty. Hollowed heels inclosing diamonds sealed down with wax were also expedients employed with decided and profitable success."

One lady had an ingenious way of getting out of a scrape. She was cooking dinner when a Cape boy knocked at the door and sold a forty carat diamond to her husband. "It was a trap. A detective immediately rushed in to arrest the buyer, searched the house, but no diamond could be found. The good wife had placed it in the stuffing of a goose she was basting."

Iceland.

Iceland is perhaps the only country in the world with a strongly developed literary history which remains in the same unchanged state of nature today as it did 1,000 years ago, when the characters of the great sagas roamed the rocky slopes of the picturesque island or when Leif Ericsson and his hardy oarsmen sailed the seas, even to America, several centuries before Columbus was born. Professor W. H. Schofield of Harvard university will head an expedition to Iceland this year and hopes to find much of interest connected with the ancient myths and legends.

Stewed Apples.

To stew apples so each quarter is unbroken and so clear one can almost see through it is an art, and yet it is a simple thing to do if one only knows how. Peel tart apples very thin, cut them in quarters and remove the cores and seeds. As fast as you can peel and quarter them drop the apples in a saucepan in which you have already placed cold water to the depth of two inches. When the apples are all in, put the saucepan over a slow fire, cover it till the water reaches the boiling point, then remove the cover and let the apples simmer almost imperceptibly till you can pierce them easily with a broom splint; then sprinkle the sugar over them and let them just simmer until it is all melted. Remove the saucepan from the fire and let it stand where the apples will get cold before turning them into a dish for the table.

Egyptian Smokers and Madness.

An Egyptian smoker of hasheesh is even a more helpless slave than the Chinese opium fiend. He knows that in the end he will become a madman, yet he rushes toward the awful goal with unrelaxed speed. With the strange exaltation which first comes to the smoker he feels himself floating from cloud to cloud or alighting in the gardens of palaces all his own. Most of the hasheesh which Egypt consumes comes from Greece. From the husks of the hemp seeds and the tender hops of the hemp plant the Greeks manufacture a greenish powder whose fumes bring the ecstasy its victims desire.

Divides the Waters.

Situated exactly at the highest point of the divide of the Rocky mountains, on the Crow's Nest division of the Canadian Pacific railway, in British Columbia, is a hotel. When it rains in the mountains the water which falls on the eastern slope of the hotel roof trickles away to join a tiny rivulet, which in due time mingles its waters with the Atlantic. The water falling just beyond the ridgepole, on the other side of the roof, flows westerly and ultimately into the Pacific.

"Wolf Moneth."

January, the month with the Latin name, had a grimmer name in Saxon England. Richard Verstegan in his "Restitution of Decayed Intelligence In Antiquities," a curious book published in 1673, writes: "The month which we now call 'January' our Saxon ancestors called 'wolf monat' —to wit, 'wolf moneth'—because people are wont always in that month to be in more danger to be devoured of wolves than in any season else of the year, for that, through the extremity of cold and snow, those ravenous creatures could not find other beasts sufficient to feed upon."—London Chronicle.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—
Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.
Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.
Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue
His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.
Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.
Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

If Japan should take the Philippines, Uncle Sam could afford to sit back and smile at the punishment she inflicted on herself.

◆

Sir Wilfrid Laurier declares that Canada is facing a grave crisis, but the country manifests its indifference by requesting him to tell it to the marines.

◆

A barrel of whiskey and two thousand glasses of beer were consumed at a wedding reception at Allamuchy, Pa. It strikes us that Allamuchy is the proper place for a reception like that.

◆

We are informed that the bustle is to be restored to feminine fashions. This is cheering. We can hope to again see the Grecian bend, the hoops, and other things that belonged to "those dear old days."

◆

A movement is on foot in New York to require women to take their hats off in Church. If it succeeds the churches will be empty. Going to church for the purpose of parading her hat is a woman's strong suit.

A Toronto physician says that good health can be had only by sleeping with the mouth shut. It is well to say that there are times when by keeping it shut while you are awake will prevent one from going to the hospital.

Several decades ago there were more than forty million bootjacks in America, and today there is not one. The universal wearing of shoes relegated the bootjack to the wood pile. A few million were hurled at the midnight cat.

GOVERNMENT AIDING PRODUCERS

Washington officials have been giving attention to the success that has attended co-operation between the Dominion Government and the producers of eggs in Prince Edward Island. That little province is one of the chief sources of egg supply and the co-operative principle was introduced a year ago. Egg selling associations, fostered by the government, have multiplied in number and steadily increased in usefulness. Their success must inevitably lead to the development of similar co-operative organizations in the other provinces for the grading and distribution of all food products. In encouraging them Canada is only following at a long interval the example set by many European countries. Denmark, Belgium, Holland, and later Ireland have all had a great revival of agriculture and largely increased in material prosperity through co-operation in buying and distributing.

If Breathing is Difficult,
If Nostrils are Plugged,
You Have Catarrh

At Last a Remedy That Already Has Permanently Cured Thousands.

Perhaps you haven't heard of the new remedy—it's so pleasant to use—fills the nose, throat and lungs with a healing balsamic vapor like the air of the pine woods. It's really a wonderful remedy—utilizes that marvelous antiseptic only found in the Blue Gum tree of Australia.

The name of this grand specific is Catarrhozone, and you can't find its equal on earth for coughs, colds, catarrh or throat trouble. You see it's not longer necessary to drug the stomach—that spoils digestion—just simply inhale the balsamic essences of Catarrhozone, which are so rich in healing that they drive out every trace of Catarrh in no time.

"I look upon Catarrhozone as the most valuable medical discovery of recent years," writes R. V. Potter, of Prince Albert. "As a long sufferer from nasal and throat catarrh I was obliged to take considerable medicine, and, although it helped me, my digestion was always disturbed and the catarrh didn't go away. With Catarrhozone it was different. It cleaned my nose and throat of all phlegm and discharges, enabled me to breathe freely, relieved a stuffy feeling in my nose and frontal headaches. To-day I am entirely free from catarrh, and I use my Catarrhozone Inhaler a little every day in order to prevent the disease from returning."

With Catarrhozone experimenting ends. A permanent curative action begins. Lasting relief from Catarrh results. The large size costs $1.00, last two months and is guaranteed. Small size 50c.; sample size 25c. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

GREAT BRITAIN'S EMIGRANTS

Last year (1913) 388,813 persons previously resident in Great Britain, set sail for other lands. Of these emigrants, 178,468 were men, 140,696 were women, and 69,649 were children. The bulk of these emigrants were bound for the overseas dominions, and will remain within the Empire, but 104,150 of them went to build up foreign states. But in dealing with this emigration we must take into account the return flow of the tide, for during the same period no less than 86,758 British subjects returned to the old land to reside. Deducting these returned citizens to each case, we find that the net emigration was as follows: To Canada, 164,502; to Australia, 44,509; to New Zealand, 11,803; to other countries, 2,250; to the United States, 77,094; to other foreign countries, 1,897. It will be noted that Canada received about 55 per cent of this emigration and the United States about 26 per cent.

$100 REWARD $1.00

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A WRONG LOCATION

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am told that the City Council is to settle the question of building a new custom house and post office at Sherbrooke. Now, Mr. Burnham is the member for West Peterborough and should not try to shift the onus of settling the location for this building to the shoulders of the aldermen. This site will be so unpopular with ratepayers from all over the city that Mr. Burnham's action on this question will certainly prove a boomerang and put him out of power. What seems to me to be an absurdity is sending a man here from Ottawa to locate this building. Even though, through ignorance of local conditions, he chooses the site mentioned, and said site not be chosen, this should not make any difference. We are living in Canada, not under the oligarchy of Russia.

H. Charles

THE POST OFFICE SITE

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I saw in your paper a few days ago that the Government intends to erect the new combined post office, custom house and Trent Canal building at the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets. Surely, Mr. Editor, your report is incorrect. I cannot imagine the Government being so ill-advised as to build a post office so remote from the centre of the city and so far from Ashburnham. Of course the site mentioned might do for the Customs and Inland Revenue purposes. It would, however, be almost an act of insanity to expect merchants, who visit the post office several times a day to tramp away down to Sherbrooke street.

MAIL POUCHES.

They Cost From a Few Cents to Thousands of Dollars Each.

Uncle Sam has twenty-eight different kinds of mail bags in service, and they range in cost from 22 cents to $2.156 each. There are mail pouches for almost every conceivable use, and you can ship almost anything that comes within the postal regulations with a minimum of loss and breakage, says Harper's Weekly. Probably the most peculiar mail bag is the one arranged for carrying bees. Sending bees by mail was a difficult operation before the "bee bag" was adopted. Usually the bees arrived at their destination dead or so exhausted that they were of little use. Now these little honey makers can be shipped by mail several thousand miles in the "bee bag" without suffering and can obtain air and a good supply of food during their transit.

Mail bags are made of various materials. The cheapest are of cotton and the most costly of leather. Those used on fast expresses are re-enforced with metal so that they can be flung from fast moving trains without damage. Even then these bags, or "catcher pouches," do not last much more than a year and a half, while some of the cotton bags used for the work will remain in service upward of ten years.

In parts of the west, where the mail must be carried for many miles on horseback, special pouches are in use for slinging over the animal's flanks. In the far frozen north special bags are made for sled transportation, and in the cities a bag in use for pneumatic tube service is made of a composition called "leatheroid." The ordinary cotton mail bags are woven so closely that they are practically waterproof, and in the weave there are thirteen stripes of blue. Each country marks its own mail pouches in some individual way, so that if one gets lost in a far country its ownership can be readily detected.

Nearly 65,000,000 mail bags are used each year by the whole country, and as they are being worn out all the time the supply has to be kept up. There are mail bag hospitals, where tens of thousands of them go every week. One such mail bag hospital repairs upward of 5,000 a day. These crippled bags are in all sorts of dilapidated conditions. A railroad wreck may injure several hundreds or thousands, and these must all go to the hospital before entering active life again. Christmas is responsible for much damage to the mail bags, owing to the hard service they get, and immediately after the midwinter holiday season several hundred thousand bags go to the hospitals.

Mail bags are the most traveled of all articles in use today. They are constantly moving, and it would be impossible to estimate the number of miles a bag ten years old has traveled.

Up to Henry.

"You talked in your sleep last night, Henry."

"Did I, my dear? Wh-what did I say?"

"Henry, you are leading a double life!"

"No, dear; don't—don't say that. I think I must have been having a bad dream if I said anything that seemed to indicate"—

"A bad dream! I should think you were having a bad dream. You kept yelling 'Robber!' 'Rotten!' 'Kill him!' 'Run it out, you lobster!' and a lot of other things that were just as absurd. I want you to confess now—fully and freely—and I promise you that if it is anything a good woman should forgive I will forgive you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Made Napoleon Wait.

On the day when the courier brought news of the signature of the peace of Amiens, Talleyrand thrust the impatiently awaited document in his pocket, went to the emperor and engaged him in current affairs. When these were all disposed of he said: "Now I have good news for you. Read!"

"And you could not tell me this immediately?" exclaimed the astonished Napoleon.

"Certainly not, for then you would listen to nothing else."

THE ELECTROSCOPE.

Instrument by Which the Presence of Electricity Is Detected.

The electroscope is an instrument for the detection of electricity. It depends for its action on the principle that bodies charged with like electricity repel, while those charged with unlike electricity attract each other. The ordinary pith ball suspended on a silk thread is the simplest form of the instrument.

The most common type of electroscope is that devised by Bennett in 1787 and known as the gold leaf electroscope. It consists of two strips of gold leaf or thin aluminium foil suspended from the lower extremity of a conductor within a glass bottle or jar. The upper end of the conductor terminates in a ball or a plate in case the instrument is to be used as a condensing electroscope. If a body charged with positive electricity is brought near the knob of the electroscope the negative electricity will be attracted to the knob and the positive repelled to the leaves, which diverge. If now the finger is touched to the knob the positive electricity is drawn off and the leaves collapse, while the negative electricity is held bound. Removing the charged body, the leaves will diverge again, charged with negative electricity. In this case the instrument can be used to determine the nature of a charge of a body brought near it, as with a positive charge the leaves will collapse and with a negative charge spread farther apart.—Exchange.

Not Surprised.

"Funny thing about Bolivar," said Wiggins.

"What's that?" asked Bjones."

"Why, they operated on him for appendicitis the other day, and, by ginger, when they came to look there wasn't anything there," said Wiggins.

"Well, I'm not surprised," said Bjones; "I never could see anything in Bolivar myself."—Harper's Weekly.

Modern Childhood.

Grandmother—And now would you like me to tell you a story, dears?

Advanced Child—Oh, no, granny; not a story, please! They're so stodgy and unconvincing and as out of date as tunes in music. We should much prefer an impressionist word picture or a subtle character sketch.—London Punch.

Funny, but Not Humorous.

"Who says there are no women humorists?"

"I don't know. Why?"

"My typewriter spells as funny as Artemus Ward in his palmiest days."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

History Made Palatable.

Joseph Salvador the French historian, and Jules Sandeau, a novelist, made their meeting at a public reception the occasion for a dispute as to the respective places which they occupied in the world of letters.

"The reading of history is like a pill—it needs the sugar coating to make it palatable," argued the novelist.

"Ah, but it is the ingredient which cures, not the coating," remarked the historian.

"Then let us divide honors," said Sandeau, "for if it were not for my sugar coating your historical facts would dry on the shelves."

Tolstoy's Intensity.

Everything in Tolstoy's character, says a Russian writer, attains titanic proportions. "As a drinker he absorbed fantastic quantities of liquor. As a gambler he terrified his partners by the boldness of his play. As a soldier he advanced gayly to bastion four, the bastion of death at Sevastopol, and there he made dying men laugh at his witty sayings. He surpassed every one by his prodigious activity in sport as well as in literature."

Agriculture.

No other human occupation opens so wide a field for the profitable and agreeable combination of labor with cultivated thought as agriculture. Ere long the most valuable of all arts will be the art of deriving a comfortable subsistence from the smallest area of land.—Abraham Lincoln.

A Strike.

"Why don't you go to the dance tonight, Harold? Haven't you any dame?"

"Yes, dad," said the Harvard student, "a flame, but no fuel."—Life.

A grateful dog is better than an ungrateful man.—Saadi.

FOOD AND DIGESTION.

Civilized Man Needs Cheerful Surroundings at His Meals.

Robust people so long as they get what suits their own uncultivated taste are apt to make very light of what they call "fancies" about food and overlook their real importance. Feeding on the part of civilized man is not the simple procedure which it is with animals, although many animals are particular as to their food and what is called "dainty." The necessity for civilized man of cheerful company at his meal and for the absence of mental anxiety is universally recognized, as well as the importance of an inviting appeal to the appetite through the sense of smell and of sight, while the injurious effect of the reverse conditions, which may lead to nausea and even vomiting, is admitted.

Even the ceremonial features of the dinner table, the change of clothes, the leisurely yet precise succession of approved and expected dishes, accompanied by pleasant talk and light hearted companionship, are shown by strict scientific examination to be important aids in the healthy digestion of food, which need not be large in quantity because wisely presented.—Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

The Use of Esquire.

The recovery of a letter which had been sent to a little town in Germany and never delivered to the person addressed cured the writer of the custom of adding "esquire" to a name on the superscription of mail matter. The letter in question would probably have been promptly delivered had the address read simply "Mr. John Brown." But the sender had addressed it "John Brown Esquire," and the communication rested comfortably in the "E" compartment of the poste restante department, waiting to be called for by "Mr. Esquire." One of the popular guide books warns against the use of "Esq.," saying that it might be mistaken for a name.

Real Leghorns.

Little Willie was taken out into the country on a bright spring day. As he played with his sister in the farmyard a group of Leghorn chickens approached, led by a Leghorn rooster.

"Willie," said the little girl, "why are those chickens called Leghorns?"

"Look at their ankles," Willie replied. "Don't you see the little horns on them?"

Very Much Alike.

The late Frank Work once defined humorously the difference between a curbstone broker and a legitimate broker with a seat on the stock exchange.

"It is much the same difference," he said, "as the one between an alligator and a crocodile."—Buffalo Express.

Hints on Beauty Culture

Rest and Breathe Right To Add to Your Weight

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna, Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company

MAGGIE TEYTE

PERHAPS it is because the too thin woman has recently been designated as "an animated knitting needle" and "a human lead pencil" that I am in receipt of several sincere pleas for rules to increase flesh. If for no other reason than that of novelty and a change from the constant plea for "something to reduce weight," these requests are interesting.

Personally, I have never seen the beauty of the human skeleton. I cannot even see where she is picturesque, or where she fits into the picture. Unless she is very young and gives the idea of being undeveloped, she has always aroused a feeling akin to pity.

So it is with genuine pleasure that I listen when she tells me she wants to gain flesh. If there is nothing organic the matter with her system there is no reason why the woman who leads a normal life should be either too thin or too fat. Nor do I think it is altogether a question of diet. It seems often to be largely a matter of assimilation of the food.

Repose Needed First

About that subject you must consult a wiser mind than mine. There is where the family physician has a work to perform. I have tried to make it emphatic I know nothing about medicines, nor have I ever pretended to any such knowledge. All I can tell you is how to use common sense in the effort to be well and look well.

Excessively nervous persons are more apt to be thin than are their sisters who take life easily. This is not an infallible rule, however, for only the other day I met a woman who was too stout, and she told me a very noted doctor had said it was because she was so nervous. The longer I live the fewer infallible rules I meet.

As a general thing, though, the first thing for the too thin woman to gain is a sense of repose of mind and body. She wants to learn to take things easily, not try to carry the weight of a nation on her mind, and not try to cover all the adjacent territory in record time.

Rest whenever you can. Rest means to relax. Let go all your worries. Give your body and mind a chance to recuperate. Don't keep on edge every minute.

Sleep and eat. It seems to me that in most cases those are excellent rules for the woman who is interested in gaining flesh.

As I say to the too fat woman, limit your sleeping hours to seven or at the most eight, and shun the midday nap, so I say to the too thin one, sleep eight or nine or ten hours, and take a nap whenever it is possible. And think well of your eating. Eat plenty and often and the most nourishing of foods. Eggs and milk and butter and pure salad oil; starches in moderation, and rice and potatoes and sweets all come in the list of flesh forming foods. After a meal don't jump up and be on the warpath right away. Take a rest. Take a nap if you have the time.

Deep Breathing Important

In the mean time adopt a system of up-building exercises and follow them. Deep breathing is most important. Fill your lungs and square your shoulders and expand your chest. But the exercises, while they are to be taken regularly, should never be carried to the point of exhaustion.

It is wise for the thin one to try to cultivate an attitude which somewhat approaches laziness in regard to trifles which do not immediately concern her. Really, when you come to think of it, there is nothing particularly meritorious in trying to worry out all the problems of all the world. It only lessens your efficiency for the work which you are rightfully called on to do, and it leads sooner or later to a nervous breakdown. And I find, as I go through the world, the person who has a nervous breakdown which she might quite easily have avoided does not get the same kind of sympathy which was once accorded her.

Tea and coffee are both denied the thin person by the best dietitians. In their stead, milk or cocoa or chocolate is advised. A glass of hot milk slowly sipped just before retiring is splendid. Also it induces sleep. And it is as important for the woman bent on gaining flesh to have plenty of fresh air in her sleeping room as it is for every other person.

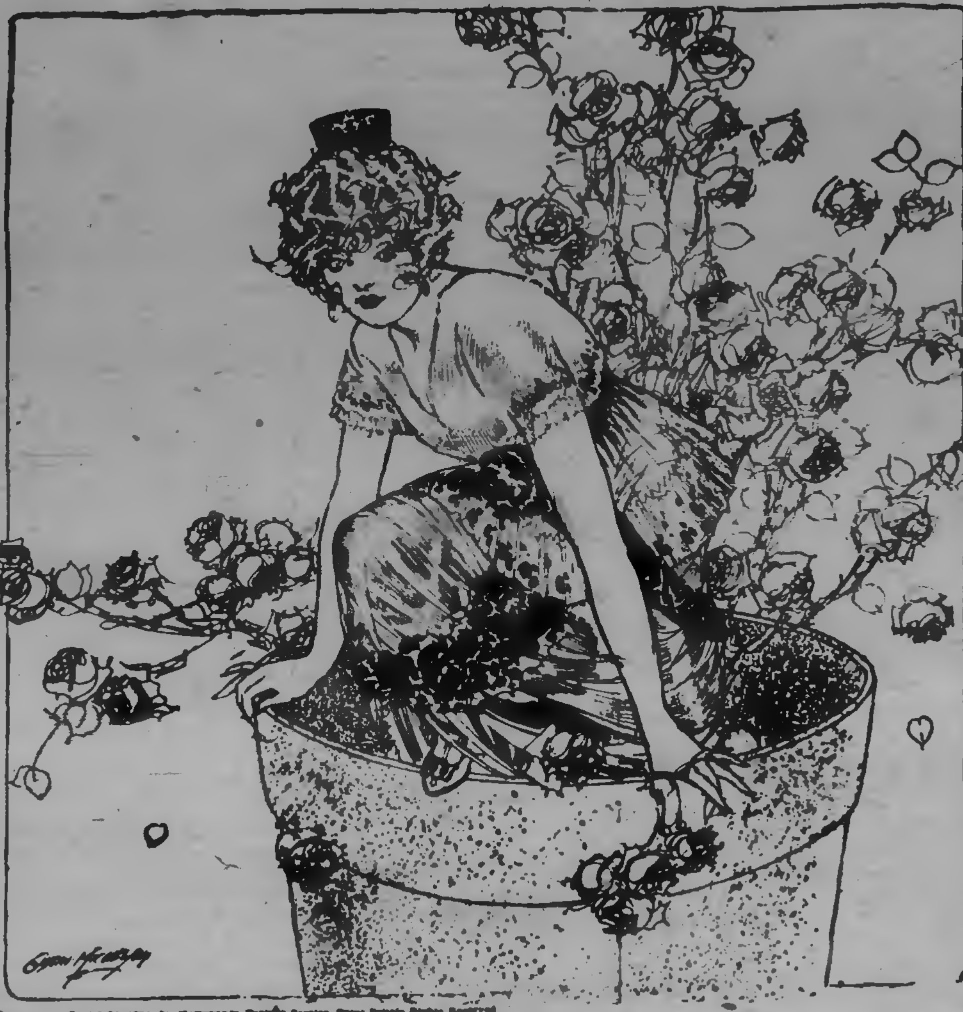
Nibble Is Permitted

Fresh air when we sleep is a need in which we all share, and there is never the night so cold we can afford to have the windows of our bedrooms tightly closed. We may limit the amount of cold air we allow entrance, but we must not exclude it and expect to escape colds or to capture beauty.

The thin woman may have the between meal nibble which is denied her plump sister. A glass of rich milk into which an egg is beaten will give her the nourishment she needs. The cold bath should be omitted from her training system, and in its stead the hot night tub and the lukewarm sponge in the morning will be more beneficial.

As for the standard of weight, I think I have made mention of this before, but I repeat. From two and a quarter to two and a half pounds for each inch of height is the best way to reckon. Below two and above two and a half should set a person to work in earnest to strike the right balance.

THE DEBUTANTE :: :: By Michelson



Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service Great Britain Rights Reserved

JUST like a flower that seems suddenly to be full blown. Maybe you didn't notice it very much when it was a mite of a flower, pale and slight, maybe, and a bit ungainly in its lankness.

Then all at once, when you're not exactly looking, something happens. The fairy wand of the seasons has touched again the opalescent petals, and something in the air or the sunlight, or something hidden all the time in the flower pot of life, throws a flush of rose and gold and amethyst into the lovely outlines and the flower is COMPLETE.

When the new flower blooms to maturity in the social garden we call it a "debutante."

Funny word, debutante. In the French where it came from it means "the first player in the game." Her FIRST PLAY, then. Wish her luck in the greatest game of all.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Imperfect Feet Common Among Booted Peoples

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

DR. HIRSHBERG.

WHEN the strangers visited Abraham, he extended to them the most conspicuous mark of ancient hospitality. He removed their sandals, washed their feet, anointed the toes and invited the visitors into his tent.

This is pronounced proof that the hygienic laws of Moses were known thousands of years before his day. Perhaps much of the knowledge which modern bacteriology has rediscovered was known hundreds of thousands of years ago, only to be lost and refound as may be again and again.

Shoes, sandals and foot covers have always been intimately associated with health, vigor, perfection of [illegible] and muscular development. Pigeon-toes, flat foot, [illegible] bunions, perspiration and callous flesh are all physical ailments and deformities which have to do with the feet.

So many troubles are connected with the fashion of enclosing the feet in boots that the people once believed the devil lived in shoes.

Sir John Shorne was noted for curing malaria and the gout by conjuring Mephisto into a boot:

> To master John Shorne,
> Most blessed man born,
> For the ague to him we apply.
> He juggleth a boot
> The disease to uproot,
> Old Nick his ownself, he'll defy

Usually, nowadays, with strange shoe lasts, tight shoes and the ill-ventilated, closely woven leather which is the fashion of the times, it is not a matter of wrong feet or odd shoes.

Sick feet and bony defects, awkwardness and other pedal troubles come despite the greatest care. Leather shoes are, in short, responsible for imperfect feet. There are today absolutely no perfect feet among leather-shod, civilized nations.

Skinny and his bare-footed friends; infants and their unshod, be-socked feet, bare-footed Ethiops, as well as wild tribal Africans, Tartars and Indians may find among their numbers a certain percentage of sound feet.

Among the jaunty, recherche, modish millions of the dressed-up world there are 100 per cent. of bad feet. All due to shoes.

You all know where the shoe pinches, because each person knows—and exaggerates—his own troubles.

Perhaps you have read Sheridan's "Trip to Scarborough"? Here is a dialogue which explains why plumbers, painters, carpenters and shoemakers seldom mend their ways or learn new ways of doing old things and other ways of doing new things:

Lord Foppington: Mark thee, shoemaker, these shoes don't fit me.

Shoemaker: My lord, I think they fit you very well.

Lord Foppington—They hurt me just below the instep.

Shoemaker—No, my lord, they don't hurt you there.

Lord Foppington—I tell you they pinch me execrably.

Shoemaker: Why, my lord——

Lord Foppington—What. Wilt thou persuade me I cannot feel?

Shoemaker—Your lordship may please to feel what you think fit, but that shoe does not hurt you. I think I understand my trade.

Folklore Signs and Omens

By Elizabeth Hayward

SUPERSTITION seems to be interwoven with all that appertains to human life. Even such matter of fact necessities as most articles of dress have scores of odd and whimsical fancies attached. A notion that still retains its hold on the popular mind is voiced in the couplet:

> At Easter let your clothes be new
> Or else be sure you will it rue.

Of course there are few persons today who hold to the old superstition, but at that one finds that not many of her acquaintances will imperil their good luck for the next twelvemonth by letting Easter pass without donning some new article of dress.

If you have your clothes mended on your back you will be ill-spoken of or "come to want" are two readings of an old saying. If an article of dress is put on wrong side out it is an omen of success or good luck. The luck is reversed, however, if the article is changed before the regular time comes for taking it off. An unexplainable fact is that if the garment is put on "hind side before," instead of "inside out," the omen is reversed and betokens ill-luck.

In Chambers's "Book of Days" we are told that William the Conqueror, in arming himself for the battle of Hastings, happened to don his shirt of mail with the hind-side in front; when his followers expressed alarm at the unlucky omen, he quieted their fears by claiming that the sign was a good one, inasmuch as it meant that he was to be changed from a duke to a king.

Should a married woman's apron fall off while she is at her duties it is a sign that something is coming to vex her. If it is the apron of an unmarried woman, she is thinking of her sweetheart. In putting on one's stockings in the morning, if the left foot be clothed before the right, it presages misfortune.

A curious old superstition gives this method for a maiden to get a glimpse of her future husband. If she finds herself sleeping in a different county than that in which she resides she must, upon going to bed, take care to wind the left garter about the right stocking, repeating these words:

> This knot I knit
> To know the things I know not yet;
> That I may see
> The man that shall my husband be;
> How he goes and what he wears,
> And what he does all his days and years.

As soon as sleep comes she will dream and the wished-for one is expected to appear in her dreams, showing by his dress, or something he carries, his trade or calling.

Throwing an old shoe after one for luck is not only a very old custom, but must have been a popular one. Beaumont and Fletcher, in "The Honest Man's Fortune," use these lines:

> Captain, your shoes are old; pray put them off,
> And let one fling of 'em after us.

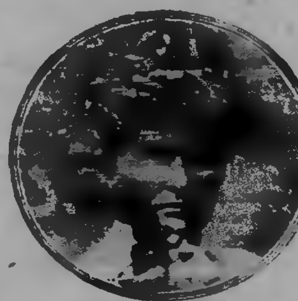
An old Jewish custom called for the putting on of the right shoe and the right stocking first, without tieing, then the left stocking and shoe were donned and tied, after which the right shoe was tied, thus beginning and ending with the right, which augured a successful day. An old doggerel upon the wearing of the shoe runs as follows:

> Tip at the toe; live to see woe;
> Wear at the side; live to be a bride;
> Wear at a ball; live to spend all;
> Wear at the heel; live to save a deal.

A Question of Temperament

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service



Winifred Black

A GREAT French writer has announced that he is going to get a divorce and marry the widow of one of his best friends.

The friend was a great writer, too. How pleasant it will be for the widow and the great author to sit by the fire of evenings and talk about the dead man and think how pleased he would be if he knew—everything.

The man who is getting the divorce has a very sweet wife of his own at home. But of late she has not been well.

She was, they say, a gay, light-hearted little thing when she married the great writer. That's why he fell in love with her. She was so pretty and light-hearted and she always found it so easy to laugh.

Of late she has not laughed easily at all—and those who love her even yet cannot make themselves believe that she is still beautiful, try as they may.

Her eyes do not sparkle any longer; she has grown thin, and the worst of it all is she is a little, just a little, deaf.

That makes her very sensitive and she does not care to go out as much as she did, so she occupies herself with her flowers and her books—and her memories.

Memories of the days when she was young and pretty and light hearted—and when she laughed very easily.

Of course, her husband cannot be bored with her any longer.

Who could expect him to spend the rest of his life with such a faded wreck of the woman he married?

To be sure, some of her friends think that the husband has had a good deal to do with the loss of her beauty. It is hard to stay pretty when one's heart is very sad.

And the distinguished author has not always made his wife deliriously happy.

How could he, and live his own life—his life full of dinners and little breakfasts and pretty excursions into the world of romance with pretty companions who petted him and made much of him and who did not let him remember too often that he had a wife at home—alone.

To be sure, the great writer himself is no longer young.

He is quite fat, they say, and very bald, and he dyes his little military moustache, and they do say he suffers terribly with his feet since he fell seriously in love with the widow of his dead friend.

The dead friend had very small feet, and the widow, they say, sometimes speaks of them. It is hard to live up to such a reputation. But the great writer is doing his best.

The woman he is going to marry when he divorces his faded wife is rather young and very poetic. I wonder if she loves the great author as dearly as the woman he married first loves him.

I wonder if she will be as patient with his follies and his little faults.

She has given him up voluntarily, the first wife, because she knows that he is dead in love with the other woman.

She is clever after all—if she is not as pretty as she used to be. Unless the great author is very different from the average man, it will be about a year from the day that he is married for the second time when he will begin to keep his desk locked so that his second wife will not be able to find in it the sentimental poems he is writing—to "One Who Loved Me Well"—the woman he is leaving so heartlessly now.

They say revenge is sweet. Cheer up, deserted wife. A sweet hour is on its way to you.

Witticisms of Little Ones

Jimmy—I'd like to be a doctor when I grow up.

Tommy—What for?

Jimmy—So's when fellers' mothers brought 'em to me I could say to keep 'em home from school a week or two.

A Sunday school superintendent at the close of an address on the creation, which he was sure he had kept within the comprehension of the least intelligent of the scholars, smilingly invited questions.

A tiny boy, with a white, eager face and large brow, at once held up his hand. "Please, sir, why was Adam never a baby?"

The superintendent coughed, in some doubt as to what answer to give, but a little girl of 9, the eldest of several brothers and sisters, came promptly to his aid.

"Please, sir," she said, smartly, "there was nobody to nuss him!"

A little 4-year-old was taken on a visit to grandmamma in the country. There, for the first time, he had a near view of a cow. He would stand and look on while the man milked, and asked all manner of questions. In this way he learned that the long, crooked branches on the cow's head were called horns. Now the little fellow knew of only one kind of horn, and a few days after obtaining this information, hearing a strange kind of bellowing noise in the yard, he ran out to ascertain its cause. In a few minutes he returned, with wonder and delight depicted on his countenance, exclaiming:

"Mamma, mamma! Oh, do come out here! The cow's blowing her horns!"

"Are you married?" asked an inquisitive 5-year-old of a visitor.

"Yes," was the reply. "Are you?"

"No, but I've been vaccinated."

Queer Creatures on Land and Sea

◆ "The Flying Ape" ◆

By Anita von Hartmann

ALTHOUGH there are many strange kinds of monkeys, there is only one which walks upright all the time like a man and which flies through the air like a bird. It is the gibbon, a small, hairy ape, only three feet high, with long, muscular arms that he waves on high to balance himself as he walks.

With the help of these powerful arms, Master Gibbon leaps from tree to tree with a swift, unbroken motion. He looks like a huge bird flying through the forest. It almost seems as if Master Gibbon had a body made of elastic, he swings along with so little sign of effort.

Some of Master Gibbon's leaps measure as much as 40 feet. Sometimes, as his hands clasp a bough, he will pivot right around and be off again in another direction, quick as eye can follow.

This story is told of a flying ape. Master Gibbon crouched in the fork of a tree. Suddenly he saw a bird rise in the air. With a spring Master Flying Ape swung out of his tree, clutched the bird in one hand and went sailing on without stopping, and caught with his other hand the bough at which he had aimed!

Doubtless the poor little bird proved a dainty tit-bit for Master Gibbon's dinner.

Points on Palmistry

With long fingers will be found a love of detail even to frivolousness.

Fingers that are too square show a fanatical love of order and a servile submission to conventionality.

The dignified, respectful person who is easily embarrassed has long fingers.

The whole instinct of the person whose fingers terminate in a cone is artistic. He loves beauty for beauty's sake.

A small fleshy ball or knob on the face of the outer phalanx of the fingers denotes tact and taste.

Small-handed people naturally write with large characters, and people with large hands with small characters.

Complete absence of hair on the hands betokens effeminacy and cowardice.

A hairy hand on a woman always denotes cruelty.

If the back of the hand is very hairy it betokens inconstancy.

If your fingers are broad and flat at the ends, resembling a chemist's spatula, you will have a desire for movement and manual exercise, a love for what is useful, and a taste for war, travel, agriculture and commerce.

If your fingers are square at the ends your prevailing characteristics will be a love for symmetry and a taste for politics, philosophy, logic and the languages, and you will incline to discovery rather than imagination.

Hairy hands show a love of luxury.

Short fingers prefer generalities to details.

An exaggerated pointedness of the fingers shows an impossible and fanatical romanticism resulting in imprudence.

Any excess in the formation of the hand whereby one part is too large or too small is bad, showing disorder.

Among musicians, the most thorough in theory have square fingers, while the most brilliant and skilful instrumentalist has spatulate fingers. The shape of these fingers is not, as many people imagine, the result of practice, but is due to the temperament that makes the practice a pleasure.

Dead and Alive

"He is a regular dead beat."

"Yes. And he is always alive to every chance to swindle his friends."

Turned Both Ways

"Yes, he is still waiting for something to turn up."

"Has it ever happened?"

"No, he is always turned down."

Not Reciprocated

"He brags on his ancestors a great deal."

"Well, they would not brag on him."

Rather Selfish

"She loves and she is loved."

"Lucky girl."

"Well, hardly. You see the person she loves and who loves her is herself."

Yes, Indeed.

"I have taken a wife, old man."

"Whose?"

The Physical Aspects.

"He gave me a cigar in one sense."

"In one sense? What do you mean by that?"

"The sense of sight. The senses of taste and smell rejected the idea."

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

MRS. SQUIRREL was seated on the limb of a tree cracking a nut when she spied Mrs. Rabbit. "How do you do?" asked Mrs. Squirrel, "and how is Brer Rabbit?"

"He is very well," replied her visitor. "I played a good joke on him the other day."

"Tell me about it," said Mrs. Squirrel.

"Well," began Mrs. Rabbit. "When you want to make Mr. Squirrel tell you a secret all you have to do is to wait until he is asleep. Then you put his hand in water and he will answer everything you ask him."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Mrs. Squirrel. "Is that what you did to Brer Rabbit?"

"Indeed it is," began Mrs. Rabbit. "He didn't tell me all I wanted to know about his getting drowned——"

"You mean the time he got wet?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Rabbit. "Well, I waited until he was fast asleep and then I put his hand in a bowl of water and he told me all about it."

"What did he say?" asked Mrs. Squirrel.

"He said—I'm not going to tell what my husband said," replied Mrs. Rabbit.

"Very well," said Mrs. Squirrel, as she skipped away to look for Mr. Squirrel.

When she found her husband Mrs. Squirrel told him of what Mrs. Rabbit had said and he hopped right down from the tree to ask Brer Rabbit about it.

He found him in a fence corner eating a cabbage leaf, and when Mr. Squirrel told him about what Mrs. Rabbit had said Brer Rabbit replied:

"Ha! ha! I was awake all the time. That's a joke on my wife!"

The Best Kiteflier in Town.

Some years ago there died in Nebraska a man named Walsh, who, as a boy, started a suspension bridge. When Walsh was about ten years old the first steps for the construction of the suspension bridge at Niagara were taken. The first thing necessary was the stretching of a single wire across the chasm. The engineer in charge had thought of a way to get it across.

"What boy is the best kiteflier in town?" he asked.

The Walsh boy was named as the best kiteflier in the town of Niagara Falls, and the engineer accordingly asked that he be brought to him. He was made to understand that he must fly his kite across the Niagara river. He flew it across and allowed it to come down on the other side. Men were there to seize it. Then the engineer attached a wire to the string on his side, and the men on the other side detached the kite and by means of the string drew the wire across. By this, in turn, a cable was drawn across, and the bridge was well begun.—Harper's Weekly.

Antiquated Customs.

There is no court in Europe more tenacious of its etiquette—which was inaugurated several hundreds of years ago—than that of Spain. It is said that King Ferdinand VII. once made a minister resign because he had accidentally touched his hand. One of the quaintest ceremonies is the closing of the royal palace gates at Madrid every night. Electric light has been in use in the palace for quite a long while, but nevertheless every evening at 11 o'clock the officiating gentleman in waiting appears, accompanied by several servants, who carry ancient lanterns, to demand a huge key from a higher official to lock the doors of the palace. This is all the more amusing as the huge key does not fit the modern keyholes. The key is then returned to a third official, and every night gentlemen in waiting have to patrol the corridors of the palace, though sufficient guards are about, to watch over the slumbers of their royal master.

Paul the Tyrant.

Paul I. of Russia was very deaf and also very tyrannical. One day an aid-de-camp, intending to please him, approached and cried in his ear, "I am glad to see, your majesty, that your hearing is much improved!"

"What is that you say?" growled the czar.

Raising his voice, the aid-de-camp said, "I am glad that your majesty's hearing is so much improved!"

"Ah, that's it, eh?" chuckled the czar and then added, "Say it once more."

The aid-de-camp repeated the words, whereupon Paul I. thundered: "So you dare to make fun of me, do you? Just wait awhile."

Next day the aid-de-camp was on his way to the mines of Siberia.

When one breathes out used air from the lungs through the wide open mouth the breath has the same temperature as the body, 98.6 degrees F., and frequently on a cold day we warm our fingers by breathing on them. If, however, we blow the breath vigorously from the mouth the temperature of the breath appears to be much lower than when breathed gently and with open mouth and is decidedly cooling in its effect, writes J Gordon Ogden in Popular Mechanics.

The latter fact is due to the well known principle established by Lord Kelvin, that a compressed gas upon expanding will absorb heat. The breath, compressed by being forced to pass through the small orifice made by the puckered lips, immediately expands upon being admitted to the outer air and to do so must take up heat.

This is also the identical principle involved in the manufacture of artificial ice. Ammonia gas is first compressed into a liquid and then liberated into a network of tubes surrounding large sheet iron boxes filled with distilled water. The liquid ammonia, set free at one end of the pipe system, begins at once to evaporate, and by the time it has scampered through the long iron tubes it has become gas. As we have learned, to change a liquid to a gas requires heat. This heat is taken from the iron piping, an excellent conductor, which in turn robs the water of its heat, thus freezing it.

The Mexican Mosquero.

The finest fly traps are not in it with a little Mexican spider named mosquero. Natives gather from oak trees a branch covered with this spider's nests and hang it up in the house. The spiders begin on the flies by wholesale. Mosquero nests are very tidy, pretty and old maidish. A lot of tiny beetles make their home therein with the spiders. The beetles live on fly legs, the crumbs and scraps from the mosquero's table, and pay for their bed and board by keeping the web house perfectly clean and refined, eating everything and dropping no litter in the Mexican professional gentleman's house. Mrs. Mosquero is a very quiet, orderly lady who never wanders from her own fireside or strays from her own back yard, but when a fly calls round she gets very busy with her spider knives and saws.—New York Press.

Practice That Made Perfect.

"Yes, sir," said the barber, deftly rubbing the lather into the scalp of the patron, "I was ship's barber on a transpacific steamer for five years until the ship was wrecked and I was cast away on an island in the south seas. I lived there for two years and never saw a human being, but when I was rescued I flatter myself I was a better shampooer than ever. I kept in practice all the time."

"How did you manage it?" asked the patron.

"I shampooed the cocoanuts."—Life.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the envelope "Tenders for Burned Timber on the Gibson Reserve," will be received until noon on Thursday the 19th instant for about two millions of feet of Hemlock, and 150,000 feet of Hardwood, chiefly Maple and Beech and a large quantity of rough and undersized timber on the Gibson Reserve, Township of Gibson, Ontario.

Tenderers should state the prices they are prepared to pay for this Timber per thousand feet B.M. for the Hemlock; and the price per cord for the rough and undersized Timber. No Crown dues payable on either Timber or Wood.

The Hemlock and large Hardwood is understood to be only slightly injured. The successful tenderer shall furnish satisfactory security that the whole of the burned timber will be removed before the first day of May, 1915.

An accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered Bank for $400.00, made payable to the Receiver-General, must accompany each tender, which in the event of failure to carry out the undertaking shall be forfeited to the Department.

The Timber cut shall be measured by an Ontario Licensed Culler, and Sworn Returns of the kinds and quantities must be furnished, and payment for same made before removal of the Timber from the Reserve.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted, and the unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

THE MASTER SUN.

Sirius, the Dog Star, May Be the Center of Attraction.

Astronomers once believed that the entire starry universe revolved around a center of attraction, and the star named Alcyone, in the group of the Pleiades, was selected by Maedler as marking that great center.

It has long been known, however, that Maedler's conclusion, which was based on the apparent motions of the stars, was incorrect, and if any universal center exists it has not yet been discovered. In fact, many of the stars seem to be moving in straight lines, some in one direction and some in another, and among these is our own sun. But it is possible that further observations will show that all the stars are really moving in curved lines.

In the meantime it has been found that there are certain groups or sets of stars which appear to travel together. To what set, if any, the sun belongs we do not yet know, but Delauney has presented reasons for thinking that those stars whose distances have been measured (that is to say, those which are nearest to us) group themselves around Sirius, the dog star, in a manner similar to that in which the inner planets are grouped around the sun.

If this be correct Sirius may possibly be the master sun of which our orb of day is a distant satellite.—Harper's Weekly.

Quaint Sewing Implements.

An interesting find is reported to have been made by Professor Mestorf, director of the Museum Schleswiger Alters Tumer at Kiel. In the grave of a Germanic woman dating from the pre-Christian era was found a stone box containing a set of sewing utensils, a pair of scissors of considerable weight, a horn knife with an iron blade, a stiletto and several thorns, which were used as needles. There was also a stone resembling the so called "Genideistein," which was still in use as a flatiron as late as the seventeenth century.

Taxing the Language.

Daughter—Mamma, can't I have a little money for shopping this morning? Mrs. Malaprop—No, dear; there's the taxes to pay, and I expect the taxidermist around any moment.—Boston Transcript.

The Value of Art.

MY AEROPLANE.

I would not be a butterfly;
  I envy not the bird.
The wings that lift him to the sky—
I hope to have some by and by.
  But that may be deferred.

More wings, for all the poets say,
  Would be more toil than gain.
But when the thing has "come to stay,"
When it's quite safe, I hope I may Possess an aeroplane.

The stranger beating at my door
  Whom I have cause to shun
Would not annoy me as before
I should not shiver at the bore
  Or tremble at the dun.

But lightly to my rooftree spring
  And on mine airy craft
Serenely from his presence wing,
Leaving him there to knock and ring
  Till he were dead or daft.

And then to sally far and wide,
  To see as from a cloud
The haunts of privacy or pride,
Places one wants to see inside
  Because it's not allowed;

The grounds about the ducal hall,
  The parvenu's abode,
The park, the palace, most of all
The nunnery behind the wall
  So baffling from the road—

In truth, 'twould be a dear delight
  These hidden realms to see;
But, oh, it is the secret night
When the advantages of flight
  Mostly appeal to me.

There is a certain man I hate.
  With divers plot and plan
I have schemed early and schemed late,
Seeking a just and adequate
  Revenge upon that man.

Yet one by one they came to naught.
  Some were too gentle; some
Involved the risk of being caught,
Which wouldn't do at all. I thought
  My chance would never come.

But now—some night I hope to go
  In one of these machines,
Armed with a good stout bomb, and, oh,
Rapture! With any luck I'll blow
  That man to smithereens!

—Punch.

Professor Virchow was almost as famous for his excessive bluntness of speech as for his very remarkable mental attainments. Often he spoke so unfeelingly to the students who sat under him in the lecture rooms that they have been known to leave his classes and not return. According to Berlin traditions, one of the professor's favorite replies to a wrong answer to one of his questions was:

"Certainly not. Any cook would know better than that."

On the other hand, he seemed to appreciate the spirit in some of his students which prompted them to answer him back in very much his own tone. Once when he was presiding in a very old and faded suit of clothes he turned suddenly upon a seemingly bashful man sitting near him and asked:

"Do your eyes tell you the truth? What color is this coat of mine?"

Without an instant's hesitation the young man rose and said: "I presume it was once black. Now it is any color except white."

That student was passed.

Interesting facts about waves were given by Dr. Vaughan Cornish in one of his lectures. In the north Atlantic, he said, waves had been measured, the largest of which was somewhat more than forty feet high, with a length from crest to crest of 560 feet. It was in the southern Indian ocean that waves attained their fullest development, and they had been measured there with a length of 780 feet.

In the Atlantic it had been found that waves attained a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour in a wind of about forty-four miles an hour. Speaking of the swells in the waves that run freely on the surface of the sea after the wind has ceased, Dr. Cornish said that during a storm in December, 1898, he recorded breakers near Bournemouth which moved at sixty-seven miles an hour and had a length from crest to crest of 1,900 feet. In February, 1899, he observed breakers on the same shore which had a speed in deep water of not less than seventy-eight and a half miles an hour.—London Family Herald.

When Kissing Was Costly.

The case of the people against Murline, heard by the governor of New Haven colony in council on May day, 1660, indicates the attitude toward unlicensed kissing in those times. It appeared that Jacob Murline and Sarah Tuttle had been caught kissing each other. Jacob tried to throw the blame on Sarah, saying he thought she had "with intent let fall her gloves." Sarah denied the intent. Jacob then admitted that he "tooke her by the hand and they both sat down upon a chest, but whether he kyssed her or she kyssed him he knows not, for he never thought of it since until Mr. Raymond told him that he had not layde it to heart as he ought." The stern governor, after duly lecturing the guilty parties on the enormity of their offense, decreed that "the sentence therefore concerning them is that they shall pay either of them a fine of 20 shillings to the colony."

A COAT IN DROP-SHOULDER STYLE

Tunics are becoming to nearly every figure unless it be short and unusually stout, and even then there are styles of the tunic that would be becoming, so it is deservedly popular. These tunics or overskirts are long or short, draped or pointed and often they are merely applied bands cleverly arranged to look like an overskirt. All is fair this season as long as the effect is obtained.

No. 8064 is an attractive example of the applied circular trimming band, which gives the effect of a tunic. The smartly draped sash adds to the impression. For this costume tete de negre bengaline is used with trimmings of the same colored satin.

It requires 4⅝ yards of 36 inch material to copy this gown in size 36.

The drop-shoulder is a fashion feature favored by almost every one. It gives a smart air to the simplest frock or suit and is, as a rule, becoming.

In this instance (8080) it appears on a coat. Black velveteen fashions the suit, and the collar and cuffs are of ermine.

To copy this coat (8080) in size 36 it requires 2⅝ yards of 42 inch material. The skirt (7807) requires 2⅝ yards of 36, 40 or 54 inch material, without up and down, for any size.

No. 8064—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8080—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 7807—sizes 22 to 30.
Each pattern 15 cents.

GOOD TASTE AND INDIVIDUALITY DISPLAYED IN THE NEGLIGEE

The long straight lines so much favored in gowns and suits for street wear are being repeated in the soft, clinging negligees. For those who can afford it, chiffon, crepe de Chine or China silk are the favorite materials. The cotton crepes, silk crepons and the softer wool fabrics have much of the clinging qualities of the foregoing materials and are perhaps more practical for real use, although crepe de Chine and many of the soft silks wash and wear very well.

In 8066 is shown a quaint little Empire negligee, which is also an attractive model for a nightgown. Here it is fashioned of pale pink albatross and trimmed with tiny frills of lace.

This design may be made in size 12 with 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

The drapery, the sleeve and the collar make this negligee effective. This model is developed in crepe de Chine in a delicate lavender and trimmed with allover lace.

An inexpensive and very becoming trimming for boudoir sets is marabout.

6⅛ yards of 36 inch material is required to copy this design in size 36.

No. 8066—sizes 6 to 14.
No. 8064—sizes 34 to 44.
Each pattern 15 cents.

A Church Concert.

The young people of St. Mark's church, Otonabee, purpose holding a concert in Foresters Hall, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 18. No doubt many from Peterborough will take advantage of this entertainment for a pleasant drive and a good time.

Lang Visitors Here

Messrs. H. Elmhurst, R. Hope, W. Hope, G. Keitch and S. Bowie, of Lang, who registered at the Montgomery House, left yesterday for home. They were in the city returning from the Armouries opening at Norwood

A Visitor from Regina

Lindsay Warder: Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Naylor, of Regina, passed through town yesterday on their way to Peterborough, where they will spend some time at her home. A number of friends visited the G.T.R. depot, passed the time of day with Mr. and Mrs. Naylor as they passed through.

An Engagement of Local Interest.

Toronto News: The engagement is announced of Joyce, youngest daughter of the late Judge McDougall and Mrs. McDougall, Sussex Court, to Mr. Charles Forsyth Ritchie, eldest son of Mr. Charles Ritchie, K.C., and Mrs. Ritchie. The young lady referred to is a sister of Mrs. (Dr.) Young, of this city.

Lindsay Forger to be Deported

Lindsay Warder: Mr. G. H. Hopkins, K.C., has received a letter from the Superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa that his application on behalf of the Guarantee Company to have Forbes Skeene deported, has been granted, and the order has been made. He will be deported on his release after serving his sentence

The Royal Theatre.

Manager Clayton is announcing a picture of extraordinary interest for the first two days of this week at the Royal in the Tanhauser Company's sensational picture, "The Star of Bethlehem," produced at enormous expense and after months of careful planning. The picture is one that should interest everyone.

Motor Boat Show

The third national Motor Boat show will be held Februar 25th to March 4th, in the Transportation Building, Exhibition Grounds, Toronto, under the auspices of the Canadian association of Boat Manufacturers. The show will comprise a great number of attractive exhibits of boats, engines, canoes, and motor boat accessories, including, we believe, several

A Change in Local Liveries.

Dr. Pulkinghorn has disposed of his Hunter street horse livery to Mr. Alphonse Fontaine of this city. Dr. Pulkinghorn intends retaining his automobile and taxi cab business and will devote his time to this line exclusively. Mr. Fontaine has already taken charge of the livery and is ready to do business with the public of Peterborough.

In Aid of Sailors.

The pulpit of St. Paul's church was occupied yesterday morning by Rev. Mr. Horn, who is laboring on behalf of the sailors of our great lakes. His address was forceful and showed the great need that exists for mission activity in this connection. Mrs. J. W. Renwick of the George street church, rendered the solo in a very acceptable manner.

Charley Ray's Benefit.

The benefit game for Charley Ray will be played at Brock street rink on Saturday night and the tickets are now on sale. A strong committee has the affair in hand and a substantial sum should be raised. There has already been a good demand for tickets. The general admission tickets will be sold for 25c and will not be sold in advance. The reserved seat tickets will be sold at $1.00 each, with a 50c charge for the west side of the rink.

Fire in Chandos

The dwelling house of Mr. J. Bullied Chandos, was totally consumed by fire on Wednesday, February 11th, with all the contents excepting two trunks and a few kitchen articles. The fire was well under way in the main building before it was noticed, and as the telephone was in that part of the house, it was impossible for them to call up any of their neighbours for help. It will be a severe loss to Mr. Bullied and he and his family have the sympathy of all their neighbours at this time.

A Test Case to Be Tried.

At the Spring Assizes John Kelly, of Norwood, will claim $20,000 damages and costs of action in connection with the death of his wife, who was killed in the Turnbull collapse of store a few months ago. The defendants in the case are Messrs. F. J. Might, J. E. Belcher and W. J. Johnston. Day, Ferguson and O'Sullivan of Toronto, are representing the plaintiff, while the defendants are represented by the respective firms: Messrs. Hall, Hayes and Hall, Peck, Kerr and McElderry, and O'Connell and Corkery.

Old Days Recalled

On Saturday the Times had a chat with Mr. Sam McElroy, a former Peterborough man now living on his farm near Port Hope. Mr. McElroy noted how he was, in 1873, in charge of a construction gang on the Midland Railway. A washout in the southend of the town had destroyed a bridge. Mr. McElroy hurried a car containing timbers to the spot. On the same day the late Baron Hugel, of Port Hope, president of the road arrived with a party in his private car, en route to Lindsay. He wanted temporary repairs made to enable his party to proceed. Mr. McElroy refused saying that "Although you are president of this road, such temporary repairs would, in the long run, involve a big expense. If you want to stick the road for this expense, you can put another foreman on the job." Mr. Hugle at first got angry, then smiled, and holding out his hand, replied "I am glad to find one faithful employe of the road. Come over to my car and have something." They had "something" several times.

Will of the Late Geo. A. Cox.

A Toronto despatch says that the will of the late Senator Cox, published does not deal in sensational figures, being probated at $870,071, made up of $356,872 in real estate; stocks, $305,033; life insurance $148,843, etc. It is understood that the bulk of the late Senator's estate was distributed among natural heirs some time prior to his death, including one million dollars settled upon his second wife at the time of marriage. A codicil to the will leaves $50,000 to his private secretary, George Little, $100,000 to the Toronto General Hospital and smaller bequests to other institutions. Dolly Ardagh gets a house at 149 Walmer road, Toronto, and one at 295 George street, Peterborough. The following get life interest in properties named: Mrs. Daniel Hopkins, 150 acre farm in township of Smith; Mrs. George Johnston, house No. 588 Weller street, Peterborough; Mrs. Martha Lane, house No. 678 Bethune street, Peterborough; Mrs. Ella Pearce, house No. 387 Walton street, Peterborough; Mrs. Lavina Bailey, house No. 228 Park street, Peterborough.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past twenty years when my heart wasn't aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam P.O., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. I tell you how I feel to-day and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going up stairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any well person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped me, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health. Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c, per box at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Josephine Lord.

Josephine Lord, the nine-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Lord, 223 Vaddy street, passed away suddenly on Saturday morning. In their bereavement the parents will have the sincerest sympathy of their many friends. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Maud Elizabeth Darcy.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Darcy, 353 Downie street, were shocked yesterday to learn that during the morning, their seven year old daughter, Maud Elizabeth, had died after a short attack of diphtheria. The child was a great favorite with the summer visitors at Burleigh Falls Hotel. Her bright little face will be sadly missed by the congregation of St. John's church and Sunday school. The funeral, which is private, will be held this morning from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. Canon Davidson officiating.

Arthur J. Russell.

The death occurred on Saturday night at Nicholls Hospital of Arthur James Russell, of 51 Robinson street, East City, at the age of 56 years. Deceased is survived by his wife and one daughter.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning to G.T.R. Station and thence to Gardner's Cemetery, Millbtook.

Death of Local Man's Father.

Mr. H. V. Fralick, a well known commercial traveller of Napanee, and father of Mr. Fred Fralick, 186 Edinburgh street, died very suddenly in the Union Depot, Toronto, on Thursday afternoon. The funeral will be held in Napanee.

AUDIENCES FROM THE STAGE

men and women of art, letters, and society, while the pit and galleryites warmly welcomed such theatrical favourites as they recognized coming into the stalls and boxes. The air was electric; it made for success; the author was famous; the actor-manager popular. The play began. The first act they sat out quietly, though the applause at the end sounded a little less excited than one would have expected from the extraordinary buzz before the curtain went up. And gradually, as the play proceeded act by act, the audience become quieter and more disappointed, until at the end it was obviously only their respect for author and actor-manager that prevented them showing their real feelings, and instead they filed slowly out, all enthusiasm gone. And this, too, was an interesting play, but something in it did not get hold of them.

I remember too how in our first attempt at management an audience utterly killed our hopes of getting a play of mine produced in London. The play was "Richard Lovelace" and we were doing a trial tour of it. We happened to be playing at Manchester, and my father, then on a holiday at Buxton, came over to the matinee on Wednesday. A reporter, seeing him, said, "Do you think it's good enough for London, sir?" "Good enough for anywhere," my father promptly replied, and telegraphed to a well-known London manager suggesting that he should see the play with the object of producing it at his theatre in London. Now, had this manager seen the play as he intended to do on the Saturday night at the Princess Theatre, Manchester, playing to a full house of enthusiasts, there is little doubt in any mind that "Richard Lovelace" would have made his bow at a London West End Theatre. But through an unfortunate accident, the London manager was prevented coming to Manchester on Saturday, and came instead to Hull the next week, choosing the Monday. My wife and I went down to the theatre naturally very excited, on the Monday for the particular theatre for which we by this time hoped the play was destined would have been ideal for my play, to find that not one seat had been booked for the evening performance! We therefore unwisely what is called "papered" the house for the benefit of the London manager—that is to say we gave out large quantities of free seats—so that instead of empty places the theatre would look fairly full. The London manager was in his box, the theatre was as I said, apparently full, the act drop fell on Act I. Not a hand! Oh Hull, Oh Hell! And at Manchester there had always been six calls for the first act! The fact that the London manager did not take the play I always put down to that audience.

RAILWAY CONTRACTORS HAVE COVERED THEIR OWN TRACKS

The Sensation of Ottawa Not Dying Out, But Rather the Other Way

Ottawa, Feb. 16,—The sensation of Ottawa is still the report of the Commission appointed to investigate the building of the National Transcontinental Railway. Members and politicians have now had time to analyse the report and the general feeling is that it is the most important document from a political standpoint, which has been issued for many a day The report bears out the frequent charges of the Conservatives while in Opposition that the construction of the road was being marked by wanton waste, extravagance and corruption. The report justifies their charges to the letter.

No Convictions are Possible.

Speculation is rife on two points. First, can the Government take any action against those involved in the report; and secondly, will the Grand Trunk Pacific endeavor to repudiate its agreement and refuse to take over the road. On the first point is very doubtful whether the Government can take any action. Waste, extravagance and incompetence are not legal causes for recovery, while in cases where contractors, received rake-offs, there were perfectly legal contracts—and it is doubtful if one cent of the $40,000.000 which has been squandered, can ever be recovered.

Were They Railroad Builders ?

Even outside of the rake-offs, and general extravagance, the whole construction of the road was marked by bad business methods. What else could be expected after all from a commission, not one of whom knew a solitary thing about railroad building. The chairman was Hon. S. N. Parent, a Quebec politician, who had been practically forced out of the Premiership of his province. The other commissioners were C. F. McIsaacs, a country lawyer from Antigonish county, Nova Scotia, to whom the Liberal party owd a debt; Charles Young a Manitoba politician and grain-grower, and finally G. B. Reid of London, who was a corset manufacturer. Later Mr. Reid died and he was succeeded by W. S. Calvert, M. P., who ran when he was not in politics, a country store in Middlesex county. Altogether they were a beautiful collection to build a National Transcontinental Railway.

SIR JAMES' SUCCESSOR

It is needless to write the story of Sir James Whitney. His work and the esteem of the people bear unperishable testimony to his character. It is said that he feels it necessary to retire from active life. If this be so there is no doubt that the public will vote for Hon. Adam Beck to succeed him. There may be good men but there is only one Adam Beck.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Government "Expert" Recommends the Peter Hamilton Site, Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets

Below we publish Mr. George Dawson's letter to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., in which the lot on the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets is recommended for the public buildings which it is proposed to erect in Peterborough, and Mr. Burnham's letter to the City Council. The price which it is proposed to pay for this lot is $18,000. It will be noticed that the property has a frontage of 100 feet on George street, the same on Water street, and 165 feet on Sherbrooke street. In this building it is proposed to locate the Customs House, Bonded Warehouse, Excise Offices, Trent Canal Offices (both departments) and (we presume) Inspector of Weights and Measures, as well as the Post Office. The following are the letters above referred to :

Ottawa, Feb. 12, 1914.

The Corporation of the City of Peterborough, The Mayor and Council -

Gentlemen,—Permit me to submit the following for your immediate consideration :

(1). The congested condition of the Customs House and Post Office in Peterborough necessitate some action by the Department in that respect.

(2). The Minister of Public Works concurred in this view and announced also that Public Offices should be so far as possible in public buildings, which is not the case with respect to some Departments at Peterborough.

(3). After discussing at some length the whole matter in the light of public interest and convenience with the Minister of Public Works, Customs, Inland Revenue, Railways and Canals and the Postmaster-General, I asked the Minister of Public Works to have an appropriation made which he did have made, and with a view to erecting one building for all departments as in his opinion was required.

(4). A special expert agent of the Department of Public Works was detailed to visit Peterborough for the purpose of looking into the requirements of the various services and the possible sites reported upon to the Department by the valuators appointed for that purpose.

(5). The Agent has looked into the whole situation, carefully and I enclose his report for the consideration of the Mayor and Council, because they represent the citizens and what the Council approves must therefore be considered as acceptable to the city.

(6). The report shows that the Agent considers the site to which he refers to be the only really acceptable site. This will be his report to the Minister as you see. He has taken into consideration not only the present but the future requirements of the whole city.

(7). It is most essential that the public interest in general should alone be considered and the Agent having expressed his settled conviction in the matter, I am anxious to close the matter up with your approval.

(8). It is desirable, however, that the citizens of Peterborough as a whole should be satisfied, and with that end in view I will ask you to let me know your official decision by February 21st instant, so that options may be taken up and the work provided for.

I have the honor to remain,

J. H. Burnham.

Ottawa, Feb. 12, 1914.

J. H. Burnham, Esq., M.P.,
House of Commons,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir,—I visited Peterborough on Monday, the 9th instant, and inspected several properties in different parts of the city, with a view to the selection of a suitable site for the proposed new public building for the accommodation of the Post Office, Customs, Inland Revenue, Superintendent and Engineer's of the Trent Valley Canal, and all other Dominion Government officials and employees.

In my judgment the most suitable site is that on the northeast corner of Sherbrooke and George streets, having a frontage of 100 feet on George street, a depth along Sherbrooke street of 165 feet 8 inches, to Water street and a base of 100 feet on Water street.

Considering the convenience of the large population in the south of the city and the convenience of the manufacturers and wholesale merchants as well as that of the retail merchants the site is central.

It is on the main street of the city and yet enjoys exceptional railway facilities. There is a railway siding across Water street from the site from which a spur could be run to the site when needed.

The price is $18,000, which I consider fair and reasonable for so eligible a property.

I am disposed to recommend the purchase of this site for the purpose mentioned. Please inform me, do you approve ?

Yours faithfully,
Geo. Dawson.

FISHERIES TREATY GETS O.K.

Washington at Last Condescends to Ratify Ancient Agreement.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—Hon. J. D. Hazen has received word from Washington that a bill has been introduced in the Senate providing for the immediate ratification of the Island Fisheries treaty. This action rises out of the negotiations which the representatives of the two nations have been carrying on for the past three years. Canada ratified an agreement entered into two years ago, but opposition to it was so strong in the United States Senate that the whole thing has been hanging fire ever since. Further negotiations some months ago resulted in some light modifications and the probabilities now are that a treaty will be given effect within three months.

Mr. Jesse Collings, Unionist M. P. for the Bordesley division of Birmingham, has announced his intention of retiring from parliament.

"SAFETY" LAWS

Hon. Mr. Hazen to Submit Report of London Conference.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—Hon. J. D. Hazen Minister of Marine, will table in the House this afternoon the report of the convention which was concluded a few weeks ago in London on safety of life at sea and in which thirteen countries including Canada took part. This date was fixed upon as the one when the report would be made public. The convention was an outgrowth of the Titanic disaster.

The convention decided upon substantial reforms in the construction of ocean liners. The new regulations will provide for a greater number of bulkheads and water-tight compartments to ensure ships keeping afloat. There must be sufficient lifeboats and rafts for all passengers and crew carried. Wireless equipment with a range varing according to the size of the boat and the length of its trip is called for. Every ship must carry night and day operators. To meet he new convention there will be necessary Canadian legislation this session.

PEOPLE ARE NOW AROUSED OVER THE POST OFFICE MATTER

Little Objection to Other Public Buildings Going South, But Emphatically Draw the Line at Post Office

There is no doubt that the proposed site for the new Post Office will meet with very considerable opposition. The fact that recently several thousands of dollars has been spent on alterations to the present building, is regarded by many as a sufficient cause of protest, as the money so spent will be practically lost. This, however, is a minor matter, the chief objection being that the business men of the city will be made to suffer great inconvenience and loss. They are now becoming aroused and are, we understand, circulating petitions to the Council and to the Government against the proposed change. We also understand that a public meeting is likely to be held in Ashburnham, in order to enter a protest against the proposed change.

Below will be found strongly worded opinions of leading business men of the city, which are certainly unmistakable in their language.

Mr. E. L. Payne, Druggist :—"I certainly think that it will be a great mistake to adopt the site named. It should be more central."

Mr. C. Coleman :—"It is a piece of folly to place the P.O. in such an out-of-the-way place. Present site undoubtedly the best."

Mr. J. R. Bell, Grocer :—"A more unsuitable place it would be difficult to find. Present site could not be beaten."

Mr. W. Madill, Druggist :—"I hope the public will protest most energetically to this site, as it is most unsuitable. The Post Office should be kept in proximity to its present site, if that cannot be retained."

Mr. Walter Stocker :—"I certainly think the Post Office should be kept in the centre of the city. I have no fault to find with present site."

Dr. M. A. Morrison :—"I certainly favor the site the P.O. at present occupies, to the one proposed. It is out of the way."

Mr. V. Eastwood, Manager Royal Bank, thought the proposal was one that should not be entertained for one moment by the Council.

Mr. Peter Campbell also expressed himself in the same way.

Mr. George Fitzgerald, Carriage Maker, Brock street, could hardly credit the proposal. He certainly thinks it little short of a public scandal if such a proposal goes through.

ASHBURNHAM AROUSED

Mr. Gordon Logan, Calcutt Brewing & Malting Co.:—"I am certainly in favor of the Post Office remaining in its present place, it is the most convenient site, particularly for the residents of Ashburnham."

Mr. Thos. Maniece, Merchant:—"The authorities are not taking into consideration the business men of the city if they remove the P.O. further from the business section. It would be most inconvenient for all living on the east of the river. Present site best."

Mr. Wm. Quinn :—"No site could be better than the present."

Mr. John Spear, Grocer :—"Undoubtedly the place for the P.O. is as near the centre of the business section as possible."

Mr. J. C. Sullivan, Merchant :—" No one but a crank would propose building the P.O. at the corner of Sherbrooke street. Site most unsuitable."

Mr. Patrick Hogan, Hotelkeeper :—"To my idea the present P.O. site cannot be improved upon."

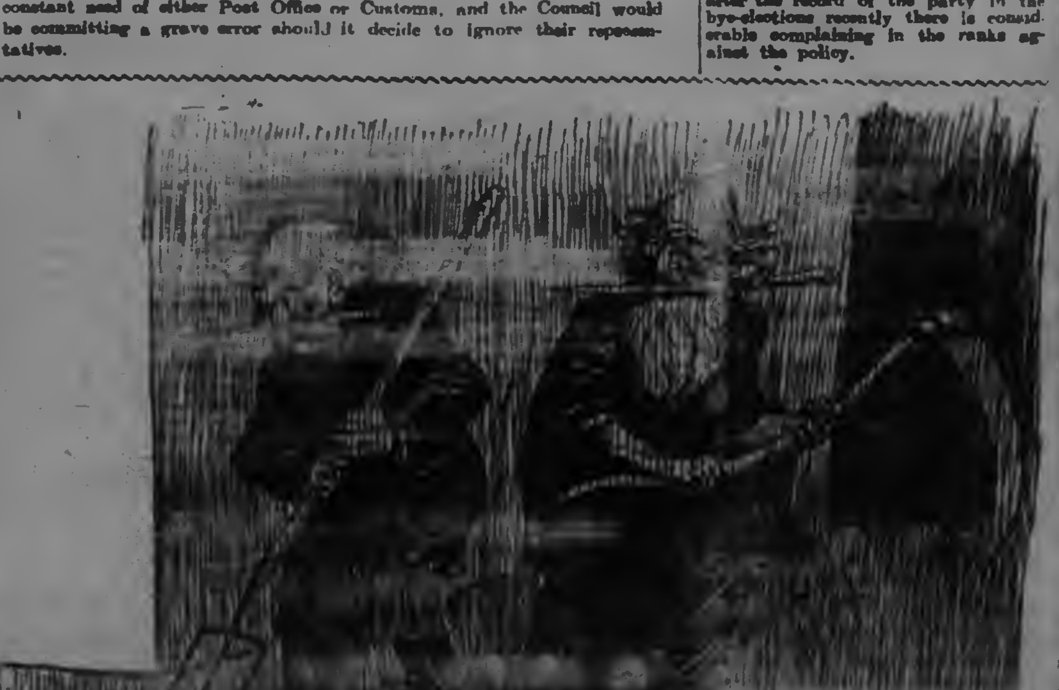
A. Moffat :—"I think that the Post Office should be kept on Hunter street. It is most central right where the business is done."

Mr. J. W. Boorman, Confectioner :—"What do they find wrong, with the site of the present P.O.? It certainly is most convenient for Ashburnham, and I should think also for all tradesmen in the city."

Mr. M. J. Crowley, Grocer :—"The present site, or next Telephone exchange certainly much to be preferred to the one proposed at Sherbrooke and George streets."

The Ashburnham people are even more indignant than the residents of George street, if that were possible. Many expressed themselves as surprised that it should even be thought of, let alone proposed, that a building of such importance should be erected in such a spot.

It should be borne in mind, that all those quoted are men that have constant need of either Post Office or Customs, and the Council would be committing a grave error should it decide to ignore their representatives.



Sh-sh-sh ; Redistribution is coming.

SMITH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

Regular Meeting at Which Considerable Business was Put Through.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, Feb. 9th, 1914.—Members of the Municipal Council of the Township of Smith met in the County Council Chamber on Monday, Feb. 9th, at ten o'clock.

All the members were present, with Reeve Garbutt in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Jobe, seconded by Mr. Telford—That the collector be allowed $151.91 as abatements from the Roll of 1913, and that the Treasurer be instructed to return $125.85 of this amount to the County Treasurer, to be charged against lands.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Northey, seconded by Mr. McKee,—That Mr. A. E. Peck, M.P.P., be requested to use his influence towards securing a grant from the Government to repair the 15th Concession Line from the Burleigh Road to the new wharf at Stoney Lake lately constructed by the Dominion Government.—Carried.

Messrs. Young & Edmison, the Township auditors, reported, showing the assets of the township to be $3,270.

Moved by Mr. McKee, seconded by Mr. Telford, that the auditors' Report be received and that the clerk be instructed to have 200 copies printed for distribution.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McKee, seconded by Mr. Telford that the Statue Labor on the following roads be communted at $1 per day : The River road from the city limits, to Lakefield, including all roads in lots 1 and 2 ; the Communication road from city limits to end of Chemong bridge, including roads in Chemong Park and village of Bridgenorth.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Northey, seconded by Mr. Telford, that the Treasurer be instructed to pay the following accounts :

John Chittick, salary and postage, $125 ; R. J. Edmison, salary per auditor, $10 ; J. A. Young, salary per auditor, $10 ; P. T. Udy, goods, T. Cullen, $16 ; J. W. Kelly, Regis. fees, $20 ; Wm. Hogan, rebate dog tax, $1 ; T. A. Young, rebate dog tax, $1 ; Thos Parks, rebate dog tax, $1.—Carried.

Council adjourned until Monday, March 9th, at 10 o'clock.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR A SHORT SESSION

But it Will be a Stirring One All the Same

Toronto, Feb. 16.—The Government and the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature are preparing for what is expected to be a busy but short session of the Ontario Legislature which opens next Wednesday afternoon.

The plans of the Government are pretty well known. Workmen's Compensation will be their big card. Hon. I. B. Lucas will have charge of the measure in the House. He and his colleagues have been busy with the bill for weeks past. Some features may be altered, but it is not thought that any radical changes will be made from the draft drawn up by the Commissioner, Sir William Meredith.

The revised statutes will be ready shortly, and will be formally accepted. Hon. W. J. Hanna has not announced any change in the Government's liquor policy, and when asked if any new legislation would be originated in his department, he remained silent and appeared uninterested.

Opposition Tactics.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, the leader of the Opposition, will, it is understood, renew the battle against the three-fifths clause in the Local Option Act. Whether or not he will stand behind his "abolish the bar" policy with the firmness that has characterised his attitude, since he assumed the leadership with that policy as the big feature, remains to be seen. Certainly after the record of the party in the bye-elections recently there is considerable complaining in the ranks against the policy.

LIBERALISM MAY BE DOOMED; PARTY MUST GET NEW CHIEF

New Blood Wanted--The Only Difficulty is, Where Will the Party Turn For New Men

Ottawa, Feb. 06.—There seems little doubt now that the session will be finished by May 1st. The Liberals are the keenest for a short session. From the opening of the House they have had surprisingly little fight and have been exceedingly apathetic. The N.T.R. report has taken any heart out of the Liberals they had left.

It has been a stunning blow. As far as the Opposition is concerned they would gladly wind up the session next week. There are also persistent rumors that the report of Mr. T. R. Ferguson, K.C., of Winnipeg, who has been investigating the alienation of the public domain under the Liberals will be as startling and as sensational as the N.T.R. report. It is also rumored thae it will involve several members of Parliament. The Liberals as a result have a bad case of nerves.

See Finish of Liberal Party.

The Transcontinental revelations were enough, but if on the top of this comes further scandals, it will about finish the party as at present organized. It is said that there is a movement already at Ottawa for a reorganization of the party, with a view to bring in fresh blood—men who were not responsible for the N.T.R. folly. It is realized now that it will be almost impossible to face the electors in another contest with the men at the head of the party who were responsible for the $401000,000 loss to the country. The only difficulty is where will the party turn for new men. There is no logical successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and his righthand man is Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways under this regime of extravagance.

STUNNED

The Conservative party at Ottawa is said to be as much stunned by the N.T.R. revelations as the Liberals.

The Conservative party has got to face the taking over of the road, and it will be such a burden as no party ever attempted to carry before. There is no possibility of making a good showing with such an incubus.

Special Sporting Wire

K. W. Schmuck, proprietor of the Grand Hotel, has arranged for a special wire to get full reports of all hockey matches, semi-finals, and finals in O.H.A., and baseball scores during next summer. Full details will be given. Patrons of the Grand Hotel will thus know as much about the various games as though present at them. This is no telephone connection return but a special G.N.W. service

Portsmouth town council have approved the transfer of the municipal telephone exchange to the post office for $175,000.

STONY LAKE COTTAGERS' ASSOCIATION HOLD MEETING

Last night the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association held a meeting in the Bank of Montreal Chambers with Mr. D. W. Dumble in the chair.

The chairman noted that there are about 300 cottages on the islands and shores of Stoney Lake. 33,000 passengers went to Stoney Lake last summer.

The Railway Commission Board is to be asked to provide better accommodation at Lakefield in connection with the G.T.R. and the steamboat wharf.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall referred to the informal manner in which the petition to the Railway Board was worded.

Mr. McWilliams suggested that a local association should be formed.

It was decided that a committee consisting of Messrs. Dumble, Hall, and Peck be a committee to present the cottagers grievances.

The matter of local mails for Stoney Lake post offices was then brought up. Delivering mail by launch, as done last year was unsatisfactory. It seems, according to Mr. John Nugent that the regular passenger boats objected to taking $200 for carrying the mails.

The matter of fish being depleted was next brought up. Many of the bass caught in that lake in the latter part of June are full of spawn. It is to be asked that the open season for catching fish be postponed from June 15th to July 1st.

Mr. Shortly said he had been fishing in Stoney Lake for 40 years. Now people from the U.S. pour there during the middle of June. People go out with guides and catch bass full of spawn. He recommends the 1st of July idea.

Mr. J. D. Collins said, as far as he is concerned, he has given up bass fishing as a bad job, as he can't catch any.

A petition will be sent to the Ontario Government to the latter effect.

The chairman then brought up the subject of placing rainbow trout in Stoney Lake. Rainbow trout can be raised where brown and speckled trout cannot. He referred to the adjoining lakes that raised lake trout. He recommended a hatchery. He recommended communicating with Mr. Burnham, M.P.

Mr. R. B. Rogers said that there is something more than line catching destroying the Stoney Lake fish.

Mr. G. Cochrane then gave an interesting history of what he studied of the salmon trout spawning. First the suckers come along, then the eels, then other ground fish eat all the spawn except that which slips into the crannies of the rocks.

Mr. John Crane spoke about launches only having two open hours in operation at the lift lock.

Mr. Cochrane noted that the gasoline launches at Stoney Lake at night should have lights. This will be enquired into.

Criticism Disarmed.

"Papa," asked James, "wouldn't you be glad if I saved a dollar for you ?"

"Certainly, my son," said papa, so delighted at this evidence of budding business ability that he handed the youth a dime.

"Well, I saved it, all right," said James, disappearing. "You said if I brought a good report from my teacher you would give me a dollar, but I didn't."

KILLED BY GRAVEL CAVE-IN

Frank Morton, Whose Brothers Live In Toronto, Met Death.

Chatham, Ont. Feb. 16.—Frank Morton, a young Englishman employed on the farm of Robt. Stenton, of Harwich, was killed by a cave-in at the O'Keefe gravel pit in Harwich. Hundreds offarmers have gravel hauled from this pit every winter to place on the roads. On Saturday there were about 30 farmers there with wagons loading gravel. Morton had burrowed into the pit about 15 feet when the cave-in occurred and he was crushed to death.

Morton has two brothers living in Toronto, and his father is at present on the ocean on his way to this country.

LAVERGNE'S AMBITIONS

He Wants Wider Sphere Than He Has in Quebec Politics.

Quebec, Feb. 16.—Armand Lavergne the Nationalist member for Montreal in the Provincial Legislature, announced to-day, which is the anniversary of his entry into politics ten years ago, that at next election he intends to leave Provincial politics, and will most likely enter the Federal arena. He desires bigger issues than those which prevail at the Provincial Legislature and he hopes to get a seat at Ottawa without difficulty.

Mistah Hilsondigger Fails to Get a Place, but Obtains a Handout.

"Mawnin', sah!" saluted a ramshackle looking negro, addressing the cashier of a certain small town bank. "Mawnin' dat is, sah, if yo' isn't too busy. An' does yo' need a nigger round de place yuh nigger wid a ree-commend, sah, dustrious, hon'able culled man to wash de winders an' po'tah round? Uh-kaze if so I's de pusson, sah, an' dis yuh dockymunt am de obsequies dat Cuhnel White done writ 'bout muh 'chievements."

"Ah-h'm!" commented the banker as he scanned the proffered paper. "So your name is Hilsondigger?"

"Yassah; dat's muh dentification."

"And the colonel writes here"—

"He sho' does, sah!"

"He says— Look here! Can you read?"

"Who—me? Nussah. Dat is to say, I kain't read writin'."

"I thought not. Well, the colonel says, 'The bearer hereof, Gabe Hilsondigger, is personally known to me'"—

"Dessu, sah! Aw, de cuhnel knows me!"

—"as a liar and a thief and too utterly worthless to set a good dog on.' Well—ha, ha!—it appears that the colonel does know you. Ha, ha, ha!"

"Well-uh, well-uh now, now—if dat ain't s'prisin'! But uck!—dat's de way I likes to heah a white pusson laugh, sah; I sho' does. Takes away deir troubles, sah—makes em fuhgit deir tribbylations. Dat's muh puhmission in dis world, makin' de white folks happy. Kain't be much fun in dis yuh bank-bidness—dess uh-chinkin' de money an' uh-shavin' off de 10 pah cent. An' den when yo's all wo' out, sah, I comes 'long an' yo' has a big laugh dat makes yo' feel fine all day—des as fine as a dram er peach an' honey done make yo' feel. Don't yo' reggin, sah, dat yo' could spar' 'bout haffer dollah for de good joke yo' has on me, an'—t'anky, sah; t'anky! Gwine on muh way uh-'joicin', sah! Gwine now!"—Tom P. Morgan in Puck.

THE DRINK CALLED COFFEE.

Here is the Way They Made It in the Seventeenth Century.

There are in existence in Great Britain a few copies of an ancient cookbook, published in 1662, that gives what is perhaps the first English recipe for coffee. The recipe reads:

"To make the drink that is now much used, called coffee.

"The coffee berries are to be bought at any Druggist, about seven shillings the pound. Take what quantity you please, and over a charcoal fire, in an old frying pan, keep them always stirring until they be quite black, and when you crack one with your teeth that it is black within as it is without, yet if you exceed, then do you waste the Oyl, and if less, then will it not deliver its Oyl, and if you should continue fire till it be white it will then make no coffee, but only give you its salt. Beat and force through a lawn sieve.

"Take clear water and boil one-third of it away, and it is fit for use. Take one quart of this prepared water, put in it one ounce of your prepared coffee and boil it gently one hour, and it is fit for your use; drink one-quarter of a pint as hot as you can sip it. It doth abate the fury and sharpness of the Acrimony, which is the gender of the Diseases called Cronical."

Maine's First Hotel.

Maine's first public hotel was built in 1654. Waddock's Ordinary, erected near Old Orchard, according to a Saco historian, is entitled to the distinction. The old tavern was erected by Henry Waddock and stood almost within sight of the large summer hostelries which fringe the crescent shaped beach at Old Orchard.—Kennebec Journal.

The Doctor's Boy.

"Mamma, the doctor's boy next door made faces at me."

"And what did you do?"

"I stuck out my tongue at him."

"Dear, dear! And what did the bad boy do then?"

"He just said it was badly coated."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Near Nature Return.

"You must quit spending so much time in rathskellers and get back to nature more."

"All right, doc. I'd just as soon sit in the palm room."—Pittsburg Post.

RULES FOR WIVES.

To Which is Added Some Feminine Advice to Husbands.

Some presumptuous Frenchmen published a list of commandments for wives, one of which ran: "Now and then acknowledged gracefully that thy husband knows more about some things than thou. After all, thou art not infallible." A second and still more daring rule for wives was, "Never be aggressive in thy arguments with thy husband, but always consider him as superior to thee." This was too much for French feminists, and no wonder. One lady answers the presumptuous man indignantly:

The weaker sex has not merely duties; it has also rights. Feminism is advancing, and nothing will stop it. The weaker sex is the equal of the sterner. Equality forever! Here are the commandments which women oppose to those of men

The lady then gives her rules for husbands with more spirit than logic:

Woman has a right to have whims; it is a privilege of her sex. Never put her out. She might have hysterics, which would impair her health and cost the money in doctor's bills.

Another commandment runs:

Remember, good man, that thy wife is thy superior by her grace, her beauty and refinement. Therefore always worship at her feet.

Where, then good lady, does "equality forever" come in, if woman not only has privilege because she is a woman, but is decidedly superior to man? Surely, the strong minded suffragist would spurn privileges of sex. In another rule the lady seems to show some sly knowledge of her sisters.

If, good man, thou desirest mountain air ask thy wife to come to the seaside; she will immediately propose a holiday in Switzerland.

But this is a very mild gibe at her own sex compared with her final thrust at the other in her last rule for husbands:

Man was created before woman as a preliminary sketch for the masterpiece. Remember, then, O husband, that thou art but a rough draft.

This ought to shut any husband up finally.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

TRAVELERS' TALES.

Some That Were Discredited and Vindicated Long Afterward.

Travelers' tales have often been accused of being mere flights of imagination, and in the past stay at home people have sometimes erred in treating travelers' tales with scorn. There was, for instance, the description by James Bruce in 1770 of the barbarous Abyssinian custom of eating raw meat cut from the living animal, which was ridiculed by everybody. Yet Bruce has even recently been proved right. When Paul Du Chaillu explored equatorial Africa in 1861 and described the wonderful gorillas and also the nation of dwarfs there he was discredited none too politely by the British Royal Geographical society Yet subsequent explorers amply vindicated his veracity.

In the matter of discredited travelers' tales vindicated long afterward it will never be possible to beat the classic instance in Herodotus. He tells how King Neco of Egypt commissioned certain Phoenician mariners to circumnavigate Africa if they could They did it, starting from the Red sea and returning by the straits of Gibraltar after very many months. And they reported, says Herodotus, that in rounding the southern end of Africa they had the sun on their right hand. "I, for my part," he says, "do not believe this, but perhaps others may."

In modern times that detail is precisely what proves that the Phoenicians did achieve the wonderful voyage. Such an "improbable" fact could never have been invented in an age which was not familiar with the equator.—Chicago News.

Don't Go Too Far When Asking a Father For His Girl.

"I don't suppose," the timid young man said as he tremblingly approached her father, "that you will be inclined to grant the request I have to make, Mr. Boodleson, but"—

"Stop!" the millionaire commanded. "I know what you're here for My daughter told me this morning that you would call on me today. She made a strong plea for you, and I promised her that I'd listen to you patiently, but you have just about convinced me that you're not the kind of chap I want for a son-in-law."

"Wh-why, what have I done—what have I said to c-cause you to fe-feel that way?"

"I'll tell you. You came in here saying you didn't expect me to consent to let you have my daughter That's no way to begin If you expect to get along in the world you'll have to get over that way of approaching people. You should have come to me with a feeling of confidence in your breast and with words on your lips that would have indicated that you didn't doubt for a moment that you'd carry your point. Why, when I asked my wife's father for her I went up to him with all the confidence in the world, slapped him on the back and let him understand that I hadn't a doubt of my ability to win his consent."

"All right, old man. Seeing that there's no reason why Genevieve and I shouldn't get married, you'll of course give your consent, and remember that I expect you to do something handsome in the way of handing out a check as a wedding present. No bluff, you understand—no $10,000 check that is to be torn up after the guests leave or"—

Five minutes later the young man woke up on the sidewalk and began wondering how one was to be able to tell how to go far enough without going too far.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Greatly Overrated.

"Mrs. Gaswell, while you were in Venice did you see the Bridge of Sighs?"

"Oh, yes; I saw what they called that; but, my land, I've seen bridges ten times its size without ever going out of Pennsylvania!"—Chicago Tribune.

A MEXICAN MAGNATE.

Don Luis Terrazas Owns the Largest Farm in the World.

The world probably contains nothing anywhere else that can compare with the splendid estate of Don Luis Terrazas, in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico. This fortunate magnate is said to own the greatest farm in the world. It includes 8,000,000 acres of fertile land and extends 150 miles east and west and 200 miles north and south. On its mountains and through its valleys roam over 1,000,000 cattle, 700,000 sheep and 100,000 horses, these being tended by an army of 2,000 horsemen, herdsmen, shepherds and hunters. Each year at least 150,000 head of cattle and 100,000 sheep are slaughtered, dressed and packed, this ranch being the only one in the world which maintains its own slaughtering and packing plant. And this means a very considerable additional profit to its august and fortunate owner.

On this gigantic estate are five reservoirs, which cost $500,000, and 800 wells, which cost over another $500,000. Don Luis Terrazas is a scientific farmer and raises every kind of grain in his great fields. His homestead is declared to be the finest farmhouse in existence in any country. It is capable of accommodating 500 guests at a time and was erected at an expense of $2,000,000. It is a veritable country palace, and the gardens are more carefully laid out and the stables are more costly than those of any emperor. On the homestead alone are employed over a hundred male servants.

The Liberals' Chief Agent.

Cordial congratulations from members of both parties reached Sir Robert Hudson, chief agent of the Liberal party, when he was knighted in 1906, for he has earned the respect and goodwill of political opponents as well as political friends. The knighthood came to him as a complete surprise, being carefully planned by the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and it was an honor richly deserved, for, thanks to Sir Robert, the Liberal party was never better equipped for fighting than it is to-day To the man in the street Sir Robert is little known, but he has long worked behind the scenes. He has been connected with the fortunes of the Liberals for almost thirty years, and has been chief agent for the Liberals since 1883. He is, as a man in his position must be, conspicuous for business ability and decision of character.

Mr. & Mrs. Laurence Irving's Mascot

Mr. and Mrs. Irving (Miss Mabel Hackney), who will shortly undertake an all-Canadian Season under the auspices of the British Canadian Theatre Organization Society, travel with them wherever they go, their mascot, which is a four-footed one—a dog, which answers to the name of "Lop." So imbued are they with the belief that this dumb friend has brought them luck, that on every first night of a new play "Lop" makes his appearance on the stage, if only in a 'thinking part.' The dog knows perfectly well when a first night is due, as during all rehearsals he accompanies his master and mistress to the theatre, where he spends long hours in the dressing room, until the long and arduous rehearsals finish. This continues until the first night arrives, when, after having made his bow, and contributed his share towards the success of the play !—he contentedly retires once more into obscurity, and on ensuing evenings makes not the slightest effort to accompany his master and mistress to the theatre.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—
Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.
Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.
Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue
His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.
Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.
Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to ea[illegible] One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy for build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

A Berlin doctor boasts that he can detect truth from falsehold by the breath of an individual. But that is nothing to brag about. The average wife can do the same, even after strenuous efforts have been made to disguise the breath with cloves and lemon peel

We are told by those who engaged in the uplift movement that there has been a great slump in the use of profane language in this country. Doubtless this is due to the fact that more people are driving automobiles than balky horses and to the marked improvement in fountain pens.

THE BRITISH "FAMILY"

The course of the touble raised by the claim of natives of British India for free entrance in any number into other parts of the Empire, and particularly the self-governing Dominions is due to their insistence on their "rights" as free-born British citizens. This poibt was effectually dealt with by Sir West Ridgway, who has held many important offices under the crown, in a letter to The London Times. "Within the fortified enceinte of the British Empire," he wrote, "There are many houses and many families each house inhabited by its own family. These households have common interests; but each manages its own affairs—wisely or unwisely—without interference from others, and no one is entitled to enter any house not his own, exceot on invitation, and even then he must submit to the conditions which may be imposed." This, we take it, is a correct description of the Empire as it is today. The Dominions have each its own immigration policy, which they have the right to impose,, vary or alter at-will. But this also means that it is not immigration, but emigration which should be checked. Where a certain class of immigrants will not be accepted members of that class should be help up, not at the port of arrival, but at the port of departure.

A DIET TEST

According to reports there starts this week in Montreal a test of different diets in connection with student life. Thirty students will take part in the test, and it will last three months. Five of the students will take meat three times a day; fifteen will try a modified meat and vegetarian diet; and others will try a strictly scientific bill of fare. After the test the students will all be examined by physicians to note the different diets. Nothing is said about the mode of life of the students concerned, and we suppose they will be free to spend their time as they may please so far as exercise is concerned. We Uould suggest that at the same time some of the students take a turn at "Fletcherism," eating anything they like, but taking care to masticate their food thoroughly and to eat only when hungry. It does appear to be a strange thing that the average man seems to know no more what kind of food is good for him than a babe, probably not as much. Why don't we know more? Who can tell us?

Old Winter Coughs Now Easily Cured

A New Remedy Now Cures Without the Use of Cough Syrups or Drugs

Just think of it—you can clear away that hard, racking cough, drive it completely out of the system, make yourself perfectly well by the new breathing cure that employs no medicine at all.

You wonder how; very simple, indeed; you simply breathe in through a Catarrhozone Inhaler rich balsamic essences that heal and soothe away the cough in a few hours' time.

In using Catarrhozone you bathe the lining of the nose and throat with that powerful antiseptic of the Blue Gum Tree of Australia, which is probably the surest cold and cough cure in the world to-day.

Clarence E. Cromwell, writing from Medicine Hat, says: "To cure a sneezing cold in about ten minutes the one thing I know of to do it is Catarrhozone. To relieve an irritated throat quickly, nothing can excel Catarrhozone. It simply eats up a cough or cold of any kind. I know of colds that have hung on for months that Catarrhozone cured quickly. Nearly every man I know carries a Catarrhozone Inhaler with him day and night, and in this country it makes a wonderful protection against all winter ills."

Get the dollar outfit, including the hard rubber inhaler, and medication to last two months; medium size 50c, sample size 25c, at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

$100 REWARD $1.00

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DANGEROUS SLEDDING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In view of the accident of Friday last when a boy had his leg broken, and two girls disfigured possibly for life by running into a delivery sleigh whilst they were sleigh riding down Murray street hill, I think the city should strictly forbid the use of bob-sleighs or toboggans at that spot. I was told by a local milkman a few days ago, that last week he was driving up Water street at a fast clip. As he neared Murray street he saw a bob-sleigh with three girls seated on it coming down the hill. His horse was travelling too swiftly to stop in time so he used the whip and thus crossed in front of the "bob" just missing it by a foot.

POST OFFICE SITE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I must congratulate The Times on the plucky and progressive spirit it displayed yesterday in opposing the site for our new tentatively chosen post office. The location chosen is ridiculous for the purpose in view. Surely our local member who has done so much, during his term as member for the city, I think is making a mistake in leaving the question of a post office site to the judgment of the Council. If he and the Government that pays for this building wish to place responsibility let a plebiscite of the ratepayers in the business section, be held. The result of such a vote would snow the Sherbrooke location under.

INDIGESTION ENDED, STOMACH FEELS FINE

Time "Pape's Diapepsin!" In five minutes all Sourness, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia is gone.

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realise the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes all stomach misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Pape's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the quickest,, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is scientific, harmless and pleasant stomach preparation which truly belongs in every home

TOLD IN PANTOMIME.

The Worth of a Chinese Royal Gift to Li Hung Chang.

The late empress dowager of China was something of a humorist. The author of "Behind the Scenes in Peking" tells a story of how Li Hung Chang, after concluding the treaty of Shimonoseki, was presented by the empress with a cloth of gold bag containing some heavy article. The treasure turned out to be a large vase, and Li, who was an enthusiastic collector of Chinese ceramics, at once sent for his secretary, Mr. Pethick, to come and examine the new acquisition.

Some time was spent in a careful examination to determine the dynasty during which this treasure was produced, but the date of this especial paste was lost, with its other technical classifications. After a long time Mr. Pethick lifted it gingerly, placed it on a table, put himself in front of it, drawing a wrap round his shoulders, and slowly, very slowly, held his hands up to it, turning them in the attitude of warming at a fire.

Chinese need few words. Li understood and was heartbroken. The pantomime indicated to him that the supposed priceless vase was only a clever reproduction made in Paris, and the secretary, warming his hands before it, meant it was so fresh from the pottery furnace that he could still notice the warmth.

Funny Stories.

"Ha, ha!" said the jovial man as he slapped an acquaintance on the back. "I'm glad to see you. I have one of the funniest stories on record, and you are just in time."

"I don't care for it," was the candid reply. "You see, there is often a pathetic side even to humor. I have just been out with my architect, and he showed me three of the funniest stories I ever saw. If I hadn't been paying for them I'd have laughed myself silly."

His Little Comeback.

Miss Neverstop, seating herself between two much engrossed senators, exclaims, "A rose between two thorns!"

"Nay, madam," retorts one irate old gentleman, "say, rather, a tongue sandwich."—Life.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER

FOR TIRED OUT MEN AND WOMEN
A SURE CURE FOR ANAEMIA
Provides the Blood with Red Corpuscles so Necessary to Life
Clears and Improves the Complexion

For twenty years a celebrated German scientist worked at this great pacific seeking to find the secret of blood building. The vegetable contents were brought from the four corners of the earth and so blended that a genuine blood and tissue builder was at last produced.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER has proved a boon to mankind. The tired worn out mother in the home, with her daily round of domestic and social cares, the head of the family in office or workshop, the growing girl or biy during schooling period, at times need a body building medicine. Sanol Blood Builder supplies the blood with and incorporates into the organism of the human body that which it absolutely needs, the good results are marked and rapid.

Sanol Blood Builder, if taken according to the directions will stop the waste of the body, brighten the appetite, strengthen the system, rebuild the blood corpuscles, improve the complexion, brace the muscles and calm the brain.

BALANCING THE SEXES.

Singular, Isn't It, the Way Nature Preserves the Equilibrium?

One of the most subtle and interesting problems of life, according to the eminent statistician and student of heredity, Professor R. J. Ewart, is the numerical relationship of sex and its influence upon the body politic. The woman's rights movement is in essence a mathematical and statistical problem according to him. There is not a general advance of woman, as some sociologists assert. There is a sudden manifestation of her power, a period of supremacy and then a decline of her status.

The explanation is statistical mainly. True, it has always been something of a puzzle why the proportion of each kind, apparently with little or no underlying reason, is produced in the right numbers. The argument that if such were not the case the particular species would not survive does not reveal to us the methods by which this object has been achieved. That some mechanism must exist by means of which within certain limits the number of males and females born is regulated is proved by the facts of history, where we have numerous examples of wars and other social upheavals where males have largely suffered, and yet within an apparently short period of time, as measured by such events, a balance has again been established.

The sex equilibrium may be compared to that of a gyroscope, where the greater the disturbance of position the greater is the force tending to reestablish its natural stand while in motion.—Current Literature.

She Had Noticed.

He was talking to the pessimistic, sharp tongued damsel.

"Have you noticed," he asked, "that, as a rule, bachelors are wealthier than married men?"

"I have," she replied.

"How do you account for it?" he inquired.

"The poor man marries and the rich one doesn't," she answered. "A man is much more disposed to divide nothing with a woman than he is to divide something, you know."

Between Women's Health or Suffering

The main reason why so many women suffer greatly at times is because of a run-down condition. Debility, poor circulation show in headaches, languor, nervousness and worry.

THE WHITE WASH.

Its Presence on the Hudson Bay Company's Boat Explained.

It is or was a rule of the Hudson Bay company that no woman be allowed passage on its boats. One day some years ago as a steamer of the company neared one of the northernmost ports a string of white garments was seen stretched, across the deck. The watchers were amazed, for to them the wash line suggested only the presence of a woman aboard the boat.

Comment was freely made of the scandal that would ensue and the shakeup that would follow. When the boat docked the line of washing had disappeared—still another proof of the scandal.

Later one of the landsmen said to the captain:

"Why, how did it happen that you carried a woman passenger this trip?"

"There was never a woman along the whole voyage," was the indignant answer. "What do you mean?"

"If there was no woman aboard where did all that white wash come from?" was the triumphant reply.

The captain looked puzzled for a moment, and then he laughed.

"Oh," he said, "and didn't we have Lord Strathcona, the governor himself, along with us on this trip? And every day doesn't he insist on having his clean white shirt, no matter how far north we are? That's the white wash you saw strung along deck. And, what's more, doesn't his lordship insist upon having his London paper laid beside his plate every morning, no matter if it is a year old?"—Pearson's.

A MASTER OF METAPHOR.

It Must Have Relieved Him to Get This Out of His System.

A water consumer in a certain city, whose supply had been turned off because he wouldn't pay, wrote to the department as follows:

"In the matter of shutting off the water on unpaid bills your company is fast becoming a regular crystallized Russian bureaucracy, running in a groove and deaf to the appeals of reform. There is no use of your trying to impugn the verity of this indictment by shaking your official heads in the teeth of your own deeds.

"If you will persist in this kind of thing a widespread conflagration of the populace will be so imminent that it will require only a spark to let loose the dogs of war in our midst. Will you persist in hurling the cornerstone of our personal liberty to your wolfish hounds of collectors thirsting for its blood? If you persist the first thing you know you will have the chariot of a justly indignant revolution rolling along in our midst and gnashing its teeth as it rolls.

"If your rascally collectors are permitted to continue coming to our doors with unblushing footsteps, with cloaks of hypocritical compunction in their mouths, and compel payment from your patrons this policy will result in cutting the wool off the sheep that lays the golden egg until you have pumped it dry, and then farewell, a long farewell, to our vaunted prosperity."—Everybody's

When to Eat Fruit.

To obtain the most benefit from the succulent fruits they should be eaten at the end of the chief meal. Bananas are an exception and may be eaten with any meal. They are very acceptable cut in thin slices and eaten with bread and butter. Stewed fruits often have their virtues wasted through being eaten at the wrong time. Six or eight stewed prunes half an hour before breakfast are beneficial; so are stewed figs or stewed apples eaten before breakfast. Peeled oranges cut into thin slices so that the juice is set free, with sugar strewn over the slices, are not unlike pineapple and form a highly efficacious aid to digestion. Grapes should never be eaten except after the chief meal of the day. Taken when the stomach is comparatively empty, they are a specially harmful fruit.—Family Doctor.

Ruler of Russia's Title.

The general allusion to the ruler of Russia as the czar is, strictly speaking, incorrect. His official title is "emperor and autocrat." Czar is the old Russian word for lord or prince and was abandoned by Peter the Great on his triumphal return from Poltava, his crowning victory over Charles XII. of Sweden. Since then the Russian monarch has been officially entitled emperor, and at the congress of Vienna in 1815 his right to the imperial term was admitted by the powers, with the proviso that, though he was emperor, he had no precedence over the kings of western Europe.—St. James' Gazette.

LOOK!

If you were told of a new discovery for the treatment of coughs, colds and bronchitis, as certain in its action on all chest troubles as anti-toxin is on diphtheria, or vaccination on small-pox, wouldn't you feel like giving it a trial? Especially if you could try it for fifty cents!

Peps is the discovery!

Peps are little tablets, neatly wrapped in air and germ-proof silver foil. They contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapour, and are at once breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the capillaries and tiny air sacs in the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence their work of healing.

Peps are entirely distinct from the old fashioned liquid cough cures, which are merely swallowed into the stomach, and never reach the lungs. Peps treatment of coughs and colds is direct treatment.

If you have not yet tried Peps, cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c. stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps at 50c. box.

Very Latest Fancies of Fashion

When Choosing Styles Suit Your Personality

By MADGE MARVEL

A RETURN of smooth-faced cloths is promised for the spring, which means that broadcloth and similar fabrics will be back in favor. Also it foretells the solid colors having the leadership over mixtures.

If you have watched the shops carefully during the past few months you must have noticed the partiality shown the satiny cloths and the way in which the rougher weaves were finding their way to the bargain tables. Indeed, at the moment, it is simply astonishing how cheaply some of the most excellent materials can be bought. It is by such apparently unimportant details that we are enabled to judge of the mode of tomorrow and the day after.

The wheel of fashion revolves at such speed in these modern days it seems discouraging for the woman of small dress allowance to have hope of keeping in the front ranks. It used to be a safe rule to pay a good sum for one really well-made gown of expensive material and literally "live in it" till it was gone, knowing that as long as it lasted one was well gowned. But that time is past.

We should be hopelessly out of fashion if we followed the rule now. It seems wiser to have more and cheaper clothes, if one has the ambition to keep up with the modish procession. And the only way one can conscientiously discard frocks is to pay for the style instead of the material and workmanship, knowing that by the time the newness has gone the wear will have gone, too.

Who Are Dressed Best?

However, there are women who will never bring themselves to the point of running after every dress whim, and they continue to choose quiet, rich materials, and have them made so individual that they belong to them despite changes.

One may pertinently ask if, judged by the highest standard, these are not the best dressed women. No less an authority than Poiret has said that every woman should wear the clothes which suit her, and not try to wear the thing which is newest when it may be totally at odds with her type and requirements.

Dress is by no means a frivolous subject. It has always played an important part in the history of the world and its development, and has been a trivial subject only through the lightness of discussion.

Today it is so thoroughly typical of the remarkable epoch through which we are passing that the keen observer finds much to interest and instruct in the somewhat minute study of its variations. It all seems so vitally a part of the great feminist movement which is agitating the entire world and loosening the tongues of men of brain, scientists, philosophers, doctors and preachers that it is of paramount present interest. For dress has always been one of the subtlest and truest expressions of the individual.

New Freedom Shown.

Even the frothiest thinker must see, in the shedding of superfluous nether garments, such as petticoats and the slashing of skirts and the revolt at the stiff and laced stays, the freedom of thought and action which is back of this much-talked-of woman movement. In the scant, slashed skirt the extreme of independence was reached. Now the reaction is beginning in the assumption of draperies which soften the outlines and add the charm of the typical feminine without the sacrifice of freedom.

Observe the women with whom you come in daily contact and you will find in seven cases out of every ten, that the clothes worn are less what is laid down by hard and fast fashion rules than they are the things which are best suited for the individual in the work she is called to do. One quality they share in common, and that is the defiance of age. Clothes all hint of youth, fadeless and everlasting. That, too, is the reflection of the times. There is the mental defiance of age in the world which makes visible demonstration in the dress of the people, men and women. The spirit of work has been awakened. The sons and daughters of toil know neither age nor class.

What more natural than that their activity, their allied interests should manifest itself in their appearance which may be interpreted to read their dress. As I see the women walking along the street, full of energy and with the evident idea that they are going somewhere for some purpose, they seem to speak of busy-ness from the tip of their nodding feathers to the soles of their very neat shoes.

Oh, of course, there are the "slouchers," but even they have their activities. Watch them dance if you think they are idlers. And it was not simply well directed energy of which we were speaking. It was simply activity. Certainly any one who has open eyes will admit that the present dress allows activity on the part of the wearer.

Oyster Luxuries

By Mme. Margarete Matzenauer

Prima Donna Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

MME. MATZENAUER

IF I had not been successful as a contralto, I know I would have succeeded as a cook. I love to cook fully as well as to sing and, while my cooking audiences are of necessity small, they are always enthusiastic and demand many encores.

In America the opera season and the oyster season go hand in hand. I don't know how many ways an oyster can be cooked, but during the fall and winter I have oysters three times a day. I am particularly fond of oysters stewed with mushrooms. And this is the way to prepare the dish:

Take an equal quantity of mushrooms (either canned or fresh), tomatoes and oysters. Blanch the oysters in their liquor and season with pepper and salt. Heat the mushrooms in a little gravy. Then set the tomatoes in a baking pan stalk end down. Cut a slice off the top of the tomatoes and scoop out enough to make a cavity big enough to hold an oyster and a mushroom. Brush with melted butter, dust with paprika and then fill the tomato cavities with the oyster and mushroom and place the pan in the oven until the tomatoes are tender. Baste every few minutes with melted butter while baking.

This is one of my regular breakfasts while in New York, for I have a large housekeeping apartment. The kitchen is the [illegible] room, without exception, and in my kitchen I have about everything I have ever heard of in the way of cooking appliances adaptable to a small family.

In making creamed oysters I melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and mix a tablespoonful of flour with it, adding a pinch of nutmeg and gradually pour in a pint of cream, stirring well in order to prevent lumps from forming. When the mixture boils I add a quart of well drained oysters and allow the dish to boil till the oyster edges begin to curl. Then I season with a dash of salt and a little celery salt and a goodly dash of paprika and serve immediately on square slices of toast or with crackers.

Folklore Signs and Omens

By Elizabeth Hayward

IT is but natural that love, courtship and marriage should occupy a large place in the folk lore of all countries, and superstition has surrounded the mating of young people with all sorts of mysterious signs and omens. Naturally, also, the desire to raise the curtain that veils the future and reveal the personality of the expected one must stand foremost in the mind of most normal maidens of whatever age or country.

One method of divination was to cut the common brake or woodfern, just above the root, to ascertain the initial of the name of the future husband or wife. Another was to peel an apple carefully so as not to break the paring, which was then flung backward over the head. In falling the apple peel would form the initials of the mysterious one waited for. The little insect known as the lady bug was caught and thrown in the air as the following couplet was repeated:

Fly away east, and fly away west,
Show me where lives the one I like the best.

The insect was supposed to fly directly toward the house of the future partner. If the affection of the loved one was doubted, the maiden placed a nut on the bars of the grate, saying:

If he loves me, pop and fly,
If he loves me not, live and die.

If the maiden chances to sleep in a strange bed she ties her garter around the bed post and ties a knot in it, repeating in the mean time:

This knot I knit, this knot I tie,
To see my love as he goes by,
In his apparel and array,
As he walks in every day.

Hallowe'en was looked upon as the time above all others when the supernatural influences were most propitious for divination in matters of love. One of the many spells resorted to by maidens was to go into the garden and pick 12 sage leaves without injuring the stalk. Before she reaches the twelfth the young woman should see the shadowy outlines of the young man she will marry. She must not exhibit any show of alarm, as he will be frightened away and the spell broken.

If the young woman was in doubt as to when the dilatory swain would lead her to the altar, she walked into the field and plucked a dandelion, the flower which had ripened until it was surrounded by a globe of feathery tops to each seed. These she tried to blow off with one breath. The number of puffs required to blow all the seeds off showed the number of years that must elapse before she was wed.

It was an old custom for an elder unmarried sister to dance, bare-footed, at the wedding of a younger sister, else she would die unwed. It will be remembered that Shakespeare makes Katharine say to her father in allusion to Bianca:

She is your treasure, she must have a husband,
I must dance barefoot on her wedding day.

BUTTERFLY HEADDRESSES IN VOGUE

SO generally have head dresses been worn since the tango craze started that, in an assemblage of women, the unadorned head becomes conspicuous. When the dancing fever seized the world the covered head became a necessity if the feminine dancer hoped to keep her hair from tumbling about her shoulders. The dainty little tango caps were fascinatingly becoming. They multiplied until there seemed to be a style for every head.

Even the few who did not dance saw no reason for foregoing the embellishment afforded by the caps, but as there was less practical use for them they became mere wisps of adornment.

The funny little Dutch bonnet with the outstanding ears is now the most familiar style, and shares favor with the close fitting cap of gold and jewels, which is a copy of the one Juliet wore.

Then there is the bandeau of jet or crystals, or the twist of tulle or ribbon which acts as a support for the tall aigrette or paradise plume. This plumage has great flexibility of adjustment. Sometimes the feathers rise from a point above the forehead directly in line with the arch of the Cupid's bow mouth, and shoot abruptly into the air quite a foot above the head of the wearer.

Again one bunch of plumes will shoot backward at right angles to the left ear, and another will rise obliquely from a point on the other side of the head.

Or the front of the head will show soft bandings of tulle or glittering strands of crystals, back of which are the soft twists of the coiffure, while back of that bristles an ornate aigrette or the soft spirals of the paradise may curl upward like smoke.

It remained for Mizzi Hajos to elaborate on the butterfly and make it substantial enough to cover the major part of the head. In "Sari" she wears a butterfly headdress which is becoming and has charm. Moreover, it will admit of variations, so it is likely to remain in the first ranks of favor for some time.

It seems as if the butterfly has always come to the rescue whenever inspiration ran low in dress adornment. The airy, illusive flutterer proves a motif which is invariably acceptable.

Sometimes with wings of lace and body of jewels it sparkles on the corsage. Sometimes it is transferred to the waist line and made of ribbon. In golden wires strung with gleaming jewels it clasps the veil or the collar. Again, a bit of cobweb tissue, it poises lightly on the shoulder. Now Mizzi Hajos has crowned herself with it. And so attractive is the result that the butterfly headdress is the very newest and most popular of all its predecessors.

It may be composed of strands of pearls with golden antennae, or it may be of silver glittering like a bit of moonshine shot with dew. It may be just a conventional butterfly, if so fragile and exquisite a thing can ever be conventional, or it may be a double-winged version.

Just so the form of the butterfly is preserved the effect is the same. There are many ways of making it and glorious possibilities in the materials offered.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

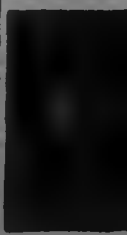
By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Joining a Club

XXVIII.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

I HAVE joined a club.

After preaching vigorously against club life in my callow days and listening respectfully to dad and mother on the same subject, I have flung advice to the four winds and joined the Waverly club.

The truth of the matter is that if I don't get away from the monotony of my evenings I shall go quite mad. Wherefore I am going to try pool and billiards for a change.

I had a long talk with Mary before the inspiration came, and tried my best to evolve from it some future plans for pleasant home companionship of a less futile character. Mary can't seem to understand what I mean.

"If you're just in the room with me, Peter, I'm satisfied," she said tearfully. "What in the world do you want to do?"

How could I answer that? If I told Mary I needed intellectual companionship—as well as physical—she'd misunderstand. Therefore I've given up the struggle and joined a club.

If Mary and I liked the same books and pictures and music, or if Mary's notions about anything were sufficiently robust to command my respect, we'd doubtless find a lot to talk a out. But Mary is easily swayed. Her opinions depend largely upon the personal magnetism of the person who is talking.

"Just my opinion, exactly!" I've heard Mary exclaim when an eloquent partisan defended divorce. And a week later, if an equally eloquent friend should attack it, Mary would smile and agree, and be quite unaware of her inconsistency.

There are lots of women who agree with whatever you say and let it go at that. Which is delightful at times, but inane. Personally, I'd rather have my wife express a forceful opinion and stick to it. But the only time Mary is at all forceful is when she's stubborn, and when she's stubborn she's invariably unreasonable, and there you have it.

"A club!" exclaimed Mary, when I told her. "Peter, you don't—you can't mean it!"

"Why not?" I asked defensively.

"Will you actually be selfish enough to go off in the evening and enjoy yourself when you know I'm home?"

"But Mary," I suggested, "if I work all day, what other time have I to myself?"

"What about me?" demanded Mary, illogically.

"Don't you go to card clubs and bowling clubs in the afternoon?" I inquired mildly. "If I had sufficient time to do that, most assuredly I wouldn't care to go out in the evening. I'd have my pleasure earlier in the day."

"Isn't it pleasure enough for you to be with me?" asked Mary.

We had struck at last the query I dreaded. What could I tell Mary? That our evenings were inane? That she chatted to me when I wanted to read, spoiled my occasional game of solitaire by pointing out moves when I wanted to ferret them out myself; that when I abandoned everything else to listen to her she went to sleep?

I'm afraid my extenuation of the club offense was very lame. Nor am I satisfied with myself. I don't want to think of Mary alone in the house waiting for me, and I don't want to stay home. I don't know what I want to do.

Logically, I think my position is sound. I am entitled to some of my evenings. Mary does go to card clubs in the afternoon. But why must I be infernally bothered by conscience now that I have taken the step?

Too Fast

Gobang—Do you ever follow your wife's advice?

Uberdek—Well, I try to, but I am never able to keep up with it.

Sharpened

"There does not seem to be anything sharp about him."

"Oh, I don't know. He has an appetite."

Something of a Stir

"Did their sudden marriage make any stir in society?"

"Well, yes. It was not known that they were spoony at all."

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Saving Power of Hope Best Aid of Science

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

[illegible]

HOPE springs eternal in the human breast. It has been ever so and it will always be. It is physiologically impossible to be lacking in hope, if the health that sniffs the morning air is in your body. Lack of hope is incompatible with robust sanity and an unimpaired physique.

There are no expressions more often heard by physicians than these:

"Why, doctor, I never have had anything like this before!" or "That could never happen to me."

Both of these naive remarks are fundamentally due to the hope inherent in living tissues.

Indeed, it is impossible for a well, or partly ill, person to conceive, much less realize, herself or himself as sick, dead or a slave to paregoric, cocaine or other habit-forming drugs. It is the self-preservative, happy faculty of hope, carried beyond the frontiers of wisdom and discretion, which indulges itself in the often disastrous delays, which permit early cancers and milder maladies, curable at their onset, to reach a fatal stage before radical means of relief are sought.

You may recall that the name of the first woman was not Eve, according to the Greeks, but Pandora, made by the god Vulcan out of the earth. Pandora means all gifted. She was so named because all the gods each contributed a gift to her charms.

Pandora married Epimetheus in whose house was a box, which no mortal might open. Curiosity, the virtue and the vice of other wives, notably Bluebeard's, induced Pandora to peep into it. Out flew all the ills of human flesh, before the quick-witted Pandora could snap the lid and prevent the escape of hope.

"When man and nature mourned their first decay
All, all forsook the friendless guilty mind,
But Hope—the charmer—lingered still behind."

Hope is the mainspring of life and the motive power of all.

After the death of Faithful, a companion of Christian in Bunyan's "The Pilgrim's Progress," Hope became his friend. This typifies poetically that even those who lack faith may still hope, even after mere fallacious, human, erring doctors destroy your faith in the happy outcome of disease, you must still hope against hope for something which doctors do not know.

Physicians and surgeons, no matter how superior and excessive their knowledge may be, are wanting in knowledge about the very disorders they know most about. Prof. Thomas MacCrae, one of the very best teachers of medicine, often truly said that over 50 per cent. of dogmatic medical assertions were absolutely incorrect.

Maladies supposed incurable yesterday are known to become healed today. Very early, limited cancers, spinal meningitis of tuberculous origin, leprosy, and even paresis are at this good hour among the ailments restored not by hope itself or by faith itself, but by the tangible, dramatic and practical handiwork of scientific achievement and real knowledge.

Answers to Health Questions

C. B. J., Toronto—What shall I do for spots on the back of the hands and face?

The type of stained skin, which begins as small pimples, turns into crusts and then leaves the brownish yellow discoloration, can be removed by means of the electric needle in the same manner that surface hair is taken away from a woman's face.

• • •

L. T., Toronto—Kindly allow me to ask your advice about an effective remedy to remove undesirable hair from my lips.

Although the electric needle, radium, X-rays and various local mixtures are in use and any of these may be used, shaving and the free use of peroxide of hydrogen afterward, as well as before, is as good as anything, because with any of the methods the hair may return.

• • •

W. F., Toronto—What can I do for varicose veins?

These swollen, turgid, dilated blood canals are best and most permanently remedied only by a surgeon.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie—I have a nice sweetheart, but there's something about him that is so peculiar. He's very nice to me when we are alone together, but the minute we go out where there are other people he acts so queer. If I didn't know him so well I'd think he is ashamed of me. If we are in the car he never looks at me at all; even when I speak to him he just stares right ahead straight out of the window. And in the theatre he's always looking around as if he were afraid somebody would hear what we said to each other—and we never say a thing that isn't all right.

What do you suppose makes him act that way? EMBARRASSED.

MAYBE he is ashamed of you—and can't help showing it. Perhaps he comes from a different social class and you do things that embarrass him, and he's just cad enough to be afraid that some one else will notice it. There are such people in the world, you know. I know a man who would rather go out with a girl who is a thief or a murderess than to be seen with one who doesn't wear her hat at the "smart" angle, or who says "thanks" when she ought to say "thank you very much."

If he's that sort of a fool, the sooner you get rid of him the better. Let him find one of his own kind of girls and take her out. He'll never be anything but a nuisance to you.

He may not be that sort of man at all. Is he from the country? Country people often act like that, haven't you noticed it? They're afraid to speak, or move, or look for fear somebody who doesn't know they're alive will think they are queer or something.

If your sweetheart is from the country, don't pay any attention to his embarrassed, self-conscious manners. He'll get over them [illegible] time.

DEPT. OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE, OTTAWA.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterborough, Ottawa and Brockville, Ont., for the year ending March 31, 1915, will be received up to Tuesday, March 3 next. Each tender is to be marked 'Tender for Fuel,' and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Director of Contracts, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa, or at the office of the Officer Commanding, 3rd Division, Kingston, who will furnish all information required.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque, on a Canadian chartered Bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, for five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party making the tender decline to sign a contract when called upon to do so. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

GLYCERIN.

In Many Ways It Is a Most Remarkable Substance.

One of the great advantages of glycerin in its chemical employment is the fact that it neither freezes nor evaporates under any ordinary temperature. No perceptible loss by evaporation has been detected at a temperature less than 200 degrees F., but if heated intensely it decomposes with a smell that few persons find themselves able to endure. It burns with a pale flame, similar to that from alcohol, if heated to about 300 degrees and then ignited. Its nonevaporative qualities make the compound of much use as a vehicle for holding pigments and colors, as in stamping and typewriter ribbons, carbon papers and the like.

If the pure glycerin be exposed for a long time to a freezing temperature it crystallises with the appearance of sugar candy; but, these crystals being once melted, it is almost an impossibility to get them again into the congealed state. If a little water be added to the glycerin no crystallization will take place, though under a sufficient degree of cold the water will separate and form crystals, amid which the glycerin will remain in its natural state of fluidity. If suddenly subjected to intense cold, pure glycerin will form a gummy mass which cannot be entirely hardened or crystallized. Altogether it is quite a peculiar substance.

The Barbarous Suttee.

Suttee, or the practice of immolating widows on their husband's funeral pyres in India, was first attacked by the British government in 1829. It was on Dec. 4 of that year that Lord William Bentinck carried a resolution in council by which all who abetted suttee were declared guilty of "culpable homicide." In the year 1817 700 widows were burned alive in Bengal alone, but since the passing of the act the practice has entirely died out. Suttee was really a primitive rite, a survival from barbarous times, and not sanctioned by Hindooism, the passage in the Vedas supporting it being a willful mistranslation. But no previous governor had the courage to violate the British tradition of religious toleration. Lord William Bentinck also suppressed thuggism, which made strangling a religious rite to the goddess Kali.

The emblem of the Ulster steamship line is a huge red hand, from the wrist of which is flowing drops of blood. An official of one of the vessels of the line gave this explanation of the queer device:

"It was in the early days of Ireland, when James I. was king and when Ireland was divided into four provinces, that the king of Ulster died. He had two sons, who were devoted to each other and who at the time of their father's death were on the isle of Arran, Scotland. In those days the eldest son did not always succeed the father on the throne.

"They were brave lads, these two sons of the old king, and upon learning of the death of their father each planned to race across the channel and be the first to place his hand upon the soil of Antrim and thus become king of all the north.

"With eight men each they started off from Mulicantry. On nearing the shores of the isles the youngest prince, whose name was Neill, seeing that his brother was in a fair way to become king, drew his sword, placed his left hand on the side of the boat and cut it off at the wrist.

"Quickly seizing the dripping hand, he threw it on shore and thus won the crown. Since that time, it is told, the bloody hand of Ulster has led to victory on many a hard fought field as emblem on the shields of the young king and his followers. Ulster's name, whether in trade or war or sport or on a steamship line, is known by this sign."—Philadelphia North American.

"It's easy to find out what time it is," said a married man. "If the hall clock says 5:30, and the drawing room clock says 5:50, and the dining room clock says 6:05, and my watch says 6:15, and my wife's little dinky watch says 6, it's 6 o'clock in our house."—San Logic.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Centre Pier at Cobourg, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M., on Wednesday, March 11, 1914, for the construction of the Centre Pier at Cobourg, Northumberland County, Ontario.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; Windsor, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Cobourg, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the envelope "Tenders for Burned Timber on the Gibson Reserve," will be received until noon on Thursday the 19th instant for about two millions of feet of Hemlock, and 150,000 feet of Hardwood, chiefly Maple and Beech and a large quantity of rough and undersized timber on the Gibson Reserve, Township of Gibson, Ontario.

Tenderers should state the prices they are prepared to pay for this Timber per thousand feet B.M. for the Hemlock; and the price per cord for the rough and undersized Timber. No Crown dues payable on either Timber or Wood.

The Hemlock and large Hardwood is understood to be only slightly injured. The successful tenderer shall furnish satisfactory security that the whole of the burned timber will be removed before the first day of May, 1915.

An accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered Bank for $400.00, made payable to the Receiver-General, must accompany each tender, which in the event of failure to carry out the undertaking shall be forfeited to the Department.

The Timber cut shall be measured by an Ontario Licensed Culler, and Sworn Returns of the kinds and quantities must be furnished, and payment for same made before removal of the Timber from the Reserve.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted, and the unauthorised publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

RUB THE OTHER EYE.

And Let the One in Which the Bit of Cinder Lodges Alone.

Nine persons out of every ten with a cinder or any other foreign substance in the eye will instantly begin to rub it with one hand while hunting for a handkerchief with the other. This is all wrong. The right way is not to rub the eye with the cinder in it, but to rub the other as vigorously as you like.

A few months ago I was riding on the engine of a fast express. The engineer threw open the front window of the cab, and I caught a cinder in my eye, which gave me intense pain. I began to rub the eye desperately, when the engineer called to me:

"Let that eye alone and rub the other one."

Thinking he was chaffing me, I only rubbed the harder.

"I know the doctors think they know it all, but they don't, and if you will let that eye alone and work on the other one you will soon have the cinder out," shouted the engineer.

I did as he directed and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus and made ready to take it out.

"Let it alone and keep at the well eye," again shouted the engineer.

I did so for a minute longer, and then, looking into a small glass the engineer handed me, I saw the offender on my cheek. I have tried it many times since, always with success.—Chicago Record-Herald

Bathing Machines.

Somebody has inquired why "bathing machines," the comfortable privacy of which for ocean bathing has never attracted bathers in this country, are called machines, remarking that there is nothing of a machine about them except the horse which draws them to the beach. The answer has been found in the new Oxford Dictionary. It appears that a "machine" was originally a "structure of any kind, material or immaterial," and has nothing to do with machinery, a later word. Ships were called machines, and it would have been proper to speak of a pulpit as a machine.—Argonaut.

Laughter and Death.

He can be said to have won the game of life who at the last can laugh. That final speech of O. Henry, the short story writer, was finer than any story he ever wrote. Just as he was dying he turned to the doctor and said: "Pull up the curtain, doc. I'm afraid to go home in the dark." The speech had in it wide courage and a sense of values. One forgives the royal Charles much frivolity for the sake of his dying speech, "Gentlemen, I fear I'm an unconscionable time a-dying."—Harper's.

Opera In Dumb Show.

The late Clara Novello in her reminiscences tells how Malibran once appeared in "Sonnambula" without uttering a note. She had taken cold and was prevented from singing at the last moment, though crowds of early comers already filled the house. "On the manager telling her, in despair, that, besides loss of money, these disappointed people would be dangerous she said, 'I can't speak above my breath; I should have to do it in dumb show!' Bunn at once caught at this outburst as if seriously meant and on his knees begged her to try this, and she, fired by the novelty, did so. The grateful public raved in praise of this surprising tour de force, and the sensation it made filled the papers."

Is there anything in the world so pathetic as the spectacle of a young man showing his favorite card trick to a bunch of girls? The slaughter goes like this—man speaks first:

"I used to know a clever trick with cards. Miss Ellen, choose a card from this pack."

"I am to choose? Which one?"

"Any one you like."

"But how can I tell when you show me only the backs and the backs are all exactly alike?"

"Just take one at random."

"Oh, is that fair? Well, here I've got the queen of diamonds."

"Oh, you mustn't tell me what you have. I'm to tell you that, you know. Put it back and take another."

"Why can't I keep this one? I can remember it better."

"There wouldn't be any trick. You see, you are to take a card that I don't see, and then I'm to find out the one you looked at."

"Oh! Why, I don't believe you can do it! All right; I've another one."

"Look at it and put it back in the pack."

"What part of the pack shall I put it in?"

"Anywhere you wish."

"But I should think you'd want to know, so you could tell which card it is. Well—there!"

"Now I shuffle them, so. Presto! Is this the card you chose?"

"Oh, I don't know. I forgot to look and see what one I took. Oh! Here's May. Now here are enough to play bridge. May, you should have been here sooner. Mr. Jones has been showing us the most wonderful card tricks!"—Cleveland Leader.

The Skeeters Return.

Night time, and the skeeters come.
Round and round they're winging.
Whew! Where are they coming from?
Listen to their singing.

"B-z-z-z-z!" the skeeters say,
Bite all night and sleep all day.
Never can keep them away—
Nets, smoke or kerosene—
Even nip you through a screen.

She Made Rapid Progress.

The feminine will out even in the case of children. This was amusingly shown not long ago when little Caroline, seven years old, and her brother, six years old, were sent to school on the same day.

For a week they attended regularly, and on Saturday night the proud father called them to him. With one on each knee, he asked what they had learned in school.

"Well," said the boy, "I learned dat de worl' is round. I can count up to five and say my alferbet."

His father beamed and by careful questioning got quite a remarkable amount of knowledge out of his small son.

"I'm proud of you, Freddie," he said, smiling. "Now, Caroline, have you learned lots too?"

"Uh, huh," answered Caroline shyly.

"Well," encouraged her father, "tell us what you have learned."

"I learned the names of all the boys in Freddie's class," she answered, proudly and wept when her father laughed.—Philadelphia Times.

Philip's Reminder.

Philip, father of Alexander, had a servant whose sole business it was to remind him that he was human. It is said accordingly that he never went from the house and, having returned, never gave audience to any one without first this servant would say to him three times in a loud voice, "Philip, thou art but a man!"

Soon to Be.

The old lawn mower has been hauled from the shed
And painted and oiled for the fray.
Ere long at the dawn will pa leap from his bed,
And the neighbors will hear with dismay
The whirring of blades that play havoc with grass,
But not without plenty of noise,
And some will exclaim as they listen, "Alas,
Late napping has lost all its joys!"

The Iron Cross.

The Iron Cross, an order of knighthood, was established by Frederick William III. of Prussia in March, 1813. The order was founded in order to honor patriotic bravery in the war against France. It was revived by Emperor William I. during the Franco-Prussian war and awarded by him to his son for his great victory at Wissembourg on Aug. 4, 1870. Later on the order was bestowed most generously, some 40,000 persons being decorated between 1870 and 1872.

THE WAISTCOAT A FINISHING TOUCH TO MANY OF THE NEW COSTUMES

A light gray ratine was cleverly relieved with black and white plaid silk and tiny black bone buttons in this smart little street frock (8058). It is a plain design with a full length set-in sleeve, an attractive waistcoat and a slightly gathered peplum. The skirt is a two-piece model in a two tier effect, the lower section being set on under a deep tuck.

A frock of this description will be found very convenient for wear under the heavy coats now modish, and a little later will do good service for street wear, after wraps have been discarded.

Serge or velveteen would be quite as effective for this model as the material shown here.

To copy this design in size 36 it requires 6½ yards of 36 inch material with ⅝ of a yard of 36 inch plaid or contrasting silk for trimming.

The bolero has appeared in tiny frocks, as may be seen in the illustration. Black velvet forms the bolero, and the dress itself is made of a wool crepe in a soft, pretty red. The frock closes in back and may be made in size 12 with 2⅞ yards of 36 inch material. A splendid feature of this little garment is the separate underwaist to which the bloomers are attached.

No. 8058—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8090—sizes 8 to 14.
Each pattern 15 cents.

THE DROP-SHOULDER AND THE KIMONO SLEEVE EQUALLY MODISH

Every imaginable device is being used to bring about the broad effects now demanded by Fashion. Yokes, drop-shoulders, raglan and kimono sleeves broaden the shoulders. The peg-top, pannier and wired tunic widen the hips.

Mannish serge in dark blue is used in 8096. The blouse shows a very effective yoke, a wide armhole and a small round collar. The skirt is a peg-top, and for novelty, perhaps for use, there are two nifty little stitched pockets, one on each side of the front. Pockets appear wherever there is the slightest encouragement on tailored frocks and coats. They offer an effective finish. Size 36 in this design will require 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8050-7737 is a costume of dull terra-cotta cloth with an inset vest in which there is just a touch of old blue. The blouse is one of those new coat blouses in peasant design with a circular peplum; the skirt shows just a few folds of drapery on each side of the panel. To copy this costume in size 36 it requires 3⅜ yards of 42 inch material for the blouse (8050) and 3⅛ yards of 42 inch material for the skirt in size 18.

No. 8096—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8050—sizes 32 to 42.

Men Who Don't Exercise

Suffer From Indigestion, Headache, Poor Appetite, Sleeplessness.

Nothing So Sure to "Set up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock.

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away. and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort and good spirits, there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

These [illegible]oth Costume Skirts at 99c Are a Wonder for the Price

AND THE WONDER INCREASES when one sees that these are not a clearance of old fashioned skirts, but smartly modelled five piece garments that are made upon the very latest and correct lines, in medium narrow width. Finished in tailored style, they have the high and close fitting waist, which being generally worn without belt or girdle, expresses neatness itself in women's attire. All the seams are raised, and a button and braid trimmed piece of self material, used as an insertion at the side of the skirt, is the only ornamentation upon the otherwise strictly plain tailored style. The material is of medium weight Venetian cloth, and is shown in every length and waist measurement, in black or navy blue. While speaking of the wonderful value, we can say in good faith that these skirts were never intended to be sold at anywhere near the Annex Price. But the Annex is renowned for its great bargains, and this garment is no exception, at 99c

CORSET COVER EMBROIDERY 12½c YARD

In everyday stock, this particular variety sells for 19c. It is in Swiss cambric of full width, and is nicely worked with beaded edge; thus being extra good buying at, per yard 12½c

Mr. Bullied's Loss Heavy.

Further particulars of the fire which caused the loss of Mr. John Bullied's dwelling in Chandos.—The only person at the home at the time were Johnsons' at home at the time were Mr. John Bullied, his son's wife and her mother. When first discovered, the fire had gained considerable headway upstairs. On opening the door the draft caused the fire to blaze out fiercely, and it seemed only a minute until the main part of the building was a blazing furnace. Mrs. Levi Bullied ran to call her faither-in-law, who was at the barn, and when he came could only rescue two trunks and a suit of clothes. Everything else was consumed. It was a comfortable and well furnished home and loss will be heavy. Unfortunately there was no insurance. The insurance had been kept up for years. but the policy expired about 2 years ago and was not renewed. It was a bitter cold day, and Mrs. Bullied and her mother had on only their house clothing—not even hats—and had to walk a considerable distance to a neighbor's. Mr. Levi Bullied is municipal clerk, and all the books and papers of the township were destroyed. Cause of fire unknown. The family have the sincere sympathy of all the community in their misfortune.

Lindsay Actors Suffer.

Lindsay Warder: Word has been received in town of the almost total destruction of the theatre at Port Huron, Mich., by fire a few nights ago. At the time the Graham Stock Company were on the boards and their loss will be a heavy one. D.D CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs" To Clean the Bowels.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

DEEPEN ST. LAWRENCE CANAL AS A PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, C. E., Makes a Proposal of Importance Regarding This Great Waterway

The Toronto News, of which Sir John Willison is Editor-in-chief, editorially states:—

"At a meeting of the Port Hope Council the other day, Mr. J. A. Culverwell presented strong arguments in favor of having the St. Lawrence Canals deepened while the new Welland Canal is being built. In his opinion it will be disastrous to Canada if time is lost in securing a deep water channel all the way from the head of the Great Lakes to the city of Montreal. The danger is that the Erie Canal from Buffalo across New York State to the Atlantic will draw off increasing quantities of Canadian grain unless we have a superior alternative route of our own.

In conclusion Mr. Culverwell said: "If the Government feels that the country cannot stand the expense, it would not take me a very long time to interest prominent gentlemen in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal in the project. We could build the canals ourselves and get Government assistance similar to that given the railways, in return for which the Government could regulate the rates so we could not utilise them too much for our own benefit.

While The News recognizes the enormous advantage that would accrue to Toronto and other lake ports and to all interior Canada from the opening of the St. Lawrence route, we should not like to see the route given over to the control of private capitalists, however worthy. Canadians have already done enough for transportation companies on land and future public expenditures for traffic facilities must be reserved for publicly owned enterprises. This view, moreover, is that held by an ever-increasing number of Canadians. The Federal and Provincial Treasuries have played the role of generous benefactors to the carrying corporations for far too long a time. But the St. Lawrence Canals should be deepened as to admit large ocean-going freighters to all the Great Lakes."

Mr. Culverwell, Power Engineer and Capitalist, was interviewed by the Port Hope Times, regarding the Toronto News editorial and said his offer as to the Welland-St. Lawrence Canal system being handed over to private capitalists was merely a suggestion in case the Dominion Government used the plea that it could not stand the cost of the building the St. Lawrence Canals while the new Welland is being built. He is grateful to such an influential journal as the News for its interest in his address and glad it agrees with him that the St. Lawrence Canals should be deepened; but Mr. Culverwell wants it clearly understood that St. Lawrence Canals need not be made any deeper than the new Welland. Thus it will make the terminal at the city of Montreal, where they have recently constructed immense elevators and harbours, costing many millions, to receive or transfer the grain to the great Ocean Leviathians instead of making the transfer at Prescott or carrying it past Montreal as suggested by Sir Robert Perks in the recent cable, re his Georgian Bay Canal private scheme.

Mr. Culverwell implores the Government not to waste time at present with the Georgian Bay French river, Ottawa Canals scheme, but to push on construction at once of the Welland St. Lawrence natural and existing canal system and thus head off the one hundred and fifty million dollar new Erie-American waterway, as also the Panama Canal, and to take care of Canada's ever-increasing grain and iron ore trade.

THE FRENCH BY-LINGUISTS

English-speaking Protestants are siding with the Church of Rome in her endeavor to bring the French bilingualists into abject and final submission. It would be funny if after all it should prove that the true enemies of Rome are not the English-speaking, but the French-speaking race. Execution of Collins at Calgary Was Bungled in a Horrible Manner

Calgary, Feb. 17.—To-day's hanging of Collins was most gruesome, the operation being bungled in a most horrible manner.

The trap was sprung at 8. Groans were heard to come from Collins' inanimate form fully 15 minutes after the trap was released. The Sheriff and the hangman held a hurried consultation to decide whether Collins should be subjected to the ordeal of the scaffold a second time.

Collins walked up to the scaffold. He paid no attention to the ro coffin as he passed it. Hangman Holmes was manifestly nervous as he adjusted the rope around Collins' neck. There must have been something wrong, for the rope slipped up and caught Collins around the chin. When he was cut down about five minutes after, it was apparent he was still alive, and, when laid beside the coffin, groans were heard to issue from time to time. However, they waited for 20 minutes and life gradually ebbed away, and he was pronounced dead at the end of that period.

BIG HAMILTON STORE WAS ALL ABLAZE

Fire Occurred Shortly Before Arrival of a Great Many Girls.

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 17.—Damage to the extent of $100,000 was done by the fire which swept the top floor of the four-storey building of R. McKay & Co., dry goods merchants, at King street east, shortly before eight o'clock this morning. The watchman went through the work room, where the blaze broke out, twenty minutes before the fire was discovered, and found everything all right. Employes of the Wood, Vallance Co. saw flames shooting through the roof and turned in a general alarm.

The work room would have been crowded with girls a few minutes after the fire was noticed. The flames were confined to the top floor, but heavy damage was done by the water which poured through the building.

Several firemen had narrow escapes when the roof collapsed and Lieut. Alexander Henderson, of the Park Company, nearly lost his life when he slipped on the icy roof of an adjoining building. He slid thirty feet and just managed to grasp a ladder as he was going over the edge of the roof, five storeys from the ground.

The McKay firm later declared the damage would run as high as $200,000. The deluge of water completely ruined a larged part of the stock.

The Wood, Vallance Co. suffered a loss of $10,000 from flooding. In both cases the loss is covered by insurance.

ENGLISH TEACHERS VICTORS IN THE STRIKE

County of Hereford Raises Salaries —The Chairman of the Board Resigns.

London, Feb. 17.—The striking teachers of the elementary schools in the county of Hereford have won their fight for a minimum salary, and the strike which started on Feb. 2 was declared over to-day.

The National Union of Teachers, which had guaranteed its members full salary for a period of five years, succeeded in forcing the education department of the county to grant substantial increases in the teachers' salaries. They had demanded a minimum salary of $500 per annum instead of $450 they had hitherto received. When they struck on Feb. 2, eighty of the guild schools under the jurisdiction of the council were closed and the educational work of the county was stopped, except in a few cases where headmasters, assisted by their families, made an effort to continue it.

James Corner, vice-chairman of the Hereford county council, to-day resigned office owing to this utter opposition to what he terms the "surrender" to the teachers

Compulsory Voting.

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 17.—Any man who fails to vote at a State or municipal election, or even to register, will be fined from $10 to $50, if a bill introduced by Assemblyman Stoddard, of New York, to-day is passed.

THE LEGISLATURE WILL GREET 4 NEW M.P.P.'S

Opening Takes Place To-morrow Afternoon With the Regular Pomp

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The opening of the Legislature to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock, which will be accompanied by the usual pomp, will be unusual to the extent that there are four new members to be introduced after the initial ceremony of welcoming the Lieut.-Governor and the reading of the speech from the throne. Since the close of last session there have been four bye-elections. Mr. Colin Cameron, newly-elect for North Grey, will be introduced by Hon. W. H. Hearst and J. I. Hartt. Mr. Geo. S. Henry, of East York, will be escorted to the throne by Hon. Dr. Reaume and T. H. Lennox, while Messrs. Follis and McFarlane of Peel and East Middlesex, respectively, will be accompanied by Hon. W. J. Hanna and C. R. McKeown, and Hon. Jas. Duff and A. H. Musgrove. The ceremony of welcoming new members is time honored.

As usual the speech from the throne will be delivered by Sir John Gibson, and it is not expected to foreshadow any marked legislation of the session. The duty of meeting Sir John at the front entrance and escorting him to the dais will fall upon Hon. J. J. Foy, Acting Premier, in the absence of Sir James Whitney. Invitations have been sent out to the usual number of representatives of the clergy, legal profession, and judiciary and these with their wives will crowd the ordinary M.P.P.'s out of the seats.

Halton Liberals elected H. Cunningham of Norval as president.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Generally fair and cold.

OFFER BONDS TO CITIZENS

Kingston Will Buy Factory Sites With the Savings of Its People.

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 17.—The City Council in an endeavor to secure more industries, is expending $24,000 in purchase of 28 acres of land at Kingston Junction as a site for many factories.

In order to enable people with small savings to invest, the Council has given instructions to the civic finance committee to consider the question of issuing debentures in $100 lots. It is known that at the present time the banks of the city have millions of dollars in small savings, and the view of Council is that it might have a portion of this invested in city debentures.

FORECASTS CHANGE-- COLD TO CONTINUE

Outlook for Mild Weather To-morrow Unexpectedly Disappears.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Yesterday's forecasts for milder weather to-morrow have unexpectedly changed, and the Observatory now predicts a continuance of cold weather. To-day will be cold with snow flurries, but tomorrow will be fair. Manitoba has again returned to very cold weather, the temperature in Winnipeg being 16 below this morning, although Alberta and Saskatchewan continue mild. A heavy storm has centred off the Maritime coast and is accompanied by a heavy snowfall.

MINER HAD MONEY AND HE WENT FREE

Porcupine Man, Drunk, Had $300 in the Bank—A Ready-Spender.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—In consideration of the fact that Robt. Quinn, a miner from Porcupine had $300 in the bank here he was let go on a drunk charge.

Alexander Burns, a lumberman, who has been cutting poles near Penetang, has spent the last week in Toronto trying to emulate the "Millionaire for a day" man by spending $40 in five days. In the police court to-day he had 65 cents. The railway fair to Penetang is about $4. He was fined $10 and costs or 30 days.

CANADIAN CLUB TO-NIGHT

Dr. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa, Chairman of the Civil Service Commission of Canada, will address the Canadian Club this evening, at the "Savoy," (Coleman's.) Dr. Shortt was for years professor of political economy at Queen's University. It was while there that he won for himself a place among the foremost in the ranks of political economists. He has contributed largely to magazines and periodicals in both Canada and the United States on current events and topics of reform. He is a recognized authority on labour questions and disputes and has on different occasions been appointed by the government to act as arbitrator in times of strike and lockouts.

His subject is taxation, and one is quite safe in saying that he will treat this present-day vexed topic in a manner that will be at one and the same time a delight and an instruction to those who hear him, for he will bring to bear upon it the fruits of years of study and a facility of expression that is the result of clear thinking.

It is to be hoped that there will be a large turn out of the members of the club to welcome Prof. Shortt and to hear what will be one of the best addresses of the season. Dinner at 6.30 p.m. sharp.

NEW YORK FIRM WINS $1,000 FOR MASONIC TEMPLE DESIGN

Toronto, Feb. 17.—The first prize of $1,000 for the best plan in the new Masonic Temple competition was last night awarded to Mr. H. P. Knowles, New York City, by the judging committee. Mr. Knowles was born and educated in Hamilton, Ont., but has been practising his profession as architect in New York for some years.

There were altogether 41 competitors for the prizes, and the remaining designs will be on exhibition next week at the public library on College street.

The handsome new Masonic Temple will be erected on the west side of Spadina road, north of Bloor street, on the site of the house formerly occupied by Sheriff Mowat. The lot has 100 feet frontage and a depth of 198 feet. The building will cost about $300,000 and tenders will be called for at an early date.

WOMEN PLACED IN RAILWAY BOX CAR

Told That it Would Take Them to Brantford, But It Did Not.

St. Thomas, Feb. 17.—Placed in a box car by some man at Niagara Falls late in the evening, two Hungarian women and two children, one aged 3 years and the other in arms, arrived at the G.T.R. depot here, not much the worse of a very cold journey.

They could not speak English. Their destination was Brantford and they were told when shut in the car that it would take them there.

MONTREAL HOPELESSLY CITY OF THE DIREST INIQUITY

Two Worlds, the Under and Over, and Both of Diseased Character, Says Rev. Ian Almond

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Discussing the social aspects of Montreal, Rev. Ian Almond, the prison chaplain, last night told the Montreal Women's Club that the city was almost hopeless in criminal mismanagement, but not irremediable.

The speaker made the point that there were two phases of life to be considered here, the over-world and the under-world.

He said: "The man at the Windsor Hotel and the Ritz-Charlton Hotel can do certain things and can be taken home in his auto or cab; the poor man in another part of the city can do the same thing and be taken to the City Hall in the Black Maria. The only difference is that of price.

"Montreal has lost its sense of proportion. The city has lost all idea of the sense of the guilt of sin. We hear much of the white slave traffic, but the heart of the country is being eaten by a cancerous growth and the divine power of life is gone."

The speaker stated that the average residence in the Protestant jail was twelve, with a cost for each greater than the average hotel charge, by far the greater number of women preferring to go into the Catholic jail, where there was less chance of their imprisonment being made public. The existence of two jails for women he characterized as absurd; religious bigotry affording temptation to the unfortunates of both sides to deny their religion to suit their own convenience.

In conclusion, Canon Almond said: "Higher up among the luxurious livers are bribery and petty crimes; among captains of industry are widespread gambling and paying of wages below the standard. The city is rotten from top to bottom.

"The safest plan is to segregate the vicious and turn on the lights; know where we stand instead of shutting one door and opening two."

FABRE LINE STEAMER IS NOW REPORTED OFF THE ROCK

Reached Harbor Safely With 527 Persons --- Change of Wind Released Vessel

Providence, R.I., Feb. 17.—The Fabre liner Roma, which was aground off No Man's Island for six hours late yesterday in a seventy-mile gale, stood off Brenton's Reef with her 427 passengers and a crew of 100 safe early to-day, waiting for a pilot.

Captain Combernous reported that his vessel got off under her own power, when the wind shifted to the northwest.

Responding to S.O.S. calls of the Roma's wireless operator, three revenue cutters and a tug were raced to the assistance of the vessel.

The Roma, bound from Marseilles, Naples and Lisbon, to Providence and New York, was battling terrific seas, which had driven her nearly 20 miles off her course when she was thrown upon the rocky shoals ten miles south of Martha's Vineyard. She was aground for six hours and seemed doomed to be pounded to pieces when a fortunate shift in the wind enabled her to free herself. The weather cleared somewhat in the early morning, although the wind continued high and the Roma was able to proceed slowly towards port.

The Roma arrived at Quarrantine at 10 o'clock to-day, listing heavily to port. The health officer was the only person allowed to board the vessel before she docked at noon.

STORM TIES UP AN ISLAND

Fifteen Feet of Snow as Another Argument for the P.E.I. Tunnel.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Feb. 17.—Prince Edward Island is to-day in the grip of a howling north-easterly storm. The snow is drifted in places to a depth of 15 feet. Business is at a standstill as far as traffic is concerned. Neither steamers or trains are able to move.

Rev. W. H. Towle has been inducted as first Anglican rector at Lansdowne.

A Twelve Knot Gait.

Jack: "Once more, Molly, will you marry me?"

Molly: "For the twelfth time this hour I tell you I will not."

Jack (of the navy): "Well, twelve knots an hour is not bad speed for a little craft like you."

TWO PRISONERS TUNNEL SELVES FREE FROM JAIL

Alleged Murderer Escapes From the Greensburg Jail.

Greensburg, La., Feb. 17.—Two prisoners broke jail at this place Monday night. They dug a tunnel large enough to squeeze through under the foundation of the building.

One of the prisoners was being held for trial on a charge of murder, and the other was serving a two year sentence for robbery.

No trace of the prisoners has been found.

THE CZAR'S LEAVINGS.

A Doubtful Honor That Was Rejected by a Polish Girl.

In Russia royalty is so revered that to the loyal subject it seems a great honor to follow the czar. The government is eminently patriarchal—in theory, at least—and the emperor must supervise as well as patronize the schools. At the Easter festival the pupils are treated with especial favor. Young girls of the upper classes of the Imperial Girls' school are driven in a long procession through the streets in the imperial carriages. The pleasure for them is only that of being allowed to take a drive in a stylish court carriage, with coachman and footman in the imperial livery. There is nothing special to be seen.

The theory of this is that the czar stands in a sort of higher parental relation to all these children. When he once a year visits one of these schools—to which only the children of the nobility are admitted—it is a custom that as a sign of his favor he drops his pocket handkerchief, and the girls all scramble for it, tearing it in pieces, so that each one can get a fragment.

He takes the most brilliant girl to the table and tastes of the food of the institution. It is valued as the highest distinction when he gives one of the girls his plate with what is left upon it. It is the custom and usage for her to eat it with delight shown in all her features. Great was the astonishment of Alexander II. when a young girl, a Pole, whom the czar had taken to the table as being the most distinguished scholar of the institute and to whom he had passed what was left of his meat and potatoes, nodded to a servant and calmly gave him the czar's plate to take away.

Merely a Hint.

"I can't go calling on you, as I intended," apologized Mrs. Biddyboda. "The dentist is going to work on my teeth all this afternoon."

"Couldn't you come anyhow, dear?" cooed Mrs. Fordrive. "You could wear a veil and not talk much."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Second Ditto—And I got mine by putting other people's where I could get my hands on it easily.—Puck.

Porto Rico's Pineapples.

Pineapple culture in Porto Rico has given such large returns that many of the insular government officials have bought small plantations, given up their official positions and become independent. Lands have quadrupled in value in some cases. The present acreage on the north shore exceeds 2,000, and it is predicted that it will soon be over 10,000.

An Unfair Attack.

Pietro was working with a gang at railroad construction. He had been told to beware of rattlesnakes, but assured that they would always give the warning rattle before striking.

One hot day he was eating his noon luncheon on a pine log when he saw a big rattler coiled a few feet in front of him. He eyed the serpent and began to lift his legs over the log. He had barely got them out of the way when the snake's fangs hit the bark beneath him.

"Son of a guna!" yelled Pietro. "Why you no ringa da bell?"—Everybody's.

Forget Once In Awhile.

The health of the body as well as of the mind depends upon forgetting. To let the memory of a wrong, of angry words, of petty meanness, linger and rankle in your memory will not only dissipate your mental energy, but it will react upon the body. The secretions will be diminished, digestion impaired, sleep disturbed and the general health suffer in consequence. Forgetting is a splendid mental calisthenic and a good medicine for the body.

The Firstborn.

Young Father—I am amazed, shocked, my dear, to hear you say you intend to give the baby some paregoric. Don't you know paregoric is opium, and opium stunts the growth, enfeebles the constitution, weakens the brain, destroys the nerves and produces rickets, marasmus, consumption, insanity and death?

Young Mother—Horrors! I never heard a word about that. I won't give the little ducky darling a drop, no indeedy. But something must be done to stop his yelling. You carry him awhile.

Father (after an hour's steady stamping with the squalling infant)—Where in thunder is that paregoric?—New York Weekly.

Glances.

He would have been glad to exchange glances with her.

But a fair exchange were no robbery.

And she chose rather to steal a glance when she thought he wasn't looking.

"Oh, woman, woman!" he murmured, but dared not reproach her openly.—Puck.

ANCIENT LUXURIES.

Silver Lined Cooking Utensils Used Twenty Centuries Ago.

While the housewife of today may reasonably pride herself on the conveniences which her kitchen affords, she need not smile too superciliously at the thought of the makeshifts of days long gone by. She would certainly not do so were she to spend a little time inspecting the kitchen and other household utensils that were in use 2,000 years ago, as exhibited in the national museum at Naples. Saucepans lined with silver, pails richly inlaid with arabesques in silver and shovels handsomely carved figure among the household goods of those times.

An egg frame that would cook twenty eggs at once and pastry molds shaped like shells suggest luxuries of the kitchen of 2,000 years ago. Gridirons and frying pans, tart dishes and cheese graters were in use then as now.

The Roman lady's toilet table was well supplied. Ivory combs, bottles of perfume, pots of cosmetics, buttons, hairpins and even a hair net of gold wire figure in the museum.

Bronze thimbles and spindles are to be seen among the relics. The Roman lady even had her safety pin, for there is a specimen of this little convenience which, before the one in the Naples museum was found, was believed to be a strictly modern invention.

The Roman lady, however, apparently lacked one essential. She had no hairbrush. Neither had she a glass mirror. All the mirrors in the museum, with one exception, are of silver or some other white metal. The exception is a dark purple piece of glass let into the wall of a bedroom at the house Specchio in Pompeii.

In surgical instruments the ancient world was rich. Those found at Pompeii deprive modern science of the credit of more than one invention. Needles, probes and forceps resemble closely those in use at the present day.—Harper's Weekly.

Ancient Egyptian Mortgage.

Of all the numerous Egyptian papyri dating from the Greco-Roman period and preserved in the British museum none can be said to be of greater interest than those throwing light on the social conditions and manners and customs of the period. Many of these documents are mortgages, bills of sale and marriage contracts. Of the first named class a very interesting one is dated in the twentieth year of Cleopatra and Ptolemy. It appears that a shepherd named Menthu and his mother, Taunic, finding themselves in difficulties, mortgaged their field to a woman named Ete for the sum of 600 pieces of silver, which they promised to repay in eight months' time with interest. In case of failure of this condition they were willing to forfeit the field without further trouble or litigation. After giving the measurements of the land and particulars of its boundaries the document is attested by Horu-se-ist, scribe of Unir-er, alias Amenhotep.—London Globe.

An Interesting Experiment.

The following is an interesting experiment, which consists in placing five fluids on the top of one another in the order of their density without allowing them to mix. It is best to show this experiment after dinner when coffee is being served. You will then have all the liquids necessary at your command. A tall, thin glass is the first requisite. At the bottom of this glass pour in a little cold sweet coffee. Then make a cone of paper, whose point is turned at a right angle, and cut off the point so as to make an opening no larger than a quarter of a dollar. Pour gently in a little cold water, which will escape by the limb of you funnel, impinge on the side of the glass and take its due place on the surface of the coffee. Cease pouring when the height of the water equals that of the coffee.

Through a second cone you pour a layer of strongly colored wine, port if possible, through a third a layer of salad oil and through a fourth alcohol that is on the table for boiling your coffee. If carefully do- each layer will swim upon the under fluid, and the whole will present a glass of brown, white, red, yellow and white layers of liquid

At a Pinch.

There's a certain minister whose duties sometimes call him out of the city. He has always arranged for some one of his parishioners to keep company with his wife and little daughter during these absences. Recently, however, he was called away so suddenly that he had no opportunity of providing a guardian.

The wife was very brave during the early evening. But after dark had fallen her courage began to fail. She stayed up with her little girl till there was no excuse for staying any longer and then took her upstairs to bed.

"Now, go to sleep, dearie," she said. "Don't be afraid. God will protect you."

"Yes, mother," answered the little girl, "that'll be all right tonight, but the next time let's make better arrangements."—Human Life.

Bad Selection.

"Goodness me, but that woman's auto horn is loud!"

"It is that. She should have used noiseless power."—Baltimore American.

Guessing.

He (bashfully)—Does your mother object to—to kissing?

She—Why, George, would you rather kiss mother than me?—Boston Herald.

The Other Half.

A man owes 2 cents. He pays 1 cent one day, ½ cent the next, and so on, one-half each day of the debt. Now although on the fourth day he only owes one-quarter of a cent, if he should be endued with the gift of immortality and he should continue to pay the debt at the same ratio, he could never pay all of it. There would always remain that half of the former day's payment, provided he had coins small enough to make the payments.

An advertisement in The Times is guaranteed to reach regularly 98 per cent. of the homes of Peterborough. Sworn statement furnished of proof of this if required.

Business men are also reminded that The Times is the only paper that reaches those served by the Rural Mail Routes on the day of issue. As a result it gets the call.

Thus advertisers will therefore know that by using The Times for their business announcements, they not only reach the WHOLE population of this city of 21,000 people, but a large proportion of those residing within a twenty-mile radius of the city. These are the people who have the money to pay for what they want.

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.
Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.
Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 6 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to exist. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment that should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy to build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

Mr. A. Mogabgab delivered the address at a meeting of boy scouts in Toronto last week, and we judge by the name of the young gentleman that he is a fluent and copious talker.

◆

A Toronto physician says the bite of the bedbug produces cancer. What nonsense is this. Thiusands of people in Toronto who feed the sociable insects every night show no symptoms of the disease.

A Toronto paper says: "Mrs. Matt Cox desires to thank her kind friends who assisted her so materially in the death of her husband." His name is not mentioned, but we suppose that that the doctor is included in the list of friends.

ENGLISH EDUCATION FOR FOREIGNERS

It seems a most desirable and necessary thing that if Canada is to be a nation its vast polyglot of speech must be welded together by a knowledge of the national language, English. It is too much to expect that adult immigrants should learn our language perfectly, but the children who attend our schools should be taught the English tongue. But how shall this be done with least resistance and greatest success? A year ago, Mr. Black, a teacher in Regina, in his book, "English for the non-English," declared that in his opinion the best way was to make English the ordinary medium of instruction from the first day of school. In last month's issue of The School, Mr. J. T. M. Anderson, inspector of schools in Saskatchewan deals with the matter, and reaches exactly the same conclusion as Mr. Black. The inspector gives actual classroom experience. He tells of one teacher who started to learn Icelandic in order to help his Icelandic pupils, but who speedily abandoned the attempt when he found that he made better progress with pupils of other tongues of which he knew absolutely nothing. This happened in Manitoba. In Saskatchewan this same teacher found himself in a school section where one trustee was a Hungarian, another a Pole, and the third a Swede, the last being the only one who knew anything of English. In his school of fifty pupils more than forty were utterly ignorant of English, and yet in nine months a concert was given in which over forty children took part, and it was wholly in English. Of course the testimony of these teachers does not absolutely settle the matter, for they are English, and naturally may be expected to favor their mother tongue, but the subject is an exceedingly important one, and must be dealt with wisely as well as firmly. We do not need to disparage the native tongue of any people, but every child in Canada should be taught English.

THE U. S. TRUSTS

President Wilson has opened his campaign for legislation, not to amend, but to explain and clarify the Sherman anti-trust law. Since his inauguration he has accomplished two of his objects, tariff reduction and currency reform, and with a measure of ease and absence of friction, which proved the supremact he exercises in the councils of the Democratic party. His ascendency is due to the confidence he has inspired in his cabinet and in the rank and file. They feel that he knows the road, that he has thought out the problems he seeks to solve, and that he is following forth a settled policy. No less has the president succeeded in restoring business confidence. None knows better that on the results he achieves rests the fortunes of the Democrats.

RITUAL CASE LAWYER CHALLENGES FOR DUEL

Beilis Lawyer Seeks Fight With the "Black Hundred's" Attorney.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—A challenge to a duel was sent to-day by A. Eavenko, nationalist leader in the duma, to G. Zamislovsky, a conservative deputy and attorney for the "Black Hundred."

Zamislovsky was one of the prosecuting attorneys at the trial of Menday Beilise at Kiev, for the so-called "ritual trial." In the course of the trial he alleged that Eavenko had told him that M. Shulgren, editor of the newspaper Kievlianin, whose championship of Beilise is generally regarded as having secured the acquittal of the accused, was actuated by the sordid motive of securing money from the Jews to support a sugar factory in which he was interested. M. Eavenko declares the statement a falsehood.

$100 REWARD $100

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Couldn't Breathe Through His Nose Stuffed with Catarrh

Catarrhozone Inhaler the One Means of Relief and It Cured Quickly.

The extraordinary efficacy of Catarrhozone is without a parallel. A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes, a harsh cough is eased in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system. In case of asthma and bronchitis the relief and certain cure that comes from the healing balsamic extracts in Catarrhozone is simply wonderful.

"For more than twenty years I suffered with a cough, bronchitis, asthma, and nasal catarrh, writes, J. F. Fenwick, of Staunton P.O. "Every attack I had seemed to grow worse and I could hardly breathe on account of an accumulation of phlegm in the nose and throat. One day I tried Catarrhozone and in ten minutes was wonderfully relieved. I could breathe freely and naturally through the nose, and blood spitting was stopped—the phlegm was cleared away and my regular breathing restored. No remedy can do more than Catarrhozone."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

NEW GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have read with interest the comments of the gentlemen who have been interviewed by your reporter, also the letters of correspondents in reference to the discussion that is now going on in reference to location of the new Customs House. From the report I saw that the post office was not mentioned. It said that fifty thousand dollars had been set aside for a new Customs House. One of your correspondents objects to the Government sending a representative here to look the situation over. As the Government represents the people, I think it only right that they should look into a matter of this kind, and as trustees of the people, see what disposition is to be made of the money.

My impression is that the Government, through our most worthy representative, Mr. J. H. Burnham, will be most willing and anxious to put up the best building it is possible to construct for the amount of the appropriation voted, and see that the situation will be one worthy of the new edifice. Also most convenient for the citizens. Come now, let us reason together. I am satisfied when our local and Dominion officials meet, this matter will be straightened out to the satisfaction of all.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER

FOR TIRED OUT MEN AND WOMEN A SURE CURE FOR ANAEMIA

Provides the Blood with Red Corpuscles so Necessary to Life

Clears and Improves the Complexion

For twenty years a celebrated German scientist worked at this great specific seeking to find the secret of blood building. The vegetable contents were brought from the four corners of the earth and so blended that a genuine blood and tissue builder was at last produced.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER has proved a boon to mankind. The tired worn out mother in the home, with her daily round of domestic and social cares, the head of the family in office or workshop, the growing girl or biy during schooling period, at times need a body building medicine. Sanol Blood Builder supplies the blood with and incorporates into the organism of the human body that which it absolutely needs, the good results are marked and rapid.

Sanol Blood Builder, if taken according to the directions will stop the waste of the body, brighten the appetite, strengthen the system, rebuild the blood corpuscles, improve the complexion, brace the muscles and calm the brain.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE

A large audience listened attentively to Miss Babcock as she preached an interesting sermon last night in the Free Methodist church. Miss Babcock took for her text the 5th verse of the 13th Chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

"These words," said the speaker, "were spoken by Jesus, and are very important, therefore we should give them due consideration. He was correct in his theology, and spoke so plainly, that he is easily understood. I am aware that the doctrine of repentance is considered old-fashioned and out of date; but wherever fruitful revivals have been held this important truth has always been kept to the front; and without this the work done is always superficial. Jesus taught the necessity of repentance, and in the text he made a very emphatic statement concerning it. Sins not repented of cannot be forgiven. Repentance is God's method of bringing the sinner where he can be forgiven. This results in genuine conversion, and a consistent victorious life. Of course the flesh craves an easier way, and many schemes have been concocted to meet this craving. Many of the modern methods used in revivals are inadequate. We hear good sermons, which produce conviction, but instead of leading the awakened sinner to a place where he can secure a knowledge of sins forgiven by the Bible method, which is repentance, and faith in the atonement, he is asked merely to hold up his hand, or advised to trust in the Lord, before he has evangelically repented. Now, it is all right to hold up the hand and also to try and trust in the Lord, but this without repentance is not enough. By repentance, I mean confessing and forsaking every sin, everything prohibited in the Word of God. Some seekers are advised to be baptised and join the church. While these are good things in their place, yet where they are so taught as to substitute the necessity of a change of heart it is fatal to the soul's interests. It is the business of the church to get souls saved, not merely to increase the membership. There are many in the church to-day who were never converted. I would like to have everybody join the church, but I do not want to see a single person do so until they are truly converted.

Chas. G. Finney said: "Until you can convince the people that the current religion is not the religion of the Bible, you can do but little toward converting them." The only thing that can give a person victory over evil words, bad tempers and bad habits, is the grace of God received at conversion. Many are deceived in these "last days." Friends, have you ever confessed your sins, and forsaken them, every one, and received a change of heart. This change comes to the repentant-believing soul, not in word only but in power and in the Holy Ghost and in much assurance." Power to overcome sin. Salvation is deliverance from sin. It is living grace we need. We can be satisfied in Christ. But true heartfelt satisfaction comes only on the line of repentance and faith.

Come to-night and hear Rev. W. B. Olmstead of Chicago, Ill.

RATS COSTS ORLEANS $630,000 ANNUALLY

New Orleans, Feb. 17.—At an annual cost of $630,000 the city of New Orleans maintains rats. This sum is more than two-thirds the amount spent by the city in the maintenance of its schools.

The United States Government is held responsible for the rat end of these statistics. In a bulletin of the United States Public Health Service, just issued, R. H. Creel, past assistant surgeon of the service, points out that each rat every day destroys no less than one-half cent's worth of property. In other words it costs to maintain one rats a single year $1.80.

"In every city there always are as many rats as there are human inhabitants," the surgeon asserts. This means that in New Orleans there are at least 350,000 rats which cost the city annually $630,000.

"Scatter rat poison abroad," implores Dr. Creel, "and help cut the high cost of living."

DISCOLORED, WRINKLED SKIN EASILY REMOVED

(From the Woman Beautiful).

Since brown or yellow, over-red or blotchy complexions are decidedly not the fashion, I cannot understand why so many continue to wear them. Surely every woman has heard of mercolized wax. This I know—from my own and others' experiences—will positively banish every unsightly tint. The wax really takes off a bad complexion. It gradually, harmlessly, absorbs the thin layer of surface skin with all its defects, as chaps, liver spots, pimples, freckles, blackheads. Just as gradualy the discarded skin is replaced by the clear, white, youthful skin underneath. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is applied nightly like cold cream and erased mornings with warm water. One ounce will produce the loveliest girlish complexion in less than a fortnight.

I can't understand, either, why folks will be bothered with wrinkles, since the famous saxolite formula has become public property. One ounce of powdered saxolite dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel, makes a wash lotion that will quickly efface every line, even the deepest.

Secrets of Beauty

Finger Tap Tattoo for Twin Chins

By Maggie Teyte

Prima Donna Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

MAGGIE TEYTE

THE double chin presents a problem which every woman finds herself called upon to solve sometime during her life. It is a problem which must be solved, too, if the semblance of youth, or perhaps, to be more exact, the appearance of agelessness which is the modern demand, is to be met.

Nothing gives so sure a vintage mark to the face as the double chin. It is not obliterated by the most brilliant coloring nor the brightest eyes. It tells with hateful eloquence the story of sagging muscles, which do not come into view until a woman has passed the [illegible]-year limit, the end of age discretion, by modern reckoning.

The beauty specialists offer choice of several modes of reducing this excess of chins, and throw in the comforting information that constant and watchful attention is the price of keeping the drooping fulness at bay.

I think there are comparatively few beauty parlors now where the old-fashioned massage is practised. The tapping of the skin to restore circulation and exercise the muscles seems to have replaced it. In this way oils and creams and unguents are absorbed by the skin and starved tissues are fed.

How Chin Strap Works.

A woman, who is famous in America, London and Paris for her methods, uses some wonderful oils, which are most penetrating, and advises the use of a chin strap, which is to be worn at night and every time you have the chance during the day. This is followed by the use of astringent lotions, which will encourage the flesh to shrink back to its former place and give strength to lax muscles.

There is another similar strap offered by another well known woman which is made of medicated rubber, excellent both as a reducer and tightener of muscles. While this is being worn profuse perspiration is induced, and the flesh departs quite magically. The removal of the excess flesh is the easiest thing about getting rid of too much chin. If the work stops there the result will be anything but attractive. The remaining flesh must be made firm, and the evidence of the fat which once was there must be entirely obliterated.

The electric roller has been used with success for the work, and there is an apparatus on the market which works upon the roller principle, and is said to accomplish good results.

One of the best ways to avoid the double chin is to sleep with the mouth closed, for the tipped back head and the sagging muscles all night will have their disastrous effect if allowed to grow into a habit. The collarless gown has been the salvation of the contour of the face in many cases, for the high collar made an extra chin even on young persons.

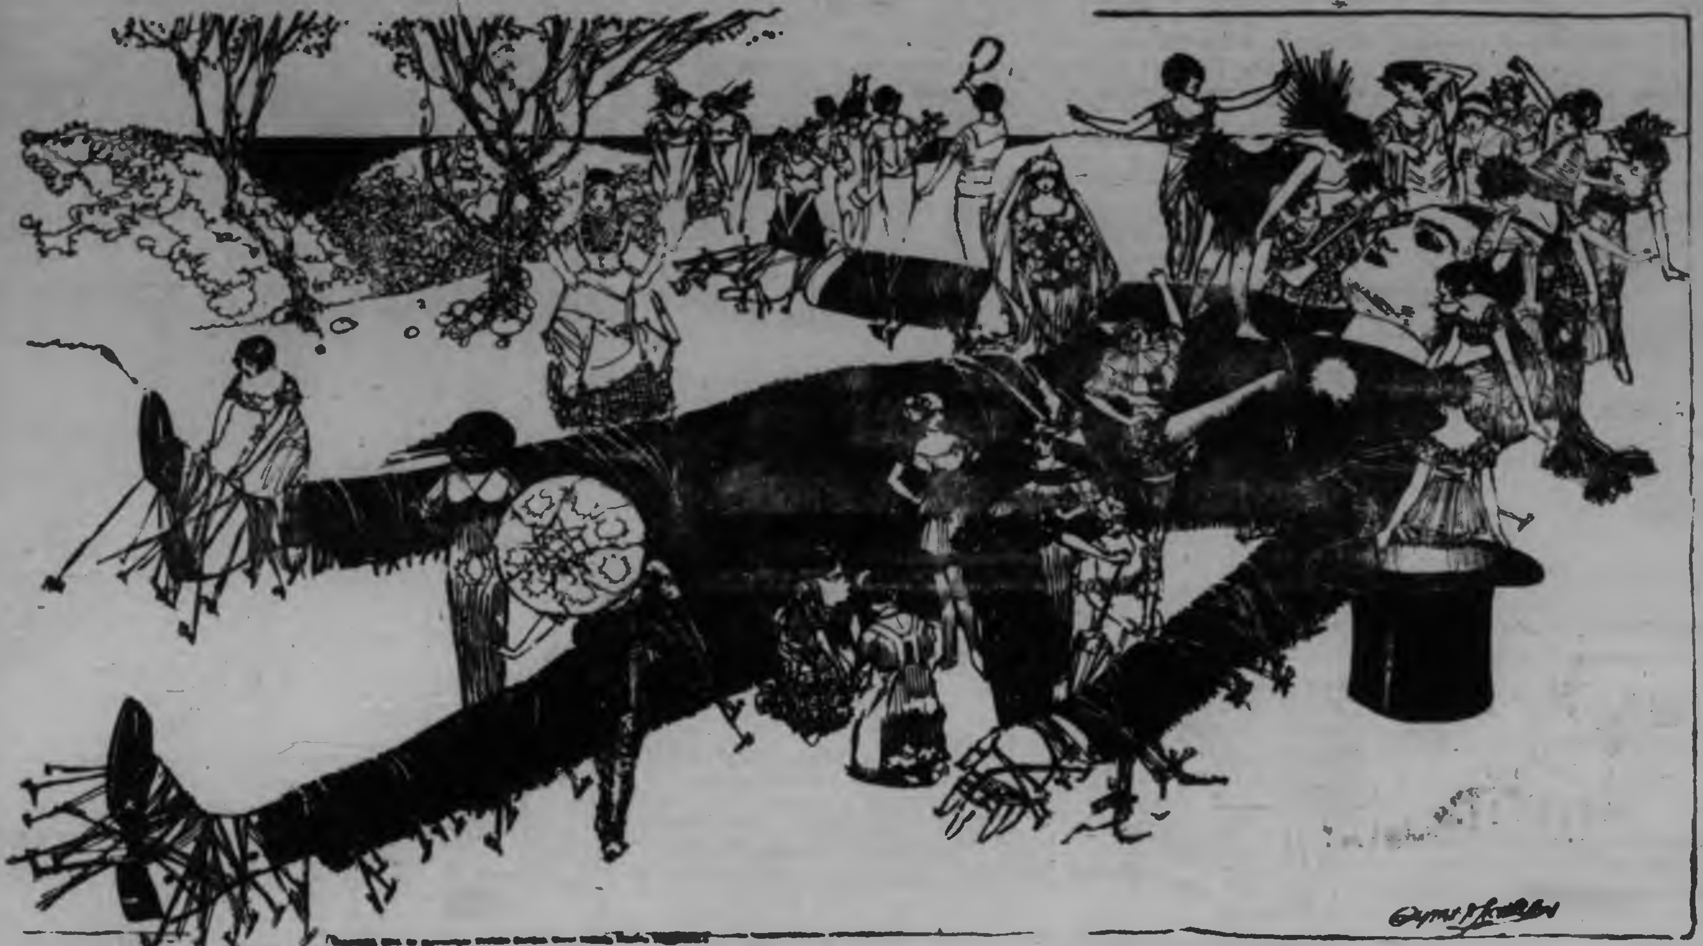
Some Easy Methods.

For those of us who have neither the time nor money to spend with professionals there are many helpful exercises that will not only avail much in ridding of the chin which has already accumulated, but will drive away any latent tendency.

First stretch the chin forward as far as possible and then draw it back. Then stretch it up as far as possible and lower it till it rests against the throat. Do these stretching movements with regularity and persistence. Cultivate the habit of holding the head up a bit if there is any chance of a double chin being on its way.

When you try massage be sure not to loosen the tissues of the skin. That is one of the causes of flabbiness. Use a good cold cream, and with the back of the hands firmly wipe away the fat. Then tap the cold cream into the flesh with the ends of the fingers and a good bit of force. After using the cream go over the flesh with a lump of ice to tighten the skin, and use some good astringent. I have given recipes for several

THE MODERN GULLIVER :: :: :: :: :: By Michelson



YOU remember about Gulliver—how the Lilliputians got him and fastened him down tight with pegs and ropes until he couldn't move.

Michelson has taken this Gulliver idea to show you the modern young man in captivity under the wiles and fascinations of the modern girl.

No question that she HAS him.

Like Gulliver, he has his moment of being startled. Then of being amused. He studies the creatures who have caught him. O, there are so many kinds! Each with her own subtle way of fastening him down, and her own charming way of gloating afterward.

Only one way for the captive to win out. Like Gulliver, he must first cajole, then use his strength to SERVE his captors. That's what he was born for. So long as he lets them strap him down he is useless. He must KEEP ON HIS FEET.

Hints on Health

Face Spasms Become Habit if Neglected

By Dr. L. K. Hirshberg

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg

DR. HIRSHBERG

DOES your eyelid ever twitch? Beware if it does. Never allow any twitchings of the corners of your mouth, the muscles of your legs, or the edges of your lips more than once without looking to it.

Many of the causes of facial "spasms," lip quivers or other muscular twitchings may never be found out.

If it is possible to discover the origin of a twitch, it must be removed at once. Otherwise the twitching will become permanent and cause you great distress.

There is a very close and contempt-breeding familiarity between the facial and other muscles and the brain habits of individuals. A momentary vibration of the one brings about a corresponding spasm in the other.

What seems a trivial twitch, unimportant or even amusing for a moment, becomes quickly established as a habit, beyond all volitional control.

Then the twitch or spasm settles down as a permanent and annoying spectacle. Now, doctors are almost powerless against it, and they dub it with a new name. It is a "tic."

A tic is nothing more nor less than a neglected twitch which has resolved itself into a pernicious habit.

All habits are the result of loosening the strings of your knowledge of what is taking place. While a man learns a trade, he is conscious of each movement he makes. After he becomes expert he is no longer aware of his ease and dexterity.

The doing away with "awareness" of what you are doing is a habit. After a baby has learned his steps, after you can play Beethoven's lively seventh symphony, after a tight-wire walker can juggle balls as he glides upon his uncanny string in midair, all sense of behavior and activity has been detached from consciousness.

Tics and permanent habit spasms are the same way. Whatever began them has been cut off from them. The little multiple ignitions keep sparking spontaneously. The habit has been permanently formed.

Bad teeth, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, tumors, obstructions in the nose, enlarged glands in the neck, scars in the skin, occupations such as watch-making, monocle wearing and the like have all been noted as sources of tics, twitches and facial habit spasms.

Words of Wise Men

Slander is the solace of malignity.—Joubert.

Present fears are less than horrible imaginings.—Shakespeare.

A mercantile democracy may govern long and widely; a mercantile aristocracy can not stand.—Landor.

By gambling we lose both our time and treasure, two things most precious to the life of a man.—Lavater.

Fenelon died exemplifying the mean he had always observed between prodigality and avarice, leaving neither debts nor money.—Ruskin.

Every blade of grass in the field is measured; the green cups and the colored crowns of every flower are curiously counted; the stars of the firmament wheel in calculated orbits; even the storms have their laws.—Blaikie.

It is well for gamesters that they are so numerous as to make a society of themselves, for it would be a strange abuse of terms to rank those among society at large whose business it is to prey on all who compose it.—Cumberland.

We must distinguish between felicity and prosperity; for prosperity leads often to ambition, and ambition to disappointment; the course is then over, the wheel turns round but once; while the reaction of goodness and happiness is perpetual.—Landor.

The secret of success in society is a certain heartiness and sympathy. A man who is not happy in company, can not find any word in his memory that will fit the occasion; all his information is a little impertinent. A man who is happy there, finds in every turn of the conversation occasions for the introduction of what he has to say. The favorites of society are able men, and of more spirit than wit, who have no uncomfortable egotism, but who exactly fill the hour and company, contented and contenting.—Emerson.

Too Good for a Girl's Work

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

Winifred Black

SAM COHEN ran away from home the other day, and went and slept in a cellar for a week.

He was very hungry and rather shivery when the police found him and took him to the children's court to find out what was the matter with him.

It was very simple.

"I ran away," said Sam Cohen, aged 12, "because my aunt made me wash dishes."

"Can't you wash dishes?" asked the justice.

"Sure," said Sam, "but I'm a boy."

Whereupon the judge let Sam go and Sam's aunt promised by indirection that she would never insult Sam's manhood again by asking him to wash a dish.

I wonder why. I haven't a doubt that Sam's sister split kindling and carried up coal whenever she had to and never once thought of saying that it was a boy's work and that she didn't have to do it.

If I had a boy in my house who wouldn't wash the dishes for me when he had nothing else to do and I needed those dishes washed, he wouldn't stay in my house very long.

I knew a boy once who kept his sisters and his mother on the jump from morning till night waiting on him. He threw his coat on the floor and his hat on the piano and his shoes on a chair. And if you had asked him to mend a hole in his own socks he would have dropped dead with heart failure.

I saw that boy the other day. He had just come from a long cruise in the navy, and you ought to see the way he can darn socks and sew on buttons and tidy up his room—now.

And he's a good deal more of a man in every way today than he was before he ran away from home to see the world and get away from apron strings.

There's nothing in the wide world so offensively out of place to my mind as an effeminate man.

If I had a boy who said "for goodness sake" and "dear me," and who could tell the difference between violet and mauve, I'd take him down to Finnigan's alley and turn him loose for the Finnigan boys to make a man of him. But if that same boy should feel himself above helping out at home with plain, everyday housework when there was nobody to help out but him, I'd set him out in the cold, cruel world and let him find out just how much people cared whether he was doing a boy's work or a girl's—so long as he did it and did it right.

I've seen a young fellow who was out of work sit around the house and wait for sister to light a fire and get supper for him.

And sister did it, and looked pleasant about it at that.

I saw a man go into his wife's room and wake her up to get up and sew a button on a particular coat at a particular time.

The wife had been up all night with a sick baby and was trying to get a wink of sleep while the baby slept. But that didn't make any difference. That button had to go on right then and there.

No other button and no other coat would do at all, though the closet hung full of coats. Any man who hasn't sense enough to learn how to sew on a button for himself really ought to go to a school for the feeble-minded.

Little Mr. Samuel Cohen, it's a good thing for you that I'm not your aunt, you ridiculous little rascal, you. I'd laugh you out of your absurd sense of your own importance if I had to tie an apron around your waist and make you go out and sweep the front porch right in the face of the Finnigan boys.

And I wouldn't let you grow up into a sissy either.

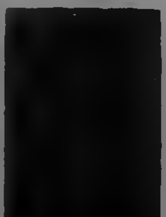
✕ Salads That Revive the Appetite ✕

By M. Jean Richroch

Chef of the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York



JEAN RICHROCH

A DINNER is not a dinner without a good salad. A salad makes one forget the heavy courses that have preceded it, cools the throat, and revives the appetite for the things to come.

One of the most wonderful salads is Yildiz salad, the recipe for which I got in Constantinople. It is made of endive leaves, which form a fringe about the entire inside of the bowl. In the centre is a light mound of sections of grape fruit, sliced bananas, pineapple and cherries.

The dressing is one part mayonnaise and one part cream, with a few drops of mushroom catsup. For almost every salad there should be a different sort of dressing.

Most persons seem to think there are but two dressings for salad—the mayonnaise and the so-called and much-abused French dressing. We serve 126 varieties of salads, and almost as many sorts of salad dressings.

The orangine is a delightful salad I learned to prepare in Algiers. It is made of sections of oranges, a julienne of celery, and dates sliced very thin, sprinkled over the surface and finished with a fringe of romaine leaves dressed with a light mayonnaise.

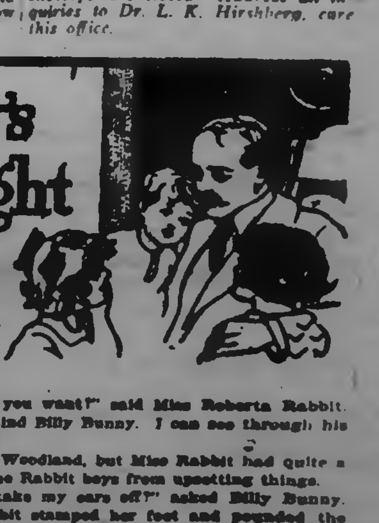
A dainty salad is the Melba salad, made from hearts of lettuce stuffed with dices of pineapple and dotted over the top with sliced strawberries, served with a light French dressing in which chopped fresh mushrooms are mixed.

Very few Americans seem to understand the value of cabbage salad. When properly prepared, nothing is more delicious, more easily digested or more nutritious. First the cabbage, either white or red, should be shredded as fine as spool silk. After shredding, it should be put in a deep bowl, boiling hot water poured over it, then drained through a fine puree sieve, then plunged into ice water until quite crisp. A suggestion of onion shredded with the cabbage is a great improvement.

Cabbage salad may be served either with a French or a mayonnaise dressing or a mixture of both. Before dressing a cabbage salad season it with a generous amount of salt and a little sugar.

There are many more ways of preparing red cabbage as a salad or as a relish. The Hungarians excel most nations in preparing red cabbage.

Daddy's Good Night Story—



By GEORGE EBERY SMITH

"TEACHER!"

"Yes, Willie Squirrel, what do you want?" said Miss Roberta Rabbit.

"Please move my seat from behind Billy Bunny. I can see through his ears, but it hurts my eyes."

School was going along nicely in Woodland, but Miss Rabbit had quite a time keeping the Squirrel boys and the Rabbit boys from upsetting things.

"What do you want me to do—take my ears off?" asked Billy Bunny. Every one laughed, while Miss Rabbit stamped her feet and pounded the table with a ruler.

"You may change seats with Billy Bunny, Willie. Billy can see over those tiny ears of yours."

The boys had changed seats and all was quiet again when Miss Rabbit heard a noise in the back of the room.

"What is the matter there, Billy Bunny?" she asked.

"I can see through Willie Squirrel's tail, but it hurts my eyes," said Billy Bunny.

"You come right straight up here in the front seat, Billy Bunny, and you, Willie Squirrel, stay where you are."

"I can't help having big ears," whined Billy Bunny. "I was born that way."

"I can't help having a beautiful tail," said Willie Squirrel.

"You both must stay after school and we will settle this thing. Willie, you write an essay about Billy's ears and you, Billy, write an essay about Willie's tail."

"All right, teacher," they shouted, as both began to write.

A Nice Calculation.

Two very dear old ladies walked up to the window where tickets were to be sold for two popular concerts. They wanted tickets for both nights; but, alas, those for the second evening were all gone! This was the more popular entertainment of the two.

"I'm so sorry, my dear!" pattered one of the old ladies to the other. "We did want to go, didn't we, and we wanted to go both nights?"

"You couldn't give us two tickets for each night?" inquired the other of the clerk.

"No, ma'am."

"You haven't two seats anywhere for the second night?"

"No, ma'am. Couldn't give you none soon."

A great resolution beamed upon her gentle face.

"Then," said she firmly, "give me four tickets for the first night. We will make them do."

"Why, sister," quavered the other, "you're going to invite somebody?"

"No," said she, "but if we can't go both nights"— She paused, bewildered, quite out of her calculation. Then a happy thought struck her, and she added, "We'll go twice the first night."
—Youth's Companion.

A Wandering Lake.

Lake Nor, in the Tabi desert, in southwestern Asia, which has been called the "wandering lake," presents a phenomenon about which contradictory views have been entertained. Perhaps the Swedish explorer Sven Hedin has given the most plausible explanation touching this phenomenon.

It appears, according to that explorer, that the Tarim river, entering the lake from the west, brings down during the period of high water late in summer a great quantity of salt, which has the effect of driving the lake lying on the level floor of the desert toward the southeast. But the summer wind, drifting the surface sand and darkening the heavens with dust, blows generally from the northeast, and it, too, tends to drive the lake before it. The combined effect of the urging by the wind and the river is to force the lake southward. Yet it is thought the migration of the lake is not constant in direction, but it shifts back and forth intermittently, according as the circumstances change.

She Forgot.

At 3 o'clock the absentminded woman left home with an umbrella. At the subway station she concluded it wouldn't rain and left the umbrella with the corner newsdealer. When she came back at 6 o'clock it was raining. Boys with umbrellas to rent darted toward her when she appeared at the head of the subway stairs. She paid one boy 10 cents to escort her home. Then she remembered her own umbrella. Sheltered by a borrowed umbrella, she went back to get it. The newsdealer looked uneasy.

"Just a minute," he said. "Oh, Tom, come here!"

A small boy dodged around the corner of the stand and handed over a dripping umbrella. The absentminded woman looked at the boy; she looked at the umbrella. She recognized both.

"Idiot!" she said. "I paid that boy 10 cents for taking me home with my own umbrella."—New York Press.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Centre Pier at Cobourg, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M., on Wednesday, March 11, 1914, for the construction of the Centre Pier at Cobourg, Northumberland County, Ontario.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of the District Engineers, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; Windsor, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Cobourg, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 26 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the envelope "Tenders for Burned Timber on the Gibson Reserve," will be received until noon on Thursday the 19th instant for about two millions of feet of Hemlock, and 150,000 feet of Hardwood, chiefly Maple and Beech and a large quantity of rough and undersized timber on the Gibson Reserve, Township of Gibson, Ontario.

Tenderers should state the prices they are prepared to pay for this Timber per thousand feet B.M. for the Hemlock; and the price per cord for the rough and undersized Timber. No Crown dues payable on either Timber or Wood.

The Hemlock and large Hardwood is understood to be only slightly injured. The successful tenderer shall furnish satisfactory security that the whole of the burned timber will be removed before the first day of May, 1915.

An accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered Bank for $400.00, made payable to the Receiver-General, must accompany each tender, which in the event of failure to carry out the undertaking shall be forfeited to the Department.

The Timber cut shall be measured by an Ontario Licensed Culler, and Sworn Returns of the kinds and quantities must be furnished, and payment for same made before removal of the Timber from the Reserve.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted, and the unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

THE GHOST OF THE PAST.

It Rose Up to Taunt and Haunt the Poor Human Derelict.

The small crowd of grimy loafers lounged weakly in the little circle of light from the fitfully flickering lamp about the door. Two or three of them were leaning against a many colored poster, almost unreadable in the gloom. The door swung open—it was never shut—and a dapper figure in a red jersey and peaked cap of the Salvation Army appeared with a cheery greeting:

"Come in, men; come in. Fine treat tonight; splendid gramophone; all the latest from the music halls. Come on in."

One by one they went. Comic songs and Sousa marches rang nasally through the hall. Then the cheery voice was heard again:

"Now for some grand opera, gentlemen."

One living derelict who had subsided silently after his arrival from the public house roused himself at the words.

"Opera—grand opera," he muttered hazily.

The familiar whir of the gramophone began again, and then a voice from the aluminium horn announced, "Song from 'I Pagliacci,' by Pompey Carlyle, the famous tenor of grand opera." As the name of the singer was announced the ragged waif stiffened upright where he sat. Then as the first notes rang out his face held all the agony of a lost soul. Straight to his feet he bounded; then, with a cry, "Stop it, for heaven's sake stop it!" and with grimy hands pressed over his face he rushed from the hall, followed by a storm of abuse.

"What's the matter?" queried the commissioner.

"Queer bloke," answered another waif, still gasping from an attack of coughing which had torn his frail body. "Sings outside pubs. Used to be in hopera 'imself. Booze done it."

"What do you call him?"

"Pompey Carlyle."

"Heavens, it was his own song he heard!"—London Tit-Bits.

Not For Him.

"Dubley wants a comedy part," said the first member of the amateur theatrical club. "He thinks he'd be a success as a comedian."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the other. "Why, everybody would laugh at him."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Bumps on the Head.

The lump raised by a blow on the head is due to the resistance offered by the hard skull and its close connection with the movable elastic scalp by many circumscribed bands of connective tissue. The result of a blow when the scalp is not cut is the bruising and laceration of many of the small blood vessels or capillaries. Blood or its fluid constituent, serum, is poured into the meshes of the surrounding connective tissue, which is delicate, spongy, distensible and cellular, and the well known bump or lump is quickly formed. This cannot push inward at all and naturally takes the line of least resistance. Similar bumps may be formed on the skin in exactly the same way, for the shin bone also is covered only by skin and subcutaneous connective tissue.

Cheering Up Thuse.

James Whitcomb Riley was going up the steps of the statehouse in Indianapolis one day when he met his friend Warren G. Sayre. The two had been close friends for years.

"Good morning, Mr. Riley," said Mr Sayre in greeting.

"Why, hello, Warren!" Mr. Riley replied. "How are you?"

"Never felt better in my life. You are looking well."

"I don't know," said the poet; "I sometimes feel the weight of years, for you know I am getting old."

"Nonsense! Nonsense!" Mr Sayre remarked with considerable emphasis. "You don't look old. In fact, you don't look a bit older now than when I first saw you."

"Perhaps that is true, but I feel age coming on. I was just thinking as I came up these steps about old Methuselah. I imagined I could see him driving along the road in his big wagon. He met an old friend who was sitting on a rail fence at the side of the road. 'Why, hello, Thuse!' says the friend. 'How are you?'

"'Oh, pretty fair for an old man,' said the patriarch. 'But I'm getting along in years.'

"'Oh, bosh, Thuse! You don't look old. How old are you, Thuse, anyway?'

"'I'm 969,' he answered.

"'Well, well, I never would er thought it!' said the friend. 'Why, Thuse, you don't look a day over 968.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Followed Instructions.

She was a woman of very puritanical notions, and when she came into his room to kiss her little boy good night and found that he had not said his prayers she was very much shocked. "How was it, Willie," she asked, "that you neglected such an important duty?"

"You see, mamma," he replied, "when dad sent me in a hurry to bed he said there mustn't be another word out of me tonight."—Lippincott's.

Many years ago Edwin Forrest, the celebrated actor, when in New York, was in the habit of dining at Windust's, a noted restaurant on Park row that was a favorite resort of actors and literary men. It usually happened that Forrest would be joined by friends and that the little group would sit together at one table. On one occasion it chanced that an Englishman with a reputation for conceit and impertinence, who had scraped acquaintance with the tragedian, was one of the group.

Early in the course of the dinner the Englishman began to make criticisms which he considered pleasantries about Forrest's conception of certain roles. Encouraged by his own appreciation, he gave full play to his humor and concluded each of his impertinences with "Pardon my freedom, sir—it's my way."

To the astonishment of all who knew Forrest's irascible disposition he bore the Briton's offensive remarks patiently and seemingly ignored them as far as possible. When, however, the nuts were brought in by the waiter he took several cracked walnuts in his hand and, walking over to the Briton's place, jocularly snapped them successively in the face of that individual, lightly saying after each shot, "Pardon my freedom, sir—it's my way," and snapped him out of the restaurant.

Blind Tom.

Blind Tom was born near the city of Columbus, Ga., of slave parents about the year 1846. He belonged to General James N. Bethune, at that time editor and proprietor of the Cornerstone. Being blind, Tom would stray away from home and was often found in the woods, roaming around and listening to the birds. It was in his whistling imitations of the bird songs that his wonderful musical ability was first revealed to his master. He could repeat perfectly anything that he heard in the line of music. As to his idiocy, it is generally understood that, his musical ability aside, he was very near being a "natural." Outside of his love for music he seemed to be quite stupid, and if not an idiot he was dangerously near being one. Blind Tom is still the standing puzzle of the psychologists.—Exchange.

SOMBER FROCKS POPULAR FOR THE TEA DANCE

Paris dances at 5 o'clock and New York dances at 5 o'clock. In the afternoon after matinees and concerts the tea rooms are crowded with young and old who have come for tea and the Tango. The costumes worn in the afternoon are a bit darker than those for evening wear, although the general style is the same. Colors favored are dark blue, brown and the new brick reds. One form or another of the tunic is generally a feature of the frock, with a line of fur around the bottom and outlining the throat.

No. 8114 is a chic little frock fashioned of Tango brown chiffon velvet with an overblouse and tunic of chiffon in the same shade of brown. A contrasting satin sash encircles the waist and a narrow strip of fur trims the blouse.

To copy this design in size 36 it will require 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material with 3⅛ yards of 42 inch chiffon.

Corduroy coats and coats of the light weight, warm wool materials are smart to slip on over the one-piece dancing frock.

The coat illustrated is made of brick red velours de laine with collar and cuffs of fitch.

For size 36 this coat requires 3⅜ yards of 42 inch material.

No. 8114—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8129—sizes 34 to 44.
Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

LACE AND CHIFFON LEND THEMSELVES WELL TO THE MODISH FRILLS AND FLOUNCES

The deep flounces so much worn a few seasons back have returned to take a strong hold upon the fancy, and many of the new skirts show flounce upon flounce from the hips to the feet.

The cotton voiles and crepes, soft taffetas, crepons and other novelty fabrics are well suited to these flounces. Shadow lace and chiffon are used on more dressy frocks, and no doubt later in the season entire frocks of lace, flounced in this way, will be popular.

In No. 8235 is shown a most attractive coat blouse with a shawl collar, short peplum and wide girdle.

It is developed in taffetas, plain and figured; the skirt is of plain dull green and the blouse is figured in self color.

For size 36 this costume requires 4⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

Taffetas ranges in price from about $1.25 up.

Figured silk crepon and chiffon show to advantage in No. 8181. There are three straight gathered ruffles of chiffon and a pointed tunic of the crepon. The dress is completed by a gathered lace guimpe.

This dress requires for size 36 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material.

Crepon may be purchased from about 75 cents a yard and up.

No. 8235—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8181—sizes 34 to 42.
Each pattern 15 cents.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW ON THE DIAL OF A CITY LIFE.

Mumps are still prevalent among the children of Peterborough.

Tenders are being asked for the delivery of mail for Ennismore rural mail route, No. 2.

According to what M.H.O. Dr. McPherson says, there is no epidemic of diphtheria in this city.

There was nothing doing at the police court yesterday morning, and at a late hour in the afternoon no arrests had been made.

The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held on the last Friday in the month in the Y.M.C.A. and every one is cordially invited.

It is possible that Peterborough may be chosen for the play-off game between the Kingston Frontenacs and Oshawa Juniors, who have tied up their round.

The Midnight Sun Club, a new social organization of young men, has taken over the club-rooms of the Century Club in the Bank of Commerce Block.

Wild ducks have been seen in the Otonabee river by the C.P.R. bridge constructors. Those ducks do not seem to realize weather conditions here during the past few days.

The local police force were photographed yesterday afternoon. The Times has it on undeniable authority that the photos were not made for the "Rogue's Gallery."

The Knights of Columbus on Thursday evening hold an "at-home" in their club building on Simcoe street. Prof. Woodburn will provide the instrumental music.

When Appetite Fails and Digestion is Bad

THERE IS DANGER AHEAD FOR THE MAN THAT NEGLECTS NATURE'S WARNING.

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much long. I was wasting away simp,y because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know but in a miraculous way they have made a new man of me. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly enervated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut as purely vegetable—25c. per box, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Social and Personal

The public are invited to contribute details of At Homes, Receptions, Teas, Arrival and Departure of Visitors, and other social and personal events. Telephone 191 or write.

Mr. John Ketchur, of Campbellford, was a guest at the Snowden House yesterday.

Mrs. Curry, of Winnipeg, is the guest of Mrs. Kerr, 586 Gilmour street.

Miss May McAuley, of Byersville, entertained a number of her friends to a progressive euchre party on Monday evening at her home.

Miss Edith Matthie, of Lindsay, has returned home. She was the guest of Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, and will receive with her this afternoon.

Mr. Leo Moran of Codrington, is the guest of his uncle Mr. Thomas Moran of Messrs. Carrol & Co. real estate agents.

Mr. John Spencer Middleton, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Thirnbeck, McDonnel street, for the past two months, has returned to his home in Fobisher, Sask.

Mr. M. O'Brien, Inspector of Separate Schools, 300 Reid street, and Mrs. O'Brien, left yesterday by the midday express for Pembroke, to be present at the marriage of their eldest son, Mr. John D. O'Brien, of Cobalt, to Miss Mamie Shea, a charming Pembroke girl.

These Women's Cloth Costume Skirts at 99c Are a Wonder for the Price

AND THE WONDER INCREASES when one sees that these are not a clearance of old fashioned skirts, but smartly modelled five piece garments that are made upon the very latest and correct lines, in medium narrow width. Finished in tailored style, they have the high and close fitting waist, which being generally worn without belt or girdle, expresses neatness itself in women's attire. All the seams are raised, and a button and braid trimmed piece of self material, used as an insertion at the side of the skirt, is the only ornamentation upon the otherwise strictly plain tailored style. The material is of medium weight Venetian cloth, and is shown in every length and waist measurement, in black or navy blue. While speaking of the wonderful value, we can say in good faith that these skirts were never intended to be sold at anywhere near the Annex Price. But the Annex is renowned for its great bargains, and this garment is no exception, at 99c

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Beautify Your Hair! Make it soft, fluffy and luxuriant—Try the moist cloth

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and dowy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy, and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft at any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

ADVETISE IN THE TIMES

Special Sporting Wire

K. W. Schmuck, proprietor of the Grand Hotel, has arranged for a special wire to get full reports of all hockey matches, semi-finals, and finals in O.H.A., and baseball scores during next summer. Full details will be given. Patrons of the Grand Hotel will thus know as much about the various games as though present at them. This is no telephone connection return but a special G.N.W. service.

Having brought from Mr. J. W. Brewett all his records covering the entire time he was in this city, we are now in position to do very prompt repair work, in most cases at a lower price than what has been paid in the past.

EDUCATION, AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL, IS EMPHASIZED IN SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Ontario Legislature Was Opened by Sir John Gibson---Government Will Tap Additional Sources to Increase the Revenue

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, acting Prime Minister in the absence of Hon. J. J. Foy, and the illness of Sir James Whitney, received Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Gibson this afternoon, as the representative of the King, escorted by the Royal Canadian Dragoons under Lieut. Hetherington, arrived at the Parliament Buildings. At three o'clock the guard of honor from the Royal Canadian Regiment was drawn up in front of the Buildings as the official party appeared and a detachment of the 9th Battery fired the salute of eighteen guns.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

The address from the throne was as follows:

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

"It affords me pleasure to welcome you to the discharge of your duties at this the third session of the thirteenth Legislature of this Province.

"Our thanks are due to an overruling Providence for the abundant harvest with which Ontario was blessed during the past year, which has had a steadying effect on financial and industrial conditions generally. In common with our fellow citizens elsewhere throughout Canada the people of Ontario have experienced great satisfaction from the return of His Royal Highness the Governor-General to this country, accompanied by Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Connaught, whose restoration to health has been a matter of general thankfulness.

"My Government was represented at the Interprovincial Conference held last fall in the city of Ottawa, in which every province in the Dominion participated. The proceedings of the Conference relating to several important subjects of public interest will be laid before you for your consideration.

HIGHWAYS COMMISSION.

"In accordance with the announcement made at the last meeting of the Legislature, a Commission on Roads and Highways has been appointed and has begun the preliminary work for a scheme of road improvement throughout the Province. Public hearings were held at various places by means of which the views of municipal authorities and various organizations were elicited.

RURAL SCHOOL FAIRS.

The number of district representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has been increased and the work of the individual Representatives has been made more effective. One marked feature has been the holding of Rural School Fairs with a view to interesting the rising generation in better agriculture—seventy of these fairs have been held during the past season. It is hoped to extend this work until the whole Province is served.

THE DEBATE ON DIVORCE

The debate in the House of Commons on the proposition to establish divorce courts for all Canada, instead of the present parliamentary procedure, was inaugurated by Mr. Northup, M.P. The member for West Peterborough went one better than the churches in this respect. He condemned the nullification of marriage practised by the Church of Rome, because it declared the marriage to be no marriage from the beginning, and that therefore the woman was a prostitute and her children bastards. This proceeding was too horrible to contemplate. There are 15 grounds for nullification. Divorce did not nullify, but was simply an opportunity to marry again, which was unnecessary. Therefore, as an unwilling member of the Divorce Committee he had much pleasure in condemning both plans.

DR. SHORTT ADVOCATES SCHEME OF LLOYD GEORGE

The Chairman of the Civil Service Commission of Canada Denounces Single Tax as at Present in North-West

There was a large attendance last night at the Canadian Club banquet in Coleman's "Savoy," when Mr. Duncan Walker, principal of the Normal School, was chairman in the absence of the President, Mr. G. C. Wainwright.

After the well-laid banquet, the speaker of the evening was introduced in the person of Dr. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa, chairman of the Civil Service Commission of Canada, who spoke on the subject of "Taxation." Dr. Shortt is a recognized authority on this present-day vexed question, and needless to say he emphasized his remarks in such a clear and thoughtful manner, as to make his audience fully comprehend his address.

Land values are not created by people on the spot, but by the people who are scattered all over the world. Land speculators create public opinion with a consequent creation of land values through the medium of what the speaker characterized as "hot air artists." These men went along the concession lines of Ontario and took the farmers' money, in return for a piece of paper; by that means created opinion in favor of the particular land they had to sell. The man who bought last is the man who has to suffer; upon whom the burden falls. He not only has to pay the assessor, but the tax collector. Dr. Shortt referred to a report emanating from Vancouver which stated that only one seventeenth of the taxes was paid by the wealthy, and the remaining sixteen-seventeenths by the poorer people. That the speaker recited as an example of the single tax in Vancouver.

Dr. Shortt placed a strong emphasis on the subject of creating a market for real estate or any manufactured product, providing public opinion favored such.

The product without a community value is without an asset, and community values can be depreciated by an over supply.

In dealing with the subject of taxation, he advocated the abolition of the present system now in vogue in some of the Northwest Provinces of Canada—the theory of Henry George. That is, the taxing of land values on an annual taxation. He said he rather advocated the proposed scheme of Lloyd-George in retaining for the municipality or state, a percentage on profits made from the exchange of land from one owner to another. This he said, curtailed the enormous wealth accumulated by the speculator, and lessened the burden of the less fortunate of the community. Every time a sale was made the state would thereby come in for a proportion of the profits.

At the conclusion of the doctor's forceful address, a discussion took place in which several questions were asked and answered in a very satisfactory manner. The affair was wound up by the singing of the National Anthem.

Residents around Morrisburg are trying to capture a black fox seen in the vicinity.

THE POST OFFICE SITE

The attention of the proprietor of The Times has been called to a letter which appeared in the Review on Tuesday, in which the writer asks if it is not self interest that actuates him in seeking to retain the post office in the business section of the city.

In reply, we would say that personally we do not care a button where the post office is placed, so long as it is located in the store section. Our merchants are deeply concerned in this matter, as many of them use post office boxes and have large quantities of registered mail going out daily. The Times' postage bill probably amounts to a thousand dollars a year, and we are only one. We have no doubt some of our merchants contribute more than this sum to the postal revenue. Surely, therefore, they have a right to be considered in the selection of a site. A gentleman, formerly connected with the local office, said that fully 75 per cent of the revenue is derived from the merchants and other business and professional men of the business district.

Mr. Burnham deserves all the credit for securing a grant of $50,000 for public buildings. He has shown his worth, and personally, we believe would prefer not to include the post office in the site proposed.

This we believe is a fair answer to the anonymous writer above referred to. Can he be equally as frank and tell us if those (or a large majority of them) who are striving so hard to remove the post office to the proposed site, are equally free from personal motive? Are they not nearly all owners of property in the south end?

Let it be distinctly understood that The Times has no serious objections to Sherbrooke street as a site for the other Government offices, but we believe that it would be a collossal mistake to include the post office in the proposed structure.

RAILROADS WOULD HOLD ON TO STEAMSHIP LINES

Washington, D.C., Feb. 18.—The Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley and the Northern Central Railroads have asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit them to retain their steamship lines after July 1, the date upon which the Panama Canal law decrees all rail lines shall dissociate themselves from competitive water lines.

The law, however, empowers the commission in its discretion to permit the railroads to retain such ownership if such a condition is for the best interests of the territory the rail and water lines serve.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Interesting Sermon Delivered Last Night in Free Methodist Church.

Rev. W. B. Olmstead, of Chicago, Ill., preached an interesting sermon last night to an appreciative audience in the Free Methodist church. He took his text from Hebrews 1: 2 "Therefore, we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip." He declared that he was not in Peterborough to tell us something new, but to try and persuade the people to walk in the light they already have. There was a danger of drifting away from the light. God's word is full of warnings, and when he shows us the red light of danger, we should beware. The text points to the heart of Gospel truth, viz.: our duty, and because of the relation we sustain to God, viz.: that of children, we should heed his voice telling us what our duty is. We should attend to this because of the bearing it has on our personal character; and also because of the relation we sustain to those we love; the only way we can help them as we should is to be true to God. We should at once put away excuses and yield to the claims of duty.

The public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Olmstead to-night.

Premier Borden may visit the Yukon this summer.

MR. BURNHAM, M.P. TALKS ON DIVORCE

His Remarks in Parliament on This Important Subject

The following is Hansard's report of Mr. Burnham's excellent and timely speech on Divorce:

"MR. J. H. BURNHAM (West Peterborough): As a very unwilling member of the Divorce Committee I should like to say a word or two with regard to this resolution. It seems to me—and I think I am a fairly impartial observer, being an unmarried man—that it is very hard to reason sensibly about this matter, because we regard marriage as a contract and if it be a legal contract it should be dissoluble as other contracts are; and therefore really not a marriage at all, by mutual consent the parties could go their way. But of course the contract means something more than this. There are two ways, it seems, of solving the situation. One is by divorce. Up to the time of the divorce the people are married; but where there is nullification of the marriage, it is found that they have never been married at all, and the woman is declared to have been a common prostitute from the beginning. That is what nullification means, and you can put me down as against nullification. And what is divorce? Suing for the privilege of marrying again, if you please. The parties concerned are at liberty to get an order of protection or separation from the courts, simply because they want to get married again they appeal in this heartrending way to the people of this country. Therefore I say, there is no justification for divorce, and put me down as against divorce. My experience on the Divorce Committee, which reminds me of what I would call scavenging proceedings, has been unhappy in the extreme and I would like to be liberated therefrom, and at once if possible. I can see no justification for the perpetuation of any such mockeries of the marriage ceremony.

CALLS GIRLS ALL UNMORAL

Boston Mothers, Like Those of Peterborough, Responsible for Chickens Running at Large.

Boston, Feb. 08.—"Many of the young girls today should be taught to do things and not men," said the Rev. O. P. Gifford, of Brookline, in his address at the annual meeting of the Ingleside Home-School in Park Street Church yesterday afternoon, "and I could pick out quite a few right in Brookline who could make use of this advice. Among other things they need to be inoculated with common sense, the thing we all know about but few perhaps, possess.

"The fault is not entirely with the girls, the mothers come in for their share, and many a physical mother is not a mental and moral mother to her children. The sentiment of motherhood is incarnate in woman, yet many women might rightly be compared to incubators, as they seem to think that once they have produced children their responsibility ceases.

"It's only too true that many mothers have not the time to look after their children. They are too busy trying to provide food, clothes and even shelter. That is one of the saddest phases of humanity, and it brings us to the high cost of living.

"The real reason of the high cost of living, I think, is that we have too much political economy and too little household economy, and the prodigal fool is the patron saint of this country in the 20th century.

"We must avoid confusing morality, unmorality, and immorality. All young girls are unmoral until they receive knowledge and education as to right and wrong. When they grow older and meet with the temptations of the age, there is always the danger of immorality, but heredity and environment make a great difference."

NEGRO BOY IS CREMATED

New Orleans, Feb. 18.—One negro boy was burned to death and a score of aged negroes barely escaped with their lives when fire destroyed the home of the Louisiana Freedman's Association in Audubon street early Monday morning. The charred body of 4-year-old James Butler was taken from the ruins of the building at 10 o'clock after an exhaustive search about the neighborhood had been made for him.

The inmates of the institution were roused from sleep at 4.15 o'clock on Monday morning. After the rush of inmates from the building, an investigation was begun to see if everyone had succeeded in their escape.

When it was learned that the negro boy was missing, the inmates of the orphans' home began a wide search for him. When the search was ended and all hope given up of the boy's safety, Tillerman Fred Ratchet, of Truck 7, carried the charred remains from the ruins.

The building caught fire, when coals from the grate in the dining room fell to the floor. The building was in flames before the inmates became aware of the fire. Most of them rushed into the streets in their night clothes but no one attempted to see if the negro boy, one of the youngest in the institution was placed in safety.

PUBLISHING ASSESSMENT ROLLS

Toronto Authority Says it Is Absolutely Useless.

In Toronto as in Peterborough certain persons are advocating publishing assessment rolls. According to a Toronto city hall authority it is all very well in theory, but in practice it is absolutely useless. The assessment rolls are now "published" in the only necessary way; that is, they are available at the City Clerk's office for anyone who wishes to see them. To waste paper and printer's ink on them would help no one but the real estate man, who would, of course, be glad of a volume which would save them sending to the City Hall for the information which they daily require. Many years ago Toronto published the assessment rolls at a cost of about $10,000. The demand was so small that many of the copies had to be burned.

SCOTT ACT SCRUTINY

The Welland Enquiry Will Take Several Days to Finish.

Welland, Ont., Feb. 18.—Examination of ballot boxes in the recent Scott election continued this morning. Eleven more boxes were opened and the ballots scrutinized, which makes up to the present 25 boxes out of a total of 76 used in the election. This morning's proceedings brought to light nothing remarkable. Several days will probably be taken up in the examination of the remaining boxes, after which the enquiry into the conduct of election officials and the hearing of evidence will be proceeded with.

JAS. R. NESS IS IN OTTAWA

Montreal, Feb. 18.—An Ottawa special to the Gazette this morning says:

James Ross Ness, former manager of Lipton's Limited, in England, and one of the eighteen defendants in the British army canteen graft charges, a man for whom London authorities have been searching and for whom a summons has been issued in the now famous case, has been located in Ottawa and his address is Roxborough Apartments. He is manager of the Ontario and Manitoba Flour Mills Company.

At first Mr. Ness denied his identity, but afterwards admitted he was the man sought. In his statement in regard to the matter, however, he denied that he was implicated in any corrupt practices in Malta in 1905, while he was acting as manager for the Lipton firm, with Col. Whitaker, who was then commander of the Second Battalion of the Yorkshire Light Infantry. This is the allegation which has been made in the case as regards Mr. Ness' connection with the affair.

Prevent False Maple Syrup.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Hon. Bruno Nantel will introduce the legislation this session to prevent adulterated maple syrup being placed on the market as the pure product. All adulterated goods will have to be marked on the cans in large letters "Compound." Officials of the department have been making careful investigation into the question during the past year.

LORD WEARDALE WHIPPED BY SUFFRAGETTE IN MISTAKE FOR CABINET MINISTER SHE SOUGHT

Peace Advocate Attacked by Amazon---Big Wedding Party of Fashionables See Attack

London, Feb. 18.—A militant suffragette armed with a whip, savagely attacked Baron Weardale while he was waiting to-day with 200 other guests for a train to Althorp Park, Northampton, to attend the wedding of the Hon. Sidney Peel, son of Viscount Peel and Lady Delia Spencer, daughter of Earl Spencer.

The woman apparently mistook the elderly peer for one of the Cabinet Ministers. Lord Weardale was walking with his wife along the platform when he was approached from behind by the woman who struck him a severe blow with a powerful dog whip as the result of which he fell in a heap to the ground.

The incident caused a lively sensation among the big party of fashionable people, many of whom were members of the nobility. Their anxiety was relieved when it was found that Lord Weardale had not suffered any serious injury. The woman was arrested.

Meant to Thrash Him.

When the suffragette, who had assaulted Lord Weardale, was later arraigned at Clerkenwell Police Court she refused to give her name and told the Police Magistrate that she did not desire to say anything.

Lord Weardale said when he gave his testimony, that the woman was a stranger to him. He added as a possible explanation of the assault that he and Earl Curzon, of Kedlestone were joint presidents of the anti-suffragist society.

The detective who arrested the suffragette in Euston station, said she told him, "I meant to give him a good thrashing. You don't know what harm he has done us."

The prisoner, who wore the badge of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization was remanded for further inquiries.

THE MARRIAGE LAW

The action brought against Bishop Bruchesi for libel is made possible by the recent declaration of the highest court in the realm, that the civil law is supreme. That was the effect of the reference by the Government of the question to the Courts. No Government can go farther than that. The next step is for those aggrieved to take advantage of the law, just as they do of any other law. The way is made clear for those who wish to take it both to get married and to protect the good name of the marriage.

UNKNOWN YOUTH SHOT SELF

Only Provisions He Had Were Two Packages of Cigarettes.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—A young man, identity unknown at present, shot himself with a revolver at 11.30 this morning, and his body lies in the morgue. The bullet entered his heart.

All that is known of him is that he rented a room at 920 Dundas street last night, and committed suicide this morning. He is about 18 years of age, five feet six inches in height, and weighs about height and weighs about 130 pounds. All he had in his pockets were two packages of cigarettes.

NEW INTERURBAN COMPANY NOT COMING NEAR TORONTO

And If It Did, It Could Not Operate Here Without Consent of the Ratepayers and the Hydro

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The much-talked-of Interurban Electric Company charter obtained at Ottawa, which opponents of street railway purchase in Toronto have been picturing as a part and parcel of a plot to get possession of the city's streets, was in reality secured for the purpose of operating a telephone system in South America. "So I have been informed on good authority," said City Solicitor Johnston to-day. "I am told that a special act will follow it with that in view."

"But couldn't the charter be used in Canada?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes," said the City Solicitor, "but do not forget that the charter specifically provides that operation in any Province must be subject to all the safeguards of Provincial statutes."

"And that means what?"

"It means that the company would have no rights on our streets, for instance, without a vote of the people."

"And the approval of the Hydro?"

"I think so, under the existing law."

"So the Interurban people have no over-riding rights, such as the Bell Telephone Co.?"

"Absolutely none. The Interurban could not get possession of our streets without our consent, as the charter provides that it must be subject to all the provisions of Ontario law if it operates in this province. But I am given to understand by those interested that there is no such intention."

MISSING AERONAUT, BELIEVED DEAD BY FATHER, FOUND ALIVE

Gulfport, Miss., Feb. 18.—Believed killed three years ago in a parachute drop from a balloon at a Mississippi county fair W. H. Patheal was found today here. He is very much alive.

"The search for Patheal was caused by a letter to the Gulfport Masons from S. B. Patheal Shriner and Mason, of Mattoon, Ill., saying a friend told him his missing son was killed in a balloon accident.

Young Patheal's professional name was "Prof. W. H. Parker." He gave up balloon exhibition flights two years ago, came to Gulfport, got a job in the G. and S. I. railroad shops and has a baby son.

He read about his father's letter in a local paper and The Daily States of Monday. He declares he did not write to his aged father because letters were unanswered and he presumed his parents had moved away.

The "dead" son will in all probability make a trip soon to Illinois with his wife and baby son and visit his aged father.

SWEETS AND COFFEE USED BY CANDIDATES IN CHICAGO ELECTION

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Candy has appeared as a rival of campaign cigars and coffee wagons will vie with the saloon as vote getters in Chicago's aldermanic campaign, which will close with the April election.

Thomas H. Donaghue, candidate for alderman in the Twenty-eighth Ward, distributed more than 1,000 boxes of sweets to the woman who attended a political meeting at which he was the speaker last night.

Miss Marion R. Drake, candidate for alderman in the first ward against Alderman "Bath House John" Coughlin, announced today that she would employ coffee wagons in her campaign. Free coffee and rolls will be distributed from the wagons during the cold weather.

BAIT FOR SARDINES.

Bretons Coax the Tiny Fish With Salted Eggs of the Cod.

Sardine fishing forms the chief industry of Brittany. In an average season the Brittany sardine fishermen catch 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 pounds of sardines, for which they receive anything from £800,000 to £[illegible],000,000, while the shore industries dependent upon this fishery give employment to 20,000 other persons, mostly women and girls. So important is the sardine that in many communities in Brittany every person is directly or indirectly supported by it, and the failure of the fish to come means ruin, starvation and death to many people in the more isolated places.

Sardines are found on the coast of Brittany throughout the year, but flourish in greater abundance in summer and autumn. As many as 100,000 have been taken at one time in one net from one school. One remarkable feature of sardine fishing in Brittany is the enormous amount of bait which is used. The bait in general use is the salted eggs of the codfish, and it is estimated that the Breton fishermen pay £70,000 every year to Norway for cod roe for use as bait.

The casting of the bait, on the proper use of which a great deal of the success of the fishing depends, is always done by the captain of the boat, who stands on a little platform in the stern and while directing the movements of the boat and the manipulation of the net throws the bait to attract the fish to the surface and around the boat. When the fish are on one side of the net or on the other his next move is to cast the bait in such a way as to cause them to rush against the net and thus become gilled.—London Tit-Bits.

Night Blindness.

Inability to see by day is matched by the commoner night blindness which most of us have known in friend or relative. This defect, which includes an inability to see even by artificial light, is congenital with some people and never overcome. It is often hereditary. It may also be caused, however, by long exposure to an overbright light, coupled with fatigue. A strange story is told concerning a ship's crew two centuries ago which were overcome by night blindness so extreme that their captain was obliged to force a fight with a Spanish privateer during the day, knowing that by night his men would be helpless. In order to obviate this difficulty for future occasions he ordered each sailor to keep one eye bound during the daytime, discovering, to his gratification, that this eye, having rested, was then free of the defect. The sailors were very amusing in their efforts to retain the bandage well over the eye that must be ready for night duty, and so a method of modifying this trouble was discovered.—London Strand Magazine.

Surprised Her.

A gentleman who had spent the greater portion of his life in Canada relates an amusing experience which befell him.

He had been on a hunting expedition for several days in the backwoods, roughing it rather severely, and on taking a seat in a railway train returning homeward he looked as begrimed and weather beaten a trapper as ever brought his skins into a settlement.

He happened to find a seat next to a young lady, evidently belonging to Boston, who, after taking stock of him for a few minutes, remarked:

"Don't you find an utterly passionful sympathy with nature's mountains and the dim aisles of the horizon touching forests, my good man?"

"Oh, yes," replied the apparent backwoodsman, "and also I am frequently drawn into an exaltation of rapt soulfulness and beatific incandescent infinity of abstract contiguity when my horse stumbles."

"Indeed!" said the young lady, much surprised. "I had no idea the lower classes felt like that."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Holland.

Holland, known as North and South Holland, forms part of the northern part of the Netherlands. These provinces are composed of land rescued from the sea and defended by immense dikes. Holland was inhabited by the Batvi in the time of Caesar, who made a league with them. It became part of Gallia Belgica and afterward of the kingdom of Austria. From the tenth to the fifteenth century it was governed by counts under the German emperors. Holland was at one time a Dutch republic. It was created a kingdom in 1806, and Louis Bonaparte, father of Napoleon III., was declared king.

THE ANGLE OF REPOSE.

Depends Wholly on the Friction of the Materials in Contact.

The angle of repose is a well known term in the science of mechanics, but, besides being used in purely theoretical problems, is taken into account by railroad and other engineers. Suppose that we take a brick and lay it on a board and then gradually raise one end of the board. There will be a certain angle reached in time where the brick will not remain at rest on the board, but will start to slide down.

This is termed the angle of repose of the brick on the board It is at that point where the component of force due to gravity overcomes the resistance due to friction between the two surfaces. Therefore the angle depends entirely on the friction Friction varies with the materials in contact. So the angle of repose of a brick on a pine board would be different than its angle of repose on an iron board, say

Now for the application of this in ordinary life. When a railroad cut has to be made the sides have to be sufficiently slanting to keep the earth or clay from caving in The same applies when a ditch is dug or when fortifications are built in time of war. The angle necessary for this is of course the angle of repose of the particular kind of material through which the cut is made as measured by itself on itself, as it contains millions of individual particles in contact. The angle in this instance is determined with utmost ease and simplicity A pile of the material is put into an open cylinder, packed down slightly, and the cylinder is then removed Of course the pile immediately slumps down into a mound with slanting sides, the angle of which is the one wanted This angle is somewhat smaller than the one that would be taken by compact earth and therefore allows a good margin of safety.

There are tables got out for the engineer to refer to, but it is always wiser to make a trial for every particular condition of the soil, for there are hardly two cuts made through exactly the same kinds of material in exactly the same condition.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A JAGUAR HUNT.

British Guiana Man Tells of Struggle That Cost Him Two Dogs.

The following account of a jaguar hunt in British Guiana is contained in a letter to a friend written by Mr. C. J. B. Monypenny, of Endeavor, Demarara River, British Guiana, and appearing in The Field:

"You will, I am sure, be very sorry to hear that I have lost poor Ronald, the half-bred hound. He got killed by a large tiger (jaguar) on Saturday while I was out hunting, accompanied by an Indian and four dogs. I started from Christianburg at 6.30 a.m. to hunt maipouri (tapir), which are said to be fairly plentiful in the back country. We went further than we generally do, as I was determined to try over new ground, having had a lot of black days lately. After walking till 10 a.m. without finding fresh tracks we came out on the railway line about five miles back, where we met some coolies who are employed cutting wallaba wood. These men informed us that they were very much troubled by a large tiger which prowled around their camp at nights, and pointed out the fresh tracks where the brute had crossed the line about five o'clock that morning.

We at once took up the track, the dogs paying great attention to it. It led us up an abandoned timber path and across a creek, and then on to some high land, where the Indian could make nothing of it and the dogs seemed to lose the scent. While casting about we came across fresh signs of maipouri, and, from the excited way in which the dogs took up the trail, was sure of finding the animal. Suddenly the dogs dashed off full cry, and we, being sure they had started the maipouri, followed as fast as we could run. After running for some distance we heard the dogs giving tongue as if they had something at bay, and getting up to them we found they had stopped the tiger in a deep gully with fallen trees lying about, under one of which the brute had lain hidden and attacked the dogs.

A charge of buckshot through the shoulder at ten paces bowled him over but not before he had killed two of the dogs, poor Ronald and the brindled bitch Trial. Both were bitten through the brain. The tiger, a full-grown male, measured just under seven feet, and weighed between 160 and 170 pounds, the largest I have seen up this way. As it was a fine specimen, the Indian and I carried him as far as we could on the way home, but as it was getting late, and we were still over four miles back, we left the beast and came on to get men to assist in bringing him in. When about three miles from Christianburg, the remaining two dogs, Arawak and Comet, started hog, one of which we blocked up in a sand hole (where the dogs had brought him to bay) till we could send for him next morning.

I am convinced that the tiger had been following us, keeping out of sight, with the hope of picking up one of the dogs, and had just crossed the trail of the maipouri which the dogs were working. But for the fact of the brute bolting down into the gully I believe he would not have killed the two dogs. The hound when he took the descent must have run right on to him."

"Talk erbout yore easy marks," said Uncle Silas Geehaw, who had been passing a week in the city, "us ruben ain't in it with them air toown chaps."

"Did yew sell 'em enny gold bricks, Silas?" queried old Daddy Squashneck.

"Naw, I didn't," answered Uncle Silas, "but I seed a feller peddlin' artificial ice—had th' sign right on his wagon—an' blamed ef th' chumps did not buy it for th' real thing, by gum!"—Chicago News.

THE CAMPHOR LANGUAGE.

Used in Johore Because of a Malay Superstition.

In Johore, on the Malay peninsula, there is employed one of the strangest languages in the world, used for a most curious purpose. This tongue is called Pantang Kapor or "camphor language," and is a medium employed by natives and others engaged in gathering the product of the Malayan camphor tree, but only when they are at work.

It is a superstition of these natives that should they use the language of the district, the Malay or the aboriginal Jakun, they would be unable to obtain their camphor

The Malay natives firmly believe that each species of tree has a spirit or guardian angel that presides over its affairs, this spirit being known by the name of Bisan. This divinity's resting place is near the trees. Then, too, the spirit of the camphor tree is held to be extremely jealous of the precious gum, so that it becomes necessary to propitiate her, inasmuch as she would, should she learn that hunters were in quest of it, endeavor to interpose obstacles to their mission Accordingly the natives speak in a tongue that the tree spirit may not understand. It was for this purpose that the mysterious "camphor language" was invented, and it consists of an odd mixture of Jakun and Malay words that have been curiously altered and reversed.—Harper's Weekly.

SIM SIMPKINS.

Sim Simpkins don't believe in things;
His fancy never spreads its wings.
He says that "two an' two is four
An' so shall be forevermore.
When Morse got up the telegraph
Old Sim read of it with a laugh,
And then says he:
"Huh! Needn't tell me
I don't believe what I can't see."

And when 'twas said electric lights
Should gleam and glimmer through th' nights
Old Sim said: "Shucks How'll ye send fire
A-scootin' through a solid wire?"
He proved that it could not be done
By argument that weighed a ton
When "Humph!" said he
"You needn't tell me
I don't believe what I can't see."

When Bell announced the telephone
Old Sim read of it with a groan
And wiped his specs and slowly said:
"Th' feller's plainly off his head.
Th' idy! Talk an' I could hear
Ten miles away all plain an' clear!
Huh! No, sir-ree;
You needn't tell me
I don't believe what I can't see."

The wireless telegraph made Sim
Deny its truth with language grim.
"It's nothin' but a pesky sham.
Now, who could breathe a tellygram?"
And when the Wrights got up and flew
Old Sim just took another chew,
And "Umph!" said he.
"You needn't tell me!
I don't believe what I can't see."

Don't think this shaft is aimed at Sim
And that there's only one of him.
Oh, gentle reader, you and I
Learn of some truths, but do not try
To make them true, but wisely frown,
And arguments we try to drown
With "No, sir-ree;
You needn't tell me!
I don't believe what I can't see."

HEALTH AND FOOD.

A Doctor's Idea of a Perfectly Balanced All Year Round Diet.

That every one is more or less susceptible to tubercular trouble is a matter on which all old fashioned medical authorities are agreed They tell us that we may pass through a phase and out again without knowing it. According to Dr. T. Y. Hall in the Dietetic Gazette, there is only one thing very certain, and that is that if we keep in good health or adapt ourselves to a perfectly balanced diet the danger is slight.

He advocates a reduction of vegetable food, relying more upon butter, meat and nuts. Here, of course, one has to face the increased danger of tubercular meat, itself probably a large contributory cause of consumption.

This is Dr. Hall's idea of a perfectly balanced diet, calculated to keep the average individual in perfect health all the year round: The basis for the diet is found in meat, eggs, milk, butter, bread, potatoes and fruit. It consists daily of two quarts of milk, five eggs, four ounces of beef, one and one-half ounces of butter, two ounces of nuts (pecan), four ounces of bread, three and one-half ounces of rice, three ounces each of potatoes, peas and oatmeal, one ounce sugar, one ounce raisins, one apple and one orange.

Great Age of Halley's Comet.

While Halley's comet has been identified as a member of our system for over 2,000 years, certain characteristics of its orbit lead us to believe that it has been with us at least ten or perhaps 100 times as long as that. According to all accounts, it was a magnificent object at the time of the Norman conquest in 1066. Its head was equal to the full moon in size, and its tail increased to a wonderful length.—Century.

A Queer Hiding Place.

During a furious storm in Paris a janitor was struck on the shoulder by a small but heavy tin box which had fallen from an upper story of a house in the Rue de l'Ouest. The box was found to contain $6,000 in gold and notes. It was claimed at the police station by an elderly woman, who said that the money constituted her entire savings, which she had hidden by tying the box to the drainpipe outside her window.

WORMS! YES. THAT'S IT WORMS IS THE TROUBLE—

Many Suffer From Them and Do Not Know It.

Many go to an early grave on account of them and have been pronounced to have had brain fever or some other complaint.

Prof. Mulveney Comes to the Rescue

His Wonderful Remedies are saving thousands of lives.

Why not try his remedies, they are sure, certain and harmless.

Stomach worms are round like earth worms, and measure from 8 to 16 inches in length, the large ones being about the size of a lead pencil in thickness. They are white and sometimes pink in color; they infest the stomach and small intestines, and sometimes great numbers are found to ex. One of my customers claim one of his children passed thirty from the use of my remedy. It does not require much thought to come to the conclusion that these worms are very dangerous, as they cause fever, convulsions, fits, etc. Many persons have died from worms, and they have been known to crawl out of their mouth and nose after death. Just imagine the suffering and terrible agony a child or adult must experience with these disgusting and loathsome creatures crawling about in the stomach and bowels. There is no doubt that they are constantly taking the nourishment they should go to make a strong, healthy person. Is it any wonder that your child is cross, irritable and sickly? Adults are also restless, melancholy and miserable from the same cause, and are sometimes treated for dyspepsia, nervous prostration and other complaints. My remedy is in liquid form and is an excellent remedy to build up the system, and can be taken for some time after the worms have been expelled to build up the system, which generally requires it, as the stomach and bowels are generally in a weak and debilitated condition, caused by the ravages of these undesirable pests. My remedy, known as Mother's Friend, is pleasant and agreeable to take and is a life-saver for children, as it not only destroys worms but strengthens and builds up the child, cures wetting of the bed, convulsions and fits; destroys pin worms. The price is $1.00. My remedy known as B'Well is much better for adults, and is the greatest nerve remedy on earth. Cures all nerve troubles, cleanses the system, restores lost energy and is a life saver. B'Well is a microbe killer, also a worm killer; microbes and worms cause all kinds of disease. B'Well kills the cause, also kills blood poison. Sold only by Prof. Mulveney. Write for further information free.

OUR POINT OF VIEW

The Russian government announces that hereafter vodka shall not be sold within the limits of the empire after 11 o'clock at night. But Mayor Curley of Boston, not to be outdone, has decreed that hereafter the curfew shall ring at 2 o'clock in the morning and at that hour everybody must cease tanging the tango.

AUSTRALIAN SOLDIERING

AUSTRALIA is frequently cited as an example to other countries in the path of legislative progress. And no one will deny that in the matter of social legislation Austcalians have adventurously blazed a new trail, though where it will end is not yet quite clear. It is largely experimental, and nations that "hasten slowly" will ngturally wait to see the result before pronouncing judgment, much less attempting imitation. The best that can be said of it at present is that, on the whole, the direction seems to be right, and the motive is undoubtedly good. But how strange it is that a people eager to go forward in one way should enthusiastically go backward in another. Australia and New Zealand have taken to soldiering under the old system of compulsory military training for the entire male population, and this has been long enough in operation to enable us to judge of its effect. It is already hated by a large section of the people, and condemned by leading newspapers. Very significant are these words of The Age:

> A few years hence Australia will understand for how much it has sold its birthright to militarism. . . . We are indulging in an orgy of frenzied military preparation for a contingency more remote than the millenium. Money is being poured out like water. We must either cut ouc coat according to our cloth, or else impose upon the taxpayer a crushing burden that will seriously embarrass every industry and productive interest. The form of defence must be evolved by Australian genius free from the effete influence of Gen. Ramrod and Maj. Pipeclay, and adapted to the means and resources of a peaceful and industrial people.

This indignation is caused by something more than the squandering of public funds. It is due to the persecution of the thousands of boys who refuse to obey the summons to military service. They have been put in prison, herded with criminals, forced to wear convict dress, additionally punished to have their fingerprints taken, disfranchised for life, and debarred from all government employment. Many parents have been heavily fined, and whole families have left the country in disgust. These are some of the effects of Australasia's blundering incursion into the business of soldiering. The example is bad. It is especially unworthy of a free commonwealth, and the people are apparently getting ready to throw the burden off

$100 REWARD $1.00

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, there destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Catarrh or Colds Never Quickly Cured By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup, Tablets, etc., go to the Stomach, Perhaps Sicken It, But Don't Kill the Germs of Catarrh

The Direct Breathing Cure is the Best

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhozone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhozone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal ctarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mr. G. F. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhozone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhozone ever hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhozone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CANADIAN PEACE CENTENARY

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—The Mayor is calling a meeting of citizens to determine what part Peterborough shall take in the proposed celebration of the Hundred Years of Peace with the United States in 1915. The meeting is to be held on Wednesday, the 25th inst. I hope to be present and to explain the movement which is taking so large a hold in Canada and the United States.

It is particularly desirable that the meeting shall be thoroughly representative, and that a special invitation be extended to members of the City Council, Board of Trade, School Board, Canadian Club and other patriotic organizations, that specially school principals and teachers, clergymen, members of the Trade and Labour organizations and ladies should be present.

Yours faithfully,
E. H. Scammell.
Organizing Secretary.

MR. BURNHAM SPEAKS

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I am glad to see that the citizens are taking an interest in the Public Building matter. Discussion is what we want where it applies. But it certainly does not go so far as to telling the Government what it needs in Peterborough and what it does not. No merchant in Peterborough would stand that. The Government is alone responsible for the management of the people's business. But as to the site it is different. All will agree, however, that it would be wholly wrong for me to try to influence the Government agent in any way as to the site. He should speak his own honest opinion. I have my own opinion, but it is the city's opinion that we also want and I hope will get.

It is possible, I suppose to break the whole scheme up, but in view of the agent's unequivocal report that there is no second choice, I am afraid the experience of the late Mr. Hilliard, M.P., is looming up again. Mr Charter's threats are amusing. He evidently believes that freedom of opinion should not exist. However, I am not easily scared, and can retire if I have to do so. But I cannot be scared so far as I know, just now. The city's interest as a whole should be our aim

J. H. Burnham.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER

FOR TIRED OUT MEN AND WOMEN
A SURE CURE FOR ANAEMIA
Provides the Blood with Red Corpuscles so Necessary to Life
Clears and Improves the Complexion

For twenty years a celebrated German scientist worked at this great pacific seeking to find the secret of blood building. The vegetable contents were brought from the four corners of the earth and so blended that a genuine blood and tissue builder was at last produced.

SANOL BLOOD BUILDER has proved a boon to mankind. The tired worn out mother in the home, with her daily round of domestic and social cares, the head of the family in office or workshop, the growing girl biy during schooling period, at times need a body building medicine. Sanol Blood Builder supplies the blood with and incorporates into the organism of the human body that which it absolutely needs, the good results are marked and rapid.

Sanol Blood Builder, if taken according to the directions will stop the waste of the body, brighten the appetite, strengthen the system, rebuild the blood corpuscles, improve the complexion, brace the muscles and calm the brain.

UMPIRES AND GRIT

Courageous Acts of the Men In the Iron Masks.

A FINE DISPLAY OF NERVE.

When Billy Evans Braved the Onslaught of a Chicago Mob and Won Out—A Notable Decision by O'Day. An Umpire Who Saved Baseball.

"Umpires are brave men at least the great majority of them. One of the bravest things I ever saw was the act of Billy Evans on the old White Sox grounds in Chicago," writes Hugh Fullerton in the American Magazine. "On that park there was a tier of seats known as the 'stockyards,' in which gathered one of the most dangerous crowds (for umpires) in the country. They were regulars who occupied the same seats almost every day and who fought for them. The seats, of course, were not reserved, but hundreds claimed [illegible] to certain places. They paid [illegible] fers, and if any one was in [illegible] ud refused to move he was [illegible] and thrown over the heads [illegible] owd to the bottom. That [illegible] rted after Evans, who had [illegible] close decision at third base [illegible] Chicago. Evans walked over o[illegible] foul ground back of first base, and a shower of bottles fell around him. It looked as if a hundred men were throwing bottles at the umpire. One bottle touched his cap, severa bounded and struck him, one hit him on the arm. During this bombardment Evans did not turn his head. He stood watching the batter. For at least three minutes the bottles whistled around his head. The people in the grand stand shouted for him to run fearing he would be killed. The players begged him to move into the diamond out of range. He stood still with back to his foes until the batter made a base hit, then trotted down near second base to watch for a play there. As the opposing team took the field a few moments later Evans walked to the same position back of first base, and the crowd that had tried to kill him stood up and cheered him. They recognized a brave man. One fellow threw a bottle, and the crowd pitched him down the steep steps, passing him along until he hit the fence.

"The nerviest decision and one of the most important ever made was that of Umpire O'Day in the world's championship game between Chicago and Detroit on Oct. 8, 1907, the first game of the series which finally ended in a tie in twelve innings. In the eleventh inning Chicago actually scored the winning run only to lose it through the decision of O'Day, a Chicago man and a National leaguer. Slagle was on third base and started home with the ball back of third in left field. The ball was thrown home and arrived after Slagle had crossed the plate and was nearly to the bench. Steinfeldt, who had been batting, was excited and when the ball was thrown to the plate, wild and wide, he jumped and let it hit his shoulder and prevented Schmidt from catching it. O'Day, in spite of the fact that Slagle had crossed the plate and that there wasn't a chance to put him out, called him out because of Steinfeldt's interference.

"There was a close decision at Cleveland one day when Tim Hurst, widely known as the 'scrappy ump,' was officiating. Burkett was trying to score from second on a hit. The catcher failed to touch his foot, but touched his knee, and Cleveland claimed the foot reached the rubber before the ball reached the knee. Hurst called him out, and in the wrangle that followed expelled Pat Tebeau, O'Connor and Burkett from the game. Then he put them off the grounds. They left the playing inclosure, but all three laid their heads over a gate shouting at Hurst and urging the other players to avenge them. Tebeau shouted to good old Deacon Maguire, who was catching. 'Get after him, Jim!' Hurst heard, but was not in position to reply. Maguire heard and waited until he thought Hurst miscalled a strike. Then he rushed at the umpire at top speed. Hurst stood still. When Maguire came near enough Hurst kicked him on the shins and poked his mask into his face. Maguire fell back, astonished. 'If you don't like it, Jim,' said Hurst softly, 'give it to Pat. I merely punched you vicariously.'

"They are square men, these umpires, forced to be a bit gruff and to fight, but their devotion to their work and their honest effort to discharge their duties mark them as men of high integrity. And they are 'game.' I saw Bob Emslie once when a foul ball struck him over the heart. The pain was excruciating. His face grew white, and he set his teeth together and resumed work. Three balls were pitched after he was hit. He called them all clearly. Then he collapsed, falling as if dead, and was carried off the field unconscious.

"One night I saw politicians, wealthy men, club owners, argue for hours with an umpire. All they wanted him to say was 'I didn't see it.' Upon those words hung the fate of a championship, the future of a major league and the honesty of baseball. The umpire replied, 'But, —— it, I did see it!' And he saved baseball."

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

When cross, constipated or if feverish give "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Two Cheerful Liars.

Two Americans were disputing as to which had experienced the greatest cold in winter. Said one: "In the part of Iceland where I was last summer the ground is frozen so hard all the year round that when they want to bury a man they just sharpen his feet and drive him in with a pile hammer."

The other replied: "Yes, I know that place. Didn't stay there long—found it not quite bracing enough for me. Went on to a small town farther north. The hotel where I was staying caught fire. My room was on the top story. No fire escapes or ladders in that primitive settlement. Staircases burnt away. Luckily, kept my presence of mind. Emptied my bath out of the window and slid down the icicle."—Truth.

Soft Toned Bells of China.

The natives of China use large bells of their own make in many of their temples and monasteries. I have noticed all through Japan and China that the tone of the monastery and temple bells is very soft and smooth, due to the superior quality of the material used in their manufacture and to the absence of iron clappers, the result being a marvelous softness and mellowness of tone. The bells are never swung, being always suspended in a fixed frame, and the sound is produced by striking them on the outer edge with a wooden mallet. This makes the soft tones which are so delightfully melodious.—Consular Reports.

One of the best repartees ever credited to a habitual maker of happy phrases was that made by the beloved "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" on a certain social occasion.

Flies and Filth.

The fly is born in, lives and thrives upon filth. If no filth is allowed to accumulate in a house or its neighborhood it will not be troubled by flies, for they do not ordinarily stray far from their breeding places and their sources of food. In a thoroughly clean neighborhood they cannot live in the face of screens preventing their access to food and to the absence of manure heaps and other receptacles for filth in which to deposit their eggs.—Survey.

The Amen of Nature.

Do you ever wonder why poets talk so much about flowers? Did you ever hear of a poet who did not talk about them? Don't you think a poem which for the sake of being original, should leave them out would be like those verses where the letter a or e or some other is omitted? No; they will bloom over and over again in poems as in the summer fields, to the end of time always old and always new. Why should we be more shy of repeating ourselves than the spring be tired of blossoms or the night of stars? Look at nature. She never wearies of saying over her floral paternoster. In the crevices of cyclopean walls, in the dust where men lie, dust also; on the mounds that bury huge cities, the Birs Nemroud and the Babel heap, still that same sweet prayer and benediction. The amen of nature is always a flower.—Oliver Wendell Holmes

The First Fork.

The first fork? The fork, as a matter of fact, did not appear as a table implement until the seventeenth century, though as early as the thirteenth century gold and silver ones were made for special purposes. The ordinary diner was only provided with a trencher, a napkin and a spoon. For knife he used his own, which he carried about, and, worse, there was no second trencher, no second spoon. When the several courses came along he exercised his ingenuity and mopped his trencher with his bread. His spoon—well, we ourselves lick postage stamps!—London Chronicle.

Hints on Beauty Culture

If You Have Cold Feet, You Lose in Efficiency

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company

MAGGIE TEYTE

"WHAT can I do for cold feet?" A woman wrote me that query in a letter which was both pathetic and serious.

It seems the poor soul has suffered in silence all her life. She says with perfect seriousness that she has never known what it was to have warm feet from the first of November till the first of May. She says having cold feet interferes with her efficiency. It takes her mind off all other matters. And she asks quite tragically what to do for them.

At the risk of being thought funny I reply to her and all her similarly afflicted sisters—warm them and keep them warm.

Cold feet are a menace to health. They show there is something wrong with the circulation, and in order to be well the blood must circulate properly. And in order to be beautiful we must be well.

It seems to me the woman who will confess to having endured cold feet for goodness knows how many years lacks efficiency in more ways than one. There is no virtue in the patient endurance of ills and evils which can be remedied.

Bathing and friction are the two simplest and most effectual ways to cure cold feet. No sensible person who has the slightest understanding of the laws of hygiene, or the least desire to be well and look well will go to bed with cold feet. If your feet are cold when you are ready for bed give them a hot mustard bath and a rub with alcohol. Then slip on some knitted bed slippers till they are warm beneath the covers, when the slippers can be removed.

In the morning rub the feet with cold water and alcohol. If you have been wearing thin stockings and thin-soled shoes, mend your ways. A great many persons wear feet of the finest wool over their lisle or silk stockings when the weather is severe or stormy, and they wear heavy street boots. Cold feet mean red noses and pinched faces, and a general unhappy drawn expression.

Cold salt and water used every morning and followed by an alcohol rub is a good way to start the blood doing its work in the feet.

If, after trying all these things and exercising as I have advised you to do daily, you still suffer from cold feet, please see your family physician. It is the case for the man of medical skill, not for the beauty doctor. And I don't even pretend to be that. I do happen to know some of the ways to make the most of the looks nature has given us, and I am as glad as can be to pass the knowledge along.

This is the season when you want to take care of your complexions. We are eating more and heartier food because we need it to combat the exigencies of the winter weather. Therefore we are apt to over do it and get our systems clogged and out of order.

If you find your liver getting sulky and your brain lagging in consequence thereof, try to remedy it by eating less starches and more fruit and vegetables. Oranges, apples, prunes and grapes are excellent. Tomatoes are golden. They start your liver working at once. And if your liver doesn't work you will be reaping the harvest in a sallow and pimpled skin.

If you find your skin having a shriveled look it is the sign you need some good skin food.

If you can get perfectly pure olive oil it is an excellent skin food. But it is wisdom to drop a bit of benzoin in the olive oil, for it is apt to both darken the skin and cause hair to grow. So use it only occasionally.

A good and inexpensive skin food is made from 5 cents' worth each of white wax, spermaceti and powdered camphor melted together with the addition of enough pure olive oil to make it smooth.

If the water you have to use on your face is hard, soften it with a bit of borax, and, after the bath and the cold cream or skin food application, bathe the face with bay rum or witch hazel.

Great Novels in a Nutshell

"Ivanhoe"

Condensed from the SCOTT novel by ANITA von HARTMANN

GURTH and Wamba, the jester, servants of Cedric the Saxon, were driving home a herd of swine one evening when they were overtaken by a party of Norman horsemen.

"Are we near Rotherwood, the dwelling of Cedric?" a Knight Templar inquired.

"Hold this road till you come to the sunken cross," said Wamba. "Then take the path to the right."

Gurth chuckled as the horses' hoofs died away.

"If they follow thy directions, Wamba," he grinned, "they will hardly reach Rotherwood this night."

But the Norman found a Palmer, a pilgrim returned from the Holy Land, asleep by the cross.

"If thou wilt take us to Cedric's in safety," they told him, "thou shalt have both thanks and reward."

Cedric received the travellers courteously, and when they had seated themselves before his bounteous board, his beautiful young ward, the Lady Rowena, came down to talk with them.

The Knight Templar told her brave tales of the deeds of the Templars in the Holy Land.

"Were there none in the English army," Rowena inquired, "worthy to be mentioned with the Knights of the Temple?"

"The English monarch did, indeed, bring a host of gallant warriors," replied the Templar, "second only to the Knights Templar."

"Second to NONE!" broke in the Palmer. "King Richard held a tournament, and each knight cast to the ground three enemies. Seven were Knights of the Temple."

"Couldst tell the names of the English knights?" asked Cedric.

The Palmer mentioned five. "The name of the sixth dwells not in my memory," he said.

"Sir Palmer," said the Templar, scornfully, "I myself will tell the name of the knight before whose lance I fell—Ivanhoe. Were he here in England for next week's tournament I would challenge him to combat."

"If Ivanhoe returns from Palestine," replied the Palmer, "I will be his surety that he meets you."

Early next morning the Palmer arose to warn a Jew, who had taken shelter under Cedric's roof, that the Templar had designs upon him, and hurried the old man into the next township. The Jew thanked him warmly as the Palmer bade him good-bye, and added shrewdly:

"Thy wish even now is for a horse and armor."

"What fiend prompted that guess?" asked the startled Palmer.

"No matter," said the Jew, smiling. "Take this note to my kinsman. He will provide thee with what thou desirest."

The day arrived for the great tournament. At first it seemed as if the Templar would be victor in all jousts. Then an unknown knight appeared and overthrew the Templar.

As the unknown lifted his helmet to receive a chaplet from Lady Rowena, queen of the tournament, the girl turned pale. Then she said quietly:

"I bestow on thee this chaplet, Sir knight, as the meed of valor to this day's victor."

As Rowena's hand touched him, the knight fainted, and Ivanhoe, her lover and Cedric's son—the man who had visited Rotherwood as the Palmer, lay at her feet. He had been wounded in the tournament.

The Jew and his daughter, Rebecca, who had been watching the jousting, took Ivanhoe under their care and joined Cedric's party on its homeward journey.

The Knight Templar captured the party and carried them to the Castle of Torquilstone. Wamba, the jester, alone escaped. He sought out Robin Hood, who joined King Richard, known as the Black Knight, in rescuing Ivanhoe.

Ivanhoe, Cedric and Rowena were set free, but Rebecca was carried off by the Knight Templar to be burned for witchcraft. Her father besought Ivanhoe to rescue his daughter, and Ivanhoe hurried to champion the distressed maiden.

When the Templar saw him, he cried:

"I will not fight with thee. Get thy wounds healed, and it may be worth my while to scourge out of thee this boyish spirit of bravado."

"Hast forgotten," asked Ivanhoe, "that twice thou didst fall before this lance?"

"Dog of a Saxon," cried the Templar, "prepare for death!"

The trumpets sounded and the knights charged. Ivanhoe's horse went down, and Ivanhoe jumped to his feet to defend himself with his sword. He found that his enemy was lying on the ground. Unhurt by Ivanhoe's lance, the Knight Templar had died a victim to his own evil passions.

Thus Rebecca was released, and soon afterward she left England with her father for Grenada. Rowena, now Ivanhoe's wife, bade the young Jewess good-bye.

ABILITY PLUS FAITH WILL WIN

Carolyn Thomson, Who Says "Confidence" is the First Step Toward Success.

Sign Posts for the Ambitious

By Madge Marvel

"HAVE faith in yourself and don't be afraid of the big job," is the motto which Carolyn Thomson, youngest American prima donna, has adopted for her own, and which she offers to all other girls who want to succeed in the world.

"I don't mean have a blind faith," qualified Miss Thomson, in a recent interview, "but if you know you have ability, after you have looked at yourself from every angle, then aim high. The chances are you will land better than if you reached the lower place for which you might have tried with less faith, and there is always the chance of reaching the top if you aim for it."

Carolyn Thomson comes from Minneapolis. She is just 18 years old. Her mother is Mrs. Lucretia Thomson, prominent in society and club life. When Joseph P. Bickerton, Jr., decided to put a second company of the musical success, "Adele," on the road, 60 young women from different parts of the country applied for the title role.

Many of them had acknowledged reputations in the musical world. Nearly all had some stage experience. Little Miss Thomson was the youngest. Moreover, she was an "unknown." But she said she could sing, and she did. She won the five-year contract, which, until she made her appearance, had not been thought of.

The first letter of congratulation she received came from Gov. Adolph O. Eberhart of Minnesota. He told her it was just what he had predicted for her, and, while he was delighted, he was not a bit surprised.

Carolyn Thomson is as lovely as a flower. She is perfectly natural and sincere and unspoiled. And she is as level-headed a young woman as one can imagine. She has no illusions about her work.

"Don't think, if you do land well up the ladder at the first jump that you can stay there without work," she said to me. "It may be a whole lot easier to land than to stick. There are new voices in the musical world every day, and you have to keep making good. But while you are working you must never think there is going to be the possibility of your failing. You must be glad to let another singer have your place, for you know you are climbing up a little higher.

"If I take my career seriously I am glad. We all should take our work seriously enough to let it have the first place in our lives and the best of our efforts. A voice is an exacting possession. It simply refuses to share with any other interests, and it demands the best of one. My voice is young. It must naturally be cared for and trained until it has reached very much more power and quality.

"I wish all young girls would believe in themselves more thoroughly and try for the best. There is a big difference between belief and conceit. Belief may be very honest and very humble, but if it is the right kind it will make the road for the business girl, the girl in the profession, the girl in every walk of life so much easier. It is fear that mars many a career."

Besides being a singer Miss Thomson has more than a little artistic ability. She admits that if she were not a singer she would be a dressmaker. She plans all her own frocks. One illustrated on the right is perfect in its girlish simplicity. It is pale pink ninon, the surplice effect in the skirt opening over a shadow lace petticoat caught here and there with bunches of daisies.

The bodice carries out the surplice style, and the sleeves are of lace. The hat of pink straw is one of the advance spring models, and is trimmed simply with daisies, and has a bridle of black velvet.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Going to Church

XXIX

LEONA DALRYMPLE

"PETER," said my wife, with an air of pretty devoutness which she adopts on Sunday, "it's time we were starting for church."

"Why," said I, lamely, "to tell you the truth, Mary, I did have some intention of staying home. There are one or two little things about the house that I really ought to do."

"Peter!" rebuked Mary. "It seems to me that you ought not to let anything interfere with your church attendance. With six days free, we can certainly afford to give up an hour on the seventh day. Besides, Mrs. Jackson has a guest, and I want her to see that you do go with me. Mr. Jackson is a perfect bear. He only growls on Sunday morning and stays home or else he sneaks away and plays golf at The Country Club."

It was not what one might call an "uplift" reason, this trotting obediently to church to rub it into Mrs. Jackson and her guest, but I glanced furtively at a loose hinge on the kitchen door and reflected that, after all, it probably was irreligious to fix it on Sunday. Needless to say I went with Mary. I haven't been married long enough to take a really firm stand on such topics.

A suburban church parade is a thing to be shunned. It would make any one melancholy, I think, to wander through town in the wake of several other subdued couples decked resplendently in Sunday togs and talking of a hodge-podge of topics which they deem suitable for Sunday airing.

Mary in particular wears an air of devoutness that I find most distracting and becoming. Together with the mist of hair under her hat and the pious gravity of her pretty eyes, it's most fetching. I wonder if a woman deliberately adopts that nun-like air because she means it, or because it's vastly becoming. A man once told me that a woman with a saintly expression on her face was not the result of temperament but rather the result of sophisticated art. She knows that her features lend themselves to a beautiful austerity of expression, and, therefore, adopts it. But that man was a hopeless cynic. Mary, I feel pretty sure, has a strong religious sense.

There was a minister in the pulpit this particular Sunday from a distant city, a brilliant chap, who held us all powerfully. His fine, clean-cut logic was very different from the drawling, lazy-minded discourse of the divine who usually ministers to our spiritual wants. I saw that Mary looked vaguely puzzled and annoyed—that she glanced rather absently at a new gown of Mrs. Jackson's, and then straight back again to the preacher.

No matter how frequently her attention wandered, however, it was pretty sure to go back and focus on the brilliant young chap in the pulpit, whose personality compelled attention. Mary looked positively pained. Moreover, she had quite lost her pretty air of devoutness. I was quite at a loss to account for the expression in her eyes or her loss of poise.

"Well," said I, when we filed forth from the church after a period of handshaking and idle chatter, "he was really a brilliant talker, wasn't he?"

"Yes," said Mary, and frowned.

"Didn't you like him?" I ventured.

"It isn't that, Peter," said Mary with a sniff, "he disturbed all my plans. I always save up this hour Sundays just—just to plan my—my clothes and things." Mary colored, "and I simply couldn't do it this morning. He made me listen. Dr. Burke never bothers me even when I'm looking straight at him. He's like a brook—you get used to him. And I had so much to plan!"

"Mary!" I exclaimed aghast, mindful of that pretty air of devoutness which I felt must surely have emanated from a strong religious sense. "Don't you ever listen?"

"Sometimes," admitted Mary guiltily. "But I do save that hour, Peter, for planning things."

I wonder why most women go to church. I must ask mother.

Fought Fair.

"Did her father kick when you asked for her hand?"

"Oh, no. He had taken lessons in boxing and had different ideas about fighting."

In the Way.

Marie—I never like to kiss a man with an insulator.

Mertle—An insulator? What do you mean?

"Why, a mustache, of course."

Anxious for Misery.

"There is plenty of trouble in store for that man."

"Yes, and he is so anxious to get it that he is willing to pay storage charges."

Did Not Save

"He said that he would kill himself if she did not marry him."

"So she saved his life, did she?"

"Well, she married him, but he died within a year from dyspepsia."

They Often Are.

"So she hired a private detective. But the experiment was a failure."

"Why?"

"Well, she found that the private detective was too public."

Suited.

"Yer kaint go bathin' at dese fash'nable places widout a bathin' suit," said Languid Lawrence.

"Well," replied Toyle Knott, "dat [illegible]."

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Wishes Inspire Dreams, Which Often Come True

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

DR. HIRSHBERG

DREAMS are the step-children of every-day life. They are the children of idle brains, begot of vain fantasies. They are of thinner substance than helium and coronium, the most tenuous of gases. They are more inconstant than Childe Harold or Don Juan.

Dreams are the stuff that Cupid sprays upon his arrow points. Madmen and youths, philosophers and poets are saddled with them.

Dreams in their foundation have the breath of life; they blow hot and cold upon your waking life; they take the weight from daily toil.

Some dreams are only dreams unnatural, and full of contradictions. Others are more than fiction.

The horrible nightmare after a winter's entertainment and the happy midsummer night's dream are both born of realities. Dreams, according to the seers, portend coming events, and poets add fuel to dreamful superstitions by singing that "at break of day, when dreams, they say, are true."

Dreams are but interludes which fancy makes;
When March Reason sleeps, this mimic wakes;
Compounds a medley of disjointed things,
A mob of cobblers, and a court of kings.
Light fumes are merry, grosser fumes are sad;
Both are the reasonable soul run mad;
And many monstrous forms in sleep we see,
That neither were, nor are, nor e'er can be.

According to Prof. Sigmund Freud of Vienna dreams are merely the flimsy realisations of the suppressed longings, unsatisfied wishes and unfulfilled ambitions of your everyday life.

These mental cravings and uncompleted yearnings of your real, workaday world are often the worries of a mother over an absent son; the fright of a wife that a drunken husband may be killed; the fear of a maid that her sweetheart may leave her; these and many analagous "worries" are really suppressed longings which are repeatedly carried out by the inevitable logic of your fanciful mind to the sad ends which you pray, hope and wish not to take place.

Thus dreams come true: It is not a superstition to admit that dreams are actually fulfilled.

It is a superstition to believe their completion is an occult, mysterious or "spirit" manifestation.

When the wife dreams that her drunken husband is killed, and it actually happens some weeks later, this merely shows that she was always afraid that his habits, his occupation and his carelessness would thus terminate.

The wish is father to the thoughts and mother to the dreams. Shylock was always in fear lest his usurious wealth would be stolen, hence his worry: "There is some ill a-brewing towards my rest, for I did dream of money-bags tonight."

Prof. Henri Bergson, the French philosopher, is also convinced that dreams are logical presagers of joyful or sorrowful news, according to your wishes.

O, I have passed a miserable night,
So full of ugly sights, of ghastly dreams,
That as I am a Christian faithful man,
I would not spend another such night,
Though 'twere to buy a world of happy days.
—Richard III.

Answers to Health Questions

L. T.—My husband is always snatching books away from my 12-year-old boy. Is he correct in preventing our son from reading?

No. Fathers are unjust if they do such a thing as that. Boys should be encouraged to intermingle reading and studying with aggressive outdoor play. The two must balance each other.

• • •

P. K. F., Pottstown, Pa.—My hair comes out from dandruff; give me a formula to keep it. Can gray hair be restored to a natural color? Is there a cure for corns?

Resorcin, 10 grains; sulphur, 20 grains, and red vaseline one ounce, with any pleasant scent, massaged into your scalp on alternate nights will soon save what hair is left.

Gray hair is due to air taking the place of the dark pigment grains of the normal hair. The only way to restore its former splendor is to make new young hairs grow up to replace the gray ones.

Corns have been known spontaneously to disappear after a number of years. Good surgeons administer a local anaesthetic, much as a dentist does to remove the teeth, and lightly cut away the flesh under and around the corn. A scar then takes the place of the old nuisance.

• • •

J. R., Philadelphia.—Is there a cure for "neuritis" in the arm, hip and leg?

If you will give a fuller explanation of your habits, your occupation, your diet and your past history it may be possible to help you.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie:

I have a sweetheart—the dearest little sweetheart in the world. She's been visiting some friends here for six months, and I have been in love with her ever since the first time I saw her. Her mother came to take her home the other day and I invited mother and daughter out to dinner with me.

And the mother came down to go dressed like a girl of sixteen. But, worst of all, she had on a slit skirt that showed her leg up to the very knee. I could see that my sweetheart was awfully ashamed about it. She has never called me up since, and I don't know what to do. I think she saw how I felt and is mad at me for it. But, still, I don't know how I could help showing my feelings. What would you do about it?

SORRY.

POOR Sorry. What a time you did have, to be sure—and poor little sweetheart. I'm sorry for her, too.

What do you know about sweetheart and her mother? Is mother a widow, and has she worked hard and sacrificed much for many years to bring sweetheart up, and to educate her, and to give her a chance to be something in the world?

Where does she live, poor, foolish mother, and who are her friends? Is she just dressing the way the rest of the people she knows dress, and are you misjudging her entirely—just because you don't understand?

Perhaps she has a heart of pure gold, and sweetheart knows it and loves her for it. Why don't you just go and see her and say nothing about it? The whole affair will soon settle itself—if you don't try to settle it.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in [illegible]. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Willie Rites on Hipnetism

HIPNETISM is suthin by wich yew mak sumboddy think thay owt to dew suthin sech as pay yew wot thay owe or if thay dont owe you nothin mak them think that thay dew. Awl yew have to dew to be a hipnetism artist is tew be a wise guy an mak em think that way. Furst thing yew dew is tew git em on a chare nere yew an have em think of suthin nise like ice-cream soder an that puts em in a receptive mude an then yew mak a couple of passes over thare eyes an its apple blossum time in Normandee for the subjekt. The passes yew mak before thare eyes are diffrunt frum the pass yew let the subjekt intew the show on.

Spiritchewlism is a gud deal like hipnetism an Miss Hibbs was a strong beleever in spiritchewlism an thare is sum fellers wot kin make tabuls talk an tell peepuls age and thay had seeance at ower howse. Mr. Joans wus to be the medioom wot brings the spiruts in. Miss Hibbs was thare an they got the room dark an sat aroun an Mr. Joans sez ghost of my father tell us how old Miss Hibbs is an the tabul started into nock Miss Hibbs's age.

When it got up above 30 Miss Hibbs she sed spiritchewlism was a fake and Mr Joans was a cheet an she demanded the lites turned up. The seeance dispersed an went hoam. Sum peepul can kewer themselves of sikness by spiritchewlism. But maw ses for boils a gud soap an milk poultis has it bete 40 ways an Hippo Miller was goin to hipnoteyes Jumbo Hennessy from the hay mow in his fathers barn an suspend him in the air without ennything to hold him up. Hippo didn't get the rite words an Jumbo wo ways 200 pounds fell into a baskit of aigs wich Mr Miller had reddy to take to market an Hippos fathur busted up the furst class in hipnetism.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterborough, Ottawa and Brockville, Ont., for the year ending March 31, 1915, will be received up to Tuesday, March 3 next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Director of Contracts, Militia Headquarters, Ottawa, or at the office of the Officer Commanding, 3rd Division, Kingston, who will furnish all information required.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque, on a Canadian chartered Bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, for five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party making the tender decline to sign a contract when called upon to do so. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties.—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WINDMILL POINT ELEVATOR, MONTREAL.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. In the spring of 1906 what is known as the Windmill Point Elevator, located in the busy harbor of Montreal, was completed and put into operation. Its capacity was 1,080,000 bushels. Its situation is so well planned that it is easily accessible to both lake or ocean vessels, with railway tracks alongside. To provide additional accommodation a large annex has just been completed, with a capacity of 1,070,000 bushels, making a net capacity of 2,150,000 bushels. There are in this new building 28 concrete tanks, 25 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height, arranged at right angles in four rows, with seven tanks in each row. The tanks are constructed of reinforced concrete, having their adjacent sides rigidly united, so that the four-pointed, star-shaped spaces between the circular tanks may be used for storage as well as the circular tanks themselves. The large tanks hold approximately 33,000 bushels apiece, and the star-shaped or interstice bins hold approximately 8,000 bushels each. It is the second largest grain bin on the Grand Trunk System, the largest being located at Fort William, with a capacity of 5,700,000 bushels.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the envelope "Tenders for Burned Timber on the Gibson Reserve," will be received until noon on Thursday the 19th instant for about two millions of feet of Hemlock, and 150,000 feet of Hardwood, chiefly Maple and Beech and a large quantity of rough and undersized timber on the Gibson Reserve, Township of Gibson, Ontario.

Tenderers should state the prices they are prepared to pay for this Timber per thousand feet B.M. for the Hemlock; and the price per cord for the rough and undersized Timber. No Crown dues payable on either Timber or Wood.

The Hemlock and large Hardwood is understood to be only slightly injured. The successful tenderer shall furnish satisfactory security that the whole of the burned timber will be removed before the first day of May, 1915.

An accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered Bank for $400.00, made payable to the Receiver-General, must accompany each tender, which in the event of failure to carry out the undertaking shall be forfeited to the Department.

The Timber cut shall be measured by an Ontario Licensed Culler, and Sworn Returns of the kinds and quantities must be furnished, and payment for same made before removal of the Timber from the Reserve.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted, and the unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

FREAK APPETITES.

Animal Repasts Have Been Both Queer and Costly.

Cat-owners have written of cats which liked parsnips and jam-tarts, and others which revelled in mushrooms, tomatoes, and cocoanut cake.

But it has remained to Devonport to produce a pussy which feasted on hatpins. The landlord of the Friendship Inn at Devonport has a cat which swallowed a nine-inch hatpin, head first, and the point of which was found sticking out of the poor creature's head. A veterinary surgeon operated, and the victim is convalescent.

A cat belonging to a farmer at Ballina, New South Wales, taught itself to catch fish, and would dive into the sea and bring out mullet, which it ate with delight. Alas! its angling career was ended by a hungry shark.

A bullock butchered at Hadleigh seems to have been training itself to emulate the ostrich. In its stomach were found over ninety pieces of bricks, two nails, and a fair-sized lump of iron. The pieces of brick, some of which were as large as a hen's egg, were worn perfectly smooth, and one of the nails had pieced the coat of the stomach; yet the animal was fat, and in good condition.

About two years ago a dog-owner was summoned by the S.P.C.A. for cruelty to his dog. It was proved that he had given it biscuits soaked in whisky, and that the animal had fallen dead. In the evidence it was stated by a veterinary surgeon that quite a number of animals have a taste for this form of refreshment.

Mons. Beron, a Parisian hatter, whose shop is in the Boulevard de Belleville, was justly proud of the fine array of Panama hats which adorn his premises the summer before last. One afternoon in July, on returning to his shop after a short absence, he found a horse inside, busily devouring the last of a row of ten of his best hats. These hats were worth about $20 apiece. So the hungry horse's meal was worth a good deal more than the animal itself.

Talking of expensive meals, a most extraordinary claim was made against the National Bank of Belgium. An old peasant woman had laid on the grass her jacket, in the pocket of which were banknotes to the value of $260, her life-savings.

While she was at work, her pet goat got at the coat, and ate part of it, including the notes.

The meal was poor nanny's last. She was killed, the chewed remains of the notes were recovered from the stomach, and the bank, after verifying the facts by chemical analysis, paid the claim.

Here is another goat story too good too lose. Mme. Poisson, a widow, dropped a banknote for $20, in the Rue de Vanguard, in Paris. A man leading a goat was pointed out to her as having picked it up.

"It is quite true," said the man; "and I was going to give it back, when my goat snatched it and swallowed it."

The lady called the man a thief, and the lady, man, and goat were taken to a police-station. The man's story was disbelieved, and, in desperation, he told them to kill the goat and look inside it.

This was done, and, sure enough, the remains of the note were found. The owner then claimed for the loss of his goat, the widow refused to pay, and there followed an action for false arrest, slander, and compensation.

A Bird's Curiosity.

Professor Guy A. Bailey, a member of the faculty of the Geneseo State Normal school, relates a little incident which might be doubted were it not for the fact that he has the proof to show for the story. Mr. Bailey was on Temple hill with his camera attempting to get a picture of a horned lark. The lark evidently thought that Mr. Bailey was providing it with a bird house, as it hopped on to the camera, back into the trees and then back on the camera again. The bird repeated this performance several times, refusing to remain in the trees long enough to be snapped. Finally Mr. Bailey left the camera where he had located it, went and got another camera, and when he returned he secured a splendid picture of the bird perched on camera No. 1. Curiosity got the best of the bird, and the result was a novel picture.

One of Mark Twain's Jokes.

Mark Twain played a practical joke on the first audience he addressed in England. This was in 1872, when his reputation was already high in that country, and the announcement of his lecture filled St. George's hall, London, to overflowing. Few if any of those present had ever seen the humorist. He came on the platform in evening dress, with the crestfallen air of a manager announcing a disappointment. "Mr. Clemens had landed at Liverpool and had fully hoped to reach London in time, but unfortunately missed his train." The audience started booing, but the boos changed into cheers and laughter when he added that, fortunately, Mark Twain was present and would do his best to fill the place of the defaulting Clemens.

The Famous Dudley Pearl.

The famous Dudley pearl has been bought by an American purchaser and is now in this country, where it is likely to remain. It weighs 200 grains and came originally from the Indian fisheries. At one time it belonged to the Spanish royal family, and there is a painting of it in the royal galleries at Madrid. It was stolen from Spain and was unheard of for several years, when it reappeared and was bought by the Earl of Dudley, who has now sold it to the present owner, who is anonymous.

The Chamois Trail.

Every day at noon at Grindelwald there is a rush of visitors for the telescopes in order to gaze at one of the most interesting natural scenes in the Alps, "the chamois trail." Regularly at this hour a herd of twenty to thirty chamois may be seen passing in Indian file up the yawning abysses of the precipitous Mettenberg rocks, separating two glaciers, the male animals leading the way, the king of the herd keeping twenty yards in advance and on the watch. At the bottom of the Mettenberg, where the slope is freed from snow, the chamois find a meager subsistence when their usual feeding grounds are under deep snow. It is a curious fact that the chamois descend to their feeding grounds at dawn, when there is little likelihood of avalanches, and return to their haunts at an hour when avalanches—for this portion of the mountain has frequent avalanches—have already fallen and the danger is past.—Geneva Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

Pussy and the Burglar.

A good dog has hitherto been considered the best protection against burglars, but a certain old lady differs from this view. She believes in cats, and, her house being broken into not long ago, she proceeded to put her theory into practice, and with marvelously good results. The midnight hour had not long struck when she heard unusual sounds in the hall below. She slipped out of bed, took her faithful feline in her arms and walked quietly on to the landing. She leaned over. The burglar was on the stairs. Suddenly in an unlucky moment he struck a match upon the staircase. The lady could see the burglar, but the burglar could not see the lady. She held puss up and then dropped her upon the burglar's head. The cat uttered an unearthly screech and then commenced to scratch for all it was worth. Puss was certainly the willing worker. The next instant the man was outside in the street.—Manchester Guardian.

To Stop Hiccoughs.

Simple cases of hiccough are often relieved by such measures as sucking ice or taking salt and vinegar, says the New York Medical Journal. Pulling the tongue forward and holding it for some time is an effective procedure. Sometimes obstinate hiccough is relieved when the patient is strong by having him hang with the arms extended and grasping some beam or pole, so that his feet do not touch the floor. With all the abdominal muscles tense, have him hold his breath as long as possible. Sneezing is very efficient in certain cases, since it is the exact opposite to hiccough, being a sudden expiratory act.

She Knew the Answer.

A reporter called on a rector to ask him if he had accepted a bishopric that had been offered him. The servant said that her master could not be seen. He was at prayer seeking for guidance. Then could the reporter see the rector's wife? "Oh, no," said the slavey, "you can't see her. She's busy packing up!"—Circle.

A Neighborly Precaution.

The new clerk at the drug store returned the prescription to the old customer with a request that he wait till the boss returned.

"But why can't you fill it out?"

"I could if you was a stranger, but I ain't to fill 'em for folks that lives about here."—Success Magazine.

AN EFFECTIVELY KNOTTED VELVET GIRDLE

All the quaintness of the Moyen Age is displayed in the bodice of 7976, while the skirt shows the softer lines of a later day. We are not hampered by periods in dress designs, but may pick out and combine the good points of several without committing a breach of taste.

Crepe meteor in a dull shade of green effectively relieved by braided bands of dull gold is used for 7976. The girdle is of velvet in the same soft green with the ends fringed in gold.

This gown may be copied in size 36 with 4⅝ yards of 42 inch material.

Few of the children's garments today show a waist-line. Lines are easy and graceful, and plenty of room is allowed. Soft, light wools are used almost exclusively, with now and then a soft little frock of crepe de Chine or China silk for "dressup" occasions.

7899 is a new little dress closing diagonally in front, fashioned of dark blue serge with collar, cuffs and stitched belt of Roman striped silk.

It may be copied in size 8 with 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material.

No. 7976—sizes 34 to 42

No. 7899—sizes 4 to 10

Each pattern 15 cents

CHECKS, PLAIDS AND STRIPES WILL BE STRONG THE COMING SEASON

The French shops and manufacturers are predicting that novelty fabrics, printed silks, crepes and wool materials will be very fashionable for early spring wear. Checks, plaids, stripes and conventional designs lead.

For young girls the double and triple tunic is still favored, and the contrasting vest lends an air of distinction to a frock. In 8124 a striped taffetas is used in black and white. The revers and collar are of black velvet, and the vest shows a tiny flower design.

Young girls' frocks must first of all be simple. The designs follow more or less the mode for older frocks, but in Paris especially dark colors and fussy models are not favored.

No. 8124 may be made for a girl of 16 with 5 yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8142 is an Oliver Twist suit for a boy of from 4 to 10 years. The shirtwaist is box-plaited and the straight little trousers close on the sides and are buttoned to the belt of the waist.

For a boy of 8 this design requires 2⅛ yards of 36 inch serge, galetea or any other suitable material.

No. 8124—sizes 14 to 18

No. 8142—sizes 4 to 10

Each pattern 15 cents

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

The first practical Graphophone was a COLUMBIA. All other talking machines are manufactured under license. Columbia owns the fundamental patents.

The COLUMBIA process of Engraving Disc Records, invented by Jos. W. Jones, of Speedometer fame, has now been adopted by all makers. The above is the early disc type of horn Graphophone

The COLUMBIA Grafonola or hornless Graphophone was the most significant improvement in years. It marked a big step forward in changing the "Talking Machine" into a musical instrument selling for as little as $20.00.

The COLUMBIA Grafonola is to-day the highest type and most attractive of self-contained instruments selling for $250 or less.

The Long Road of Progress marked by COLUMBIA improvements.

The foundation of the talking machine industry rests on the fundamental patents granted the first COLUMBIA. Every improvement of note since then has been devised and patented by COLUMBIA. The last word in the development of the one and only universal musical instrument is the "Grand." Only an inventive genius equal to conceiving the original primitive machine and this latest elaboration of it can hope to devise further improvement. That means that when it does come it will be marked COLUMBIA GRAFONOLA.

—and now the "GRAND," the "Maximus Superbus" of musical instruments. No winding—automatic start and stop—built like a grand piano. The last word in progress — and of course exclusively a COLUMBIA development The last $650.

Change of Ownership

Mr. Jas. Collins has purchased the splendid "City View Farm" consisting of 100 acres on the Norwood road, about three miles from Peterborough. Mr. Charles McCall, the former owner, is leaving for the West where he will reside in future.

New Y.W.C.A. Secretary.

The Young Women's Christian Association has secured a successor to Mrs. Grey, in the person of Miss Peacock, who enjoys the reputation of being one of the best Secretaries in the Dominion. Miss Peacock, who comes from Toronto, is expected to take up her duties as General Secretary by the 1st of April. Miss Peacock has held positions in Brandon, Ottawa and Toronto.

Mr. Geo. Bennet's Report.

George W. Bennet, Superintendent of Colonization Roads, formerly of this city, in his report to the Minister of Public Works, states that during the past year 1,250 miles of highway, at a cost of $406,341 have been constructed or improved. The roads in the northern part of Ontario have been found to cost considerably more than similar work in older Ontario by reason of Government having to maintain camps for the workers.

Plugged for Peeping

Lindsay Warder: As two local women were passing down the street this morning on their way to the Post Office they were followed by two over-anxious farmers from the country. While gazing out onto Kent street, one of the ladies noticed one of the farmers peeping up into her face, and without hesitating turned and pinked the ogle-eyed country visitor a blow between the peepers, which had the effect of interrupting any further advances.

Pursuer and Pursued Frozen.

Yesterday morning Mr. Dave Johnston, a former Government Fishery Inspector of this county, was cutting ice for domestic purposes from the river near Crawford's Grove. One block of ice about 18 inches thick and almost transparent had in its centre two perfectly preserved fish. One was in big mouthed bass, "right side up" and about three inches in front of the bass was a perfectly preserved minnow. The bass and its prey had evidently been nipped by the frost whilst engaged in the former's pursuit of a meal. Mr. Johnston intends to thaw the block out and see if the fish will regain consciousness.

March 17th and Marshmallows.

Yesterday the mother of a former Peterborough girl, who now resides in the West, received a letter from the child. It seems, that about a year ago, the stork called at the home of this former local girl. The latter wrote about her first born somewhat as follows: . . ."You know, mother, I'm about crazy looking after Jack(the year old Westerner). He pulls down and breaks every plant I have in the house. I slap his hands, etc., but he only laughs. Yesterday I left —— (her husband) in charge of Jack whilst I went out calling. On my return I found a bachelor of ——'s with him and Jack. They had poor little Jack stuffed full of marshmallows and Jack had pulled every darn leaf of two shamrocks I was raising for the 17th of March!"

Got a Good Seat

A clergyman in Richmond, Va., tells this story at his own expense: "One Sunday I was returning home when I was accosted by a quaint old woman, housekeeper in the employ of a dear friend of mine. 'I want to tell you, sir,' said the old woman, 'how much I enjoy going to church on the days that you preach.' Expressing my appreciation of the compliment, I said that I was much gratified to hear it, adding that I feared I was not as popular a minister as others in the city and I finally asked: 'And what particular reason have you for enjoyment when I preach?' 'Oh, sir,' she answered, with appalling candor. 'I get such a good seat then.' "

Senator McHugh Interviewed.

Hon. Senator McHugh, of Lindsay, was in the city yesterday, a guest at the Snowden House, en route to Ottawa. In conversation with a Times representative, the Senator recalled an election held in Victoria County in 1861, when Parliament met in Quebec. In this contest the late Mr. James Dunsford, of Lindsay, uncle of Mr. W. H. Dunsford, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, ran against Mr. Cameron for Parliament for Victoria County. The Returning Officer was the late Mr. Hartley Dunsford, then County Registrar and Manager of the Bank of Montreal at Lindsay. When "declaration of the vote" was on, the fire that destroyed Lindsay broke out. The fire bell rang. A supporter of Mr. Cameron hearing the fire bell thought the clock had been put ahead to interfere with a complete count of the ballots and protested. Cameron won the election. In the same year Hon. Sidney Smith, then Postmaster-General, ran in Peterborough against Mr. W. Flint of Belleville, and won. In 1863 Mr. James Dunsford ran against Hon. Sidney Smith for Victoria county and won with 24 majority.

Had Stomach Rumblings, Distress Before Meals

Seldom Free From That Weary, Droopy, Half-Dead Feeling

Now Cured and Gives Good Advice To Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best bills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c. per box or five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or post paid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.
